The collection amounted to $30, and a considerable amount was pledged by members of the congregation by means of the donation cards distributed throughout the pews.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church has called off its meetings for the summer months, and no meeting will be held tomorrow as previously announced.

Rev. C. T. Anderson, formerly pastor of the Reformed church at South Bound Brook, has received a call to become pastor of the Forty-first Street Reformed church, Brooklyn. He will probably accept.

According to the annual custom, the choir of the First Baptist church will give a musical service on Sunday night. There will be solos, duets and special anthems. The choir will disband for the month of August.

Banishment for Brunswick Youth.

George Whitlock, a New Brunswick youth, who has been making trouble for local relatives since coming to live with them, was arraigned in the city court this morning, charged by his father and sister with disorderly conduct. Judge Runyon gave him his choice of spending sixty days in jail or getting outside of Plainfield to stay at least a year. He took the latter.

Mary M. Johnson.

Mary M. Johnson, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, of South Plainfield, died Saturday. The funeral was held yesterday and was in charge of Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, pastor of Marconnier chapel. Interment was at Hillside.

PERSONAL.

Kerro Knox, of Rockview avenue, has gone to Nova Scotia for a part of the summer.

Jack Harper, of Manning avenue, has gone to Jersey City to spend a week with his grandparents.

The family of Dr. Samuel Long, of New Brunswick, are at their summer cottage in Washington Valley.

Herbert A. Johnson, of this place, was the guest during the past week of A. J. Nulting at Bernardsville.

Mrs. Stewart, formerly of Grove street, has taken up her residence with Mrs. Randolph, of Manning avenue.

Society notes at Breton Woods, New Hampshire, record the presence there of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Davis, of Lakewood, on their honeymoon. Mrs. Davis was Miss Marion Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue.

A. J. Leader, of Duer street, who starts the ball games with his stentorian "play ball," will be missed at the game on Saturday. He left today for his "annual" at Kearsarge, N. H., as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Porter, for two weeks, at their beautiful summer home.

HOBOKENS WHITEWASH ST. JOHN'S CLUB.

In An Exciting Contest Manager Daab's Colts Win by a Score of 7 to 0.

The St. John C. C. went up against Hoboken at St. George's Cricket Grounds, yesterday, and was given a good coat of whitewash, Hoboken winning by a score of 7 to 0. "Willie" Deegan let his opponents down with four hits, while Hoboken secured a total of six, including a two base hit by Reardon. O'Neil led in hitting with two singles. Notwithstanding the one-sided score, the contest was an exciting one and was replete with brilliant plays.

Land Quarrel Between Brothers.

Hearing in the case of Brooks Carson against James Carson, his brother, an action about some property transferred between the two, will be held at the borough police court before Justice Snape tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. James Carson bought the land from his brother for $75, which he is paying in installments. He attempted to cart some sand away from the property, which is located on Mountain avenue, last week, and was prevented by his brother. He claims that the title is not clear until all the payments have been made, while James Carson alleges that the entire purchase money has been paid over.

Lawyers Have Been Secured.

Charles Beerman has retained N. Douglass Drake as his counsel in the case of assault and battery he is bringing against Thomas Regan for the alleged mistreatment of his son, Charles Beerman, Jr. S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., will represent Regan in the case, which is to come up before Justice Snape at the borough court tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The case was adjourned from last Tuesday.

Joseph Baum and Miss Bella Baum, of New York city, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neidig, of Manning avenue, over Sunday.

THE MODERN WAY.

The slogan of our fathers was
An axiom that has gone to seed.
It was to write one's ads. so that
A passing man who runs may read.

Today we work in similar ways;
Our ads. lok much the same indeed,
But they must be so clever that
A running man will stop to read.

Gluten For Dairy Cows.

The experience of best feeders shows that the most economical method of using gluten is to feed it with bran or cornmeal at the rate of from three to five pounds daily. A good ration for the dairy cow would be gluten meal three pounds, cornmeal two pounds, bran two pounds, which would be fed with about thirty pounds of roughage, preferably two-thirds silage.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

The Best Calf Food.

Separated milk as a food for calves when fed direct from the machine makes a model milk food. Careful experimens show that practically as good calves can be raised on separated milk direct from the machine as can be raised on whole milk, provided the butter fat lost in the removal of the cream is replaced by linseed meal, cornmeal or flour or molasses.—American Cultivator.

Profit In Hens.

There is a profit in every flock of hens except for the lazy man, and such a man never would make success at anything worth mentioning. Do not consider poultry on the farm as a side issue in the business, but consider it as an important part of the farm. It takes but a small capital and gives the greatest per cent. of profit.

Handling Ducks.

Never try to catch the ducks by the legs. Pick them up by the head or neck. Do not choke them, but carry them carefully. In this way you will not injure them. Dry lime is more of an injury than a benefit to water fowls. Ducks especially dislike it and cease to thrive if it is cast about their living quarters to any extent.—Feather.

Caught the Fever.

"He was knocked down by an automobile, you know, and he got $2,000 damages from the fellow."

"Goodness! I wonder what he'll do with the money?"

ONE BAD INNING GAVE DUNELLEN THE VICTORY.

Raritan Pitcher Touched for Four Hits in the Third, Which Netted Dunellen's Four Runs.

By a happy combination of four hits, a pass and an error in the third inning of Saturday's game with the Raritans, the Dunellen team scored four runs and cinched the game early in the day. The teams met on the Dunellen diamond and a bunch of local fans saw them pull out the victory. Randolph, who was on the slab for the home team, was touched up for six hits, but kept them well scattered, and the team behind him played a steady game, with but two errors checked up against them. Haler, the visitors' pitcher, only allowed one hit, in eight innings, but the local batters landed on him for a combination of five singles in the third session, when the local team scored all their runs.

CONCERNING CITIES.

In five years Krupp's town of Essen has increased 93 per cent. Cologne, with its 426,000 people, has had an astonishing growth.

Any city of more than 100,000 inhabitants is considered a great city. Of these Germany has more than any other country, namely, 41.

Great Britain and the United States have 39 each. Then there is a break till we reach Russia with 16, France with 15, Italy with 12, Japan and Austria-Hungary with eight each.

When the present German empire was founded in 1871, Germany had only five such cities, but by 1900 they numbered 33. Five of them have more than half a million population each. Berlin, for instance, has more than 2,000,000 inhabitants. The next largest is Hamburg, 800,000, followed by Munich, Dresden and Leipsic.

Caller (western newspaper office)—I want to see the editor.

Office Boy—Editor's gone off fer six weeks. Leave yer bill with me, an' I'll give it to him when he gits back.

"I haven't got a bill. I've got a club."

"Editor's upstairs, sir."—N. Y. Weekly.

"What is this?" asked the man who is prejudiced against the Chinese, as he inspected his laundry bill.

"Well, judging from its general crookedness, I should say it was a correct representation." — Washington Star.

Good Cause.

"Why do you look so sad?"

"My mother-in-law, who has been visiting us for three months, is going home to-day."

"Well, that's nothing to be sad about."

His Opportunity.

"I am in love with a young lady who is deaf and near-sighted," wrote the young man. "Should I marry her?"

"You not only should," replied the Snake Editor, who was temporarily doing the Query Editor's stunt, "but if she is blind and deaf you probably can."—Houston Post.

For best results try The Daily Press.

A Possible Explanation.

"How do you account for the fact that such a small percentage of our leading literary men are not college graduates?"

"I don't know, unless it's because they were so busy learning to write readable English that they had no time to go to college."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Times Change.

"And yet," mused Mr. B—, "when we were courting she paid her little brother ten cents a night to stay out of the parlor."

Not for Him.

"What makes you think your son wouldn't take to a college education?"

"I know he wouldn't."

"But how do you know he wouldn't?"

"Why, that boy would rather read or study any time than play football, baseball, or any other game I ever heard tell of."—Houston Post.

Wrongly Reported.

Tommy Wrott—Did you tell a friend of mine the other day that I was the biggest fool in town?

Lotta Guph—Never! All I said was that you were the biggest fool for the oportunities you'd had.—Chicago Tribune.

Unaccountable.

Why should wealth be given wings,
That it may soar far, far away,
When poverty, poor, lonely thing,
Is made to ever with us stay?
—Milwaukee Sentinel.

CUT BOTH WAYS.

Always.

When we ask a girl to sing.
Who can sing she won't trill.
But we ask one who can't sing
To sing, and she will.
—Houston Post.

One Drawback.

"I have come, sir, to ask you for your daughter's hand."

"Well, take it. But I warn you that she dresses it in a sixteen-button glove that she always has to have help in fastening."—Cleveland Leader.

Blasted Hopes.

"Yes," said the first salesman, "things are mighty dull at our store."

"Why," replied the other, "I thought he expected to make things hum."

"So he said, but he seems to have succeeded only in making them humdrum."—Philadelphia Press.

A CAGE FOR WOMEN

WHERE FEMININE VISITORS TO HOUSE OF COMMONS SIT.

Latest Effort to Have the Barrier Removed Proves Unavailing—Interesting History of How Gallery Came to Be Established.

London.—Despite the reforming zeal of the new house of commons it has been decided that its "grille"—the symbol of women's political inferiority—is to be retained. The grille is the name given to the brass grating which screens the occupants of the ladies' gallery from the view of the members. Henry Norman, an English M. P. who was educated at Harvard and has quite American notions of how women should be treated, asked the prime minister whether "it might not safely" be removed. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who has a gift of pawky humor, played awhile with the question. Did it mean "safety for" or "safety from" the ladies.. he asked. But finally he specifically refused Mr. Norman's request to submit the question to the house on the ground that the many new members had not yet had an opportunity of studying the weighty matter practically.

There is no denying that in the matter of granting facilities for hearing its discussions parliament treats women scurvily. At the furthermost side of the chamber, high up, beyond what may be called the pit and the stalls of the members, back of the speaker's throne and the busy reporters, is a curious looking affair which resembles a set of stained glass windows. Then, again, it might be a bird cage, and it looks much like one. Really, it is where the honorable and gallant members keep their wives, sweethearts and feminine friends who come to hear them speak. It is the women's cage—a real cage and not a comfortable one at that. While all around is light; it is dark; despite the electric fan it is close and stuffy; it gives rise to a species of headache quite different from the headaches of the opera or the academy, and unless one happens to be in the front row one can see little and hear less. It consists of two sections—two-thirds of it are given over to the members of the house; one-third, separated by a heavy partition from the other, is in the hands of the speaker's wife or, if he has not a wife, is in charge of the woman who acts as the head of his household.

Formerly men and women sat indiscriminately in the strangers' gallery of the house of commons. They were even admitted to the sacred door of the house itself. How the women came to fall from their high estate is soon told. On February 2, 1778, a big debate had been foreshadowed, and strangers of both sexes attended in large numbers. Many women being unable to obtain admission, motion was made that the gallery be cleared of all male strangers. This excess of gallantry defeated its purpose. The men were cast forth, but Gov. Johnson, irritated that his men friends had been hustled out, insisted that all strangers must withdraw. The mandate was issued. For two hours, however, the women fought against its enforcement. Thereafter they were rigorously excluded.

The only concession made was to permit a limited number of them, not exceeding 14, to climb over the ceiling of the house and look down through the ventilation hole—an awkward position where they were nearly stifled by the foul air and the smoke of the candles by which the chamber was then illuminated. A few, greatly daring, were not content with such a location. Thus Wraxall mentions that he saw the beautiful duchess of Gordon, habited as a man, sitting, among men in the strangers' gallery. And Mrs. Sheridan, when desirous of feasting on her distinguished husband's eloquence, also used to adopt the disguise of doublet and hose.

Thus matters stood till the whole place was burned down in 1834. Lord Brougham strenuously opposed making any provision for the accommodation of women in the new building. Their bird cage gallery, where they could see without being seen, was the result of a compromise between the chivalrous and the unchivalrous.

Japanese Honor.

U. Iwatani, a Japanese soldier on his way home from prison in Russia, committed suicide on receiving a letter from his father saying that his conduct in being taken alive would spoil the reputation of the Japanese army and cast odium on the names of the family and the villagers, and concluded by ordering him not to return home alive.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.
Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WHITRIDGE NAMED.

New Yorker Selected as Special Ambassador at King Alfonso's Wedding.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has just announced the appointment of Frederick W. Whitridge, of New York, as special ambassador to represent the United States at the wedding of the king of Spain.

Frederick Wallingford Whitridge is a lawyer with offices at No. 59 Wall street, and is also a director in several companies. He has a home at No. 16 East Eleventh street, where he has lived for nearly 25 years.

Mr. Whitridge has accepted the appointment as special ambassador. Although he has traveled extensively, he has never been in Spain.

"The one country in Europe, I might say," he remarked, "that I have not visited. I have often thought of seeing Spain, but other countries seemed to have a stronger attraction for the time."

Mr. Whitridge has a country estate in the Highlands of Scotland, where he and Mrs. Whitridge spend their summers. Mrs. Whitridge is a daughter of Matthew Arnold. Both are fond of outdoor exercise. Mr. Whitridge walks from 15 to 25 miles a day during the summer. His selection to be special ambassador from this country to the court of Spain at the wedding of the king is said to have been on the recommendation of Secretary Root, of the state department, although Mr. Whitridge is a personal friend of the president.

Mr. Whitridge was born in New Bedford, Mass., in 1852. He was graduated from Amherst college in 1874 and from Columbia Law school in 1878. In 1884 he married Miss Lucy Arnold. He is president of the Washington county railroad and a director of the Chicago Terminal Elevator company, the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railway, Lake Erie & Western railroad, Niagara Development company and other corporations. He is also a member of the Knickerbocker, Century, Metropolitan university and other clubs. He has not taken an active interest in local affairs in some years. He was one of the originators of the municipal civil service commission.

NEW GUNNERY STATION.

Hamburg.—The removal of the German naval gunnery station to Sonderburg marks the second change of address of that institution within recent years. Originally it was installed at Wilhelmshaven, but that place proved unsuitable owing to the tides rendering it difficult of access at certain hours. Moreover, the shooting ground was a long way off, and practice had often to be suspended owing to bad weather in the North sea. The next move was to Kiel, with its magnificent harbor, within easy reach of the open sea, whence the journey to the North sea—where shooting competitions are periodically held—could be made by the Kaiser Wilhelm canal. The increase of both naval and mercantile marine in Germany, however, has taxed the accommodation of that port, and Sonderburg is to be the future home of the German naval gunnery station, with its 2,000 men and six ships—the Mars, Carola, Olga, Freya, Ulan and Hay. Sonderburg lies in an out-of-the-way corner on the south side of Alsen island, off the coast of Schleswig-Holstein. The sea hereabouts is little frequented by shipping, so that there will be nothing to interfere with gunnery practice. Quarters will be provided on shore for the married warrant-officers and men, and the ships will be stationed here the whole year round, only going to Kiel for repairs.

CHASED BY WOLVES IN DENSE MICHIGAN WOODS

Ontonagon, Mich.—Chased by a large pack of gray timber wolves, George Bigge had a thrilling experience in the wilds of Carp lake township. He was hauling a load of provisions from here to his home, at the old Nonesuch mine. The distance is 20 miles and the way lies through a practically unbroken forest.

Night overtook him before he had covered more than half the distance. He continued on his journey, and between nine and ten o'clock he was startled by the howling of wolves close at hand. He had no weapons with him. He urged his horse to a faster gait, but as the road is up a heavy grade, progress was slow at best. He had only gone a short distance further when he noticed 25 or 30 of the animals emerge from the brush into the roadway just behind him. On the front of his conveyance was a lantern with a reflector. Mr. Bigge seized this and turned the strong light upon the wolves. It frightened them and they slunk back into the shadows of the woods. But they soon became bolder and commenced closing in upon their prey.

Mr. Bigge realized that he was in a desperate plight. In the sleigh was a tin pail and a quantity of hay. Filling the pail with hay and taking it to the rear of the conveyance he applied a match. The flames cowed the animals. The fire was kept burning brightly and at the same time the team was lashed and urged onward.

The wolves were kept in check for a time, but they gradually came closer, advancing along the sides of the sleigh. The supply of hay was giving out. Mr. Bigge, in desperation, tore open a box of canned goods and commenced hurling cans at them with some effect, checking their progress for the third time.

Just as he was about to give up the struggle, a small clearing was entered. The wolves dropped behind and the man hurried the jaded horses into one of the old mine buildings and, closing the doors as securely as possible, passed the night there. The robes which were left in the sleigh were found in shreds in the morning and the snow round the building was packed solid by the animals in their endeavors to gain entrance.

FINDS HUSBAND IN COFFIN

Michigan Woman Identifies Corpse Which Was Being Buried Under Another Name.

Pueblo, Col.—Just after one son of James Dougherty had declared the corpse in the coffin was not that of his father, Mrs. Hattie Caine, a casual attendant at the funeral, stopped to look at the body, and immediately declared that the remains were those of her husband, James Lester Cains, of Battle Creek, Mich., who had been missing for some time.

The body was found in the Platte river, near Denver, several days before. Dougherty's friends were so sure the body was his that they shipped it to Pueblo and the funeral was taking place when the denouement came.

Mrs. Dougherty immediately relinquished all claim and the body was sent to Battle Creek. Caine was a locomotive engineer. The police do not know whether he was murdered or committed suicide.

Wedding Trip on Nitro Wagon.

Parkersburg, W. Va.—Edward Kelley, an oil well shooter, who was married a few days ago at Marietta to Miss Nellie Severance, of Lowell, O., has just returned from a wedding journey which they took on a nitroglycerin wagon loaded with 35 quarts of the explosive. Kelley had to leave right after the wedding for Syracuse, O., to shoot a well. His bride insisted on a wedding journey, and compromised by driving with him 50 miles over rough roads with enough of the explosive on the wagon to blow them to atoms, but the groom drove carefully, and they got back alive.

In Bed with a Corpse.

Flint, Mich.—When Bert Burbank, of Clio, arose the other morning he thought his bedfellow, Charles T. Hinkley, was very quiet, and after he had dressed, Burbank tried to arouse him. Hinkley was cold in death, and when Burbank realized that he had been sleeping with a corpse he slid out of the room in a hurry. He had been drinking recently.

INVADERS WERE ROUTED

Daab's Team Defeated Elizabeth Nine By Score of Nine to Five.

A POOR AGGREGATION

The Elizabeth "Invaders," so-called, came to Plainfield on Saturday to play the first in a county championship series of games. They failed to have a "look in" and were decisively defeated by a score of 9 to 5. Instead of Manager Neubeck bringing the team here as advertised by President Rath, of the Elizabeth Baseball Association, substitutes appeared, much to the disappointment of the fans. One redeeming feature was the appearance of "Big Bill" Tierney, who kept the crowd in good humor with his original coaching. Tierney said that "Dave" Driscoll sent him here, as "Dave" had an engagement to play first for Long Branch, where "Red" Waller is pitching.

"Kid" Brogan played second base, Curley short and Reilly, formerly of Rahway, was on third base. It was announced that Linderman injured his knee on July 4, and had not pitched since, and as for Farmer, he got hurt a few days ago and could not catch. Barry, who has been advertised to appear here several times, could not be found. Schuman, who, it is said, pitches for Hartford, occupied the box for the visitors, and did well until the fourth inning. That was his downfall, when Henriques, Reardon, Leonard and O'Neil each touched his delivery for two bases. O'Neil also hit the youngster for three sacks in the third inning, while Henriques did the same thing off of Fitzhenry in the fifth inning, Fitz being sent to the box and Schuman relegated to left field.

Elizabeth tallied one run in the first on a free pass given Seward, a couple of sacrifice hits and a single by Tierney. They did not score again until the fifth inning, when Seward, Seery and Schuman tallied on two singles, a double and an error by Connolly. They got another run in the seventh inning on a couple of errors by Snow and one by Connolly. That ended their run getting.

Plainfield scored its first run in the third inning when O'Neil drove the leather to left field for three bases and came home on Connolly's single. The merry-go-round was in the fifth, when Henriques, Reardon and Leonard followed each other with two base hits, Heffron got a pass, Snow a single and O'Neil a double. The spasm ended when Curley, Brogan and Tierney made a pretty double. The same trio also made a double in the second inning. Five runs were scored in the fourth and two more in the fifth when Henriques made a three sacker, and Reardon and Leonard each a single. Three more hits in the sixth by Connolly, Goodman and Smith netted another run in the sixth, making a total of nine.

There were a few bright spots in the contest, notably Heffron's hard catch after a long run in the second inning, Snow's sharp work at short and Curley's clever left-hand catch of a hot line drive in the eighth inning. Seward also distinguished himself in right field by catching a difficult fly.

It is safe to say that the Invaders will not look a second time for county championship honors in Plainfield until they strengthen up. The score:

GOLF.

Morgan Townsend, of the borough, has joined the Baltusrol Golf Club, and now follows the game on the course of that club.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional at the Plainfield Country Club, is still keeping up his game and improving constantly in putting and approaching. In driving he is hard to beat.

The social functions are still a strong attraction at the Plainfield Country Club, and there is scarcely a day or evening that the clubhouse is not occupied by a dinner party or a dance.

THE FORUM.

Calls Down "Taxpayer."

Editor The Daily Press:

Were is not for the fact that I believe "Taxpayer" to be like a lot of more people who never look before they leap, I should be inclined to laugh at his letter in Saturday's Daily Press relative to the fire department accident. In it he says: "The report, quite contrary to your article, is—that Bush's team attempted to turn by habit at this particular corner and that they got the best of Bush before he had strength to prevent the accident." If "Taxpayer" had stopped to think a moment he will agree with me that these same "reports" always float around after any accident and they can easily be affirmed or denied if one wants to take the trouble. In fact, three people who had heard a "report," informed me Friday morning that Bush had died of his hurts. A "report" is a very flimsy foundation on which to build a criticising letter. Again referring to his allegation that "the horses turned by force of habit" this same team has not responded to six alarms in the past year that took them from Second street into Central avenue toward Front street, whereas they have gone straight down Second street on three times that number. I happen to know something about this fact, not from "report" and where on earth the force of habit comes from I don't know. I agree with your reporter, that Bush disobeyed orders and sent his team along so fast it was impossible to make the turn in safety.

"Taxpayer" must have been standing in the hot sun with his hat off or else somebody gave him a jolly.

ANTI-HOT AIR.

Plainfield, July 16, 1906.

CENSUSES OF SOMERSET FROM 1726 TO 1905.

And of Union County for the Last Fifty-five Years.

The New Jersey censuses showing the population by counties from 1726 to 1905, shows that there were but ten counties in the State that had a population in 1726. They were Bergen, Burlington, Cape May, Essex, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Monmouth, Salem and Somerset.

The population of Somerset, beginning with 1726 up to and including 1905, is as follows:

1726, 2,271; 1737, 4,505; 1745, 3,239; 1784, 10,476; 1790, 12,296; 1800, 12,815; 1810, 14,725; 1820, 16,506; 1830, 17,689; 1840, 17,455; 1850, 19,692; 1855, 21,022; 1860, 22,057; 1865, 21,610; 1870, 23,510; 1875, 27,453; 1880, 27,162; 1885, 27,425; 1890, 28,311; 1895, 30,447; 1900, 32,948; 1905, 36,270.

Union county's population began in 1860 and from that year it has been as follows:

Plainfielders Delayed.

Owing to an accident to the Steamer Deutschland, Henry Leifke, B. Frank Coriell and C. W. Krausse, who were passengers aboard, will probably be delayed a little in reaching home. The accident happened to the steamer at Dover, England, and was of such a nature that the ship could not proceed. The passengers were then sent on by the way of Southampton and they will come to American by another boat. The Plainfielders were due to arrive in New York tomorrow.

BOROUGH J. P. USURPS COUNTY JUDGE'S RIGHTS

FIXES BAIL FOR PRISONER CHARGED WITH HOUSEBREAKING.

Charles Stilger, a Dunellen young man, diversified a walk over the mountains, yesterday afternoon, it is alleged, by breaking into the home of Kip Moore at Warrenville. The family was absent at the time but the male members were impolite to return and interrupt Stilger, it is said, as he was packing up the family silver, handed down through three generations of Moores. He was nabbed and held until Constable Sorensen could be summoned to arrest him officially.

The prisoner was taken to North Plainfield and after a short period in a cell was arraigned before Justice Snape, who took office a few months ago. The usual formalities of a hearing were gone through with but Snape surprised everybody at the close by holding Stilger in $200 bail.

Heretofore only the county judge fixed bail in a case of this kind but it takes a new broom to sweep clean and Snape didn't bother with formality to transact business. He expressed surprise this morning when a lawyer informed him that he had no business to do what he did.

The prisoner's mother furnished the $200 security and he will be given a hearing this afternoon.

FIVE CAUGHT BY TWO TRAINS ON HIGH BRIDGE.

One Knocked Off and Killed and One Badly Hurt—Three Lie Flat Between Tracks.

Five iron moulders employed in the Somerville Iron Works were caught between two moving trains on the Peter's Brook bridge of the Central Railroad of New Jersey near East Somerville at midnight Saturday night. Three lay flat between the tracks and escaped injury, one was killed and one hurt.

Morton Sicks, of No. 910 Foster street, Baltimore, was knocked off the bridge and fell thirty feet to the bottom of the rocky stream below. He was dead when his companions reached him. Nox Taylor, of No. 410 Adams street, Baltimore, was struck and so seriously injured that in the Somerset Hospital, where he lies, he is expected to die.

"New Idea" Tour in Auto.

Accompanied by Thomas Debevoise, vice president of the Union County Republican League for the Equalization of Taxes, City Judge William N. Runyon, who is president of the league, left this morning in an automobile to tour to some of the neighboring towns for the purpose of discovering the sentiment of various political leaders regarding the "New Idea" movement. The two are to meet William F. Groves, of Elizabeth, who is to accompany them. They will go first to Springfield, then to Rahway, Roselle and Cranford, where they will be enabled to size up the possibilities for work on the "New Idea" in the fall campaign. They will be gone the entire day. Thursday evening, Judge Runyon is to speak at Cranford, in a political meeting to boom the "New Idea."

A Fishing Party.

Edward P. Terry, John Warrier and Ambrose "Recompense" Campbell, of borough headquarters, accompanied by Borough Councilman Edward P. T. Smith, spent yesterday at Perth Amboy in a fishing boat. They came back with a first-class supply of stories about the fish they didn't catch, and a basket full of good excuses. It being Sunday, the fish were all off the waterways and only three saw the air, by means of the hooks and lines which dangled from the boat all day long.

City to Mar Improvement.

Because the city has made no provision for underground work with the fire alarm wires, it will probably be necessary to spoil the attractive appearance of Park and North avenues by having another pole put up at that corner where the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is about to remove a large unsightly pole. It will be necessary to do this so that the fire alarm box can be still maintained at the corner.

Lots of Smoke, No Fire.

Someone ran into borough fire headquarters at about 10:30 yesterday morning and reported a fire at the home of Mrs. Charles Mayer, 54 Pearl street. The department made a quick run to the house and found the place filled with smoke, which, it turned out, issued from the kitchen stove, where Mrs. Mayer was attempting to kindle a fire. The firemen had nothing to do.

"An Hour With Whittier."

"An Hour With John Greenleaf Whittier," was the subject of the service at the First M. E. church, last night. The pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, gave a brief address on the life of Whittier, citing interesting incidents in connection with his work as a hymn writer. During the evening the choir and congregation sang Whittier hymns.

Bush's Condition Slightly Improved.

A slight improvement was noted today in the condition of Harry Bush, the injured fireman. The physicians now say that his rocovery is assured.

BRILLIANT SCENE AT SEA GIRT CAMP.

Distinguished in many respects was the party which assembled yesterday as the guests of Edward C. Stokes, the Governor of New Jersey, at Sea Girt.

The guests assembled to enjoy the hospitality of the Chief Executive, in honor of General Frederick D. Grant, commandant of the Department of the East, United States Army, who came here to review the Second brigade of the National Guard.

The national legislators in the party entertained by the Governor included United States Senators John Kean and John F. Dryden, of New Jersey, and Senator Foraker, of Ohio; Representatives H. C. Loudenslager, Benjamin F. Howell, Henry C. Allen, Richard Wayne Parker and Marshall VanWinkle.

GOV. STOKES ENGAGED.

Gov. Edward Casper Stokes, of New Jersey, is repotred to be engaged to be married to Miss Annie Green, of New Berne, N. C. If it had not been for a certain Confederate battle flag he might have remained a bachelor all his life.

Will Sail on the Pretoria.

Owing to the accident to the Deutschland, by which steamer they expected to return home, Henry Leifke, B. Frank Coriell and C. W. Krausse, who has been abroad for several weeks, will arrive in New York on Friday, July 28, on the Pretoria. It was reported that they would return on the New York, as a majority of the Deutschland's passengers were sent to Southampton to connect with the New York. The Plainfielders, however, changed their plans and decided to sail on the Pretoria.

Fire Horse Off Duty.

"Nip," one of the team of greys at the borough fire headquarters, is unable to run with the truck because of a sore neck and shoulder. A large blister has formed and the animal is unable to be harnessed. A big bay horse from Stonewall Jackson's stables was sent to headquarters this morning to act in "Nip's" place, while he is being doctored up by the members of the department.

Alarm Sounded, No Fire.

Box 151, at Prospect place and Washington avenue, was pulled for an alarm at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The borough department made a quick run to the box, but no one was there and there was no signs of a fire. Chief George Weiss, of the borough police, was notified, but no trace has been found of the person who turned in the alarm.

Stages Will Meet Trolley.

Stages will meet the trolley cars leaving the Watchung avenue stand at 3 and 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the terminus of the Somerset street line to convey persons to the King's Daughters' baby camp on Johnston's Drive, when the formal opening of the camp will be held. A nominal price will be charged for the round trip in the stage.

"Ice Trust" Prosecution.

County Prosecutor N. C. J. English stated over the 'phone to a reporter for The Daily Press today that Edwin S. Hooley had not communicated with him as yet in reference to an alleged ice trust in this city. Mr. Hooley and his family are out of town. It is stated at his office in New York that he would be back tonight.

Mandy—"No, Si, I won't. If the poor gal's undone, you must wait till she gets fastened up again."—Boston Transcript.

Faces Serious Offense.

William Semlar, aged 23 years, of Linden, was arrested yesterday and committed to the county jail on a charge of assault on a highly respectable young woman residing on West Grand street, Rahway. He was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury. He denies the accusation.

Excursion to North Beach.

Uniting with the Union Baptist Sunday-school, of Elizabeth, the Ebenezer Baptist church, of this city, will have an outing to North Beach, L. I., Thursday, July 26. The trip will be made by barge from New York and the entire day will be spent at the resort.

Not Yet, But Soon.

Did you think that the Park Avenue Baptist excursion was a thing of the past? It is still a coming event, and you can't afford to miss it. Lay your plans so as to be free to go to Asbury Park with the excursionists Thursday, or you'll miss a good time at the shore.

COUNTRY CLUB CHANGES

Plans Being Made to Keep Club House Open All the Year Round.

A DECISION SOON

Westfield Golf Club to Have An 18-Hole Course—Its Phenomenal Growth.

The success of the Plainfield Country Club has been so marked this year that plans are now underway to make it an all-year-round club. With this purpose in view the officers are now preparing to install a steam plant and a Siche gas plant at the club and other improvements that will make the clubhouse an ideal place for winter entertainments and social functions. During the past year the clubhouse was greatly enlarged and all improvements were installed including sleeping quarters and the club now compares favorably with any other in the Metropolitan district.

Among the notable improvements was that of enlarging the dining room whereby private dinner parties can be given. Under the direction of David Shay, the clerk at the club, there has been a decided improvement in the management. This season there have been a great many dinner parties at the club, followed by dances, and the demand for the clubhouse in this respect has impressed the officers to such an extent that it has practically been decided to put in the steam heat as well as a plant for the lighting of the club. This work can be done during the summer so that instead of closing the clubhouse in the fall it can be kept open for social affairs, and can also be used by players who desire to use the course late into the fall.

The matter will be decided upon within a short time, and if it is considered advisable, work will be started at once on the improvements. The game of golf has had a big boom in this locality this year and it is predicted that it will be by far the most successful since it was introduced here.

During the past season and this year the Westfield Golf Club has been so successful that plans have about been completed for extensive improvements on the course and at the clubhouse. The plans call for an eighteen hole course instead of nine as at present, and the clubhouse will be enlarged and remodelled more on the style of a country club, with sleeping quarters and all other improvements. The membership of the club has grown so during the past year that the officers of the club feel warranted in going ahead. No doubt this phenomenal growth is largely due to the fact that Sunday golf is permitted on the course and many New York and Brooklyn golfers, as well as a number from this city, take advantage of this, inasmuch as there is no other course nearer than Baltusrol that allows Sunday play.

There is a very desirable tract of land adjoining the present nine-hole course and it would make a fine eighteen hole links for the club. This ground can be purchased and there are a dozen members of the club who stand willing to put up the money to purchase it and put it in fine condition. Of course a mortgage would be put on the property and the club would be expected to take care of that until such time as it could pay it off. The matter has not officially been announced as yet, but there is every reason to believe that the land will be bought and the course extended, plans for remodelling the clubhouse are also underway. The course is right on the main line of the trolley and very easy of access. It is quite possible that when the clubhouse is enlarged and improved it may be made an all-year-round club.

Miss Hartfelder's Barn Dance.

Miss Lillian Hartfelder of Whitewood avenue, gave a barn dance, last night, in honor of Miss Catherine Eganey, of Mountain avenue, who recently came to Plainfield from Brooklyn. Sixty friends were in attendance and a delightful time was had, though atmospheric conditions opposed the principal amusement. Ice-cold watermelons were cut and served to the dancers all evening.

July 19 is the Date.

There's always a breeze at the sea shore, but it doesn't always come as far inland as Plainfield, does it? The only thing to do, then, is to go to the sea shore if you want to be cool. Why not make the trip Thursday with the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches. By the sea from 10:30 until 6.

Miss Bessie Cagon and Miss Florence Hefron and Miss Catherine O'Keeffe, of Brooklyn, are visiting Francis M. Whitely, of Steiner place.

DUSTLESS PAVEMENT TO BE TRIED HERE

TARBIA, A SPECIAL PREPARATION, TO BE TRIED ON EAST FRONT STREET.

A new sort of pavement, which has been used most successfully in Montclair, is to be tried in this city by the recent action of the street and sewers commission. A preparation called tarbia is to be applied to a section of East Front street between Richmond and Berckman streets. This tarbia is a special preparation of coal tar and will finish up a roadway so as to be practically dustless, yet hard and firm to withstand heavy rains. It is not strictly a tar macadam, but is a surface dressing.

Before it is applied, the street is flushed off and allowed to dry perfectly, not being sprinkled for several days. Then the dust will be swept up, the tarbia will be heated and spread over the roadway by a special machine. After the preparation has set, the street will be sprinkled with stone dust and will be rolled with the steam roller. This treatment will make the surface hard and firm, and will form a practically dustless pavement. The process is especially lasting and will be solid enough to stand the heaviest traffic. Within about a year this resurfacing will have to be repeated if the road is to be maintained in the best condition.

Tarbia is being experimented with by the city at the recommendation of Councilman Charles C. Randolph, who recently took a trip to Montclair for the purpose of examining into the value of this sort of surfacing. While only a short stretch of East Front street is to be tarbia treated at first, it is probable that if the surfacing is a success, other city streets will be treated by the same process.

BOROUGH SCHOOLS BEING REPAIRED DURING SUMMER.

Interor Of Somerset School To Be Freshened Up—Walks Being Laid.

While the borough schools are closed for the summer, numerous minor repairs are being made by local contractors at the various buildings. In the Somerset School, contractors are busy re-papering and repainting in the old building, and the floors and woodwork are being restained and oiled so that all will be bright and new when the pupils return to take up their work in the fall.

The exterior of the building, and also of the Manual Training building and the Watchung School, is to be primed and painted before the opening of school in September, but the contracts have not yet been awarded and the work will not be begun until next month. The grounds of the Somerset School are being cleared up and improved and a stone walk is being laid from Vine street to the entrance of the building and from Park place to the entrance of the old building. Curb stones are being set along Park place and Vine street. A concrete walk is being laid in front of the building on Somerset street.

ACCIDENT TO ENGINE DELAYS TRAIN AN HOUR.

3:45 Express from New York Held Up on Drawbridge.

The breaking of the rocker-arm pin of the eccentric on engine No. 603, which was pulling the 3:45 o'clock train from New York over the Newark Bay bridge, yesterday afternoon, delayed the train and it was almost an hour late reaching Plainfield.

The train was held up on the bridge to let a boat pass through the draw and the wheels had scarcely made a dozen revolutions after the draw was closed, when the rocker-arm pin snapped in two. The engineer and fireman tried everyway to repair the damage until they could reach Elizabethport, but were unsuccessful. Finally, another passenger train in the rear pushed the disabled one to the 'Port, where it was held until another engine arrived from Jersey City. Had the accident happened while the train was under full speed the results might have been disastrous. George Van Nattrick was conductor of the train.

Poor Trolley Sprinkling.

Residents on West Front street have had cause to complain lately of the poor work of the trolley sprinkler. The sprinkling car occasionally forgets to make a trip over the line and when it does the amount of water put on the street is so small that it dries off quickly and the cars stir up the dust to the inconvenience of people who desire to sit on their porches.

Mrs. Lily Runk and her daughter, formerly of West Seventh street, have removed to East Front street.

Mrs. N. H. Morrison, of Mercer avenue, accompanied by her son, have gone South for a part of the summer.

P. P. A. OFFERS NO HOPE

Mr. Depew Says No Action Will Be Taken on Ice Question Until September.

MR. HOOLEY ACTIVE

Banker Places Matter In Hands of His Lawyers and Expects Results In a Short Time.

It has developed that there is no hope that the Plainfield Protective Association will bring about any reduction in the price of ice for this season at least, and if there is any satisfactory change in the immediate future it will be due solely to the efforts of Edwin S. Hooley, who is working out the problem on his own hook. The P. P. A.'s committee having the ice matter in charge will hold no more meetings until September, that announcement being made to a representative of The Daily Press by President R. Henry Depew last night.

Mr. Hooley's interest has not subsided in the least since he first interested himself in the question whether there is any ice trust in this city and he intends "to fight it out on that line if it takes all summer." He has nothing to say at present intimating that work not talk counts. It was stated by him, however, that the matter is now in the hands of his lawyers and that he expects to have some definite report in a few days to lay before County Prosecutor English. The purpose is to have prosecutions brought against the ice dealers provided it can be shown that they are members of a combination to restrain trade.

It was said by Mr. Depew that he intended to leave town for the remainder of the summer season on Friday and that the other members of the P. P. A.'s committee would also be away a good part of the time until September. He stated that they had received the letter from the Ice Dealers' Association and that the matter would be fully considered by them before the meeting in September.

Mr. Depew explained the P. P. A. committee's reasons for the suggestion that the price of ice be reduced to the small consumer ten cents a hundred and to the butchers and other large customers increased ten cents a hundred. He said that during the past few years there had been very little increase in the price for large quantities but that the small buyer had been pinched time and again. Increasing the price for large orders of butchers as stated would only increase the price of meat about one-tenth of a cent he declared, and they would not be warranted in raising prices in their business while at the same time the reduction to the small consumer of ice meant much.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR LOCAL CHARITIES STILL COMING IN.

For Mountain Baby Camp $8 and for Fresh Air Home $5.

Sergt. Christian Frederickson, of the police department, made a contribution to the King's Daughters' Baby Camp this morning, handing over $3 to the Daily Press for that purpose. The warm-hearted police officer says he knows by experience in the department that the work being carried on for the sake of the poor little tots of Plainfield is a worthy charity.

The Junior Society of the First Baptist Church has also sent a contribution to the Daily Press for the same object, a crisp $5 being received this morning.

All the contributions have been turned over to the treasurers of the institutions.

George H. Batchellor to Speak.

George H. Batchellor, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church, will address the meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home this evening. There are now 300 New York children at the home, and the meeting will be held outdoors, if the weather is favorable. Parishoners and members of the choir will accompany Mr. Batchellor to the camp, for singing is to be made a feature of the meeting.

To Give Premiums.

The leading merchants of Plainfield have made arrangements with the American Home Supply Company of Philadelphia to distribute among people dealing with them, a handsome premium at their expense. The premiums will be sold and coupons issued to customers, which will be redeemed in trade by the merchants. The representatives are in town and will call in a few days.

—Fancy Georgia peaches, both white and yellow fruit, are one of the special offerings at Neuman Brothers'. Splendid quality at present.

HAVE NOT WITHDRAWN FROM THE "NEW IDEA"

MESSRS. TITSWORTH AND BARROWS SAY THEY ARE STILL COLBYITES.

Reports to the effect that David E. Titsworth and E. T. Barrows, both of the Third ward, had withdrawn from the "new idea" movement were emphatically denied by them last night. How the story started neither one professes to know, but they both dismiss the subject with an unequivocal denial.

Mr. Barrows, who has been mentioned as a candidate for mayor, told a Daily Press man last night that he is a Colbyite so far as the county and State are concerned but does not believe there is any need of a "new idea" in Plainfield's government. He has resigned from membership on the Third ward committee, for reasons not stated other than he does not care to serve as he puts it.

Mr. Titsworth was much surprised to hear of the report that he had deserted the movement and stigmatized it as totally untrue. "I withdrew as chairman of the Third ward committee," he said, "because I have not got the time to devote to the work. I have no intention of leaving the Colbyite movement and cannot understand how such a story originated."

PAINFULLY BURNED BY GASOLINE EXPLOSION

WILLIAM G. DEBELE MOMENTARILY ENVELOPED IN FLAME.

While attempting to repair some trouble with the gasoline engine used to run the ice cream freezers at Debele & Stahl's ice cream place, on Somerset street early this morning, William G. Debele was painfully burned about the face and eyes by the blowing out of a cylinder. The engine is of the type in which a small clinder at the top is heated by a gas flame.

Debele was making cream this morning and was in the basement with his son Howard. The boy noticed that the gas flame was unsteady and that there seemed to be something clogging the tube. He called his father's attention to the fact, and Debele was bending over the tube trying to discover where the trouble was, when there was a sharp explosion and a sheet of flame shot up, enveloping his face and head. Debele was staggered by the pain, and was unable to see for several minutes. His son helped him upstairs, and Dr. Buchanan was summoned. Cooling lotions were administered.

An examination showed that Debele's sight was uneffected though his eyebrows and hair were scorched and his face burned painfully. He is confined to the house, suffering from the burns.

PROMINENT NEW MARKET RESIDENT BADLY HURT.

Charles F. Dayton, one of the most prominent residents of New Market and that end of Piscataway township, was nearly killed in a bicycle accident in the village last night. While riding a wheel on Prospect avenue near the cross-over bridge of the Lehigh Valley railroad, a bump in the road bounced him in the air and he pitched down an embankment.

He landed squarely on his head and when picked up by people who saw him fall, he was unconscious. He was taken home and despite the prompt arrival of physicians he failed to regain his senses until late last night. He was resting easily today but is still in a serious condition.

WALTER WARNOCK DEAD.

Former Plainfielder Passes Away at Englewood After Long Illness.

Walter Warnock, a former local resident and brother of W. W. Warnock, the West Front street caterer, died yesterday at his home in Englewood, following a long illness from Bright's disease. He was the son of the late Alexander and Laura Warnock and was widely known in this vicinity. He went from Plainfield to New York and later to Englewood where he conducted a tinsmithing business. He was thirty-four years old and leaves a widow and two children. Beside W. W. Warnock there is one other brother, Harry, in the Philippines, and three sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Margaret Wilson, of Grove street.

The funeral will be held at Englewood tomorrow and the interment will be at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Kolb, of Westervelt avenue, have returned from a visit with Red Bank friends.

TAX RATE MAY BE $1.35

The Total Valuations Will be About $19,000,000, an Increase of $600,000.

JERSEY CENTRAL KICKS

Objects to Assessment On North Avenue and Netherwood Stations —North Plainfield Hard Hit.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors is busy these days completing its work of assessing real and personal property and meeting with dissatisfied taxpayers. The new law gives the assessors much additional work and as they are obliged to make their returns within a specified time, they say it is a case of hustle all the time.

While it cannot be definitely stated now what Plainfield's tax rate will be for the coming year, as near as one can ascertain it is likely to be about $1.35 per hundred valuation. There has been an impression that it would be between $1.25 and $1.28, but inasmuch as the county has an increase of $45,000 to meet because of new bonds and other increased expenditures, including a new court, it is hardly probable that the rate will be as low as $1.28.

Plainfield's increased valuation will be approximately $600,000, the total being about $19,999,000. While there is no general complaint on the part of taxpayers, there is the usual percentage to be considered. The New Jersey Central, through its representatives, has been protesting against the assessment levied on its property in this city, believing that in some instances it is too high. The assessment on the North Avenue property and that at the Netherwood station were instances cited where the company thought the valuation was put too high.

The company representative said that he considered the North Avenue Station old property and should not be rated as high as more modern property in the vicinity. The assessors argued that the property is valuable by reason of its location and they did not look upon as depreciating in value, because it is possible an old building. One of the assessors remarked that the company could turn the station into a business centre by locating stores in the building, if it desired; in fact it is making it an extra source of revenue, by leasing portions of it to the U. S. Express Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company. No objection was made to the assessments on the property at Grant and Clinton avenues. The assessors stated that there was one rule for assessing both real and personal property and that was being adhered to this year.

As a result of the new law North Plainfield will not get any of the assessment money received from railroad property, as there are no railroads running through or touching that municipality. There are many other similar cases throughout the State, showing that such cities as Jersey City, Newark, Trenton and Camden will derive the most benefit under the new assessment law. The monetary loss to many places in the State will be considerable in the aggregate.

In some cases the railroad company will not pay its assessment without an appeal to the higher taxing body.

MONROE AVE. CONGREGATION MAY ENLARGE EDIFICE.

Congregation Becoming Too Large for Present Seating Capacity.

Ever since Rev. E. E. Roberson became pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, the congregation has steadily increased to such an extent that if it continues at the present rate it will be necessary to enlarge the church edifice in order to provide for a greater seating capacity. The matter has been under consideration by the official board and steps toward building an addition may be decided upon before long.

Even during the summer season there does not appear to be any decrease in the number of people attending the regular services and this is taken to be an indication that during the fall and winter months the present building will not comfortably seat all wishing to attend. The church has sufficient ground to make any addition it desires and it is estimated that such an improvement would not cost a great deal. Owing to the way in which the church was founded and in accordance with certain bequests, it is impossible to mortgage the property, but if it is neccesary there would be sufficient funds to build an addition.

Fireman Bush Greatly Improved.

House Physician Anthony, of Muhlenberg Hospital, stated today that Fireman Harry Bush passed a very nice night and that his condition is greatly improved.

MANY DELINQUENTS ON BOROUGH TAX LIST

TAXES FOR 1905 UNPAID ON ABOUT FIFTY BOROUGH PROPERTIES.

The last day for the payment of delinquent taxes in the borough for the year 1905 will be tomorrow. The list of delinquents held by borough collector George F. Brown consists of about fifty properties, with back taxes amounting to $23,300. These taxes were delinquent in December of last year, but since then eighteen property taxes, amounting to about $550 have been settled up at the office, and doubtless many more will be settled today and tomorrow, the last days for payment before the list of delinquents is handed over to the police. Collector Brown has repeatedly notified the delinquents, an action not legally required on his part, but the list is closed Thursday morning and all names on it at that time will form the tax sale list to be placed in the hands of the police Thursday morning. A date will then be set for the sale of these properties in compliance with the law, in accordance with the Martin Act, the substance of which follows:

"Sale of Property for Taxes: Chapter 75, approved March 28th, 1904, amends section 51 of the Tax Act of 1903 as follows: 'When taxes on real property remain in arrears on the first day of July, in the year following the levy thereof, the collector or other officer charged by law in the taxing district with that duty shall enforce the tax lien by selling the land, or any part thereof sufficient for the purpose; he shall give public notice of the time and place of such sale, stating the names of delinquents and the land to be sold, amplifying the description in the duplicate if necessary to better identify the parcel, and the amount of the delinquent taxes thereon, by advertisement signed by him in a newspaper published in the taxing district or county where said land lies, once in each week for at least four weeks successively next preceding the day appointed for the sale."

STREET DEPARTMENT TOP SURFACING ROADS.

Needed Repairs Being Made to City Streets and New Work Completed at Netherwood.

During the past week, the street department has been busy with several gangs of men at work resurfacing and macadamizing some of the streets which most needed putting in condition. The work on Park avenue, between North, the railroad bridge and Second street, where the roadway is being widened, is at a temporary standstill, owing to the fact that the sidewalk in front of the McLoughlin property is not yet completed. There are also several electric light and 'phone poles to be moved back along this stretch before the work of top-surfacing can be completed. The South avenue hill at Netherwood has been resurfaced and the roadway is now in first class condition. This is a stretch that is hard to keep in good condition, because the slope is continually being washed out and the surfacing destroyed by the heavy rains.

At Marion avenue, several loads of slag from the sewage deposit plant are bing put on the roadway and with this top-surfacing, the thoroughfare will soon be in first-class condition. The work of remaking the gutter on East Front street between Park avenue and Watchung avenue is now completed and storm sewer connections have been made.

Master Builders to Meet Here.

The thirteenth quarterly meeting of the Master Builders' Association, of New Jersey, will meet at the Casino on Wednesday, July 25. The Plainfield branch of the association will eltertain the visitors at dinner in the Casino. There will be a general discussion, morning and afternoon, of trade conditions from the point of view of the master builder, and it is possible that several papers will be presented by State officers. The Plainfield association is entitled to seven delegates, but it is likely that all of the members who can, will attend the dinner to be given.

John Doty, an employee of A. Gray & Co., at Dunellen, was overcome by the heat while unloading a wagon in the firm's yards, this morning. He was seen to drop by Justice David Campbell and the latter quickly brought him to with applications of ice and cold water. The sufferer was afterward taken to his home.

Attention, Mr. Street Commissioner.

The P. S. C. trolley department is using the sidewalk near the curb on East Fifth street, just off Watchung avenue, as a storage yard for trolley ties. The ties were piled up there several weeks ago and residents along the thoroughfare complain that the street is much disfigured.

STILGER HELD FOR TRIAL

But Only After He Had a Good Opportunity to Make His Escape.

BAIL FIXED AT $500

But for the fact that Charles Stilger is a very obliging young man and not inclined to take to his heels wnen he knows that a charge of burglary is staring him in the face, he might have escaped the clutches of the law, yesterday. In fact, he was absolutely free for the space of a few hours and it was not until late last night that the man who had caught him in the attempt of robbing his home succeeded in having him locked up.

As told in yesterday's Daily Press, Stilger lives at Dunellen and broke into the home of Louis Frederickson, situated just back of Washington Rock, while the family was absent, Sunday afternoon. Frederickson returned just in time to catch the intruder as he was packing up all the valuable in sight and marched him at the point of a revolver to Constable Sorenson's house. The latter took charge of Stilger and placed him in the North Plainfield jail for safe-keeping.

At the request of friends, Justice of the Peace Thomas Snape gave the prisoner an immediate hearing and though it is not within his jurisdiction admitted him to bail. A further hearing was set down for two o'clock yesterday afternoon and at that time Stilger reappeared with his counsel, John P. Owens. The lawyer asked if there was any written complaint and on receiving a reply in the negative, he demanded the discharge of his client. Justice Snape very graciously complied and the defendant was sent out a free man, despite the protests of the man whose house he had entered.

Frederickson hurried to the office of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and informing him of the facts, was advised to procure a warrant without further delay. This he did and it was given to Constable Sorenson to serve. Stilger was found at his home and was promptly brought back to North Plainfield and once more placed in a cell. Another hearing was set for 8 o'clock last night, the prisoner, Lawyers Owens and Hetfield and a large gathering of witnesses and friends being on hand.

Frederickson and his wife testified as to what had happened and the details were not denied by Stilger. The specific charge against him was breaking and entering with intent to steal. His lawyer tried to show that the prisoner was mentally unbalanced but was checked in his attempt by the declaration from Lawyer Hetfield that Justice Snape's court was not the place to prove it. When the presiding official was finally convinced that the prisoner was accused of a serious offense he stated that he would hold him.

This led to another plea from Lawyer Owens that bail should be fixed and the matter was threshed all over again. Hetfield contended that Snape could not fix bail but before the justice would admit that it wasn't his privilege he had Chief Weiss call Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed on the 'phone. The latter said "no bail" and so at last Stilger was formally committed.

Early this morning, the prisoner's mother consulted the county authorities and Judge Schenck fixed bail at $500. The amount was furnished and the case now rests until the next session of the Somerset Grand Jury.

Progressing With New Bridge.

The large and heavy frame work for the new West End avenue bridge is about in position and next week the workmen will begin to fill in with concrete. The height of the structure will necessitate to raising of the grade of West End avenue on both sides of the brook. Hunreds of small wires will be placed over the wooden frame work before the concrete is used and after this material sets, the wood will be removed, it being expected that the wires and concrete will be strong enough with the piers to stand the heaviest weight or the biggest freshet that might put it to a test.

Joseph R. Walsh.

Joseph R. Walsh, who had been the assistant of J. R. Wand, the directory man, for the past eighteen years, died in Muhlenberg hospital yesterday. He was sixty years old and was a native of Woodbridge, coming from that place to Plainfield seven years ago. He had been making his home on Stebbins place and so far as known had no relatives. The funeral will be held from Cole's undertaking rooms this afternoon at 5 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

With the commencing of the vacation months, Dunellenites are fast making the town more and more deserted by leaving town for their vacations. But few days pass during which some family or party does not leave for a more or less extended sojourn at some seaside or mountain resort, and every Saturday and Sunday parties go off to the nearby resorts, for fishing or boating. With a roadway to Washington Rock, many parties spend the day on the mountains back of town. The time of Sunday-school excursions is also drawing near, and the first will leave town Thursday morning, when the local Presbyterian church will join its Sunday-school with the three Plainfield churches who hold an outing at Asbury Park on that day. A week from Thursday, July 26, the Sunday-school of the Methodist church will go to the shore for the day. Many townspeople are planning to accompany the excursionists on these outings. The employes of Levering & Garrigues' shops have arranged for an outing to be held at John Castel's farm Saturday afternoon. About fifty men will make the trip and there will be a mammoth clam bake at the farm in the evening.

The question of house numbers is being boomed again in Dunellen and quite successfully, for many of the property owners along the principal streets are having them put up. In order to be of any special value to strangers trying to locate addresses in the borough, this numbering of houses must be universal.

Among the soldier boys who went with Co. K to Sea Girt Saturday was Samuel Beetham, who will represent Dunellen at the camp and on the rifle ranges. Beetham is out after the plums in the shooting contest, which begins today at the camp, and his many local friends have great confidence in his good eye.

Miss Alice Apgar, who is on her vacation from duties at Sattel's music store in Plainfield, left yesterday to spend several days at Annandale.

Percival Ising, Jr., who left Dunellen to take up his residence in the west, has made his home in Idaho, where he will go into business.

Routine business will be considered at the meeting of the New Market Board of Education to be held in the school building this afternoon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Sunday-schools of this place, together with several from Westfield, making eight schools in all, will hold their annual excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove Thursday, July 25. This is the only local excursion of the season and nearly everyone from here who possibly can takes it in.

Some of the old residents here can hardly believe that the seventh day in the week is Sunday. Things have been so quiet since the Bishop's law went into effect that they actually feel lonely when the seventh day rolls around.

Chicken thieves are beginning to work the hen roosts in town again. Several robberies have been reported. The recent beef scandal has no doubt awakened the thieves' appetite for the white meat of the fowl.

The Gold Medal minstrels will appear in Excelsior Hall, tonight, for the benefit of the Scotch Plains Baseball Club. After the show the floor will be cleared for dancing. A large crowd is expected.

The local ball team will have another try at one of Rahway's crack teams Saturday afternoon, when they play the Rahway Y. M. C. A. on the home diamond.

Rev. H. Alexander Smith, who has been visiting his mother and brother, Rev. T. Moore-Smith, at "The Manse," has returned to his home in West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Carpenter, of Plainfield, were the guests yesterday of William C. Stanbery, of Mountain avenue.

Frank Rapp, formerly of this place, but now of Lincoln, has been visiting friends and relatives in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Schenck, former superintendent of Marconnier chapel, is visiting friends in the neighborhood of Oak Tree. Last Sunday she attended Sunday-school and the preaching service in the evening. Marconnier chapel and the people in the vicinity of Oak Tree have a very warm spot in Mrs. Schenck's heart.

A dead dog has been floating around on Spring Lake, and it seems to be no one's business to remove it. It is certainly detrimental to health now that the Middlesex Water Co. are using the lake water for drinking purposes.

Nelson Faulks and wife are spending a couple of weeks on the Maine coast, while their children are staying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Faulks, of Maple avenue.

Mrs. George Smith, who has been seriously ill after an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, has been brought home and is convalescing nicely.

Emma Manning entertained out-of-town friends over Sunday.

Judge Steel entertained out-of-town friends over Sunday.

Edith Boice is visiting Miss Emma Faulks.

PERSONAL.

George H. Frost, of Watchung avenue, is spending some time in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Korff, of the borough, are sojourning at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley S. Miller, of Orchard place, have been sojourning at Asbury Park.

Dr. R. W. Emerson, of West Front street, who has been at Atlantic City, has returned home.

Charles Keller, of 434 East Fifth street, has returned home from a visit to Philadelphia.

Mrs. William LaRue, of East Second street, is suffering from a severe attack of eye trouble.

Percy Sandford, formerly of this city, but now of Englewood, has been visiting relatives here.

Miss Glen, a teacher in the Irving School, is planning to spend a portion of her vacation in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conover, of Elmwood place, have returned from a pleasant stay at Asbury Park.

Mrs. W. W. Larkin, of Troy, N. Y., has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loughlin, of East Front street.

Mrs. George B. Staats and her son, George H. Staats, of Richmond street, will sail for Scotland Saturday, July 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Speer and son, of Bangor, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Speer's sister, Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Duer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. McCulloch, of East Second street, are entertaining the latter's parents from Port Jervis, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. DuBois, of Putnam avenue, who have been travelling in the west for several months, have returned home.

Word has been received from Miss Genevieve Petrie, principal of the Irving School, who is in Europe, stating that she is having a delightful trip.

Mrs. Voorhees Laing and daughter, Miss Ethel Laing, of East Front street, who have been sojourning at Asbury Park, have returned here for a time.

Miss Dorothy Douglass, eldest daughter of E. T. Douglass, formerly of Washington avenue, died at her home in Buffalo on Saturday from an attack of appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Elderton, of East Front street, will start on their vacation tomorrow, going to Niagara Falls over the Lehigh Valley Railroad. They will stop at Auburn, N. Y., on their way back.

Hugh Sweeney, formerly of this city, but now of New York, where he is employed by the Miller Automobile Company, expects to return to Plainfield soon and take his old position with the surgical instrument company on East Fourth street.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

A. LeVine, of Watchung avenue, cleans and presses clothes so that they look just like new. Prices reasonable.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, are reliable truckers, and goods are removed to any part of the country quickly and safely.

"What must I do to be shaved?" Take a tip, and get in one of the chairs at W. B. Randolph's barber shop, on Watchung avenue.

Mild pipe and cigarette tobaccos for the cool summer smoke can be found at M. C. Dobbins' cigar store on North avenue. Cigars to suit all, mild or strong.

Of course, you don't eat as much meat during the summer months, but what you do get you want to be sure is the best. Van Sickle has it at his North avenue market.

A. M. Griffen, the hardware merchant, carries one of the best lines of hardware, builders' materials and housefurnishing goods and his prices will be found very reasonable.

The Hotel Iroquois is one of the best hostelries in the State. Everybody who has stopped there says so. It has accommodations for permanent as well as transient guests.

William H. Kirch, the Duer street carpenter, will gladly furnish estimates for any kind of repair work or new building. You can call him on the 'phone or drop a postal card.

Warm days mean parched throats and the best way to cool them is by drinking Schreiner's soda water. It is made only from pure fruit juices and is the best to be had in the city.

Have you inspected the sanitary coolness of the Grandview Meat Market on Somerset street, where all the prime cuts of meat are kept right slap on the ice? Give an order there, and you'll be pleased.

In summer as well as winter, Frank Neidig, the Somerset street butcher, keeps his market cool and in the very best sanitary condition. Meat ordered from him is sure to be the very best. Give him a trial and see.

VanCamp & Franklin, at Front and Somerset streets, have a fine line of summer furniture that they are directing attention to. It includes porch rockers and settees in great variety and at all kinds of prices. They also make a specialty of hammocks.

Woodhull & Martin, the dry goods firm, is showing an attractive line of summer goods, including light weight dress materials for the warm days. The housefurnishing goods department has a big stock of useful articles at very low prices and this is just the time of year to purchase these things. If you are in need of carpets, rugs, men's furnishings or white goods, this is the store to get them at very low prices.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad will sell tickets at low fares July 29th to August 5th, inclusive. Fare from South Plainfield, $3.60. Tickets good going and returning on all regular trains except the Black Diamond Express. Limited for return until August 6th, inclusive. PROPOSALS

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, at a meeting held July 3rd, 1906, notice is hereby given that the Board will meet on Tuesday evening, July 17, 1906, at 8 o'clock, in the Board room in the High School Building, corner Ninth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for grading, curbing and laying out the ground of the new High School building. New plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the architect, Mr. James L. Greenleaf, No. 1 Broadway, New York, until the day of said meeting. Bids to be left at or sent to the Board room on or before the hour mentioned for such meeting to be held. Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper records of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

TRADITION DISPELLED ABOUT JERSEY'S CAPITOL

LAND ON WHICH IT STANDS DOESN'T REVERT TO THE BRITTAIN HEIRS.

Trenton, July 17.—For many years it has been generally understood here that if at any time the State should cease to use the grounds on which the State House stands, the land would revert to the heirs of the late Joseph Brittain. It has always been supposed that he gave the site for the building to the city.

John A. Hartpence, a lawyer of this city, was retained some time ago by the living heirs of Joseph Brittain, Miss Emma M. Brittain, of Butler, Penn., his great-great-great granddaughter, and John Brittain, of Allegheny City, and J. F. Brittain, of Maryville, Tenn., her brothers. The heirs desired to know if there was any title residing in them, so that they might ask the Legislature's permission to sue the State and test its claims to the grounds. After a careful search of all the records, Mr. Hartpence has rendered the following opinion to his clients.

"First.—There is no foundation for the tradition that the land upon which the Capitol stands would revert to Joseph Brittain or his heirs in case it should cease to be used for any purpose than that originally intended, either upon the ground of a donation or conditional grant.

"Second.—There is no foundation for the tradition that a fund appropriated by the State of New Jersey for the benefit of the heirs of Joseph Brittain, in satisfaction of their claims growing out of the alleged cloud upon the State's title, awaits claimants at the State Treasury.

"Third.—There is no sound basis for a legal claim against the State of New Jersey growing out of the alleged donation or conditional grant of lands by Joseph Brittain for the purposes of a State Capitol.

"Fourth.—There is no sound basis for a legal claim against the State of New Jersey under the statutes of 1824 and 1872, the amounts appropriated by the statutes having been paid in full to the beneficiaries thereunder."

The researches made by Counselor Hartpence disclosed that Joseph Brittain sold three of his lots fronting on West State street, running west from Delaware street, to private parties for £100. Then it was that in January 19, 1792, Joseph Brittain and his wife, Susannah Brittain, donated to the State of New Jersey grounds in the rear of these lots for the sum of five shillings, signing a warranty deed to the State forever. This land was worthless to the State, for it was on the river front and needed filling very badly.

As the land was utterly worthless without the controlling land on West State street, then known as "the road from Market House to Beattys Ferry," the State on February 4, 1792, took title from Joseph Brittain and his wife, Susannah Brittain, for the property immediately adjoining the three lots sold to private parties fronting on what is now West State street for a consideration of fifty-seven pounds ten shillings. This is an absolute grant in fee simple, by warranty deed, as disclosed by the deeds on file in the Hunterdon County Court House.

Reciting the deeds to the State as given above, the Counselor says: "Brittain received about $800 for the tract which now comprises the Capitol tract at the time these transactions occurred. This must have been a most adequate remuneration for the land. The transaction in its entirety, therefore, loses its romantic aspect, and from beginning to end has the appearance of a bargain in which the vendor received good value for the property disposed of. All possibility of a donation is dispelled by the deeds themselves, which show the grants to have been in each instance for valuable considerations. The grants were also in fee and without condition."

Governor Not Engaged.

Sea Girt, July 17.—Denial was made yesterday shortly after the published announcement of the engagement of Governor Edward C. Stokes to Miss Anna D. Green, of New Berne, N. C., that there was any truth in the rumor. Miss Green, with her mother, is a guest of the Governor's at the ocean camp of the National Guard, and the State's executive met her in her Southern home last summer. Miss Green is a member of the staff of Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, with the rank of colonel, and came North with the others of the staff, on the invitation of Governor Stokes.

Killed On Rail.

Elizabeth, July 17.—An unidentified man, about forty-three years old, was run over and killed late Saturday night on the Jersey Central Railroad, near the Moffat Leather Works here, by drill engine No. 8, which was attached to several freight cars. The entire train passed over the victim, frightfully mangling his body. It was taken to Stiner's morgue, Elizabethport. The dead man is five feet eight inches tall, and has sandy hair. He was evidently walking the track at the time, and it is thought he was a tramp.

NEWSPAPER A PART OF THE GOVERNMENT.

For many years Samuel W. Pennypacker, now governor, and Mayor Sulzberger, both of Philadelphia, enjoyed the reputation of being the two ablest jurists in the Keystone State. But how different their attitudes are today can best be shown by their opinions regarding the provinces of newspapers. Governor Pennypacker is responsible for the present infamous "press gag law," which restricts the privileges of cartooning men in public office. Judge Sulzberger, on the other hand, believes in the utmost freedom of the press, holding that it is really a part of the government.

Its functions are greater than those of a grand jury, the most powerful agency of public administration, he argues, when he says:

"We have in the various departments men who have been educated in certain technical lines, and who give their lives to the work in which they are engaged. It is impossible that grand jurors are able to make intelligent investigation of everything that needs investigation.

"Furthermore, it is not their province. What do we have the newspapers for? Why are they granted liberties under the Constitution? It is because they are needed as a part of the government. They are a part of the government; unrestained, but valuable and useful for that very reason.

"A newspaper can print anything, even to erroneous statements. It can print anything except malicious lies. Its function in the government is to investigate, to pry into the business of every department of the government and to criticise wherever it sees fit."

The full text of Judge Sulzberger's opinion on the sphere of the modern newspaper will be found in another column of this issue.

JUST A REMINDER.

Plainfielders about to leave town for the summer season should not forget the worthy charities conducted here during the heated season. Both the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain and the Fresh Air Home, for the poor of New York's East Side, in the Netherwood section, are deserving of general support. The baby camp for poor little tots of Plainfield particularly should appeal to the good hearted people of the city. Any contributions received at this office will be acknowledged promptly and immediately transmitted to the proper authorities.

ARE THE REGULARS "DAFFY?"

The report from Trenton that George L. Record may be taken up by the regular Republican organization as its candidate for United States Senate is proof that the silly season has begun. No doubt it would be hailed with delight by the Colbyites, but it is not to be taken for granted that the regulars have suddenly gone "daffy."

WHY NOT WAIT UNTIL WINTER?

The P. P. A.'s committee will have nothing to give out on the ice question until September as its members will hold no meetings during the rest of the summer. Why not wait until December when nature will solve the problem?

A new dodge is being worked by the theatrical press agent. Tales of having fallen heir to fortunes and stolen diamonds having been worked to death. Just now the star to be given free advertisement is getting himself arrested for speeding an automobile.

St. Swithin is getting in his fine work these days.

THE FORUM.

Taxpayer At It Again.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I have noted Anti-Hot Air's article published in your late issue and as one of the many interested in the matter of the department accident, I have no defence to make for criticism founded upon current reports and think they have the virtue of as good intentions and as authentic as the published opinion of the department chiefs, or even they who claim to be eye witnesses. In advance of investigation by the department authorities, which is announced to take place, and I presume the many interests will be guarded with an equity of judgment that will cover the honor of the department and official dignitaries. It was in a very fashionable church that a prominent and rich member was the victim of rumor against his habit of intoxication. The elders took up the current reports, but were perplexed in facing the possible results of final judgment. So they concluded to consult an old and retired elder of the church, who at once disposed of the matter by saying: That the brother in question was one of their best contributors. So I anticipate in this matter the logic of facts will be transfigured in the final vote of the fire committee and the best interest caroled in the round-up.

Mr. Torrey's Absence.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Plainfield is deprived of the presence of David M. Torrey, because Mr. Torrey does not care to go to New Jersey since the attachment out of the Supreme Court of this State was issued for his arrest by Isaac P. Runyon, counsel for Alfred and John Cocks, the plaintiffs in the action. The ltitgation has been long and fierce. The suit was started in the District Court in One Thousand Nine Hundred and Four went to the Supreme Court and Torrey was then examined in discovery proceedings and the Chief Justice made several orders in the cause which Torrey refused to obey and finally when the Supreme Court ordered him attached for contempt of court Torrey fled the State and through his lawyers tried to compromise. Failing in compromising the claim Torrey then brought proceeding in the District Court again to have the judgment opened on account of neglect of his lawyer which proceeding was decided adversely to Torrey; then in June of this year Torrey filed a bill in Chancery through the third counsel by him employed, H. J. Morris, Esq., for an injunction against the plaintiffs and the sheriff and others from proceeding further against him; and Vice Chancellor Garrison allowed Torrey the rule to show cause returnable July ninth, which rule after argument before the Vice Chancellor on the ninth instant was dismissed on the ground Torrey had been litigating the matter through many courts and he was not entitled to come into equity. Torrey was then and is no wni New York State and it is not likely to come to New Jersey.

ISAAC P. RUNYON.

"YOU OUGHT TO BE COWHIDED!" SAID COURT.

Recorder Cadmus Told Wife-Beater He Would Be Pleased to Wield Lash Himself.

"You ought to be cowhided, and if there was a whipping post I would be pleased to wield the lash," said Recorder George W. Cadmus, a war veteran, in the Bloomfield Police Court yesterday, as he held Elmer Danberg, a machinist, in $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of beating his wife Louisa. The latter was in court, plainly showing rough treatment. As she told how her husband came home from New York drunk, beat her and drove her out of the house, the Recorder's eyes flashed and he took a step toward Danberg.

In excuse of his conduct, Danberg said that his inability to get his thirst quenched in Bloomfield made him drink too much in New York, and that when he came home his wife upbraided him.

School Coal Being Delivered.

Large Wheat Crop in Warren.

Washington, N. J., July 17.—A number of farmers have finished gathering what they state is the largest crop of wheat ever raised in Warren county, but through lack of help the majority of the farmers still have large quantities of the crop to gather. The old theory "that an open winter makes a light harvest" has been blasted this year. The rain of spring hastened growth and the harvest has been abundant. The straw is also of good quality and plentiful. A prominent farmer of near Washington states that wheat averages from twenty-eight to thirty-one bushels to the acre this season. This is several bushels better than last year, when it was considered a good yield. Rye fields are furnishing from thirty-one to thirty-five bushels to the acre, as against less than thirty last year.

LIFE INSURANCE WAR ON.

Names of Policy-holders to Be Filed Tomorrow.

New York, July 17.—This week will be an interesting one in insurance matters. Today the Mutual's trustees will meet to name the administration ticker, which must be filed at Albany tomorroy, and on that day also the lists of policy-holders in the New York and Mutual Life Insurance companies are to be opened to the policy-holders and their representatives by the State department of insurance.

The task of copying these lists, which authorized representatives of the international policy-holders' committee will undertake, is an enormous one, as there are more than 600,000 names in the lists filed at Albany by the Mutual Life, and more than that number in the New York Life's lists. The Mutual has but 450,000 policy-holders, so it is certin that the lists as filed will contain many duplications.

Coal Dealers Are Denounced.

Perth Amboy, July 17.—The coal dealers of Perth Amboy are being denounced by the people of the city for what is regarded as a deliberate attempt on their part to exort exorbitant prices from the city. When the Board of Education asked for bids for coal, every dealer who submitted one asked $6.25 a ton. The contract was divided between them after a futile attempt to prevail upon them to lower their bids. Less than a month later the federal government asked for bids for coal for the postoffice building, and the same dealers who demanded $6.25 from the city offered to furnish the government coal at $5.45. The city, it is claimed, pays its bills more promptly than the government, and the Board of Education is being criticised for paying the high price demanded.

Tax Collector John W. Murray and family, of West Fourth street, who have been at Wolfboro, N. H., attending the golden wedding celebration of Mr. Murray's parents, are expected home tonight or tomorrow.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

The performance of "Chinatown Charlie" at the New Plainfield theatre, Saturday night, July 28, will mark the regular opening of the house for the season of 1906-7. During August several high class productions will be seen and with the arrival of September will come a feast of good things for local playgoers. In the past week Manager Counihan has booked "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Student King," "The Ham Tree," "The Prince Chap" and several more of the big metropolitan successes.

A. H. Woods, who owns "Chinatown Charlie" and thirteen other shows, has another "mellerdrammer" called "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," from the pen of Theodore Kremer. It is claimed that it costs him in the neighborhood of $100 weekly for fodder for four horses, coal for a fire, gasolene for autos, motor boat and cycle and ammunition used in the production.

Louis Payne, who, it is reported, married Mrs. Leslie Carter, last week, is an actor of some note and appeared in this city last winter in the Frohman production of "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots."

Letters written on cuffs, collars, shingles, pieces of bark, tomato can labels and the like are being received daily by James Harrigan, the "tramp juggler," who is about to play the title role in "Panhandle Pete," a play written by Willard Holcomb around George McManus' pictorial series of the same name in a Sunday newspaper. Harrigan's curious mail comes from hoboes in all parts of the country who wish him success in the role of a jovial tramp in New York. One letter was written on the inside of a greasy hat band and was signed "Mud Heel McCarthy."

"Live One" Among the Hill Fires In Some Breezy Copy.

Up in the wilds of Hunterdon county where newspaper correspondents are few and far between, The Daily Press has a "live one." He is located at Reaville and in return for a copy of our paper he is to give us detailed accounts of all the happenings in that vicinity. This is departing somewhat from the usual way of paying representatives but it was agreed to in this case because the young man wanted to make a trip to the postoffice each morning. He is twelve years old and the postmaster's daughter, who has seen ten summers, hands out the mail.

When not rusticating, the Reaville correspondent answers the telephone in The Daily Press office. His first contribution reached the editor today and "here's the very note—this is what he wrote:"

"I got up sick this morning and I am not feeling well now. I did not have anything to do so I thought I would write. Yesterday there was a fellow drowned at Neshanic. He lived at Ringoes and worked for the Western union. He went up with a gang Saturday and yesterday he went in swimming and stepped off in deep water. He went under and two young boys went and told some folks and they went in a boat and fished two hours before they found him. His name was Martin Quick.

"Saturday I got here at 1 o'clock and made the table look sick all right but now I feel as if I couldn't eat a blade of grass. It is nice and cool now but it sprinkled some yesterday. Ask George how the rat is and let me know. As I have nothing more to say because I have only been here a day and a half I will close. Don't Forget the Paper.

"RUSSEL."

P. S.—I am too sick to come home and put up full sheets.

In response to a telephone query at noon, it was learned that Russel's appetite had returned and that his chances of recovery and ability to get more news were very encouraging.

WOMAN DISAPPEARS ON HER WAY HOME.

Peter Horn Reports to Newark Police Unaccountable Absence of His Wife.

Mrs. Henrietta Horn, thirty years old, of No. 114 Reslime avenue, Newark, disappeared late last Saturday night. Peter Horn, her husband, after searching for her since she disappeared without finding trace of her, yesterday asked Capt. Vogel, of the Fourth Precinct police, to assist him.

As the incident was related to the police, Mrs. Horn and her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Vance, of No. 587 Bergen street, went shopping Saturday, each being accompanied by a young daughter. They returned late to the home of Mrs. Horn. Leaving her daughter Helen at home Mrs. Horn walked with her sister and the latter's child to their home. Mrs. Vance says she invited her sister into the house, but the latter excused herself, saying that it was then nearly midnight and she was in a hurry to get home. She left Mrs. Vance at the door of the latter's home and went away in the direction of her own home. That was the last seen of her by any of her relatives.

Horn, alarmed by the failure of his wife to return and knowing she had gone to Mrs. Vance's home, went there and aroused the family. When he learned that his wife had started for home he spent the remainder of the night and all day Sunday searching for her. He was joined by friends, but all their efforts were vain.

Horn said yesterday that he knew of no reason to cause his wife to go away voluntarily as their life together had been happy. Mrs. Vance said that her sister had been acting of late as though nervous over some trouble. The missing woman has light hair and gray eyes; is about five feet two inches tall, and wore a white shirt waist, dark brown skirt and blue hat.

NEW JERSEY DENTISTS MEET AT ASBURY PARK.

Thirty-Sixth Annual Meeting Will be This Week—Exhibition of Instruments a Feature.

Many local dentists are planning to attend the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Dental Society at Asbury Park this week. The Hotel Columbia will be headquarters for the dentists, while they will hold their business sessions and the regular exhibition of dentists' instruments, chairs, appliances, antiseptics, powders, etc., in the Beach auditorium.

The meeting will open tomorrow, and continue through Friday morning. Last year about 150 dentists from all parts of the State were in attendance at the annual geathering, and this year even more than that number are expected. The registration booth in the Beach auditorium will be opened Tuesday evening for the accommodation of members who come from a distance, and will arrive the day before the opening of the meeting.

WIFE DENIES ACCUSATIONS; LETTERS ARE PRODUCED.

Her Testimony Causes a Postponement of Morristown Divorce Suit Until July 27.

Morristown, July 17.—In the suit for divorce instituted by Frederick M. Loree against his wife, Clara, the defense was opened on Saturday, and was a general denial of the allegations made. Edward C. Sanderson, of Newark, testified that he visited the Lorees in August last, but never saw Van Gilder, the co-respondent, at the house except when Mr. Loree was there, and then only in the evening. Miss Sanderson testified that she was at the Lorees in July last and that she never saw Van Gilder at the Loree house. On cross-examination she said that she and Mrs. Loree had met Van Gilder several times in the evening when out walking.

William Lounsbury, father of Mrs. Loree, testified that he had never noted anything wrong in his daughter's conduct. Van Gilder and Mrs. Loree both swore they had not committed the indiscretions with which they were charged, Mrs. Loree denying specifically that she had ever hugged and kissed Van Gilder. James Lowrey, of Ironia, was then called and testified that Mrs. Loree had visited his house and that Van Gilder came up there on Sunday and he saw Mrs. Loree kissing him. Van Gilder was not in the courtroom when this testimony was given, but was called in later and denied that he had been at the Lowrey house on the Sunday specified.

Several letters that it is claimed were written by Mrs. Loree have been put in evidence. She denies having written them, and the case was adjourned to July 27 to give her an opportunity to secure proof to that effect.

Will Consider Mosquitoes.

Atlantic City, July 17.—Mayor F. P. Stoy, president of the League of Seachore Resorts, has announced that the next meeting will be held at Wildwood, July 21, and that he expects there will be discussed appropriations for the extermination of the mosquito, and a plan for a new attack on the menhaden "pirates." Regarding the application of the "bishops' bill," the Mayor was silent except to remark that likely it would be touched upon, as all resorts were interested in the new law.

STATE ROAD CHIEF IS AGAINST FREEHOLDERS.

Urges Counties to Appoint Commissioners to Transact Business.

Trenton, July 17.—"As for the building of roads, and this talk includes the building of bridges, the quicker the counties get rid of the ancient Freeholders and adopt the present law allowing commissioners to attend to county business at salaries enough to warrant them putting in their whole time, the better it will be for the people," declared State Road Commissioner Hutchinson yesterday.

Continuing, the commissioner said: "The Freeholder is elected to represent a district, and in the majority of cases he never does anything else than represent that district. The idea of working for the good of the county as a whole does not occur to the average Freeholder.

"He comes from a district, and wants to get as much money in the way of improvements for that district as possible. Hence his vision is cut short. His constituents come to him and want this or that thing done for the district; and when he sees the good of the whole county before obedience to a clique in a small district they have no further use for him and turn him down in the next primaries, if possible.

"Take the matter of roads: every freeholder is badgered by his constituents for roads. It may be for the use of a small section of a district leading to nowhere in particular, or it may be to improve some leader's farm property so that it will yield a handsome profit on sale. Now, if the Freeholder can't swing the board around to get this road, his constituent thinks he has no power and should be removed.

"Get rid of the antiquated system of Freeholders and into the modern idea of three commissioners to run the county on business lines. They will plan for the county as a whole; and as the State is paying one-third of the cost of stone road building, the county unit is the only thing I can consider.

"Hunterdon, always in debt before, now is in elegant shape with its three commissioners, and the people could not be hired to go back to the cumbersome and antiquated system of Freeholders."

The grand scheme of asphalting the country roads throughout New Jersey, which was proposed by a Philadelphia man, who petitioned the State Road Commissioner to let him build a specimen mile road, has gone by the board, and without hope, apparently.

Road Commissioner Hutchinson says that the offer to build the road for $8,000, the price of good macadam construction, was considered by his department; but when the stranger did not try to satisfy the department of the finances behind him for the undertaking, negotiations were ended.

The commissioner believes it a good thing to put this rock asphalt on country roads and then bind it with tar so that dust is eradicated, but he has yet to see the man who will do the job at the cost of good macadam construction.

Several contractors have been experimenting with the end in view of offering to the State this cheap hard road substance free from dust, but none of them can come anywhere near the $8,000 now paid for good, honest macadam construction.

Says Wife Eloped With Pastor.

Trenton, July 17.—Robert Cruit, of Montclair, has obtained a decree from the Chancellor, divorcing him from his wife, Nellie Jewett Cruit, who is alleged to have eloped with the Rev. Henry Jescheke, a Unitarian minister, who formerly had a charge at Ridgewood. In his testimony before the special master, Mr. Cruit said his wife seemed to have been completely infatuated with the clergyman.

Washerwomen Form a Union.

Westfield, July 17.—This place has a new labor union. The colored washerwomen have formed a union and have promulgated a scale of wages and prices. As this class of labor is scarce in Westfield, the demands of the union will probably be acceded to. The day wage scale is $1.50 for eight hours' work.

ROAMING RHODA TOOK IT.

New Brunswick, July 17.—A bicycle found along the Pennsylvania Railroad here, near Baldwin street, on Friday afternoon, has been identified and claimed by its owner, a Weston's Mills lad, from whose front gate it disappeared on Friday.

As the result of the investigation by the police it was disclosed that the bicycle was taken by "Roaming Rhoda," a girl tramp. She generally travels through Pennsylvania and Delaware, but once in a while gets into Jersey.

Rhoda was seen pedalling through George street on a boy's wheel on Friday. At the freight house she abandoned the wheel and boarded a freight train. She wears a blue dress somewhat the worse for wear, men's shoes, and an automobile cap, and carries a parasol.

STRIKERS LOCKED OUT.

A lockout in all branches of the building trade in Hudson county was declared yesterday afternoon by the Building Trades' Employers' Association at No. 65 Montgomery street, Jersey City.

A strike and lockout of carpenters have been on for several weeks. The master carpenters recently declared for open shops. The bosses say their fight is practically won and that the lockout of union men will be the surest way to stop the labor troubles which began last spring. They charge that the Building Trades Council has not kept its word. Members of the Building Trades Council say another week will settle the fight against the bosses.

SPHERE OF NEWSPAPERS

Journals Are a Part of the Government Declared a Learned Jurist.

THEY ENJOY LIBERTIES

The Papers and Not Grand Juries, Proper Investigations of Administration.

"If a member of a Grand Jury has any criticisms to make of administrative matters, he should go to a newspaper with them and not endeavor to transform the Grand Jury into a machine for investigations on its own account."

Such a doctrine will doubtless prove a severe shock to ultra-conservative persons who maintain that newspapers are too bold; too prying; too wide in their scope; too aggressive. It is not the declaration of an editor or publisher, but of a Judge upon the bench in Philadelphia, and one of the most astute Judges Philadelphia has ever known—Mayer Sulzberger.

Judge Sulzberger's record in the Court of Common Pleas, in the License Court, the Juvenile Court and the Desertion Court in that city has given him a wide reputation for probity, profound knowledge of the law, scholarly attainments and a calm, deliberate judgment which rarely goes astray.

It was only recently that the foreman of the Grand Jury told Judge Sulzberger that the jury desired to make a presentment against a street-cleaning contractor who was said to have failed to fulfill the terms of his contract, according to all its specifications. Much to the surprise of everybody in the courtroom, the Judge refused.

"The mere breach of a contract," he said, "is not a subject for the criminal courts. It is cognizable in the civil courts, unless it reaches the proportions of a common nuisance, which is indictable.

"Short of that, the criminal courts have no jurisdiction. It is true that public administration is always the subject of criticism. But the Constitution itself recognizes a free press as such critical agent."

In a further utterance, the Judge elaborated this opinion.

"Philadelphia, with its million and a half of people," he said, "is larger than many States and principalities in Europe. It is absurd to expect that twenty-four men who meet a couple of hours for a few days are able to intelligently criticise all the various technical departments of a government such as we have in Philadelphia.

"We have in the various departments men who have been educated in certain technical lines, and who give their lives to the work in which they are engaged. It is impossible that grand jurors are able to make intelligent investigation of everything that needs investigation.

"Furthermore, it is not their province. What do we have the newspapers for? Why are they granted liberties under the Constitution? It is because they are needed as a part of the government. They are a part of the government; unrestrained, but valuable and useful for that very reason.

"A newspaper can print anything, even to erroneous statements. It can print anything except malicious lies. Its function in the government is to investigate, to pry into the business of every department of the government and to criticise wherever it sees fit.

"It sometimes makes me out of patience with newspapers that all do not realize their function, and that they are virtually a part of the government. It is their duty to find out evils wherever they exist and bring them to the attention of the responsible authorities. They are the great safeguard against corruption in public office.

"And how much better they can do this work than any grand jury. They have their men going about everywhere, nosing into everything. If there is anything wrong they will be sure to find it out. Some one will drop a hint. Then the facts are printed, and they go immediately before the administrative officer who is responsible.

"If he does not act the remedy is still in the newspapers. They can bring the matter of the negligence of the public official to the attention of the persons to whom that official is responsible, and lastly they place all the facts before the people, who at any time can regulate anything under our form of government.

"No, I am not one who believes that the unction of the grand jury has passed away. I have the greatest faith in the value of a good grand jury. But it is not the function of a grand jury to investigate and criticise purely administrative matters. It will have all it can do to consider cases of crime brought before it."

Judge Sulzberger also has his own views of the cause of graft in public office. He does not condone graft, or deny that there is graft in public office, but it is his opinion that American graft is of a much less sinful type than the graft of other countries.

"I believe," he said, "that good nature is the cause of the greater part of all the graft in the United States, whether it is in public office or in a corporation. American people are good natured in a fault.

"And when we know that a man neglects to do what he should do, or does that which he should not do, for the sake of a friend, to be accommodating, out of the goodness of his heart, I do not think we can take such a gloomy view of it. I tell you that there is more good nature, more humanity in the Americans than in any other people on the face of the earth.

"Look at the slaughter house scandal. I've no doubt that the horrors printed are true, but if you could see into the same institutions in other countries I'll warrant you would find the conditions worse. Here, if anything is wrong, we flood the country with information. We spit the whole thing out, and everybody knows it. Thus, evils are soon corrected.

"Most of our evils are industrial, due to our rapid growth. Only a short time ago the cattle were running wild over the plains, and every city did its own slaughtering. Suddenly a great industry springs up in Chicago; it grows to enormous proportions before we are aware and before any necessity of regulation has been made apparent. Soon all these abuses will be properly regulated by the government, but not under the socialistic theory."

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.
The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.
It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Miss Maud Raymond, who as Beezy, the chocolate-hued attendant in the manicure parlors in the first act of "The Social Whirl," has made the big individual hit at the Casino, New York, musical satire with the song "Bill Simmons," is often mistaken for a genuine "cullud pusson."

"No, I'm not a Southerner and never lived in the South," she said recently. "Many persons have asked me if I was not from somewhere or other beyond Mason and Dixon's line. I've had letters from many who are strangers to me putting this query.

"The fact is that I am a New Yorker by birth and education, and know little or nothing about the darky, either here or in his native element. I was born in Orchard street, near Houston, and was raised on the East Side. There are very few negros in that part of the town. I never attempted to sing soon congs, until I had been on the stage a number of years and not until W. A. Brady selected me to play Topsy in the all-star revival of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' did I ever 'black up.'

"I never had a colored servant and never went out of my way to study negro characteristics. If I am as proficient in this line of work as some persons have tried to persuade me, it is more from intuition and from watching other impersonators than from study of real life. My make-up is a result of considerable experiment with brown paints. There is no burnt cork about it. I am quite proud of its effect.

"The greatest compliment I have had on my work in 'The Social Whirl' I presume are 'mash notes' from 'real coons' who take me for one of their kind. The other night a man in the second row left his seat and asked Mr. Perlet, the musical director, if it was true that I was a white woman."

Another tribute to Miss Raymond's cleverness in "The Social Whirl" is the fact that her song "Bill Simmons" has been only a moderate success, if not a failure, when sung in other plays or in vaudeville by other performers.

ELIZABETH MAN ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY.

Alfred Harraden, Married a Week Ago, Has Also a Wife in England.

Rahway, July 17.—Alfred Harraden, 32 years old, of 814 East Jersey street, Elizabeth, was arrested here Saturday morning on the charge of bigamy preferred by Frederick J. Pitt, of this city, who is a brother-in-law of Harraden's second wife, to whom Harraden was married at Elizabeth on Saturday, July 7, last.

Harraden's second wife was a Miss Polly Wilson, who is also a stepsister to him. She and Harraden resided in the same town in England. Pitt, Harraden's accuser, together with Miss Wilson, now Harraden's second wife, came to this country about three years ago. For some time past, Pitt and Miss Wilson have been employed in the United States Umbrella Factory on Irving street, this city, and Harraden, an engineer, has been employed at the works of the Royal Manufacturing Company, on East Grand street, this city.

Harraden was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William R. Frazee on Saturday. He did not deny that he had two wives. The first, he said, was living in England, but he had not seen her for about fourteen years. The reason he gave for deserting her was that she proved disreputable. He asserted that he knew for a fact that since he last saw her she had been arrested for various offenses no less than thirteen times. He felt that under the circumstances he was justified in taking another wife. Justice Frazee held him under $200 cash bail to await the action of the grand jury, the same being furnished by officers of the company by whom Harraden is employed.

What induced Pitt to thus suddenly denounce Harraden is not known, but it is believed that it was the result of a recent falling out between Pitt and Harraden.

Traveling Outfits.

Trunk Dealer—I see. Want something for a six-months' tour abroad. Well, madam, in the adjoining building I have a trunk which I'm sure you will like. Can't get it in the storeroom; double door is too narrow. I thought of remodeling it using it for a seashore cottage, but if it will suit you I will let you have it cheap.

Dame—I'm not the one who is going abroad; it's my husband.

"Oh! George, show the lady one of those vest-pocket satchels."—N. Y. Weekly.

Let Her Go.

"How did Smith's wife come to leave him?"

"It was all her fault."

'Ent how?"

"Why she told Smith that if he did not get her the bonnet she had set her heart on she would go home to her mother."

"Why did he not get it for her?"

"He would have gotten it for her if she hadn't made that threat."—Houston Post.

Friendship's Tribute.

"Yes," said Miss Tartun, "except that poor, dear Fan needn't have been quite so prompt in making her responses. She hadn't the slightest reason to fear that Jack would repent and back out when she had him actually at the altar."—Chicago Tribune.

Another Version.

Jack was just about to build his famous house.

"No, sir," replied Jack, "they would call a strike on me before the house was finished. I'll build it myself."

Thus we know why the house was called "the house that Jack built."—Chicago Daily News.

Parental Solicitude.

"Maria, who is that young chap that's coming to see Bessie?"

"His name is Hankinson. He seems to be all right."

"Do you consider him a safe young man?"

"Bessie does. She says he's in good circumstances and has been operated on for appendicitis."—Chicago Tribune.

A Confident Forecaster.

"The weather bureau needs jes' one thing," said the man who walks with a cane.

"Why they have a wonderfully complete scientific equipment."

"Yes. But they ought to have a man with the rhumatism up there to tell 'em dead sure when it's going to rain."—Washington Star.

No Trouble.

"What is the meaning of 'alter ego?'" asked the teacher of the beginners' class in Latin.

"The other I," said the boy with the curly hair.

"Give a sentence containing the phrase."

"He winked his other I."—Chicago Tribune.

A Premature Discussion.

Miss Flighty—Have you decided to take any part in the discussion, "What will we do in Heaven?"

Good Minister—No, miss. I am at present much more interested in the question, "What shall we do to get there?"—N. Y. Weekly.

The Ratio.

The statesman strives to be exact,
His zeal, he'll ne'er restrain it.
It takes a day to state a fact
And thirty to explain it.
—Washington Star.

MIGHT MEAN WAR.

"I say, old chap, do you think I look like an Englishman?"

"You do, my boy, but don't tell the English, I said so."—Rochester Democrat-Chronicle.

Expensive.

We call a girl a priceless pearl,
And it is even betting
We do it ere we are aware
How costly is the setting.
—Puck.

Suspicious.

"You say no other editor has ever seen this poem?"

"No, sir; your paper is to have the first opportunity to publish it."

"How'd you get that dusty footprint on your coat tail"—Houston Post.

The Shortstop's Error.

"I failed to catch your name when we were introduced, Miss ——?"

"Ball."

"Gee! I ought to be fired from the team for that muff."—Cleveland Leader.

Goes the Limit.

Knicker—Is he a reformer?

Bocker—Yes; he advocates the simple spelling and phonetic life.—N. Y. Sun.

NOBILITY NOTES.

Princess Ena of Battenberg is the only royal child born in Scotland for more than 300 years.

King Edward has nine motor cars. The king does not need to have his cars numbered and does not use a driving license.

The king of Spain and Prince Frederic of Schleswig-Holstein are generals of the British army. There is no foreign ardimals in the navy.

Prince Louis of Bavaria is among the few royal doctors. He is a skilled surgeon and has performed several operations in Madrid, where he was staying before the marriage of his son.

Kaiser Wilhelm is of medium height, but the German empress is tall, and that is why the proud kaiser will never consent to be photographed beside his wife, unless she sits while he stands.

The important news is officially announced by the British war department that horse No. 81,775, of the artillery, has been chosen for the use of the prince of Wales on public occasions.

The new sovereign of Norway, in all the speeches and orations of welcome to which he had been subjected since his arrival in Norway, has been addressed as "Mr. King" instead of "sire" or "majesty."

Queen Alexandra, of England is, like most women, ill at ease on the rostrum. Her voice is low and sweet, with just a suspicion of foreign accent about it. There is an almost pathetic note in its tones that lingers in the memory hauntingly. However, all her subjects loyally declare that she is a most charming speaker and that the foreign tinge is but an added charm to the voice.

The new queen of Norway is said to be a great admirer of Dickens and to have read the "Christmas Carol" so much that she can recite it from beginning to end. Not long ago she said: "No one can be really bad who can cry over Tiny Tim." Every Christmas she sends parcels of presents to the crippled children in the homes and hospitals of London and to each present is attached a card bearing the message: "With Tiny Tim's love."

MISQUOTED PHRASES.

Do you know that the word "dude" comes from the English word "duds," which means clothes? Hence, a dude is one very fond of clothes.

Do you know that the expression "Sure as eggs is eggs," was never meant to be as ungrammatical as it sounds? The original was sure as X is X.

Do you know why people say "I slept like a top?" They should say, I slept like a toupe, for toupe is the French word for dormouse, an animal given to sound and long sleeping.

Do you know why foolscap paper is so called? When Charles I was king of England, only certain people were allowed to manufacture paper, and it all had to bear the royal arms. Parliament made sport of the law, and ordered a fool's cap and bells to be used instead.

Do you know the origin of the phrase "Up Salt River?" Before steam, navigation along the Ohio was carried on by flatboats, which were rowed up stream. This was particularly hard work, especially up Salt river, a dangerous, crooked branch of the Ohio river in Kentucky. When slaves were to be punished, this was a common method employed by their owners. Hence, at election times, people refer to sending the defeated candidates "Up Salt River" as a penalty.

NOTES ON NATIONALITIES.

The Eskimo gives his doctor a fee as soon as he comes. If the patient recovers, it is kept; if not, it is returned.

Dry-salted salmon is much used in Japan for New Year's presents. After the New Year, the demand lessens, and prices decline 20 to 30 per cent.

Natives of the Zambesi valley in Africa are very fond of perfumes and the more violent kinds are especially in great demand. They are sold in cardboard boxes containing 12 assorted bottles.

The Swiss federal engineers, it is said, have succeeded with great difficulty in arresting the movement of two miles of debris, which threatened to destroy the villages of Gruquay and Chamoson, situated in the Canton of Valais.

The Hindu holy books forbid a woman to see dancing, hear music, wear jewels, blacken her eyebrows, eat dainty food, sit at a window, or view herself in a mirror during the absence of her husband; and allows him to divorce her if she has no sons, injures his property, scolds him, quarrels with another woman, or presumes to eat before he has finished his meal.

COSTLIEST IN THE WORLD.

The costliest building is the Milan cathedral.

The costliest dog was a St. Bernard, Plinlimmon, who sold for $31,250.

The costliest government is the French. The government salaries aggregate $3,750,000.

The costliest diamond is the Imperial, for which the nizam of Hyderabad paid $2,150,000.

The costliest pipe belongs to the shah of Persia. It is a jeweled hookah, and its value is put at $400,000.

"Mistah" Monroe, the funniest and one of the best baseball players in the country, will be here with his star colored aggregation on Saturday, and this is assurance of a red hot contest.

The Philadelphia Quaker Giants are rated as the peer of any team in its class playing today, and an exhibition by this club is well worth seeing.

All fandom has been looking forward with unusual interest to the appearance here of the Philadelphia Quaker Giants and they are sure to attract a big crowd.

Manager Nuebeck may be right in saying that he did not known that Linderman, Driscoll, Kiernan, Barry and the rest of the well known players were to appear here on Saturday, but President Rath should not have given out the information to Manager Daab. Such work will not help the Invaders.

Manager Frank Burke, of the Elizabeth Stars, will make the Invaders hustle before the season is over. Thus far Manager Nuebeck has nothing on the manager of the Stars.

The Elizabethport Stars would not think of coming to Plainfield with such an aggregation as the Invaders had on the oval Saturday. Burke knows the locals too well for that.

All credit is due "Phil." Smith for the masterly game he is putting up this season. There are not many youngsters who could jump from a High School team and play as well. When he held the Cuban X Giants down to three hits, he was going some. At no time during the season has he been in danger. He will have a severe test, however, on Saturday against the Philadelphia Quaker Giants.

Two errors for Connolly in left field on Saturday is a little difficult to explain. "Dan" is usually very reliable and his misplays are few and far between.

In Reardon and Heffron, the locals have two outfielders that are hard to beat. Their percentage as fielders is about 1,000, while in stick work they can hold their own.

Comparing Snow at short with Curley, who formerly played that position here, the former is certainly playing a faster game, displays more ginger and hits the ball more consistently.

"Jack" O'Neil is putting up a star game behind the rubber these days and it is seldom that a base runner can steal on him. He is also hitting the ball hard.

GOLF.

With a score of 67 for eighteen holes, Robert Abbott's performance at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday is clearly the best to date. The young intercollegiate champion bids fair to capture even higher honors in the near future.

C. B. Morgan, who was defeated by F. C. Talmadge on Saturday in the semi-final championship round by 2 up, put up a very hard fight in the match. Morgan is playing a strong game this season and frequently wins honors by his clever work.

The final round for the championship of the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday between Robert Abbott and Frank C. Talmadge is the talk of the golfers this week. It will be a match well worth seeing, as both players are on the top of their game.

Every American golfer rejoices that Eben Byers won the national amateur championship at Englewood on Saturday, by defeating George Lyon, the Canadian, 2 up. The latter is fifty-eight years old, while Byers is but a young man.

The Plainfield Country Club course is very fast just now and this accounts largely for the many low scores returned.

There were several private dinners at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday and many members remained throughout the evening.

ADAM BLAIR TO RACE "HARRY DAWSON" IN CIRCUIT.

Local Trotter Has Made Good Showing This Year and is to Be Taken to Kingston.

Adam C. Blair, the local horseman, will leave Friday for Kingston, N. Y., with his racing stud, "Harry Dawson." This horse has a mark of 2:19¼ made last season, but Blair thinks the animal is capable of lowering this figure and will enter him in a matinee meet at Kingston early in the week and go with him over the circuit running through New York State, not returning to this city until fall.

"Harry Dawson" is an eight-year-old, by "Night Hawk," and is Blair's most valuable horse. He was offered $3,000 for the animal last week. The horse has been entered in the 2:30 class, but Blair will have it trot with the 2:20 horses and thinks he is good to showing, from the work he has been doing thus far in the season. At Flemington about three weeks ago, the horse won second money, and at the recent tratting at Trenton, he also captured second money. The horse made a satisfactory showing at the races at the Driving Park meet.

Record's Candidacy.

An entirely new phase is developing in the United States senatorial campaign now on in New Jersey and the result may be the election to that office of George L. Record, of Hudson county, by the regular Republicans, instead of the Colby insurgents, his present backers, and in spite of the recent decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals knocking out the provisions of the Assembly redistricting bill and practically cutting him off from the possibility of carrying his home county of Hudson, according to a despatch from Trenton to the Philadelphia Press.

Funeral of William Reed.

The funeral of William Reed was held at his late home on Liberty street, yesterday afternoon. It was in charge of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, of which he had been a member for four years, and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. The body was afterward taken to South Branch, wher a further service was held in the Reformed church there. The interment was at South Branch.

OUTLOOK FOR JERSEY CROPS SEEMS BRIGHT.

Secretary of State Board of Agriculture Predicts Good Fields.

Trenton, July 17.—Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, does not see any calamity ahead for New Jersey farmers this year, but, on the other hand, believes from the present conditions that they will reap good crops, and that their condition will be improved over that of last year.

Speaking of the hay crop, about which there was so much concern some time ago, Mr. Dye said: "The grass crop has been housed, and it will not be more than 75 per cent. of the normal hay crop, owing to dry weather early in the season. There has been little trouble in gathering it despite the rains lately."

Talking about crops in general, the secretary said: "The wheat and rye crops are all in, and are good ones. I cannot say just yet what the yield will be, but New Jersey can be put down as producing good wheat and rye crops in 1906."

"The cranberry crop has been injured somewhat by late frosts, and in some sections the great amount of hail during the summer season has injured the promising yield. But with the added damage by worms, etc., which is always to be considered in making a crop statement, the present prospects are fairly satisfactory.

"Raspberries and blackberries are abundant, and grapes are promisng for this season of the year. Of course, black rot may assail the grapes later, but New Jersey grapes have generally been free from that.

"Of peaches and pears, there will be more than a moderate crop, but apples will yield little more than 75 per cent. of a full crop. Melons promise well, but may have their enemies to fight later, enemies such as blight and insects. If these things show up, then the crop will be reduced. However, there seems no conditions now to justify belief that they will hurt the vines.

"The weather for the last five or six weeks has been highly favorable to garden truck. The market gardener is reaping a splendid harvest for his pains.

"Corn, potatoes, cabbage and sweet potatoes are excellent in the soil and growing in the most promising manner.

"There is an appearance of blight in the yield of white potatoes, and if hot, humid weather continues very long, there will be injury from rot.

"On the other hand, corn is jumping with leaps into perfection, and the conditions seem to indicate a great yield. Of oats, there will not be a full crop, owing to the moist weather.

"All in all, the Jersey farmer is in good shape, and is preparing to send to the Philadelphia and New York markets the best vegetables krown in the world."

RAHWAY TO HAVE FILTERED WATER.

New Plant Expected to Be In Good Working Order In a Few More Months.

Rahway, July 17.—In a few months the new filtration plant here will be in full working order and the chief drawback to the city's advancement will have become a matter of history. The Federal Filtration System, which has the contract, has reached a scheme of thorough organization and is now entering the preliminary stage of the work.

In many ways the water system of the city has been ideal, but during the last few years grave doubts as to the purity of the supply have arisen. The members of the Water Board have been zealous in their efforts and they have been aided at times by the State Board of Health and Game Commission, but despite all this pollution continued. The local board has been handicapped by a lack of money necessary to provide for an adequate patroling of the watershed and what has been done is the result of fidelity and public spirit on the part of its members.

The municipal system was inaugurated in 1871. A pumping station on the north branch of the Rahway river near the city line was erected and a thorough line of mains laid. At that time the country contiguous to the stream was but sparsely settled and the city reveled in a pure water supply. The source of the stream is in the Orange Mountains and with the development of the towns and erection of factories the pollution of the water began. It has been a constant warfare between the city and the careless municipalities and the manufacturers for years, but the city has invariably triumphed.

POLICE ALLIED WITH CRIME.

Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Essex county, has placed in the hands of the Board of Police Commissioners of Newark thirty-four affidavits dealing with conditions in public dance halls. They charge that liquor is sold to young girls, and that members of the police force are in league with the keepers of the resorts. Some affidavits are signed by girls who frequent the places and others by mothers.

Neither of the Police Commissioners would make any comment on the affidavits, but they declared that the matter would be thoroughly investigated.

OFF FOR "CAMP TUXIS

TO BE GONE TWO WEEKS

Plainfielders and Delegation from Meridan, Conn., Association To Tent It On Tuxis Island.

Leaving this city on the 7:55 train tomorrow morning, a party of sixteen members of the junior department of the local Y. M. C. A., under the leadership of Secretary Kenneth Robbie, will go to Tuxis Island, where "Camp Tuxis," the association's camp for the summer, will be pitched for two weeks. The Plainfielders will have as camp mates a party of twenty-five members of the Meridan Y. M. C. A., in charge of Secretary E. K. Allen and Physical Director J. E. Reynolds, of Meridan, Conn.

The local association members who will make the trip will include R. P. Morris, H. B. Freeman, Stewart Freeman, Edgar Freeman, Julius Linke, Walter McDougall, Arthur R. Perrin, Leslie Leland, Stanley Karner, F. J. Line, R. D. Taylor, Gordon V. Moy, Nelson Ramsey, Sidney Rockwell, Walter Droll and John Schofield. The blankets and baggage of the party left town today in advance of the campers and will be sent through direct. Mr. Robbie has taken charge of the baggage, and went to New York this afternoon to look after it.

Leaving this city early in the morning, the campers will arrive at New Haven in time to have lunch and a swim at the New Haven Y. M. C. A. After the inner man has been satisfied, the boys will make a tour of the grounds and buildings of Yale University before the train leaves for Madison, Conn. The party will arrive at the camping ground at about 4 o'clock. The campers will be accommodated in an eight-room cottage and five tents during their two weeks' stay. About eight boys will be accommodated in each of the tents, and there will be a leader in charge of each of the parties. The leaders are to be Kenneth Robbie, Stewart Freeman, J. E. Reynolds, E. K. Allen and Stanley White, of Madison.

The campers will be the only inhabitants on Tuxis Island, but there will be something doing every day and all the time. A "flying baseball league," composed of four teams, the Sparrows, the Robins, the Bluejays and the Blackbirds, has been organized and every boy will have a chance to play ball every day. A first team of the island players will be matched against a team from Madison, and a team of Madison boys will play a Plainfield nine for the championship of the island.

Hare and hound runs, an athletic meet, boat races, aquatic contests, including swimming races, obstacle races in the water and a boat tug of war, have been arranged for pastimes; there will be a "horrible parade," in custume, a week from tomorrow, and several clam bakes. The general program for the day will be as follows: Rise at 6:30, morning dip; breakfast at 7, Bible study at 8, baseball at 9, swimming at 11:30, dinner at noon, first aid to the injured drill immediately after dinner, afternoon events at 2, swimming at 5:30, supper at 6, camp fire at 7:30, camp jolly at 8:30, taps at 9:30.

AN ATTACHMENT IN FAVOR OF G. M. RITTENHOUSE & CO.

Louisville Bank Appears to Have Been Taken In, It Is Said.

An attachment in favor of George M. Rittenhouse & Co., of New York, against the German Insurance Bank, of Louisville, Ky., for $2,290, has been received by Sheriff Hayes, of New York. Mr. Rittenhouse and the company, which is Samuel Bingaman, live in this city, being engaged in the produce business in New York.

The attachment was granted on the ground that the German Insurance Bank is a foreign corporation. George M. Rittenhouse & Co. allege that on March 1 they paid $930 to the German Insurance Bank on a draft accompanied by a forged bill of lading of 310 cases of eggs, which draft the bank had discounted and which the firm paid, believing it to be genuine, and that on February 28 the firm of Brown & Rittenhouse paid $1,412 to the bank on a draft accompanied by a forged bill of lading for 428 cases of eggs.

Improved His Property.

P. A. McVoy, of East Front street, has had a two-story porch and balcony built on the rear of his house. The addition with repainting, has added noticeably to the appearance of the property.

GOLD MEDAL MINSTRELS SHOW AT SCOTCH PLAINS

HIT OF THE PERFORMANCCE MADE BY JACK HALL-IRA BOWERS WINS APPLAUSE

It makes no difference whether the weather is warm or cold, Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe retains its drawing powers. The fact was evidenced at Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, last night, when the local amusement organization gave another of its blackface shows for the benefit of the Scotch Plains Baseball Association. A capacity audience attended and the various numbers on the programme were received in the usual enthusiastic manner.

The "hit" of the evening was made by "Jack" Hall, who got three encores on his rendition of "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," with a dance effect. It was the greatest reception he has been accorded since he brought down the house at the Casino two years ago by his rendition of "Hannah." In the olio, the honors were taken by Ira Bowers by the introduction of an original "skatorial sketch" in which he does a clog dance on roller skates. At the opening, he caused screams of laughter by pretending that he could not stand on the rollers and taking some spectacular falls.

The show was arranged and directed by B. C. Firstbrook and was a financial as well as artistic success. Mr. Muir was unable to personally direct the performance on account of social engagements. At the conclusion of the programme ice cream was sold and dancing enjoyed.

400 COLORED PEOPLE TAKE OUTING TO BOYNTON.

Leaving this city in a special train this morning, 400 local colored people made the trip to Boynton Beach today with the second annual excursion of the Cavalry and Mount Olive churches and Sunday schools. The committee of arrangements in charge of teh outing were William Phillips, chairman; L. W. Booker, N. J. Pollard, A. J. Cary, William Burden, Lee Booker, Samuel Reed and D. W. Brown. The special train of seven cars was in charge of Conductor Newton Amberman. Engineer Thorpe Hartsell was at the throttle.

The train was scheduled to leave the depot at 8:45, and indeed started out on time; no sooner were the cars under way than there were shouts from the Fourth street, and a party of seven women, carrying lunch baskets and babies, came running up the drive. The train continued to move slowly as the women climbed on. When the last one, carrying a baby in one arm and three boxes of lunch in the other, together with sundry wraps and an umbrella, came puffing up to the platform, however, the conductor called for brakes and the train stopped, while a couple of late arriving baby carriages were stowed in the baggage car. Again getting under way, a party came up the steps from Watchung avenue and another halt was called. Finally the engineer decided to take matters decisely in hand, and the train pulled out suddenly and quickly. And at that one man was left behind; for he came running up from Park avenue as the last car was slipping away from the platform. He was not disconcerted in the least, merely wiped the perspiration from his face, and remarked to the bystanders in general, "Wall, got here kinder late, didn't I?"—then he went home.

The excursionists leave Boynton Beach at 6 o'clock this evening, and are due to arrive in this city at 8:30.

At the Baby Camp.

After making extensize arrangements for the informal opening of the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain, the affair had to be abandoned yesterday on account of the heavy shower. There are now sixteen children at the camp, most of them ill, and as every bed is occupied, a number of applicants have been refused for the present for lack of accommodations. The King's Daughters will gratefully receive donations of money, groceries or anything that can be used to carry on this important work at the camp.

Raised Big Pole Unaided.

Charles Keiderling, of East Front street, put up a fifty-foot clothes pole back of his apartment house last night. It was an unusual feat in that he put up the big stick after dark, and unaided. With a leather strap to give him a sliding hold, he raised the pole alone and dropped it in its hole. He didn't have even a lantern to light the darkness while at work.

Rate Announced August 7.

Plainfield's tax rate for the coming year will not be definitely known until after the Plainfield Board of Assessors return from its trip to Elizabeth on Tuesday, August 7, at which time all of the assessors of the county will be present.

CLOUDBURST KILLS HEAT

Fierce Heat Wave Swept Away By a Heavy Storm.

RAIN FALLS IN SHEETS

Drop of Eighteen Degrees In An Hour and a Half And Sweltering Humanity Breathes Freely Again.

Two storms bumped together over the metropolitan district yesterday afternoon, and the things that happened knocked the temperature down in this vicinity and gave sweltering Plainfielders a chance to draw a breath of relief and take a renewed interest in life.

Officially, the storm started out of the South at 2:30. The Weather Bureau soon after ran upon the track of a wind headed from the West and approaching at a rate of fifty-five miles an hour. During the next hour and a half after the two met the mercury fell eighteen degrees, while thirty-four hundredths of an inch of water relieved the burning earth and sweltering people.

Something of the sort was badly needed. The forenoon and the early afternoon were torrid and sticky. All devices for relief passed current, from the shedding of coats and the wielding of every kind of fan, to the earnest and unchecked absorption of tall drinks with foam on them. The storm made up for the sufferings of the people with noteworthy energy. The rain came down in steady sheets, slanting before as stiff a wind as the dry-land sailors of the Watchungs have navigated before in a long time.

The relief was real, and stuck to the countryside. Porches were swept by cooling breezes all evening and sleep was not shy of wooers when bedtime came.

The storm did no damage here, but in other places in its track it tore things open. At Bayonne Pawnee Bill's big tent collapsed, and the show was stampeded. A young camel was killed and Major Lillie ("Pawnee Bill") had his shoulder dislocated by a falling pole.

At Long Branch a bolt of lighting hit the flag pole in Ocean Park and shattered it to within ten feet of the ground. Four men engaged in laying out concrete walks nearby were thrown down and stunned.

GOLDEN GIFTS EXCHANGED.

Feature of the Semi-Centennial Celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

All the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murray, Sr., excepting three, were present at the celebration of their golden wedding at their summer home, "Burnbrae," Wolfboro, N. H., on Monday. The party numbered twenty-three.

Their children are Mr. and Mrs. William D. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Sandford, Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, all of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tilney, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Murray, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Murray, of New York city.

One of the pleasant features of the day was the presentation by each child of a golden gift to their parents. Each child received a picture of their parents, and a golden box of wedding cake.

At 1 o'clock dinner was served to the party in the new cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Sandford, the dinner being given by Mrs. Sandford and Mrs. Tilney. After dinner various groups were photographed and excellent pictures were secured, especially a panoramo taken by Miss Tilney, of Brooklyn, an expert amateur photographer.

In the evening a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Murray to the campers on the lake and an informal social time closed with fireworks and a collation served in Mr. and Mrs. Murray's cottage.

The fifty years have dealt kindly with Mr. and Mrs. Murray, who are enjoying excellent health.

"Freck" Has Been Stolen.

There is a strange mixture of grief and anger at the borough fire headquarters today. "Freckles," alias Freck, Jr.," has been pinched from his chain at the back of the fire headquarters. The said "Freck" is a white bull dog, one year old, with one eye blackened by a spot. He is the pet of the headquarters and the special ward of Ambrose Campbell, who raised him from a pup. He was fed by Campbell last night as usual, and left him chained in his place. Shortly afterward someone unfastened him and now he is gone. Ambrose is waiting with blood in his eye for any clues to the missing pup.

—For making iced tea or coffee nothing is better than Neuman Brothers' 50c Oolong or special mixed Mocha and Java. A drink of either drives away all heat.

NO BIDS FOR CONTRACT

QUEER REASON, WHY

Technical Wording of Specifications Responsible for Lack of Any Bids, It Is Said.

The city Board of Education held a special meeting last night for the purpose of receiving bids for the grading of the new high school grounds and for the second time the contractors who are anxious to do the work were conspicuous by their absence. Not a solitary bid came in and there was nothing else for the trustees to do but to refer the matter to the building and grounds committee. They will confer this week as to what is to be done about the matter.

An official of the board was asked this morning why it was that no one wanted the job and he ascribed the shyness of the contractors to the wording of the specifications. The plans were drawn by a New York landscape architect and they have been described in such a way that "countrymen," as he expressed it, did not understand them. He ventured the opinion that they were afraid of getting "stuck" as the terms were unfamiliar and it was like bidding for a cat in a bag. If this proves to be the case it will be attended to by the proper committee and another attempt will be made to have some one come in.

The contract will be a large one as the grounds are extensive and considerable grading is to be done. As soon as the property is leveled off it will be laid out in walks and set with trees and shrubbery similar to those in the city park directly across the street, practically making them one.

At the meeting last night, the board received bids for the building of cement walks about the school building. There were only three as follows: Standard Paving Company, of Newark, $2,000; Commonwealth Roofing Company, of Jersey City, $1,614: The Serrell Construction Company, of New York, $1,396. All three were referred to the building committee for final disposition and the contract will in all probability be given the Serrell Construction Company.

BUILDERS TO GATHER HERE

Delegates From All Parts of State to Association's Quarterly Meeting.

SESSIONS AT THE CASINO

City Officials To Be Invited To a Dinner—Date Is Wednesday, July 25.

The Plainfield Master Builders' Association met last night to complete arrangements for entertaining the New Jersey Master Builders' Association at its thirteenth quarterly meeting to be held at the asino on Wednesday, July 25. It was reported that there would be about 125 delegates at the meeting from all parts of the State. An invitation list was prepared, which includes a number of city officials, who will be asked to attend the dinner to be given at the Casino.

President King, of Bloomfield, will preside at the morning and afternoon meetings, and there will be papers and discussion of matters of particular interest to master builders. It is quite likely that the association will hold its fourteenth quarterly meeting in Elizabeth. At that time officers will be elected.

The objects of the association are to maintain a community of interests among the master builders of the State and to adjust any important differences that may arise from time to time between the masters and the journeymen. Since the organization was formed it has been noticed that there has been far less trouble between the bosses and their employees and strikes have been less frequent throughout the State. In a majority of cases and wherever possible arbitration methods are adopted to effect settlements.

Another important action on the part of the association is its efforts to have all master builders secure licenses, thus raising the standard of workmanship and guaranteeing definite responsibility, where before irresponsible men were permitted to compete with responsible ones and have the same advantage to the detriment of the trade and the man having the work done.

CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNEY

Leighton Calkins Issues Programme For Big Golf Event Next Month.

AUGUST 9, 10 AND 11

Entries Limited to Amateurs and Professionals of Metropolitan Golf Association.

Leighton Calkins, of this city, secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association, announced yesterday the programme for the second open championship to be held at the Hollywood Golf Club, August 9, 10 and 11. This is in accordance with the resolution passed at the last annual meeting of the association. By the courtesy of the directors and members of the Hollywood Golf Club, the club's course has been tendered for the tournament and they have provided the prize money and medals. Play will begin on Thursday morning, August 9, at 9 o'clock. The championship is limited to amateurs and professionals of the Metropolitan Golf Association.

The Metropolitan open championship competition will be medal play and will consist of seventy-two holes, thirty-six holes to be played on Thursday, August 9, and the remainder on Friday, August 10. The competition is open to all amateurs who are members of, and to all professionals who are employed by, golf clubs, which are members of the Metropolitan Golf Association. Players must be certified by the secretary of a club as representing that club. The entries will close at the office of Mr. Calkins, 25 Broad street, New York, on Monday, August 6, at noon, and must be made through the secretaries of clubs. Competitors will be paired by the committee.

There will be a four ball match, eighteen holes medal play, teams to consist of two players, an amateur and a professional. Best ball of players at each hole to count. This competition is not confined to amateurs and professionals, but is open to all amateurs and professionals in the United States and Canada. Teams entered for this competition will be paired at the tee. Entries close at the clubhouse on Friday, August 10, at 9 o'clock in the morning, and should be made direct to Mr. Calkins, care of Hollywood Golf Club, P. O. Box 152, West End, N. J.

There will also be an open handicap, eighteen holes medal play, open to all. Handicaps will be limited to eighteen strokes, and no player will be allowed to start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The entries will close at the same time and place as for the four ball match.

The prizes in this tournament for the championship will be as follows: First, $150 and a gold medal to the winner of the championship; second, $100; third, $75; fourth, $50; fifth, $25; sixth, $15. In addition to the above the following special prizes will be added: August 9, best score morning round, $25; best score afternoon round, $25; best thirty-six holes, $25; August 10, best score morning round, $25; best score afternoon round, $25; best thirty-six holes, $25.

Four ball match. Two prizes—value $25 each to be awarded to the winners. Open handicap. First prize, $35; second prize, $15; $25 to be awarded to the player turning in the best gross score. In the event of an amateur winning any of the above prizes, he will be given the equivalent in plate.

The programme for the three days' tournament will be as follows: Thursday, August 9, 9 a. m., first round for championship, 18 holes; 2 p. m., second round for championship, 18 holes; Friday, August 10, 9 a. m., third round for championship, 18 holes; 2 p. m., fourth championship, 18 holes; Saturday, August 11, 9 a. m., four ball match, 18 holes; 1 p. m., open handicap, 18 holes, all medal play.

The rules of the United States Golf Association will govern all play, except as they may be modified by the tournament committee, which will consist of Paul Wilcox, chairman; Arden M. Robbins, Charles F. Watson; ex-officio, Daniel Chauncey, president; Lionel H. Graham, vice-president; Leighton Calkins, secretary; W. M. Baldwin, treasurer. The committee from the Hollywood Golf Club consists of J. J. O'Donohue, Jr., chairman; Arthur McAleenan, Frank E. Henderson and H. Content, president, ex-officio.

Fell From Pony In Faint.

Miss Frances Elison, of Westfield, who has been ill for several months, rode a pony to this city this morning for exercise. She slid from the pony in a faint at Watchung avenue and Sixth street. She revived almost immediately and was found to be unhurt. She said she supposed the exertion overtaxed her strength, and refused medical attendance. After a brief rest she insisted on mounting the pany again and riding home.

JUSTICE HELD COURT IN BOYCE'S HOTEL

MUCH POSTPONED BEERMAN-REGAN CASE ARGUED FOR TWO HOURS.

The twice postponed hearing of the assault and battery action upon Charles Beerman, Jr., being brought by his fater against Patrick J. Regan was settled without penalty by Justice Snape at a special session of the court held at Boyce's Hotel last evening. The case was to have come up at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, after its postponement from last week, but was again postponed by consent of both parties.

There was a case up before Justice Mundy at the court room when the judges, lawyers and parties involved appeared for the hearing, so the Judge held court at Boyce's Hotel, on Somerset street.

The hearing was long and tiresome, lasting for two hours. It was hot, in more ways than one, for Beerman claimed that his boy had been brutally treated by Regan on the evening of July 2, and was anxious for legal revenge. Justice Snape made quite a case out of the litigation, and several witnesses were called for each side, without establishing an ydefinite points. Finally His Honor announced that if Regan would give the court his assurance to keep the peace in the future, he would consider the action dismissed. This was about 10 o'clock. Now it happens that Regan is a special officer, and keeping the peace is right in his line. So his attorney in the case, S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., gave the required promise for him and the court adjourned into the coolth. N. Douglass Drake, Esq., represented Beerman in the matter.

BELIEVE TAX RATE WILL BE NEAR $1.25

ASSESSORS HAND AND HUBBARD COUNT ON THAT FIGURE.

There has been an impression that the New Jersey Central Railroad Company's assessment in Plainfield on second-class property amounted to $83,000 in money; in fact same of the assessors believed it themselves. Last year the New Jersey Central was assessed for $83,000 worth of second-class property, at the rate of $2.50. According to the new law this year the assessed valuation on this property will be about $160,000.

Assessor Charles H. Hand, in conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press, said today that he and Assessor Joseph A. Hubbard are of the opinion that Plainfield's tax rate for the coming year will be about $1.25, while Assessor H. C. Runyon believes that it will be nearer $1.35. "We are going to do all in our power to keep the rate down," continued Mr. Hand, "and if it is possible to make it $1.25 you can rest assured that it will be done. Of course, the assessors cannot state what the rate will be until after all of the county assessors meet at Elizabeth on August 7, and learn the county rate, which I have understood is likely to be a little higher this year."

CIVIL ACTION SETTLED AMICABLY BY LITIGANTS.

Legal Action Abaut Some Land Settled Without Action In Borough Court Between Brothers.

At the hearing of the action brought by Brooks Carson against his brother, James Carson, at the borough court before Justice Clark Mundy last evening, a mutual understanding was effected between the brothers and Brooks Carson withdrew his complaint. The quarrel arose over the sale of some land by Brooks Carson.

Some property on Mountain avenue was sold to James Carson a short time ago and he was to pay his brother for it in installments of $25 until $200 had been paid, when a 4 per cent. mortgage was to be taken out for the $800 remaining. Seventy-five dollars had been paid, when James Carson went to the property and attempted to remove some top soil. Brooks Carson had a warrant out for him for trespassing. Both men retained counsel, G. W. V. Moy, Esq., representing James Carson, and W. S. Angleman representing Brooks Carson. The litigation ended peacefully in the court room last night.

—Postmaster E. H. Bird and his brother-in-law, Edward T. VanWinkle, have purchased the Vermeule property at 24 Sandford avenue, and will move there later.

—Doane & Doane, the real estate brokers, has signed the lease for a store at 222 Park avenue, Charles W. McCutchen's new building, and hope to take possession about August 1.

ELKS CAPTURE DENVER

Plainfielders Among Antlered Host Enjoying Hospitality in That City.

"EVERYTHING GOES"

Members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., today received souvenir postal cards from Exalted Ruler A. D. Findlay and other local Elks who are attending the annual convention of the order at Denver. Brief passages on them indicate that their trip West was an enjoyable one and that the Colorado metropolis is doing itself proud in entertaining the antlered host.

According to dispatches received from Denver this morning the first business session of the convention was held yesterday when officers were elected. Judge Henry A. Melvin, of Oakland, Cal., was unanimously made grand exalted ruler and Fred C. Robinson, of Dubuqua, Ia., was re-elected grand secretary; John K. Tener, of Charleroi, Pa., grand treasurer; Dr. W. H. Haviland, Butte, Mont., grand trustee, and Bayard Bray, of Indianapolis, Ind., grand tyler, all without opposition.

There were interesting contests for three chairs of the Grand Lodge. Edward McLaughlin, of Boston, was elected over Robert E. Green, of Brrokline, Mass., by six votes, for the office of esteemed loyal knight. Robert L. Queisser, of Zanesville, Ohio, was made esteemed leading knight, and Professor W. W. McClelland, of Pittsburg, esteemed lecturing knight.

At the opening session, 1208 members were reported present.

Additional arrivals of large bodies of Elks are taxing Denver's capacity to house them. The town is doing its very best, and the effort comes from every quarter. All the fashionable clubs of the city are maintaining open house, and even the rival fraternal orders have arranged receptions.

Night is turned into a mad revel of thousands of masqueraders. Brilliantly illuminated streets, gayly festooned arches, many bands, tooting auto parties and the gay throngs that sweep by on the pavements make a happy carnival picture.

"Everybody goes," one newspaper proclaims on its first page. "You are welcome. Buy what you want, only remember your money is counterfeit," and the truth of it is not missed by a mile.

Mayor Sheer, of Denver, an Elk, gave a reception last night to the visiting Elks who are Mayors or hold other municipal offices. There are seven such Mayors in the city, including those of Pawtucket, R. I.; Louisville, Seattle, Indianapolis and St. Louis, Mo. Judge J. M. Tierney, of New York, was also a guest.

Entertainment for the Elks yesterday included a variety of amusements. There were automobiles rides and band concerts by the dozen. A reception was held for the visitors at St. Anthony's Hospital. Here the Denver Elks have fiteed up fourteen rooms for their special use. The visitors were received on the lawn.

Philadelphia's fight against Baltimore for the place of next meeting is the most talked-about and important event of the week. Baltimore's assertion that it has the contest won already has interjeced an element of doubt into the struggle, which is exciting intense interest. Though it is asserted at many reliable sources that most of the votes will go for Philadelphia, the fact that her rival is showing confidence has caused the Quaker members to increase their efforts, and tonight they are as sanguine as ever.

Consider Garbage Question.

The councilmanic committee on public affairs is considering a proposition to have the garbage of the city collected and carted out of the city to be disposed of in any way the collector may decide so long as it conforms to the sanitary laws. The committee believes that such a method would be more satisfactory than that of trying to install up-to-date machinery on the plant owned by the city and located on DeKalb avenue. It is the opinion of those who have made a study of the matter that the plant on DeKalb avenue could not be operated so as not to be objectionable to the residents of that part of the city.

William G. Debele Improving.

William G. Debele, who was injured by the explosion of a gas engine at Debele & Stahl's yesterday morning, spent a comfortable night. He is still unable to be at work, for his eyes are very painful, especially the left one. Dr. Buchanan is in attendance, and it is thought that the sight will be unimpaired.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Accompanied by Marshal Owen Mohan and County Constable C. W. Blaine, Isaac Thieman, the proprietor of the loop lunch stand, took a trip to Dewey Park Monday afternoon for the purpose of attempting to follow up some clues reported regarding the recent burglarization of the stand. Examination of the park showed that there was in one place a heap of candy boxes, cigar boxes and boxes which had contained tobacco. Thieman identified these as part of his stolen stock. A house near Dewey Park was searched upon warrant from the town authorities, but no trace of the stolen property was found. At Dunellen another house was searched, where suspicions had been centred, but also with no result. The theory held by the local police is that the robbers entered the stand and took the booty to Dewey Park, where it was transferred to plain packages or dress suit cases, and could be taken further the following day without arousing suspicion.

The town authorities are adopting severe measures in dealing with any of the boroughites arrested for intoxication, and heavy fines are being imposed upon those who are brought before the law. At a recent hearing this week, Mayor Wyckoff fined a factoryman who had been arrested for intoxication $20 for his jag and between the Bishops' law and the strong way the authorities are supporting temperance, the bibulous boroughite is having his troubles. Local saloonkeepers are still balking at the Bishops' law, and the screen ordinance is not strictly enforced, according to the claims of some of the temperance supporters in town. The fact is that several of the local barrooms never have had screens and the bar is built so that it cannot be clearly seen from the street. This can hardly be called a violation of the law.

It is expected that a good many boroughites will take advantage of the Presbyterian Sunday-school excursion to Asbury Park to spend the day at the seashore. The train leaves Dunellen at about 7:30 and will stop at Plainfield to take on members of the Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational and Presbyterian Sunday-schools of that city. The return will be made at 6:40, and the excursionists should arrive at Dunellen at 9 o'clock.

The recent heavy rains have greatly delayed the contractors at work on the mason work at the New Market school building, but with clear weather, the work has reached a stage where it can be completed within a fortnight.

A valuable grey horse belonging to Michael Gallagher died yesterday of lock-jaw. Some days ago the animal stepped upon an oil can and cut its foot badly. Blood poisoning set in and all efforts to save the animal's life were futile.

The improvements at the Lehigh Valley station, New Market, are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. A gang of fifty men is at work on the tracks, and four tracks are being laid. A switch tower is to be erected.

Miss Lillian Kennedy, the organist at the Methodist church, who has been confined to her home with a severe cold, is able to be about again. Her place was filled at the services Sunday by Miss Tillie Muller.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the hall tomorrow evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The minstrels given last night in the hall by the Gold Medal troupe, of Plainfield, for the benefit of the baseball team, was a repetition of the success of the several entertainments this troupe has given before a Plains audience during the past two years. The cast included nearly all of the old familiar faces of the past, Interlocutor Joseph Martin, Bones Harry Blimm, William Doud, George Cose and B. C. Firstbrook, Soloist Joe Martin, "Rocked In the Cradle of the Deep; "Jack" Hall, "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie;" Harry Blimm, "Cheyenne;" Harry Roberts, "Where the Southern Roses Grow;" George Cose, "Everybody Gives Me Good Advice;" Elmer D. Cutting, "December and May;" B. C. Firstbrook, "Let Me In, That's All;" Jack Todd, "You're As Welcome As the Flowers in May;" H. Rickett, "Beside the Old Oak Gate;" H. Johnston, "You're a Grand Old Rag." Following the minstrel entertainment the hall was cleared and the club members and their friends enjoyed a dance.

Sanford White, who was murdered several weeks ago by Harry K. Thaw, in New York, was the designer and architect of "The Gables," A. D. Shepard's handsome home on Front street, the firm being McKern, Meade & White at the time of the building of "The Gables." Mr. White was a frequent visitor in town.

With Johnston and Alberts as the battery for the local team, the Rahway Y. M. C. A. team will be up against it, as Johnston is in fine form and pitching winning ball for the local team.

Rev. A. H. Cook, of the Methodist church, is sojourning for a time at Cape Cod. During Mr. Cook's absence his pulpit will be occupied by a supply.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Muir, who have been visiting Mrs. Muir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Meyers, have returned to their home in Newark.

Miss Sadie Lee has returned from a stay of several weeks with relatives at Raritan, N. J.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The railroad company crossings at South Plainfield are very dangerous and should be either sunken or bridged over. John Geary almost lost his life, being unable to see a fast express approaching around a curve and vehicles are often obliged to wait ten or fifteen minutes before the gates are lifted at the depot. At this point there are six tracks and often from three to four trains on the tracks at one time, causing great delay and annoyance. At Samptown, a very dangerous crossing of many tracks, there are no gates, not even a flagman, and it is almost impossible to hear the trains rounding a sharp curve at this point. A young couple in a buggy barely escaped with their lives, just leaving the tracks when an express flew by, the wind and concussion almost upsetting them. A second sooner and it would have been too late.

The case between Sam Johnson and two Italian day laborers for non-payment of wages, will come before the justice of the peace for settlement Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Brigg is quite ill at her home and it is feared her recovery will be long and tedious.

FRED LANG FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

New Brunswick, July 18.—Fred Lang was convicted yesterday morning of murder in the first degree for killing Miss Katie Gordon, his niece. The jury retired at 3 o'clock and returned their verdict three hours later. It was something of a surprise, as many thought after the charge of Justice Swayze that the verdict would be murder in the second degree.

Lawyer Alan H. Strong said he would ask for a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted. Justice Swayze said he would consider such an application had been made and would hear argument thereon Saturday, when sentence would be pronounced.

Lang doubtless was convicted on the letter sent by him to his mother since his incarceration in jail. In this letter Lang admitted that he had killed the girl, and begged his mother to pray for him. His letter reads in part, as follows:

"Perhaps I will die easier, for I have revenged myself on the one I love best on earth. And as we cannot be each others' now, what is life without her? My dear mother, I am a living dead man, because my heart died with the one I killed, and the Judge will decide about my body and I am waiting with patience the will of the Lord. In every family there must be a bad member."

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Dayton, of Reed & Coddington's law offices, is enjoying her annual vacation.

—Henry Leifke, of the firm of Leifke & Laing, has rented his property at 15 West End avenue, to a Brooklyn family, and possession will be taken August 1.

—Miss Mary Jahn, an assistant in the local office of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, will start on her vacation Monday. She will spend one week at Asbury Park and the other one will be enjoyed at various points.

—How would you like to begin your honeymoon in a trunk? One young bride of a few days did so—not because she particularly wanted to, but because there was no way to get out of it. In next Sunday's New York World the details of this astonishing beginning to one of the most remarkable honeymoon trips you ever heard of will be published, together with photographs of the bride, the trunk and the other parties figuring in the affair.

PERSONAL.

Robert Hoffman has returned from his vacation.

Mrs. J. V. N. Willis, of Prospect place, is sojourning at Stewartsville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leal, of Central avenue, are spending the summer in Maine.

Joseph Harrigan, of East Fourth street, will leave today for Albany, N. Y., on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Goodwin, of West Seventh street, are sojourning at Poland Springs, Maine.

Miss Clara Smith, of Duer street, has recovered from an illness that detained her at home for a few days.

Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman and sons, of Crescent avenue, are spending the summer at South Dartmouth, Mass.

Former Judge and Mrs. W. R. Codington, son and daughter, of Sandford avenue, left last night for Wilton, Maine, where they will remain at their cottage for an indefinite time.

ELIZABETH'S TAX RATE.

Estimated at About $2 Upon $100 Valuation.

Elizabeth, July 18.—Councilman John S. Sauer, chairman of the finance committee of City Council, Monday night presented to council figures estimating the tax rate for Elizabeth for the fiscal year beginning July 1. He stated that, from estimates prepared with due regard for conservatism the tax rate in this city would be about $2 upon the $100 of valuation. The tax rate as approved by the City Council, at one of its meetings last year, was $2.86 upon the $100 of valuation.

Elizabeth's share of the county tax last year was $109,734.94, while the estimated amount of this city's share of the county tax this year will be $127,760.80. Last year's amount raised by taxation in this city was $580,002.65. This year it is $567,043.10. The total amount raised by the city last year was $689,737.59, while this year it will be $694,803.90.

In 1905 the total taxable valuations in Elizabeth amounted to $24,116,699. The normal increase of taxable valuations, taking the rate of increase at three and one-half per cent., would have been $1,727,417, making a total valuation of $24,844,116. Using the statement made by the Union County Board of Equalization, that the assessed valuations this year would be increased forty per cent. according to the new law, the increased valuation will amount to approximately $9,896,079, or a total assessed valuation of property in this city of $34,740,195.

At the rate of $2 per $100 of valuation the sum of $694,803.90 would be raised. Under ordinary circumstances the tax rate, according to Mr. Sauer's figures, would have dropped six points, or from $2.86 to $2.80.

After correcting a typographical error in the amount needed for school purposes, which stated that $137,923.10 was needed, when it should have read $137,023.10, the budget ordinance was passed on second reading.

VOORHEES COMMISSIONER.

In Case of Jacobson & Son Against Education Board.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees has been appointed a commissioner to listen to testimony in the case of B. Jacobson & Son, of Elizabeth, against the Board of Education of that city, and Charles E. Pountney and Zior & Townley as co-defendants. Coal contracts were awarded to these dealers by the board, but B. Jacobson & Son, who had the lower bids, objected and obtained a writ of certiorari temporarily holding up the action of the board.

Testimony will be heard before the commissioner today in Elizabeth. City Attorney Connolly will appear for the Board of Education, and Lawyers John J. Stamler and Samuel Koestler will act for the Jacobson firm. The testimony, when completed, will be submitted to a judge, and each side will sum up its case.

Twenty-three For His.

Robert Scott, who lays claims to the local championship for type juggling, is celebrating his twenty-third birthday today. Tonight he will entertain the Erin Go-Bragh Association at a ice cream party to be held at Madden's pool rooms in North avenue.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

The Messrs. Shubert, who have ended their first year as independent managers by securing control of the largest playhouse in America, the New York Hippodrome, will open their season Labor Day with a spectacle that will be on as generous a scale as the size and fame of the house demand.

New York is to have a new theatre, owned and managed by David Belasco. Ground has already been broken. This theatre will be a home for the independent plays, and it is said that everything will represent the Belasco idea of comfort, artistic decoration and stage devices. The new house will be located on Forty-fourth street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue. There will be a double stage, which will facilitate the handling of the heaviest and lightest productions, and the playhouse will be completed early in September, 1907. It will probably be called "The Stuyvesant."

The "Chinatown Charlie" company, which opens the season at the New Plainfield theatre on July 28, jumps directly from this city to Cleveland, Ohio, where it inaugurates the season at the Cleveland theatre on Monday, July 30.

When George H. Primrose closed at the Grand Opera House in San Francisco ten days before the earthquake he was much disturbed by the loss of a valued souvenir—a gold medal given him as a prize for dancing when he was a youngster of 14 at Young Men's Hall in Detroit. He did not miss the medal until the last night of his engagement, but was confident it had been lost in the theatre. He posted a notice, offered a reward and came away. While he was dressing for the performance at Manhattan Beach Sunday night he received the card of Philip W. Hastings, of 524 Turk street, San Francisco. Mr. Hastings when admitted handed Primrose the lost medal, and explained that while doing volunteer Red Cross service in the stricken city on April 18 he was given the medal by a fatally wounded man whom he was hurrying in an automobile to an improvised hospital at the Presidio. The man said he had found the medal on Market street, near the Palace Hotel, and would like to have it returned to the owner. The minstrel-manager was overjoyed at the return of the medal. He sent out for a private box for the San Francisco merchant and met him for a cheerful symposium on the hotel veranda after the show.

CRANK AT LARGE IN THE COURTHOUSE.

The King! The King! He Cries, Where Is He—He Ran Across Jim Carey.

A breathless, wild-eyed individual rushed up the steps of the courthouse at Elizabeth late Monday afternoon, paused a second and looked about him. Then he spied someone. It was the worthy guardian of the temple, James Carey. With a cry that reverberated through the corridors of the place, he darted toward this now thoroughly-frightened individual, grabbed him and paused again.

"The d——!" said Carey, edging away.

Then the mysterious one raised his voice and again shouted for the king. Carey had by this time recovered his composure and informed Charles Jeraltofsky, for that was the fellow's name, that the king had left but a few minutes ago for an extended tour through the city. Jeraltofsky appeared to consider what he should do next. Not being able to see the king he said that he would condescend to see the court. He was informed that if he would step down the stairs he would have his wish fulfilled.

This appeared to annoy the man in search of a king, and he suddenly grappled with Carey. Both went to the floor, and after a few seconds Carey, who knows a thing or two, got a half-nelson and hammerlock, and Sir Charles Jeraltofsky was rolling down the steps. Pretty soon be stopped. Then he came back for more, and he got it in a still larger dose. Still he was not satisfied, and for the third time he was thrown out of the building. Carey was by this time getting red in the face, and the patrol came just in time to save him from being overcome by the heat.

Jeraltofsky had evidently had enough when he got to the police court and did not try to get off any more of his funny business. He had evidently been making up for a dry Sunday and had overdone the matter.

Judge Mahon discharged him on the condition that he would get out of the town immediately.

A. S. Wales, proprietor of the dairy lunch rooms on East Front street, has returned from a visit to Connecticut, and he has also recovered from an illness.

Leonard Gavett, son of Street Commissioner and Mrs. A. J. Gavett, of West Fifth street, who rowed No. 5 on the victorious Cornell 'Varsity crew, is spending the summer at his home here.

GERMS CAUSE DYSPEPSIA

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle. You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. AUTOING.

Though there has been excessive laxness in the enforcement of the Frelinghuysen law in this part of the State, it is probable there will be a sudden change soon, and it would be well for all motorists to be sure they understand and comply with the provisions of the new law, in spite of all the discussion there has been concerning the act, it is only too plain that the majority of automobilists are not thoroughly familiar with the spirit if not the text of the law. One point cannot be made too plain, and it is one that is violated right and left at the present time. An automobile must have not more than one set of numbers displayed at one time. In New Jersey, the registration numbers of this State must be displayed on both front and back of the machine, not more than three feet from the ground, and not less than fifteen inches. An important ruling that has lately been made by Commissioner Smith in regard to numbers, is that when the law states that all numbers must be stationary on a machine, it does not require that they be rigidly fastened to it or painted on it. All it asks is that a number pad, if used, have two points of support, so that it may not turn about, as it might if it were suspended at only one place. It is perfectly permissible that the pad be allowed to swing back and forth in the same direction that the machine is proceeding. This decision is one of the utmost importance. Many automobilists have interpreted the law otherwise, and either painted the registration number on the body of the machine, or screwed the number pad directly to the body. This defaces the machine, and it makes it doubly hard to change the registration number when touring into another State, where, as in New Jersey, only the local number is allowed. Another provision of the law that is being violated, but not so widely as that mentioned above, is in regard to having a "signal trumpet" on the machine, A bell or gong does not fulfill the conditions of the law. Yet several commercial trucks in the city still have gongs instead of the horn required. Local motorists should also take care that the registration numbers are on the front lamps. The numbers may be painted on, pasted on in paper, or the metal stencil may be used, so long as in each case they are one inch in height. These are the provisions of the act which have been least understood and which are likely to cause the most trouble if not watched closely. They are not, however, unreasonable and, once attended to, need give no further difficulty.

GOLF.

The annual tournament for the Taconic and Ondawa cups will begin tomorrow over the course of the Ekwanok Country Club, at Manchester, Vt.

T. M. Sherman, of the Wykagyl Golf Club, was mad through and through at the national championship at Englewood, last week. In the first match play round against Ellis Knowles, Sherman's caddie lost his mashie. It was early in the match and the incident had its effect on Sherman.

The dinner which was to have been given by the Nassau Country Club next month to Findlay S. Douglass and Jerome D. Travers, in appreciation of their efforts which resulted in the Metropolitan Golf Association Championship Cup going to the club permanently, will be postponed until fall. The change is made to suit the convenience of the two golfers, who will have more time later on.

Jack Hutchinson carried for Eben Byers in the amateur championship last week, and it was cause for comment that the title holder was the only one who employed a professional caddie. When Gilman P. Tiffany finished 1 down to George S. Lyon, Ben Nichols, the professional, said: "It will be remembered that at one stage of the match Tiffany had the Canadian Golf Association champion an almost certain winner. He had been playing a good deal of late with Nichols who knows the young man's game from beginning to end. Nichols wanted to carry for Tiffany, who declined, because of the prevailing sentiment against professional caddies. Had Nichols carried for Tiffany the latter would probably have defeated Lyon and in all likelihood reached the final round.

STORM UPSET SHOW TENT, PAWNEE BILL INJURED.

Ten tents in which the horses and equipment of Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show were housed blew down in Bayonne yesterday in the heavy thunder-storm which swept over New York and its environs in the afternoon. The audience in the main tent, hearing the noise of the snapping ropes and falling tent poles, became panicstricken, and started to leave their seats. Pawnee Bill, seeing that the audience was alarmed, ordered everybody to gather in the middle of the grounds.

Just as the audience started to obey his instructions the west end of the tent sagged and two or three women were thrown from their seats. They were only slightly injured. Then as everybody stood in the centre of the arena one of the main tents poles began to sag. Pawnee Bill saw the danger and tried to brace the pole with his shoulder. Employees ran to his aid, but before they got to him the pole fell and dislocated his left shoulder. It also struck Mrs. John T. Lambert, of Twenty-first Street, cutting her scalp.

When the smaller tents fell over 100 horses broke away from their picket rppes and ran, plunging and kicking, up one street and down another.

The citizens of the town did not know what to make of it as the frightened animals tore through the streets in the semi-darkness until the spectacle of a band of men dressed in genuine Western cowboy outfits and swinging lassoes galloped after the runaway herd. For half an hour thereafter the town was treated to a genuine wild west exhibition. Yelling cowboys raced through the streets until the last of the horses had been captured. The animals were driven back to the show grounds, at Twenty-eighth street and Avenue C.

In the confusion which followed the fall of the main tent children were separated from their parents, and many persons in the audience lost watches and other jewelry.

British Musical Copyright Law.

London, July 18.—The musical copyright bill introduced by T. P. O'Connor and accepted by the government, passed the committee stage in the House of Commons at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, amid enthusiastic cheering. The bill is framed with the purpose of putting an end to the extensive and long-established piracy of music and to insure the protection of foreign composers.

JERSEY'S COAST WILL BE CLEAN.

Senator Kean Asks Uncle Sam to Aid —Secretary Taft Is Interested.

United States Senator John Kean has received an opinion from Secretary of War Taft which sets forth the authority of the War Department to abate the nuisance complained of by the coast resorts of New Jersey, caused by the dumping of garbage and refuse from New York city into the Atlantic Ocean at a point where it washed upon the shores of this State.

The defilement of the coast became a matter so serious that complaint was made to Governor Stokes, and he instructed Dr. Mitchell, of the State Board of Health, and the attorney-general of the State to take legal steps to compel the street cleaning department of New York city to abate the nuisance.

It was found that New York's garbage disposal plant at Barren Island having been destroyed by fire, the street cleaning department has been compelled to revert to the plan of dumping a large part of its garbage and waste material at sea. Complaints came from the New Jersey coasts, Jercey City, Coney Island and elsewhere. It was said that the trouble was due to the failure of employes having charge of the towing boats and scows to observe the orders compelling dumping at designated points at least ten miles from Gedney's Channel.

Hereafter this rule, he promised, would be vigorously enforced. The relief has not come, however.

The question of the jurisdiction of the War Department was raised, and the opinion seemed to prevail that relief could not be obtained in that direction.

Senator Kean was not satisfied with that view, however, and he instituted a search of the statutes, and he called to Secretary Taft's attention the result of his findings.

It is in response to his communication to the War Department that the opinion is given. It declares that the War Department has such authority, and the secretary of war will proceed thereunder to abate the nuisance.

SUSPECT EXISTENCE OF NATIONAL ICE TRUST.

Thought to Have Branches in Large Cities—Attorney-General Moody's Attention Attracted.

Washington, July 18.—That a national Ice Trust exists with headquarters in New York and branches in practically every large city in the United States, is the belief of high officials of the Department of Justice. It is said that the matter has been called to the attention of Attorney-General Moody reprosally by District-Attorney Jerome, of New York. No steps have been taken ta attack the trust, except in the District of Columbia, here officials of the American Ice Company are under indictment for entering into an unlawful agreement to control prices in the district.

The district atorney here is of the opinion that if the trust is to be energetically attacked, it will have to be in New York, and that the Department of Justice might take an interest in such a proceeding.

"As far as I know," said Solicitor-General Hoyt, who is acting attorney-general, "no steps against the Ice Trust are now in contemplation. It is possible, however, that the attorney-general may have had his attention called to the matter without my knowledge."

Assistant Attorney-General Purdy, to whom maters pertaining to trust legislation are entrusted, will be in the city tomorrow.

WOMAN FOILS A BURGLAR.

Sees Him Enter Doctor's House and Telephones for Police.

Jersey City, July 18.—After watching a thief enter the house of Dr. Burdette P. Craig, of Highland avenue and the Boulevarde, this city, Monday, Mrs. Robert Hughes, of 55 Highland avenue, telephoned to the West Montgomery street police station for a detail of men to take the housebreaker.

When the house was searched on a bed in a third floor room, Patrolman Michael Johnson saw a revolver. Under the bed was a man with a pile of silverware and several articles of jewelry taken from rummaged bureau drawers. The prisoner said his name was John Smith, and refused to give any further information. Dr. Eddy and his family are away.

Ridding Elizabeth of Mosquitoes.

Elizabeth, July 18.—Louis J. Richards, inspector of ehalth in this city, has adopted a novel scheme to rid fresh-water cisterns in private yards of mosquitoes by supplying each yard where there is a fresh-water cistern with fish. Large quantities of fish have been caught and are now stored in large tanks, which are sent to the yards designated by the health officer in his investigations and are liberated in these tanks. He hopes to rid the breeding places of mosquito eggs before they can be hatched.

OFFERS LOWER LIGHT RATE.

Elizabeth Hears P. S. C. Would Make Ten Per Cent. Reduction.

Elizabeth, July 18.—In City Council Monday night, Edward Nugent, chairman of the committee on law, made the statement that he had received assurances from officers of the United Electric Company, of this city, a subsidiary corporation of the Public Service, that there would be a reduction of ten per cent. of the former rate charged for municipal lighting, this year, due to the steps being taken by City Council to erect a municipal lighting plant to supply the light, heat and power for the city's use as well as for the public. The statement was made during a warm debate over which committee should be allowed to advertise for bids for street lighting for a term of years ranging from one to five.

tI is the intention of City Council to submit the question of whether or not to erect a municipal lighting plant to the residents at the next general election, and in view of this fact the Public Service Corporation, according to Mr. Nugent, is preparing to make an offer to reduce the cost of street lighting in this city. The matter was finally left to the committee on street lighting, after amendments were made changing the phraseology of the resolution offered by Councilman Ford.

BRYAN TO SPEAK IN JERSEY CITY.

Promises Bob Davis to Run Over from New York After His Reception There.

Robert Davis, the Democratic leader in Jersey City, yesterday received a letter from William J. Bryan, dated London, July 7. In it Mr. Bryan says he will be pleased to accept the invitation extended to him by Mr. Davis to speak in Jersey City immediately after his return from Europe, which he said would be about August 21. Mr. Bryan said he would first speak in New York and then go to Jersey City.

"I have promised," he concluded, "to go to New Haven, and would like to visit New Haven and New Jersey on the day following the New York reception, if possible, but will stay over another day if necessary. As the Hon. Alexander Throup, of New Haven, is on the committee for both the New York and New Haven receptions, see him and arrange exact hour with him. I need not add that I well remember the loyalty of Hudson county."

Jerseymen in Annapolis Class.

Annapolis, Md., July 18.—With the exception of about twenty candidates, who decided to submit to minor surgical operations to overcome slight physical defects that they might pass their physical examinations for admission, the new fourth class of midshipmen at the Naval Academy has been formed and the routine of academic life is now in force. Up to today 176 candidates have been admitted into the institution, so that the complete roster of the class will be about 200. The roster of New Jersey members of the class is as follows: Chester C. Jersey, Hackensack; William S. Nicholas, New Brunswick; Harry W. Renner, Weehawken; J. Murray Whitehead, Trenton, and John H. Birdsall, Waretown.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION ON DIVORCE QUESTION.

Judge McEwen Separated 40 Couples in Three Weeks—Sums Up His Impressions.

Judge Willard McEwen, of Chicago, has separated legally the marital ties for forty couples in the last three weeks. He sums up his impression of the divorce industry thus:

"The age of twenty is a pivotal time in married life. The age of forty is another time when divorces are likely. In the forty divorce cases heard but two were church marriages. Conclusion: Church weddings produce but 5 per cent. of the divorces. Twenty women, or but 50 per cent., were church members. But eight men out of the forty principles in the divorce court, or 20 per cent., were church attendants. Conclusion: Eighty per cent. of the men church members keep out of the divorce courts. The majority of principles were in the neighborhood of twenty years of age or forty years of age.

"There should be a law enacted to prevent the marriage of a woman twice divorced or a man twice divorced. Persons twice divorced have manifested their unfitness for matrimonial experience. Two failures should count them out. There should be most stringent laws to prevent the remarriage of persons afflicted with certain ailments.

"Lack of companionship is by far the greatest cause of divorce. Alimony should be granted the wife, whether guilty or guiltless, in practically every case. A woman who has lived with a man a number of years is entitled to a pension. In all cases the man should be made to support his children. In the case of a young married couple without children the wife should be given alimony, as it will make a second marriage on the part of the husband a serious business consideration, will stimulate him to greater efforts and will make a reconcilation more likely.

"In the case of men applying for divorces, I have found in the great majority of cases the woman has become a petty, purse bearing tyrant.

"If a woman is to be kept a woman, if she is to be kept out of men's occupations, he must support her. The woman grows to blame the husband for the runaway marriage. St. Joe is hell."

St. Joseph, Mich, is Chicago's Gretna Green.

Was Dog Stolen or Lost.

Martin Wheeler, of West Third street, reported to the police this morning that his pet fox terrier had been stolen from his front yard yesterday afternoon. He said that a dark-skinned youth, supposedly an Italian, whistled to the dog and snatched it up and ran. Wheeler didn't see that, but his ten-year-old son says he did. It was suggested that the child might have taken the dog off and lost it and made up the story of the theft. Wheeler said he wouldn't swear that wasn't so, and went home to put the boy through the third degree.

Chatham Likes Well Water.

Chatham, July 18.—For the first time the residents of this place had the water from the newly drilled well supplied to them Monday, and the opinion of all is that the water is better than ever. The drilling of this well was made necessary by the fact that the four old wells were not supplying more than two-thirds as much water as when first tapped, while the demand for water had more than quadrupled. Early last fall a fifth well was started.

Convict Threatens to Kill Self.

Trenton, July 18.—Charles T. The tulip tree on King's mountain battlefield in South Carolina on which ten bloodthirsty tories were hanged at one itme.

The wide-spreading oak tree of Flushing, L. I., under which George Fox, the founder of the Society of Friends, or Quakers, preached.

The elm tree at Cambridge in the shade of which Washington first took command of the Continental army, on a hot summer's day.

The Freedman's oak, or Emanicpation oak, Hampton institute, Hampton, Va., under which the slaves of this region first heard read President Lincoln's emanicpation proclamation.

The magnificent black walnut tree near Haverstraw-on-the-Tudson at which Gen. Wayne mustered his forces at midnight, preparatory to his gallant and successful attack on Stony Point.

TELEPHONE TIDINGS.

Liverpool has tried and abandoned a penny-in-the-slot telephone service.

The longest telephone sea cable stretches from the coast of Norfolk to Ostend—471½ miles.

In New York 45,000 telephones are worked on a system of payment according to the number of calls made.

An automatic system of answering telephone calls has been invented. It will possibly dispense with girl operators.

Sir William Preece sees no reason why telephonic communication between Europe and America should not be possible.

London, with three times as big a population as New York, has only two-thirds the number of telephones—namely, 80,000.

The first long-distance telephone cable in this country was that between Liverpool and Manchester. It was opened in 1880.

Wireless telephony has been invented by Mr. Thomas Gladwell, of Newport (Mont.), who claims to have had successful results up to a distance of ten miles.

The longest telephone circuit in the world is that between New York and Chicago. It is 950 miles long. The longest in Europe connects London with Marseilles, these places being 650 miles apart.

It is now possible to "ring up" the nearest railway station from a moving train, and to telephone, via the station, to any subscriber. An experiment was conducted successfully on the High[illegible] railway.

New Yorkers Go Home.

Part of the first delegation to go to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home when the camp opened last week were taken back to New York city this morning by Miss Sara Curry, the matron. Three mothers and ten children left Netherwood this morning and a big delegation of children from the tenement districts will be brought out by Miss Curry on her return this afternoon. The meeting at the camp was well attended, despite the threatening weather. A delegation of Scotch Plains church people attended. George H. Batchellor was the speaker.

Farmer Thrown to His Death.

Washington, July 18.—In a gully beside a road running down Buttermilk Mountain, the body of Peter Sickles, a farmerfi was found Monday afternoon by Clark Pierson, a rural mail-carrier. From marks in the road it is believed his horse tumbled on the steep hill, throwing Sickles from his carriage.

HOW TO REGULATE THE LIFE INSURANCE

PAYING COST OF INVESTIGATION BY THE COMPANIES IS A BAD PRACTISE.

The investigation of the insurance companies doing business in New Jersey was resumed at the State House at Trenton Monday by the Senate Committee consisting of Senators Hillery, Wakelee and Minturn who are to report to the next Legislature what changes, if any, should be made in the insurance laws of the Commonwealth. The position of the insurance companies in this matter was brought out at yesterday's sessions by means of letters and petitions asking that no change be made in the laws, it being claimed that reforms in the insurance business were not to be accompanied in this way.

That the new insurance laws of New York, enacted as a result of the insurance investigation, in that State, do not please the companies, was demonstrated in the protests filed with the committee yesterday. William H. Corbin, counsel for the committee, submitted letters he had received from the insurance concerns, together with much other documentary evidence he had gathered during the recess.

The letter of the Buffalo Insurance Company said that the new insurance laws of New York were not only uncalled for but were also foolish. "Because a few men have been discovered dishonest is no reason for penalizing the whole business," concluded this company.

The Bankers' Insurance Company hoped that New Jersey would preserve her name for conservatism, declaring that the remedy for insurance evils was "No legislation, good management and publicity."

Various other companies expressed similar views and made similar pleas for no changes in the Jersey law.

The first witness called was Banking and Insurance Commissioner David O. Watkins. His testimony related largely to the methods of conducting his department. He said he had no suggestions at this time but would make some later. He admitted that a bad practice prevailing was that the insurance companies paid the cost of their investigations. He thought the State should pay such cost and the examinations should be more fully under the control of the department.

Henry F. Galbin, an examiner of the department, was the next witness. He described in detail the way the department looked after the life insurance business.

Elliott Hardin, of Newark, an examiner for the department, said that he had made examinations of the assets of the companies under the direction of special actuary, David R. Fackler, engaged by the department. His testimony simply related to the methods of ascertaining the assets.

David R. Fackler, of New York, next took the stand. He has been the constituting actuary since 1865, and has been engaged by the States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Missouri and others. His first examination in New Jersey was that of the New Jersey Mutual in 1877. That company was placed in the hands of a receiver upon his report. He has made three examinations of the Prudential Company, three of the Mutual Benefit Life and one of the Colonial Life, all New Jersey concerns. He has also made annual reports of liabilities made upon policy values based upon lists sent to his New York offices by the various companies.

Mr. Fackler stated that there are three ways by which the business of insurance companies can be regulated. These are: By limiting the amount of insurance in force, limiting the new insurance, or limiting the assets. He favored the latter method as being the best for the policy holders, as well as for the State departments of insurance.

The hearings were continued today in the Chancery chambers in Newark, where all future sessions will be held, because of the fact that Newark is the insurance centre of the State.

LACKAWANNA TO SHORTEN ITS LINE TO SCRANTON.

Will Build a New Cut-off, It Is Reported, At a Cost of $9,000,000.

Portland, Pa., July 18.—It is reported upon what appears to be reliable authority that the Lackawanna Railroad directors have authorized the construction of the cut-off that will shorten the distance between New York and Scranton by twelve miles. The new road will leave the main line at Slateford, a short distance north of Portland, and run through a fertile section of Warren and Sussex counties, striking the main line again a short distance east of Port Morris, near Hopatcong Landing.

It is estimated that it will cost $9,000,000 to construct the cut-off. By the new route, which will take several years to construct, the Lackawanna will eliminate the tunnels at Oxford and Manunka Chunk. This is said to be the main object of the new route, which, however, will have a lower grade than the old route. It is expected that the work of grading will begin in a few weeks.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

If you contemplate owning a home, let M. F. Gano, of North and Park avenues, explain his modern method.

When you want a wagon, carriage or cart, talk to W. J. Conroy, of Somerset street, before you buy. He is agent for the celebrated Milburn wagons.

Laury & Daudt, of East Front street, contract to do only high grade construction work. The firm also carries a full line of plain and fancy mantel-pieces.

Kirch & Zimmerman, of Somerset street, sell groceries for cash, but the firm's goods are so high grade and the prices so low that it pays to trade at this store.

Whether it be hot or cold, kindling wood is a necessity about the house. Order yours from John Mobus, the Watchung dealer, and you get the best in the local market.

Fresh consignments of "Belle Mead Sweets," chocolates and mixed candies received periodically at Hodge's Y. M. C. A. building pharmacy, where they have the good soda.

Why not have a seat built in the corner of the piazza? Can be done easily, you know, by Louis Beck, the carpenter, of South avenue, and will be a nice place to rest these hot evenings.

Awful weather to talk about coal, isn't it? But don't be a grasshopper, be an ant, and think a bit of the winter weather coming. Talk to John Johnson, the coal man, South avenue.

Fred Endress, the West Front street butcher, invites you to come and inspect his ice boxes and see just how clean and cold the meat is kept till it is ready to be delivered. The best cuts in the best of condition.

C. L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, makes a specialty of decorations for weddings, receptions, parties, etc. He takes entire charge upon request. Call him on the 'phone and he will tell you all about it.

Seaman Williams, of Sandford avenue, solicits an opportunity to submit estimates for any kind of mason work. He employs none but experienced men and guarantees satisfaction in every contract he undertakes.

A watch is effected by the heat just as much as a person. If there's any dirt in the case it will clog the works, which are liable to rust anyhow in the humid weather. Take yours to William Brown, the Watchung avenue jeweler, for examination.

Though Powers' pharmacy at Somerset street and Craig place is headquarters for toilet articles and medicines, it is one of the best places in town to get delicious soda water. It is made only from the purest fruit juices and is served amid cool surroundings.

No grocery store in the city carries a better stock than the one conducted by H. A. Weber, at Liberty and West Second streets. The proprietor is one of Plainfield's best known merchants and for the past twenty years he has been catering to the public. His custom now is larger than it ever was before because the people know he is reliable.

Have you seen the line of summer shoes at Van Arsdale's, on East Front street? Pumps and oxfords in leather and canvas; shoes that hold their shape, and in most places when you get shoes of summer weight, they won't stand up for appearance for very long. Gun metal outing pumps, low cut for the summer weather, are correct afternoon wear and cool and comfortable.

Skin Disease Worries Newton.

Newton, July 18.—The appearance here of a disease, originally diagnosed as chicken-pox, but which within the last few days caused the local physicians some concern as to whether or not the trouble was not one of somewhat graver nature, resulted in a meeting of the Board of Health and physicians of the town on Saturday night, when the trouble was discussed. The meeting resulted in an order by the health board placing the houses where the disease had appeared under quarantine and the taking of other measures for the controlling of the disease. About eight or ten cases have been reported and these were looked after yesterday. As a matter of precaution the Sunday-schools in town did not assemble Sunday, the outbreak being for the greater part among children.

Yacht of Popular Build.

Miss Lakewood—"What a lovely new yacht Mr. McSosh has! Is it a centreboard boat?" Miss Cleveland—"No—no—from what they tell me, I think it's a sideboard boat."

Bad Combination of Colors.

When a man who feels blue goes out and fills up on red liquor the result will naturally be that dark brown taste. Any mixer of colors will tell you that.

One Pious Editor Out West.

SOME CURRENT VERSE.

How I Feel.

Feel just like goin'
These days, I do,
Where trees are blowin'
And sun drips through,
An' the waters lay
As brown an' still
As they used to. Say!
An' the ragged hill
Rose right straight up,
'Till you'd almost think
You was in a cup
Where the fairies drink!

I feel like fishin'
Again; yes, sir'
An' set here wishin'
I'd hear th' whirr
Of the insects, like
I used to do
When I used to hike
Through morning dew,
With my lunch held tight
To my boyish heart,
By the morn's dim light
For an early start.

An' hear the singin'
O' mockin' birds
An' see the herds
Come a-crowdin' down
To the ol' pool's brink,
Just to stan' aroun'
An' get a drink.
Just all I wish
Is some o' time joy,
An' a chance to fish
Like a rag-tag boy.
—J. M. Lewis, in Houston Post.

Measurements.

Says I to Susan Simpkins,
In a friendly sort of way,
As we jogged along the turnpike
One pleasant summer day:
"I have thought the matter over
And as far as I can see,
I guess you are the woman
That is just the size for me."

I was rich and Susan wasn't,
For I owned a farm and more,
I owned a tract of timberland,
A sawmill and a store;
While Susan earned her living
As a hired girl, and did
Her duty by her mother
And a little orphan kid.

But Susan, she was thrifty,
And so plump and fresh and fair,
That certainly there wasn't
Any finer anywhere.
Of course she wa'n't my equal,
And her station wasn't mine,
But as Mrs. Hiram Higgins
She would have a chance to shine.

Then Susan Simpkins halted,
And she looked into my eyes,
Without a sign of thankfulness
Or natural surprise:
"I'm sorry, Mr. Higgins, sir;
Indeed I am," says she,
"But when it comes to sizes
You are one too small for me."
—W. J. Lampton, in N. Y. Sun.

Water Lily of Hampshire.

In Hampshire waters lightly resting
Snow white and pure as heaven's angels are,
The lily lies, the dancing ripples breasting,
How like it seems to some new-fallen star,
Low lying on a liquid sky
Where shadow clouds go drifting slowly by.

Above its bed the mountains tower
Peak upon peak in silent grandeur vast,
Among the clouds they rise in conscious power,
Rugged and grimly bold, and yet at last
How scarred and seamed their lofty forms,
On highest paths still fall the fiercest storms.

But here with sunlight round it streaming
Its sleep is undisturbed; no sound is heard
To mar the rapt, still current of its dreaming
Save lapping water or sweet-piping bird;
The pulsing air around it filled
With ruddy wine from Summer's beaker spilled.

Not for those petals glowing blushes
Such as suffuse the petals of the rose;
Nunlike, it peereth from a hood of rushes,
The queen by right o'er every flower that blows;
Earthborn, yet with the starry face
Clasped in the loving water's close embrace.
—Ernest McGaffey, in Chicago Chronicle.

Judge Not.

When some one sings a little song,
And asks you what you think about it,
Do not reply, with face drawn long,
"It may be good, but yet I doubt it;"
For every simple note that swells
With hope, and joy, and gladness ringing,
Will reach some heart where sorrow dwells,
And echo there its voice of singing.

When some one does a little deed,
And you, perchance, observe the action,
Do not conclude with thoughtless speed
That it will gain no sweet attraction;
For blessed deeds, like balls of snow,
Kept rolling on through life's rough weather,
Enlarge their fullness as they go,
Until they bind the world together.

When some one lifts a whispered prayer
From mother's knee, or gilded altar,
Doubt not that God is waiting there
To hear the lips that lisp, or falter;
But know, O man, so proud and blind,
So full of doubt and cold misgiving,
These little gems, which all may find,
Make earth a heaven, and life worth living.
—John Philo Trowbridge, in Boston Transcript.

An Invitation.

"They have said; they will say;—then let them be saying.
The World's an old woman, but we'll go a-Maying."
The bluebird has come in the wake of the swallow;
Anemones, columbines, dance in the hollow;
The river is laughing; the hedgerow discloses
A present of lilacs, a promise of roses;
And sweet from the orchard, where blossoms are falling,
That [illegible]pter, the Wind, like a truant is calling.
"They [illegible]ve said; they will say;—e'en let them be saying!
Away [illegible]psy, for we'll go a-Maying!"
—Arthur [illegible]nterman, in The Criterion.

The World's Tryst.

We fain would walk abroad with Spring,
Impatient to begin it;
[illegible] fair ones sweet, she calls:
"I [illegible]y in a minute!"

[illegible]uss, and watch the clock,
[illegible]arger looming;
[illegible]robe of tender green.
[illegible]ant perfuming.

[illegible]ast she comes to us
[illegible]beyond her;
[illegible]beautiful,
[illegible] to scold her.

The Bright Road.

[illegible] bright road, honey—
[illegible]use ter sigh?
[illegible]ain's sunny—
[illegible]by-en-by!

[illegible]right road, honey—
[illegible]n't so high;
[illegible]lan money—
[illegible]by!

A GOOD REASON.

Plainfield People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Plainfield people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. Agnes Christiansen, of 311 Prescott place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was sick with kidney diseases, suffered all kinds of hard pains in my back and loins, and about the kidneys. I could not bend over to pick up anything, and occasionally had dizzy spells and headaches. I could not rest well at night and on the whole my condition was such that life did not seem worth living. Doctors being unable to help me I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which had been used with success in our family. I took them, finding relief in a short time and continued the treatment until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Concerning

Watch and Jewelry Repairing.

A store where they do a large repair trade must necessarily be

A Trustworthy Jewelry Store,

for you wouldn't trust everyone with a watch or a jewel that has become invaluable for its associations or—one that may have cost you in the hundreds, you'll naturally seek a store with a good reputation and one where they know how to repair things and their charges are just.

IDEAS OF INVENTORS.

A German has invented a means of using light rays instead of wires for telephony. The system has been found very useful at sea, the searchlight carrying the voice perfectly.

An Italian engineer has recently developed a very efficient and economic process for welding steel and iron by means of acetylene gas. The heat produced by the combustion of acetylene and oxygen mixed at the moment of burning is about 7,200 degrees Fahrenheit, which is higher than the temperature of the oxyhydrogen flame and near that of the electric arc.

Instead of sending a cold and more or less formal written letter to a distant loved one, it is now possible to send by mail a verbal message, which may be as warm and thrilling as the sender desires. This has been made possible by the invention of three Frenchmen who have perfected a phonograph record of sufficient hardness to go through the mails and be ready to voice the message it contains upon delivery at its destination.

A very efficient stenotyping amchine by which a syllable (and in some cases two or three sylalbles) is printed in plain type at each stroke of the fingers, has just been invented by a Parisian. This result has been obtained by an ingenious ararangement of the letters of the alphabet. It is said that 50 words a minute can be written by an amateur, while a normal speed of 125 to 150 words can be obtained in two months, and in some cases as high as 300 words.

A mechanical device has been invented which is reported to be sure to induce drowsiness and then sleep in ordinary cases of wakefulness. It is said to have almost hypnotic powers in that direction, though it consists in nothing but curiously shaped and irregularly placed "paddlers" attached to a slowly revolving wheel. It is claimed that if the sufferer from insomnia looks steadily at the contrivance while it is in motion he will be overcome by drowsiness and put to sleep.

INDIAN PROVERBS.

There is nothing so eloquent as a rattlesnake's tail.

Before the paleface came there was no poison in the Indian's corn.

There will be hungry palefaces so long as there is any Indian land to swallow.

When a man prays one day and steals six, the Great spirit thunders and the evil one laughs.

There are three things it takes a strong man to hold—a young warrior, a wild horse and a handsome squaw.

WORDS WRONGLY USED.

Never used the word "liable" when you mean "likely." Do not say, for instance, that "he is liable to come in at any moment." "Liable" implies misfortune, and means "exposed to," "subject to," "in danger of."

Why do most of us speak of "unraveling a mystery?" Any good dictionary shows that "ravel" means to "unweave." You "ravel" a mystery, therefore, when you solve it. In "Hamlet," Shakespeare says: "Make you to ravel all this matter out."

If you and your friend Smith know a man called Jones, do not speak to Smith of "our mutual friend"—meaning Jones. Jones is your common friend. If you are friendly to Smith, and Smith is friendly to you, you and Smith are "mutual friends;" but that is the only sense in which the term may rightly be used.

WHAT GIRLS SHOULDN'T DO.

Talk about the extent of their wardrobe in public places.

Regard it pretty to pout when a man fails to notice compliments.

Speak to men with an air of authority that produces irritation.

Carry their jealousy so conspicuously as to be generally noticed.

Use the forcible expressions which so easily can be misconstrued.

Give away the pretty little trinkets presented to them, as evidence of good feeling.

ORACULAR OBSERVATIONS.

DIAMOND DUST.

It is said that Manager Daab intends to play a return game with the Elizabeth Invaders at Elizabeth on Saturday, July 28. If this is the plan it should be discouraged. After the kind of an exhibition the Invaders put up here Saturday they do not deserve a return game until they "make good" for the disappointment to the local fans. The Elizabeth Times says: "Neubeck brought a bunch of rooters to Plainfield with the team and the keenest rivalry was manifest when the game was on. The Invaders played good ball, allowing but one Daabite to get to the initial sack on an error. While not as strong as Plainfield with the stick the Invaders managed to pull out eight hits. Two double plays were also features. The game gave the followers of the Invaders a chance to size up the Daab material and get an idea of Neubeck's chances to win the series. That Neubeck has a team fit to cope with the Plainfielders is an understood thing, and he ought to come out on the surface with a good slab artist to do the flinging."

The Invaders appearing on Crescent Oval Saturday are no more in the class with Plainfield than the Clinton Avenues or Garwood A. C., and as for Plainfield getting to base on errors it was not necessary. The leather was pounded far and beyond the reach of all fielders. The bunch of Elizabeth rooters referred to was so small that they were scarcely noticeable. If the Invaders want to redeem themselves let the management come to Plainfield with as good a team as it puts on the field Sunday and then the fans will probably see a game worth while. The fans are not in sympathy with the idea of giving Neubeck a return game as matters stand now.

If you want to enjoy a game of baseball and hear lots of good coaching go to Crescent Oval Saturday and see the Quaker Giants.

The Philadelphia Quaker Giants have been defeating the strongest teams throughout Pennsylvania, New York State and Connecticut and you can depend upon it that they will put up a fine contest here.

"Money" Monroe, the funny man of the Philadelphia Quaker Giants, is without doubt one of the best infielders in the business and it is only his color that keeps him out of the big leagues.

While Monroe is a great player, he is not the only one on the Quaker Giants. Every member of the team plays the game for all he is worth and a great contest is looked for.

Saturday's game at the oval will be one of the most difficult for the locals and if they win it will be only after the hardest struggle. Captain Leonard is confident, however, of victory, and his instructed every man to be on his job.

A record-breaking attendance at the oval Saturday will go a long way in encouraging the Plainfield Baseball Association to get the best teams here.

Instead of playing the Invaders a return game at Elizabeth next week, it would be far better to bring the Roeblings, of Trenton, or the Cuban X Giants to Crescent Oval. This would attract a big crowd. The local association can get along very well without any further trouble just now, and what fandom wants is the "goods."

The Toronto, Eastern League Club, his just signed its thirty-eighth player. The team has had four catchers, twelve pitchers, four first basemen, five second basemen, four backstops, two third basemen and seven outfielders, so far, and there are more coming.

From Boston comes a story of a very graceful act by Al. Selbach before leaving to join the Providence team. He gave Hoey and Hayden, the new outfielders, each one of his favorite bats, with his best wishes.

The Boston American League Club is the biggest farce today in professional baseball, and three years ago it was one of the smartest and cleanest working teams which was seen on the field.

Woods, Toronto's new backstop, plays ball because he likes the game. He is quite wealthy, and owns seventy-one acres of coal land near Girard, O.

THE MIGHTY LAJOIE JUST BOWS TO GOLF.

Washington, July 18.—Napoleon Lajoie, of the Cleveland Baseball Club, is a duffer at golf. Nobody realizes it better than he, and hereafter he will simply rest secure on his reputation as a leading baseball batsman without trying to gain any other accomplishments. The revelation came yesterday, when a friend took Lajoie to a local golf club.

The king of batters was interested in the ease with which flat-chested gentlemen whacked the gutta-percha spheres 175 yards or more at a stroke. When a driver was handed to him and a ball placed neatly on a tee he stepped forward confidently. Assuming a batting position, he cast his eyes forward as if to see the pitcher, but, suddenly realizing that there was no pitcher and that the ball lay dead before him instead of being thrown with an outshoot in his direction, the mighty ball player prepared for a mighty swipe.

Lajoie worked his shoulders well into it, and the slender shaft of the driver made a whistling sound as it cut the air. It terminated in a dull thud as the driver struck the ground underneath the ball, which stirred ne'er an inch. Lajoie was surprised to say the least. Again he swung and yet again. Finally he connected, and the ball sped in a rater poer drive, somewhat sliced, for a distance of about 100 yards. With the reflection that a five-ounce horehide and a good old "Louisville slugger" were better tools for results, the mighty batsman retired to the shade, a table and something else.

EX-CHAMPION "FITZ" A VICTIM OF HARD LUCK.

Corbett Says Few Fighters Have Experienced the Financial Setbacks He Has.

In a reminiscent mood, a few days ago, James J. Corbett delivered himself of the following concerning ex-Champion "Bob" Fitzsimmons, now one of Dunellen's "first citizens:"

"When Fitz casts off this mortal coil, with him will go a record of financial setbacks that few fighters have experienced. In the ring Bob generally managed to get what was due him. He always had a manager who could hold his own, at least while the fight was going on. But after the fight was over many a trick and deceit have been played upon Fitz. Of course the latest of his misfortunies was the experience at the Tuxedo Club, when Governor Pennypacker refused to let his match with Noah Brusso go on.

"But that was nothing compared with his misfortune in New Orleans when he fought Jim Hall. He was to have received a $40,000 purse, but instead received a bogus check for $20,000 and an I. O. U. for the remainder. How different with Hall. At least the loser's end had to be handed to him before he would enter the ring. I thing Mitchell was the man that looked after Hall at that time and Charlie was a sure thing proposition."

GOLF TOURNEY.

Best Professionals to Be Seen at VanCortlandt Park.

With the idea of giving enthusiasts with limited time an opportunity to see the best professionals in action, what promises to be one of the greatest professional golf tournaments ever held in New York, is scheduled for Tuesday, July 31, and Wednesday, August 1, at VanCortlandt Park. Liberal prizes, beginning with $150 will be warded. The tournament is purely a voluntary affair. Charles Kirchner, of this city, is the chairman of the committee in charge of the tournament.

The programme as outlined calls for two rounds each day or eighteen holes each. Five prizes will be offered for the best 72 hole scores for the two days. A prize of $25 will be given for the best gross score turned in each day. Among other well known eastern professionals "Marty" O'Loughlin will enter the contests.

QUITS HORSE SHOWS.

J. F. Carlisle, Known Here, Out of Tanbark Arena.

Jay F. Carlisle, the Brooklyn horseman, who has been very prominent at horse shows for the last few years, and who with Joseph W. Odgen, judged harness horses and ponies at Plainfield's last exhibition, has decided to retire from the tanbark arena permanently. The most noted show pair owned and exhibited by him with mush success recently has been Eloquence and Revenue, while he has owned such notable winners as Janet and Janice, Promoter, Aileen, Underwriter and many others.

For years Mr. Carlisle has been one of the leading promoters and supporters of the Brooklyn Horse Show, which is held annually with much success, and in yhich he has been, next to Mrs. Gerken, the most conspicuous exhibitor. While he quits the show ring, yet he will keep his interest in horses, as he is now breeding every blue ribbon winning mare he has owned in the past. Mr. Carlisle's retirement will be a great loss to all the horse shows in the metropolitan district.

COPS AGAINST SCRIBES.

Nines Will Meet This Afternoon For a Real Game.

The cops' nine will play their first game of the season this afternoon against the newspaper men. The contest will be lively enough, but may lack a few fine points of a big league gathering.

The batting order of the newspaper men will be as follows: Waters, 2b; Hewitt or Scott, c; Hacquer, 1b; Ryno, 3b; Dunn, ss; Morrison, cf; Colthar or Hewitt, p; Woolley, rf; Sullivan, lf; Firstbrook, McVoy, Hoffman, utility. The cops have not made their batting order public. As a matter of fact, they don't know who they are. Some of the bluecoats who think they art "It" on the nine will be tagged "23" when the showdown is made and sent to the bench.

C. W. Watson, George Watson and Mrs. John Gerkin Display Blue Ribbon Horses at Shore.

C. W. Watson, of Baltimore, and George Watson, of New York, who displayed blue ribbon horses at the Plainfield Hose Show, carried off most of the blue ribbons at the annual horse show at Atlantic City, which opened yesterday afternoon. Mrs. John Gerkin's horses, who were to have been shown here, also captured ribbons from the judges in the tan bark ring.

"Lord Baltimore," who won the first prize at the local horse show in the champion harness class, after a close competition with J. W. Harriman's "Chieftain," captured a blue ribbon in the class of single harness horses. C. W. Watson is the owner. In the class for maiden harness horses, first prize was won by C. W. Watson's "Ringing Bells," "Vindicator," "Lady Margaret" and "Lady Caroline. "Jean Beakman," also Watson's horses won honors in the judging ring. George Watson's harness team, "Black Beauty" and "Black Bess" took first honors for the pairs in harness, and took prizes in the tandem class. His "Loadamia" won a ribbon in the single harness class.

Mutual Ice Concern.

At a meeting of the Asbury Park Hotelkeepers' Association Monday evening a committee was appointed to consider the feasibility of forming a stock company, to be composed of hotel men, for the purpose of building and operating a plant for the manufacture of ice. In this way, it was argued, the proprietors would be independent of the local dealers, who have recently raised the price of ice to an almost prohibitive figure. The resignation of Thomas Noble as president of the association was accepted and Somers T. Champion was chosen in his place.

Bishop's Service at St. Stephen's.

The Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will visit St. Stephen's church Thursday morning. There will be early celebration for communion at 7 o'clock in the morning, matins at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 o'clock the Bishop's service will be held. Many of the priests having neighboring parishes will attend the services. Rev. Canon Bryan, almoner and canon missionary of the Cathedral of the Incarnation, of Garden City, L. I., will be the appointed preacher.

Colonel Collins Entertaining.

Colonel Collins at the State camp at Sea Girt today is entertaining a party of Union County politicians and office holders. There are about twenty in the party and the entire day will be sent with the soldiers, the party going to the rifle ranges in the afternoon.

CO. K ON STATE RANGE

Plainfield Crack Shots' Practise Cut Short Yesterday by the Rain.

THOSE WHO QUALIFIED

Capt. Martin Officer of the Day—Quartermaster Sergeant Littell a Busy Bee.

Yesterday was Co. K's day for rifle practice at Sea Girt, though conditions were anything but favorable. The wind blew a gale, making it hard to judge windage. Toward the middle of the afternoon it rained and Co. K was deprived of two hours' target practice.

Those who qualified are: Captain William B. Martin, Lieutenant John M. Lewis, Lieutenant H. B. Kitchell, First Sergeant Charles A. Peterson, Q. M. Sergt. A. I. Littell, Sergt. O. R. Pearson, Sergt. George Apgar, Sergt. Alfred Trenchand, Corp. C. H. Bilyeu, Corp. James Niles, Corp. Robert Goldsack, Corp. Bond, Corp. James B. Conklin, Privates Charles Gofoed, Emil Porst, Manning.

The rain prevented eleven of Co. K's men qualifying, but they will probably have an opportunity to do so before breaking up of camp Saturday. Co. K also qualified a number of marksmen of the first class; and a few of the second class.

Today was a busy day in camp for the boys. Between their drill duties they had a few leisure hours to spend entertaining women visitors. The busiest man in camp is Quartermaster Sergeant Littell, who is kept hustling after Capt. Paterson, of the commissary department, for mess for the company boys. He has kicked so hard and so often that the commissary has titled him the "high kicker."

Capt. Martin is officer of the day today, and has the entire camp under his charge. Yesterday Lieutenant Lewis was officer of the guard. Sergeant Pearson, the postoffice department, continues to receive his bath under the street pump. Today is Governor's day, and there is a great crowd of visitors in camp.

Co. K was favored yesterday by a call from the Union County Board of Freeholders, composed of B. J. King, director, W. A. Westphal, G. B. Cladek, A. S. Gruener, J. Perry, and J. R. Ryno, clerk, and also M. M. Scudder, J. Brucklacher, T. Pearson, J. Sauer, former members.

900 EXCURSIONISTS OFF ON SEASON'S SECOND OUTING.

Leaving this city to spend a day at the seashore at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, nine hundred excursionists, accommodated in fifteen cars of a special train, are on the annual outing of the Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational and First Presbyterian Sunday-schools at the shore today. Accompanying the Plainfielders are over two hundred members of the First Presbyterian Sunday-school of Dunellen. This is always one of the largest excursions of the season and the long train was well filled when it pulled out of the depot at 8:10 this morning.

The local Sunday-school committee in charge of the affair was under the chairmanship of R. H. Radford and included Charles Steiner, Joseph M. Hawkins, Frank Vail, Harry Cummings, Edward George and Frank Dunning. The train was in charge of Conductor Thomas Flannigan, and Engineer Will Dunham was in the cab. The excursionists will be eight hours at the shore, as the special leaves Asbury Park for the return trip at 6:40. The special will arrive in this city at about 9 o'clock.

Composer and Soloist Here.

Ted Snyder, composer of several of the popular new pieces which will be sung at the band concert tomorrow evening is the guest of Bandmaster Ben LaVere today. Snyder is a writer for F. A. Mills, and will attend the concert tomorrow night to hear his newest pieces rendered. Billy Redmond, one of the soloists in tomorrow's concert, is also staying with LaVere.

Nuggets From Northfield.

Experiences and thoughts gained by attending the recent Y. M. C. A. conference at Northfield will be given at the afternoon meeting at the association building Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Laura Gesswein will sing several selections and 'cello solos will be given by Otto Muller.

Another Excursion Thursday.

And the next one will be next Thursday. If you haven't been able to get off so far, keep Thursday, July 26, open and go to the shore with the Methodist Sunday-schools of this city and Dunellen. This will be a nine-hour day at the shore.

HISTORIC BURYING GROUND BADLY NEGLECTED

WASHINGTON VALLEY RESIDENTS ANXIOUS TO SEE IT TAKEN CARE OF.

Residents of Washington Valley have called the attention of the local G. A. R. to the neglected state of a small burying ground located on the bank of Watchung Lake on a part of the Spencer farm. In it are the remains of several men who fought and died in the Civil War and also those of residents who were prominent in this vicinity years ago. Those living nearby the place are anxious to see it placed in presentable condition because of its historical interest if for nothing else and it is possible that something will be done. At the present time the graves are overrun with grass and weeds and the headstones have fallen to the ground.

Among those buried in the place are two soldier boys, Simon Mirax, of Co. I, 5th N. J. Vols., and William Mirax, Co. I, 30th N. J. Vols., both of whom fell in battle. There are also the remains of Hon. William D. Steward, a former member of the Legislature, who died in 1868 and who is still remembered by Plainfielders, and Jacob and Abigail Salley. According to the headstones the former was buried there in 1811 and the latter in 1836. There are many other stones bearing much older dates but time has eradicated the names.

In recent years, the spot has been neglected but for the annual visits of the G. A. R. to place flags on the graves of the Mirax brothers and it is thought by a concerted move a plan can be evolved to have it fixed up and kept in good condition.

SKEETERS PLENTIFUL AT SEA GIRT CAMP

NEW JERSEY SOLDIERS ARE GREATLY BOTHERED BY THE PEST.

Myriads of mosquitoes descended upon the State Camp at Sea Girt on Monday night, and have been making life miserable for the soldiers ever since. No one dares light a light for fear of attracting the pests. The musicians who play at the band concerts have especiall suffered from the pests. Pennyroyal and other strong-smelling lotions are in great demand.

Gov. Stokes invited the members of the Legislature and several of the Congress Representatives from the State to be there today as his guests at luncheon and to review the regiment.

Major David Shanks, of the regular army, who succeeded Lieut. Murphy, of Kansas, when the recall of the latter was suggested to the Government, has made himself so popular with the officers and men in camp that it has been decided to ask the Military Board to detail him there as the permanenti nstructor of the New Jersey National Guard in future years. Major Shanks served in the Spanish-American war from Virginia.

SOMERSET CLUB ON TROLLEY OUTING TONIGHT.

The first outing of the Somerset Club, a borough organization which includes in its membership many of the leading politicians across the brook, will be held tonight when the club will take a trolley outing around the loop of the Public Service tracks. The organization has chartered five special cars and will start from the Somerset street switch at about 7 o'clock. The ride will be to Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Boynton Beach, Rahway, Westfield and back to this city. The committee in charge, under the leadership of David Carney as chairman, has arranged for the party to stop off for an hour or two at Boynton Beach, where they will arrive at about 10 o'clock. The return to this city will be made late.

The reception committee, to see about the seating and accommodation on the trolleys consist of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of the borough; Robert Trewin, Captain W. C. Smith, William McCullough and Harry M. Cook. The entertainment committee in charge of the affair will consist of David M. Carney, Edward Smith, Jack Doud, Grover Schuck and John Schroppe.

Y. M. C. A. Campers Left Today.

The sixteen members of the local Y. M. C. A., who are to go to Camp Tuxis on Tuxis Island, left town this morning on the 7:55 train, accompanied by Secretary Kenneth Robbie of the association. The boys will pitch camp at Tuxis Island at about 4 o'clock today.

THREE CLAIM REWARD

Tugboatmen Say They Should Get Mrs. Kuenlen's $500 Reward.

PICKED UP GIRL'S BODY

Detective-Sergeant Fogarty Contends That His Work Was What the Mother Offered the Reward For.

Claim to the $500 reward offered for the recovery of Helen Kuenlen's body has been filed by three men, and a court decision will be necessary to settle the contest for the money. The three claimants are Detective Sergt. Daniel Fogarty, of the New York police force, who led to the identification; Capt. O'Loughlin, of the tug that picked up the body, and his first mate, Evans.

O'Loughlin and Evans put in a claim for the money as soon as the identity of the body was established. They picked it up 400 feet from shore at the foot of West Thirtieth street, and turned it over to the police. They acknowledge that there they had no idea the remains were those of Helen Kuenlen, but maintain that such knowledge was not necessary to entitle them to the reward. They contend that the reward was offered for the discovery of Helen Kuenlen, and that they discovered her beyond the shadow of a doubt.

That it was to Fogarty's detective ability alone that the body was identified is just as undoubted. He looked over the bodies at the morgue for the sole purpose of locating missing people, and his quickness of vision and skill at fitting printed descriptions to bodies enabled him to single out the Kuenlen girl's remains. But for his work, the body would have been buried in Potter's Field. Fogarty contends that the reward was offered by Mrs. Kuenlen for the return of the body to her, and that his services were the sort in Mrs. Kuenlen's mind when she made the reward offer.

The claims have been filed before the court in New York. The Legal Aid Society has taken up the tugboatmen's case, and Fogarty has retained counsel to safeguard his interests. The reward has been deposited at the First National Bank by Mrs. Kuenlen, in the name of the Chief of Police, and the latter will pay it to whoever the court awards it the day the decision is announced. O'Loughlin came to Plainfield a day or two after the identification to claim the reward from Mrs. Kuenlen personally, and he nearly got it. Mrs. Kuenlen was on the point of paying it over, when a friend advised her to deposit it in the bank in escrow, and let the claimants fight it out among themselves.

MISCHIEF MAKERS WORK.

Blue and White Store Looked Like National Flag.

Boy mischief makers with a pot of bright red paint made all sorts of trouble for Moses Bender, who has a shop near police headquarters, on Somerset street, last night, much to the anger of the worthy Mose this morning. Upon arriving at the shop, he found that the entire front of the building, which is white with blue trimmings, had been crossed with bold red stripes, thus presenting the aspect of the grand old rag.

The work had been done with an eye to the artistic, and the building had been transformed into a veritable American flag. Moses was wild, and as the paint was not yet dry he and two or three assistants set about scrubbing off the red with rags wet with turpentine and oil. After nearly two hours work, the red was removed entirely and the gala appearance of the blue and white shone out in all its original splendor. Moses has complained to Chief of Police George Weiss of the borough law enforcers and wants revenge upon the mischief makers, if they can be caught.

Hot Weather Pencil Pushing.

According to a story printed in another paper, Fireman Harry Bush made a statement to Chief Doane and House Physician Anthony at the hospital, Monday, in which he gave his explanation of the accident to No. 1 truck. Chief Doane declared today that Bush had made no statement to him and at the hospital it was asserted that they had heard of no explanation.

Puts Hubby On the Wagon.

Constable John Manley, at the request of a Plainfield woman, served notices on all the local liquor dealers, yesterday, asking them not to sell liquor to her husband in the future. In every case, but one, the constable was courteously received and was assured that the request would be granted.

HEARING TONIGHT ON FIRE TRUCK ACCIDENT

INVESTIGATION INTO CAUSE OF MISHAP RESPONSIBLE FOR INJURY TO BUSH

At the call of Chairman Mellick, the Fire Committee of the Common Council will meet tonight for the purpose of conducting an investigation as to the cause of the accident of No. 1 truck, last Thursday night, in which Driver Harry Bush was badly hurt. Several people who witnessed the vehicle turn over have been asked to appear before the members to give their testimony and a statement from the injured man will be presented. A member of the committee said today that the matter would be thoroughly sifted and that the blame would be placed where it belonged.

It was stated in another paper Tuesday that Bush had given his explanation of the accident to Chief Doane and to House Physician Anthony, of Muhlenberg Hospital, and that he had declared the horses turned from Second street into Central avenue from force of habit; that he had intended going straight down Second street and that they made the swing despite his efforts to stop them. When Chief Doane was asked about the alleged statement, he declared Bush had given him none and he knew nothing about it. The hospital authorities also said it was news to them and that anyway they had no concern in the affair beyond taking care of the victim.

Inquiry at the hospital today as to the condition of Bush elicited the information that he still remains about the same and that he is not yet entirely out of danger.

THREE SOLOISTS TO RENDER POPULAR MUSIC AT CONCERT.

Billy Redmond, Lew Leveer and John Driscoll To Sing at Tomorrow's Concert.

Bandmaster Ben LaVere has arranged an especially good program for this week's concert tomorrow night and three soloists will render selections in connection with a good program by the band. William Redmond will sing two of Snyder's new pieces, "Down Beside the Meadow Brook" and the new coon song, "I'd Rather Be Outside Lookin' In Than On the Inside Lookin' Out." This last piece has made a great his and is bran new. Lew Leever, who sang here in last season's concerts, will sing two of Helf's compositions, "When the Whip-poor-will Sings Marguerite," and the popular Irish piece, "Colleen Bawn." A new soloist will make his debut on the band stand. This is John Driscoll, who is well known among phonograph men as a maker of records for the new songs. He is down to sing "Cheyenne" and "Alice, Where Art Thou Going?"

The complete program of the concert includes nine parts, with the vocal selections. The order of music will be as follows: March, "The Courier," Jones; overture, "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna," Suppe; selection, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," Geo. Cohan; vocal solo, (a) "Down Beside the Meadow Brook," Snyder, (b) "I'd Rather Be On the Outside A-Lookin' In Than On the Inside A-Lookin' Out," Snyder, by William Redmond; selection, "The Heidelberg," Mills; vocal solo, (a) "When the Whip-poor-will Sings Marguerite," Helf, (b) "Colleen Bawn," Helf, Lew Leever; medley overture, "When the Whip-poor-will Sings, Marguerite," Helf; vocal solo, (a) "Cheyenne," Van Alstyne, (b) "Alice, Where Art Thou Going?" Gumble, John Driscoll; selection, "Moving Day," Von Tilzer.

In connection with the concert next week will be a display of fireworks, together with a good vocal and instrumental program of popular music.

AGED WOMAN BADLY HURT BY FALLING DOWNSTAIRS.

Physician Called to Attend Her Injuries Causes Her Removal to Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Powell, a woman past sixty years of age, fell down stairs at her home on Giraud avenue, just off West Front street, late last night and was severely hurt. When picked up by members of the family she was semi-conscious and the physician called advised her removal to the hospital. At the institution it was found that she had sustained a fracture of the arm at the wrist and several severe cuts on the face that required suturing.

The other occupants of the house did not know what caused her to fall and Mrs. Powell has been unable to give any explanation. Because of her advanced age she will be detained at the hospital at least two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Blatz, of Somerset street, are among those registered at Sunset Hall, Asbury Park.

PHILADELPHIA IN 1907

Quaker City Beats Baltimore For Elks Convention Next Year by 230 Votes.

REUNION ENDS TODAY

Plainfielders Will Quit Denver Tomorrow, Visiting Points of Interest on the Way Home.

After one of the hottest fights known to Elkdom, Philadelphia won over Baltimore for the "Best People on Earth" reunion in 1907, at the convention in Denver, yesterday. The vote was 495 to 265 and when it became certain that the Quaker City was victorious its representatives bolted from the hall and securing their band they paraded through the streets. The crowd was with them and Elks from every part of the country grew husky in cheering for the winners, those from Baltimore joining in despite their sore disappointment. Chicago and Seattle each received complimentary votes and they will be pitted against each other for the 1908 reunion.

The Plainfield delegates and all the members of Plainfield lodge are highly elated that Philadelphia won the contest as it will bring the reunion the nearest to home since No. 885 was organized. It also means that this city will have an opportunity to compete for some of the attendance prizes and can easily make a good showing in the parade which is always a feature of the gatherings. The Quaker City spent $10,000 to get the victory and the past records show that it will spare no expense in entertaining the guests that will flock to it. This year's convention cost Denver $100,000, but the lodge and citizens are more than delighted with the result.

The reunion ends today with what will probably be one of the greatest parades ever witnessed at an Elks reunion. At least 15,000 of the antlered host will be in line and music will be provided by scores of bands. Because of its victory, Philadelphia has given orders that every one of its members and every woman from the Quaker City must participate, wearing Quaker dress. All the amusement parks and enterprises in Denver have been thrown open to registered elks and the delgates are availing thmselvs of th opportunity.

The Plainfield Elks, Alexander D. Findlay, Walter Apgar, Edward A. Laing, Louis VanAlstyne and E. M. VanBuren, will start for home tomorrow, stopping at points of interest along the route.

FOUNDATIONS COMPLETED. FOR NEW 'PHONE BUILDING.

Structure Will Be One of the Most Up-to-Date of Its Kind in the Country.

Seaman Brothers, contractors, have completed the work of laying the foundations for the new building being erected by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company on East Fourth street. There is some delay now caused by the shipment of iron, and the progress on the structure is a little slow.

When completed the building will be one of the most modern and up-to-date of the kind in this part of the country. It will be three stories in height and in every detail it will be constructed as nearly fire-proof as it is possible. The first floor will be devoted to offices for the manager and the various departments. The second floor will be used for supplies and an important feature will be the space reserved for the operators and women assistants. There will be a dining-room, where they may eat their meals when necessary, and commodious toilet rooms, cloak rooms and every other modern convenience. The operating room will be on the third or top floor and provisions have been made to allow for any desired number of additions to the switch board. By using the top floor there will be plenty of light and air for those who work there.

Another feature about the building will be the installation of the common battery system, doing away with the individual batteries in telephones. The building is to be of brick, marble and steel chiefly, with a facing on Fourth street of pressed brick. The plans are very elaborate and Building Inspector Doane says that they are the finest he has ever seen. The cost of the building, exclusive of equipment, will be $51,000. It will be equipped to provide for an increase of 5,000 additional subscribers now and if necessary extra switchboards can be added at any time.

F. R. Stevens and family, of Second place, are registered at the Berwin, Asbury Park.

Mrs. E. Eugene Pope, of Mt. Horeb, who has been spending some time in this city visiting relatives, has returned home.

TIMBOITES PILGRIMAGE WITH CROQUET SETS

DAY WILL BE AS CLEAR AS PLAINFIELD WATER SAYS W. WHALEN DOUD.

The excursion committee of the Timbo Social Club held a meeting last night and found that all arrangements have been made for the annual junket to Lake Hopatcong, Sunday, and that from indications it will be the most successful the popular organization has yet conducted. The weather man has given Chairman William Whalen Doud assurance that the sun will be shining brightly and the coolest zephyrs will be blowing all the way from Minnisink to Halsey Island, especially for this occasion. Over 150 tickets have already been disposed of and the chances are the number will be 200 by Saturday. The start is to be made from the North Avenue station at 9:20 and the Timboites will have special cars.

A feature of the day at the lake will be a full course dinner at the American House. President Timbo will occupy the seat of honor at the head of the banquet hall and before the soup is served will deliver an address being prepared for him by Jack Hall. Jack Gaffney, who heads the reception committee, has promised to eschew politics and the only time he will talk will be to respond to the toast, "The Telegraph Ticks, But I Don't." Music will be furnished by the Minions, of Newark, and Dennis O'Brien's Harmonists, four in number.

Following the dinner, no set programme will be held but President Timbo has ordered a dozen croquet sets to be on the ground and many of the members will carry hammocks and swings with them.

FRESH AIR HOME NOW SHELTERS 300 CHILDREN

DELEGATION OF 123 WITH MISS CURRY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home is filled to the utmost accommodation with little children from the New York city tenement house districts. A census of the home taken this morning by Miss Sara Curry showed that the population there is now 336, including about twenty mothers. Upon her return from New York yesterday afternoon, Miss Curry brought out with her a party of 123 small children, who were sickeping in the intense heat of the city tenements.

The sleeping accommodations are especially crowded at Netherwood. Last night some of the little ones slept four in a bed and the larger ones had shake downs on the floor. The shelter tent on the grounds is being used as a dormitory again this year and sleeping accommodations for about a score of youngsters is furnished here. The children are in good health and are willing to sleep anywhere as long as they may be allowed to stay away from the hot city. Despite the fact that Plainfield has not been visited with many Iceland breezes this week, the little New Yorkers think it is the coolest place they have ever been and spend the entire day out of doors.

Little Charlie, one of the members of Miss Curry's Day Nursery, on St. Mark's place, New York, who was brought to Netherwood recently, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital this morning for especial care of his eyes. The boy has always had weak eyes and was threatened with a cataract formation this summer. Dr. Currie, the camp physician, had an examination with a local eye specialist at the camp yesterday morning, and it was at one time thought that an operation would be necessary. The little fellow has been so much improved since he left the city that the doctor thinks that with a little special treatment at the hospital his sight will be cured without an operation.

Aged Clergyman Dies.

Rev. Joseph G. Williamson died this morning, aged 82 years. Funeral services will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. S. Alpaugh, 135 East Sixth street, and at the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, near Clinton, Saturday morning, at 11:15 o'clock.

S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, is spending sometime at Ocean Grove.

Mrs. John Valiant, of Myrtle avenue, left today for Squirrel Island, Maine, for the summer.

Samuel Townsend, of Myrtle avenue, is spending the summer months at the Cascade, Essex Co., N. Y.

A. S. PECK IS ORDAINED

Deacon in Charge of St. Stephen's Church Elevated to the Priesthood.

BY BP. SCARBOROUGH

With all the solemnity and impressiveness of the Episcopal ritual, Arthur Searing Peck, in charge of St. Stephen's church at Netherwood, was ordained to the priesthood by Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, bishop of New Jersey, at St. Stephen's church this morning. A goodly representation of Mr. Peck's parishioners, together with a large party of friends among the clergy from out of town were present at the service. The candidate was presented to the bishop by the Rev. Jere Knode Cooke, of St. George's church, Hempstead, Long Island, and Mr. Peck was ordained to priest's orders in connection with the celebration of the Holy Communion at the conclusion of the service. The Veni Creatus Spiritus was first sung by the choir, and then Rev. Dr. Cooke, as presentor, led the candidate to the bishop. The priests present took part in the ceremony of the laying of hands together with Bishop Scarborough. Mr. Peck received the stole and chasuable symbolic of his assumption of the office.

The sermon in connection with the ordination ceremony was preached by the Venerable Canon Bryan, of the Cathedral of the Incarnation of the Diocese of Long Island at Garden City, L. I. He took for his text, the first verse of the fourth chapter of Frst Corinthians: "Let a man so account of us as the ministers of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God." He spoke of the threefold orders of ministry, the orders of bishops, priests and deacons, with especial reference to the dignity and glory of the priesthood. Priests, he said, are not only ministers of God, but stewards of the mysteries of God. There are mysteries in religion as well as in the natural world; they were once hidden, but are now revealed through the Incarnation. It is through the instrumentality of the ministry that souls are saved and brought to Christ. At the conclusion of the sermon came the charge to the candidate for orders. In this, Canon Bryan referred to the importance of the order about to be received by Mr. Peck and spoke of his earnest, sincere character, charging with the spiritual care of the parishioners.

The music was a special feature of the service of ordination. William E. MacClymont, organist of Grace Episcopal church, was in charge, assisted by members of the Grace church choir and the entire choir of St. Stephen's.

At the conclusion of the service, the party of clergy, together with relatives and friends and Mr. Peck and certain parishioners, went to the new church rectory, at Woodland avenue and South avenue. Here the clergy were entertained at a collation. The party to sit down to luncheon consisted of twenty-one people, among whom were Mrs. Lockhart, of Brooklyn, N. Y., sister of Mr. Peck, and the following clergymen: Right Rev. Bishop Scarborough, of the Diocese of New Jersey, the Venerable Canon Bryan, of the Cathedral of the Incarnation of the Diocese of Long Island, Rev. Jere Knode Cooke, of St. George's church, Hempstead, L. I., Rev. C. B. Simpson, former rector of St. Stephen's, now living in New York city, Rev. John Kellar, of Arlington, N. J., Rev. Dr. Joseph P. Taylor, of this city, Rev. Dr. Eager, of North Plainfield, Rev. Harris C. Rush, of Westfield, and Rev. Arthur S. Phelps, of Dunellen.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Bishop Scarborough made an informal address at the table. He congratulated Mr. Peck upon his accession to orders and briefly summed up the life of the church at Netherwood. He spoke of the parish as dependent upon the Netherwood Hotel indirectly, for the church was built to be used in connection with the summer hotel at Netherwood. In referring to the struggles of the parish life, he spoke of Mr. Peck's accession to the parish two years ago, and said that at the time the parish was broken, "lying on its back, I might say, but, like that who lie on their backs, looking up." He spoke of the growth since Mr. Peck has been in charge, of the new parish house and improvements planned in future, which showed the zeal, earnestness and generosity of the parishioners.

Mr. Peck came to Netherwood two years ago in July, taking the place of Dr. Simpson, who resigned the parish at that time. He received confirmation from the late Bishop Littlejohn, of the Diocese of Long Island and was ordained to the deaconate by Bishop Brewster, of the Diocese

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Hard luck followed O. F. Pearson, the painter, and his son, as they were driving from Lincoln to Dunellen yesterday afternoon, and overtook them twice, both times causing a runaway. The two were in a light wagon, and Pearson was driving a western horse, which he recently bought, and which has not yet become accustomed to trolleys and autos. The first runaway was caused by an automobile. The horse saw it coming a long way off, and kicked up her heels, running wild with bit in teeth. Pearson signalled to the auto to stop, for he had lost control of the horse. The machine didn't stop, and shortly after passing it, Pearson was unable to keep the horse in the road any longer. The animal plunged into a field on its wild run, breaking the harness and finally was stopped by being caught in a wire fence, where it was pretty badly cut up. The two hitched up again and started on for Dunellen. At the turn in the road near the outskirts of town, the animal took fright again at a trolley car and bolted. Pearson's son was driving and was unable to hold the horse. He climbed out over the tailboard of the wagon, and finally as the frightened animal threatened to kick the wagon to pieces, Pearson also jumped. He fell heavily and was bruised on the side. At Sandford's place, opposite the loop, the horse left the road and ran up on the sidewalk, trying to pull the wagon between two trees on the Sandford property. The space was too narrow, and the horse broke clear of the wagon, leaving it with cover torn off and wheels badly sprung and taking part of one shaft with it on a wild run down Front street. It was caught at Lincoln place by Joel Giddes as it was turning off toward the mountain. Not knowing whose horse it was he took it to Runyon's stables, where it was found to be badly cut and bruised by its run and the collision with the tree. Young Pearson followed up the animal and claimed it, leading it home. The wagon was a wreck, the entire front being splintered and sprung and the shafts torn off, together with the cover. The harness was broken to bits.

O. M. Hetfield, of North avenue, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Mellick, at Alton, yesterday. Many of Mr. Hetfield's relatives and friends called on him in the afternoon to wish him many happy returns of the day. Among the relatives who helped make the day a long-to-be-remembered one by the old man were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hetfield, Miss Mary Hetfield, Miss Anna Hetfield and Miss Irma Baldwin, of Dunellen, Mrs. Mary Jaeger, of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller and son, LeRoy Miller, of Walden, N. Y., and George Miller, of Roselle.

Charles F. Dayton, of New Market, who was injured by falling from his wheel near the Washington avenue bridge, is slightly improved today. Dayton was riding his wheel Tuesday evening and was thrown heavily when the front wheel skidded on a rough place in the road. His head, just above the right temple, was severely cut, rendering him unconscious for two hours. Dr. Nelson is in attendance, and it is thought he will be able to be about again by the first of the week.

Many Dunellenites took advantage of the excursion of the Presbyterian Sunday-school to Asbury Park today to spend the day at the seashore. The excursion train was made up at Dunellen, leaving at 7:25 o'clock, and stopping at Plainfield for the excursionists from that city. The train leaves the shore at 6:40 this evening, and the excursionists should arrive home by about 9:30 o'clock.

A brake was fitted to the fire engine at the engine house yesterday afternoon. At a Council meeting in June it was decided to put on this brake for the driver might not always be able to control the horses used for pulling the apparatus to fires.

Mrs. Oscar Runyon, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her father, Recorder David Campbell, for a few days. Her husband is to join her for Sunday.

Miss Carrie Smith, of Caldwell, has returned home after spending a week in Dunellen as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller and son, LeRoy, are the guests of Mrs. Miller's father, O. M. Hetfield, of North avenue.

Henry Garretson spent yesterday in Woodbridge on business.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The local ball team will present its strongest lineup against the Rahway Y. M. C. A. team in the game Saturday. The home team has only lost two games this season, and they have been playing the strongest amateur teams in this section.

The game at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon between the Daabsters and Philadelphia Giants will repay the fans for the fizzle of last Saturday, when the Invaders made a bid for county championship honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gray, of Prospect avenue, have been entertaining Mr. Gray's brother, Adam Gray, of Newark, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kalloway and child, of Stelton, have been visiting Mrs. Kalloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coddington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gere and family are spending July and August with Mrs. Frank Hosinger, of Park avenue.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the library rooms.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A faithful friend, a horse belonging to J. H. Jones, died yesterday of old age, being about thirty-two years old. In its younger days it belonged to the late Isaac Soper and for a long period traveled between here and Plainfield on a milk route. After Mr. Soper died Mr. Jones bought the animal and no doubt its life was prolonged by his kind care and good treatment.

The heavy rain of yesterday laid whole fields of corn flat in this vicinity, but as it has not yet eared, and is not very heavy, it will doubtless all straighten up.

In the runaway in which the son of John Geary was badly shaken up, he did not break his leg as was stated in the Courier-News.

The Historic Hudson.

The Hudson River has a renowned reputation in more ways than one. Its business interests are more widely known than any other stream, while for excursions and outings it has no equal. There are sights galore—the palisades—the U. S. Military Academy at West Point—the far famed State Prison at Sing Sing and interesting Newburg. The scenery in every direction is superb, and the steamers which convey the excursionists are commodious and comfortable. On July 26, 1906, the New Jersey Central is going to run one of its popular low-rate excursions up the Hudson, the rate for the round trip to be $1, children 50 cents, and special train leaving Plainfield at 8:46 a. m., will connect at Jersey City station with famous steamer "St. John's" for the trip. Don't forget date or train time.

—Louis Eaton, formerly of the Sabbath Recorder, but now of New York, has been visiting friends in town.

—Having about completed the work of laying new rails and ties in Watchung avenue, between Front street and the Watchung avenue stand, the same improvement will be made by the Public Service Corporation on Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, from the railroad.

The New York Herald's list of American tourists registered at the Paris office on Tuesday includes the names of Mr. and Mrs. Durell Lounsbury, of East Seventh street, and Mrs. Joseph Robinson, of this city.

July Furniture Sale.

An actual saving of at least 10 per cent. is being made by every one who buys furniture or bedding here this month. In many instances you save 25 to 30 per cent. and everything is up to the store's high standard---nothing bought specially for the sale; no furniture of the sort that finds its way from the factories to a good many stores for "special" selling in August---hastily made, carelessly put together stuff that HAHNE & CO. wouldn't or couldn't sell.

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

Cool Summer Clothes For Particular Men.

The Marshall & Ball Store, in all its history of nearly 50 years as manufacturing clothiers, has never been so fully prepared to meet every demand of the particular dresser in his Summer apparel.

Here is clothing at once suggestive of Summer comfort and individuality combined, for both the vacationer and the stay-at-home. And yet our prices are unusually attractive.

Blue Serge Suits.....$12.00 to $25.00 Two-piece Outing Suits.....$10.00 to $14.00
White Duck Trousers .....$1.50 Flannel Outing Trousers.....$3.00 to $6.00

$3.50 and $4 Summer Shoes at $2.65.

These are broken lines that have turned up in our July Inventory. They're mostly Oxfords, in different leathers; some high shoes, in button, lace and blucher. Men realize that this is an unusual chance and are making the most of it. However, you'll find a size and style to suit you if you don't delay.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

For the best mined anthracite coal place your order with Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue. Price is low as the lowest.

A. H. Enander, the Watchung avenue sanitary plumber, does but one kind of work—the best. His prices are within reason.

A. M. Harper, the Park avenue stationer, also deals in newspapers, books, magazines and periodicals. Leave your orders at the store and they will be delivered.

S. Hirsch, the Watchung avenue women's tailor, understands every detail of the business and guarantees satisfaction at all times. He solicits a share of public patronage.

Buy your groceries of R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue dealer, and you are sure to get the best in the market without paying high prices. Barnes makes a specialty of fruits and vegetables in season.

Health authorities all over the country are discussing the milk question, but if you trade at the Brokaw creamery on East Front street, you will never have to worry about the purity of the milk, butter, eggs and cream.

Music from a phonograph helps out things on a summer evening and keeps the entire family cool and contented. If your home is without a machine, look over the large assortment at H. K. Lister's North avenue store—all styles, all sizes.

This is the season for white goods and other light materials for dress goods. A. E. Force & Co., proprietors of "The White Store," has just what you want in these lines and at such low prices that everyone can afford them. The millinery department is also showing a fine line of warm weather hats, while in the housefurnishing goods line the stock is complete.

The development of Highland Park by E. M. French & Co. has proved to be one of the largest real estate transactions in Plainfield in a long time and also one of the most important. The entire park is now being built up and handsome homes are everywhere on the premises. The lots have almost doubled in value since work was started and the few remaining unsold are being bought up fast.

M'QUEEN PARDON REFUSED.

Court Decides Against Clemency for Paterson Anarchist.

Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, July 19.—New Jersey's Court of Pardons held a session here yesterday, all the members being present except Chancellor Magie and Judge Dill. In all, sixty-nine cases were before the court, twenty-two of which were dismissed without being considered, at the recommendation of a committee.

The principal cases brought up were those of William McQueen, the Paterson anarchist; John P. Murphy, of Trenton; Charles Burns, of Atlantic county, and William D. Robinson, of Camden. Robinson was the only one of these paroled. He was sentenced in May, 1896, and has served ten years. The Murphy and Burns cases were laid over.

McQueen was sentenced in 1902, from Paterson, for a term of five years, for inciting the silk riots at the time of the big strike in that city. He appealed to the court through the Rev. Alfred Wishart, of Trenton, for a parole, but the court decided not to grant the request.

Philadelphia Record.

The fact that a good thing is never wasted on the public is strikingly illustrated by the increasing popularity of "The Philadelphia Record." True merit is always appreciated if backed by enterprise, whether it be in a cake of soap or in a newspaper. The spurious article, or the one that is not up to a competitive standard is soon left behind in the race for popular favor. There are older newspapers than "The Record," and papers that have shot upward like skyrockets, with a flash of ephemeral brilliancy, only to come down again like charred sticks. But "The Record" has advanced steadily and irresistably year by year since twenty-nine years ago it set the pace as the pioneer one cent paper of America. Since then it has never retrograded; it has never even stood still, and today its circulation exceeds that of any other newspaper published in the State of Pennsylvania, with an influence that is felt all over the country. Continued success is never accidental. It is possible to stumble into luck as one stumbles into a hornet's nest, with just about as much chance of winning out in the end. But luck has never entered into the success of "The Record." That success has been due to a keen insight directed toward the public mind, an ability to see at a glance what the public wanted in the way of a newspaper, and then to supply that want. "The Record" has never attempted to force down the public's throat a style of journalism that was inherently distasteful to it.

—Fred Dunavan, of L. W. Randolph's pharmacy, will spend his vacation at Portland, Me. He will leave August 1.

—With a large force of mechanics at work the contractor expects to complete C. W. McCutchen's new building in Park avenue by the middle of August.

And the Governor says it is not true. He's only courting a Senatorial boom.

Even with a hired battery, the cops fell prey to the scribes on Crescent Oval. The score, seven to four in favor of the newspaper men, tells the sad tale that took all the pride out of Kiely's colts.

When the Elks meet at Philadelphia in 1907 they will learn the true meaning of the word "hospitality." New York is all right when it comes to entertaining some prince or other foreign nabob, but the Quaker City has it beat a mile for genuine receptions to people of our own land.

Auto Express As An Ambulance.

Hoboken, July 19.—In order to save time and to get immediate attention to the injuries of John Kitty, thirty-nine years old, a pipe fitter, of 50 Laidlaw avenue, Jersey City, an automobile truck of the United States Express Company was pressed into service as an ambulance here Tuesday night. Ketty was riding from Newark to Hoboken on top of a Lackawanna freight car. When in the yards at Hoboken the crossing of a switch by the train jolted Ketty off. His right ankle was broken and his head severely cut. Patrolman Gerhardt, who was called, pressed the auto into service to take the injured man to St. Mary's Hospital.

Drowns in Green Pond.

Morristown, N. J., July 19.—Thomas Duke, 18 years old, of Elizabeth, was drowned in Green Pond yesterday morning. The young man had been camping at the lake with a party of friends. While out rowing with two companions teh three dived from the boat, intending to swim to the shore. Duke had gone but a short distance when he cried for help and then sank. The body was recovered.

YOUNG MAN'S SKIRMISH WITH A BULL AT NIGHT.

By Flashing Bicycle Lamp Rays In Animals' Eyes, Telegraph Operator Escapes.

Bound Brook, July 19.—Thomas Fagan, telegraph operator at the Lehigh Valley Railroad signal tower, near Hillsboro, had an exciting experience with a bull Tuesday night.

Fagan works an eight-hour sift at the signal tower and is usually through his work at 11 o'clock at night. His home is near Somerville and as a rule he travels to and from his work on a bicycle. Tuesday night the roads were so muddy after the rainstorm that he could not ride his wheel, and in order to save time he took a short cut across the meadows in the direction of Finderne, carrying the wheel on his shoulder.

He had crossed three fields and was entering a fourth on the Riverside stock farm when his first misfortune befell him. He stumbled and fell over a cow that was lying in the field. The wheel went one way and he landed on his face beside the cow. Fagan picked himself up in a hurry to see what had caused his downfall. The cow, which wore a bell on her neck, got curious about the same time and, rising, ran off in an opposite direction, with the bell clanging at every step she took.

Fagan finally located his wheel, and after paying his respects to all kinds of cattle, particularly to the cow over which he had fallen, started on his way for home. He had not gone far when he heard the bellowing of a bull in the direction in which the cow had disappeared

Fagan continued on his way until the bellows of the bull seemed to be getting near enough to cause apprehension. Reaching an apple tree, Fagan decided to proceed no farther in the open until he had located the approaching bull. To reach the fence bordering the next field would necessitate his going into an open space for quite a distance, and he remained standing beside the tree for a few minutes. The bellowing of the bull had stopped and Fagan began to feel easier.

It was very dark and he decided to light the lamp on his wheel. He had no sooner done this and started across the field than he heard the bull close behind him. For a few moments he was almost paralyzed with fright. Suddenly an idea came to his mind and he snatched the lamp from the wheel, throwing the machine in the grass. With the lamp in his hand he made a dash for the fence, three hundred yards away.

The bull, a Holstein, proved to be the speedier, however, and as Fagan realized he could not reach the fence, he turned suddenly around, and facing the bull, turned the rays of the carbide gas lamp directly in the animal's eyes. The bright light blinded the bull, and it turned its head to escape the piercing glare. Fagan walked a short time backward, then covered the face of the lamp, and at every attempt the bull made to run him down he suddenly flashed the light in the animal's eyes.

In this way he was able to reach the next field, leaving the bull at the fence roaring and tearing up the earth with his hoofs.

THOUSANDS SEE A RESCUE.

Life Savers Take Four from Abandoned Schooner.

Atlantic City, July 19.—Thousands lined the beach yesterday to see Capt. Parker of the Government life-saving station and a volunteer crew row through a heavy surf and save Capt. Johnson and his crew of three men on board the fishing schooner Loraine, which struck on a bar coming into the inlet this morning.

As the Loraine struck the sand a heavy sea dashed over the vessel with such furry that Capt. Johnson and his crew lashed themselves to the rigging. A pleasure craft attempted a rescue but was unsuccessful. Then Capt. Parker called for volunteers in the absence of the regular life-saving crew, which doesn't exist during the summer months, and pulled to the disabled schooner. As Parker and the rescued men landed on the beach a hearty cheer went up for the volunteers.

AN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Charles N. Hartshorne, a Lawyer, Suffers Two Broken Ribs.

Paterson, July 19.—Charles H. Hartshorne, of the Jersey City law firm of Hartshorne, Insley & Leake, accompanied by his partner, Eugene W. Leake, and Miss Marion Paige, were driving in a touring car on the Valley Road from Montclair to Paterson Wednesday night. ear Lambert's Castle, on Garret Mountain, the car swerved and ran into a telegraph pole.

All three were thrown but, and two of Mr. Hartshorne's ribs were broken. He was removed to his home, in Montclair. Miss Paige and Mr. Leake were not seriously injured.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

LIVED IN CELLAR OF THEIR OLD HOME.

Thomas and Catherine Gray, Once Well to Do, Sent Together to Penitentiary.

Thomas and Catherine Gray, of Jersey City, were yesterday committed to the penitentiary for sixty days each by Acting Police Justice Miller on charge of neglecting their four-year-old daughter. They were found living in the cellar of No. 272 Thirteenth street and were sleeping in a coal bin.

Five years ago Gray owned the house in the cellar of which he had lately made his home, and also the house adjoining. Then he and his wife both contracted the drinking habit and soon they had wasted all their property, and although friends tried to help them, their efforts were useless. Finally the two houses, which had been mortgaged to their full value, were sold under foreclosure proceedings. Two children who were old enough to help themselves ran away and are said to have found work and homes in New York.

Gray and his wife having no other resource took refuge in the cellar, with their youngest child. They lived there, practically subsisting on charity, until the attention of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was called to the case, and their arrest followed. The society will take care of the child.

"GAS" BURGLAR STILL AT WORK IN NEWARK.

The "gas" burglar is still at work in Newark and for the fifth time within a few months life has been imperilled by his acts. In every case he has entered a house by a rear window and has turned on the unlighted gas in a girl's or young woman's sleeping room.

Early yesterday the life of Janet, seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Wm. C. Ward, of No. 662 Clinton avenue, Newark, was imperilled. The burglar was frightened away by the awakening of Mrs. Ward before he had taken anything.

Mrs. Ward, hearing a noise in Janet's room, at first thought the noise was made by her husband returning home late. Then she arose from bed, smelled gas and traced it to Janet's room where she found two jets open. She was just in time, as the gas had already affected the girl and was slowly asphyxiating her. Subsequent investigations disclosed that a burglar had been in the house.

MRS. HORN VAGUELY TELLS HER ADVENTURES.

Mrs. Henrietta Horn, of No. 114 Peshine avenue, Newark, who strangely disappeared last Saturday night and returned home Tuesday morning on the verge of collapse, recovered sufficiently yesterday to give a vague account of her wanderings. She said that after she left her sister's home, near midnight, a man followed her, and in a fright she ran. He ran after her, increasing her fright, and she has a vague recollection of then dropping her purse.

What followed she remembers only in a disconected way. She recalls sitting for a long time in a park and conversing with a woman, who said she lived in Elizabeth. Afterward her mind became a blank, except that it dwelt on her children. She can not remember how she retraced her steps homeward.

Dr. Cummings, who is attending Mrs. Horn, said yesterday that she was in a serious state from nervous collapse.

FOLK TALKS ADVERTISING.

Tells Missouri Merchants to Support the Newspapers.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 19.—Governor Joseph W. Folk, in addressing the retail merchants of Missouri at their convention here Tuesday, spoke against the mail order business and favored advertising in the town papers. He said in part:

"We are proud of our splendid cities, and we want them to increase in wealth and population, and we also want our country towns to grow. We wish the city merchants to build up, but we also desire the country merchants to prosper. I do not believe in the mail order citizen. If a place is good enough for a man to live in and to make his money in, it is good enough for him to spend his money.

"No merchant can succeed without advertising in one way or another. Patronize your town papers, build them and they will build the town up and build you up increased trade and greater opportunities. Do not be afraid that business is going to be hurt by the recent exposures of wrongdoing in the commercial world. No man who is doing an honest business can be injured by the light. All business will be better for the cleansing process it is going through and for the stamping out of evil."

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

NOTE—The Constitutionalist, the weekly edition of The Daily Press, is now in its thirty-ninth year, its first issue appearing on January 2, 1868. W. L. and A. L. Force were then the proprietors, since the former's death it has been conducted solely by A. L. Force.

Newspapers afford good pictures of their times. They are, really, the canvases on which the current events and the habits and thoughts of the people sketch themselves. The Plainfieider in search of old pictures of his town may find excellent likenesses in the early numbers of The Constitutionalist.

The first thing that strikes one in going over the old weekly is the vast difference in the point of view maintained by the public—as evinced by its faithful reflector, the newspaper—in those days and the present time of grace. It is largely an amusing difference, sobered a bit by the thought that the things we think and the way we express them will probably be twice as amusing to the people of the next century.

The Constitutionalist made its first appearance in 1868. In the salutatory—no paper started in those days without a fine, rounded salutatory—The Constitutionalist said, among other things: "We intend making the Constitutionalist deserving of public support, and now respectfully solicit general patronage on behalf of our subscription list. The kindness will be appreciated if every person who desires to become a subscriber will send in his or her name and address at once." It will be noted that the hurry-up spirit was active in journalism and in Plainfield even in those days. Subscriptions were not to be held in gentle dalliance until next month, or even next week.

The Constitutionalist was not started in a spirit of wavering doubt. It possessed a robust spirit, and breathed it defiantly with its first breath. Witness this full-blooded editorial, rich with the suggestion of ruggedness that marked the days when the Ink-Slinger was a roaring lion in defense of his own opinions and freely consigned those who held others to places only mentioned in a whisper in these softened days:

"Our Position."

"The political character of the Constitutionalist will be honest and undisguised. We disclaim all relationship with the half-fish, half-flesh style of journalism. We despise that charlatanism which strives to encompass the feat of riding two nags at the same time, or of carrying water on both shoulders. We have no respect for a visage white on one side and black on the other. We detest hyprocrisy, we abhor venality.

"In this country, freedom of speech and of the press are constitutional prerogatives. Such we shall defend as jewels of rare value, but at the same time, frown indignantly upon anything that partakes of licentiousness, whether of the tongue or pen. The public sayings and actions of men in authority or aspirants for office, from president to constable, from senate to town committee, are public property, and fairly open to criticism. Those we shall review without fear, favor or affection, and if at times severely, with a constant regard for truth and propriety of language. The sanctity of private life shall never be invaded by us.

"We shall zealously support the principles, measures and candidates of the Democratic party, because we conscientiously believe they represent the practical well-being of the people and the permanent renown of the American Republic."

Wasn't that calculated to put heart in the Democratic party?

Local news items were not as common in the paper in '68 as they are in The Daily Press. Naturally, there were some, and not without humor. An item in the first number indicates that Dunellen nearly had another name:

"Ere long the time-honored name Scotch Plains will disappear from the vocabulary of the Central Railroad. The new station is to be called Fanwood. New Market is also to be eclipsed by the poetic appellation of Glenallen."

But the absence of news didn't effect the amour propre of the man on the desk. He merely ran this at the head of the local news column, and looked pleased with himself:

"Our present local column must necessarily be limited, because of a dearth of incidents to record. Happily, our beautiful village has been exempt from startling accidents or stirring events, and it is not our province to serve up fiction for fact."

The platform of the Democratic party was printed at the head of the editorial page. It calls for "No displacement of civil by military authority"—an evident echo of the great strife that had just ended. "No legislation for any interest at the expense of the people's general interests" was another plank; it smacks of latter-day anti-trust protests, "No bribery and corruption at elections or in legislative halls" was another; that also has a current air.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

One of the earliest of the season's offerings at the New Plainfield theatre will be the Victor Herbert-Glen McDonough musical success, "Wonderland." The cast will be headed by the diminutive comedian, Sam Chip, and dainty Mary Marble, who was seen in Plainfield in other days in the Hoyt farces.

Fred Bennett, stage manager of the New Plainfield, who makes his home in Elizabeth, is responsible for the following story at the expense of an actor friend of his who has a habit of walking in his sleep:

"The other night a policeman overhauled L——— as he was walking down Broad street, clad only in his night shirt. The cop soon awakened the actor with his club and started to take him to the station, when L——— said with indignation,

"Surely you are not going to lock me up?"

"Surest thing you know!" airily responded the bluecoat.

"But, man I can't be held responsible for the predicament you find me in! I am a sonambulist!"

"Sure, it makes no difference what church ye belong to," returned the officer, "ye can't parade the streets of Elizabeth in your nighty."

Following a custom that has existed since the opening of the Empire theatre, John Drew will be the first attraction of the season at New York's beautiful theatre. He will be seen this year in A. W. Pinero's play, "His House in Order," now the success of the London season. Margaret Illington will be Mr. Drew's leading lady.

An East Side roof garden as presented in A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie," the melodrama eclipse which is set down for the opening at the New Plainfield theatre on July 28 enjoys the distinction of being an altogether novel venture in scenic appointment for the stage, as it conveys an excellent idea of how a large percentage of the New York population find night amusements and at the same time suggests a phase of life heretofore not touched upon by the prolific writers of popular plays.

A JERSEY POOH-BAH.

Morristown, N. J., July 19.—Though he holds six appointive offices, Assemblyman John M. Mills, of this city, was yesterday appointed a member of the Election Board. Mr. Mills is a machine man. He is a protege of State Committeeman Daniel S. Voorhees, Republican leader in this county. Several prominent Republicans were turned down. This action, it is said, has strengthened the Colby movement here.

Mills is now counsel for the sheriff, secretary of the county, tax commissioner, counsel for Morris township, Mount Arlington Borough, and Randolph township. He was a candidate for counsel of the Board of Freeholders, but was defeated.

Campbell's Dog Came Back.

Despite the severe assertions made by Ambrose Campbell of borough fire headquarters that "Freck," his white bull dog, had been stolen, the trouble seems to have been with Ambrose himself. The dog was not unfastened from his chain, but merely slipped his moorings, when imperfectly fastened by the fireman after supper last evening. The animal was captured by his owner wandering around on Somerset street late last evening and is now fastened up in safety. Ambrose's anger has cooled suddenly.

Wouldn't Keep on His Clothes.

Paterson, July 19.—John C. Heenan, an old man, could not be arraigned in the police court Tuesday for the reason that he stripped himself of his clothing and threw off the garments every time they were replaced by the police. Patrolman O'Brien found the man in Clay street and took him in as a lunatic. At other times the old man showed evidences of an unbalanced mind and his condition will be looked into by County Physician McBride. He is a nephew of John C. Heenan, years ago a prize-fighter.

Lay In Agony In Signal Tower.

Trenton, July 19.—Bruised and bleeding from cuts all over his body, one leg broken and an arm fractured in three places, Elmer Horton, a Pennsylvania Railroad employe, lay in a switch tower suffering for nearly an hour Tuesday before medical attention could be obtained for him. hTe man was oiling a switch near Clinton Street station, whe he was struck by a locomotive and hurled fifteen feet into a ditch. The man was finally taken to Mercer Hospital, where his condition was pronounced very serious.

COAL DEALERS' CERTIORARI.

Hearing in Case of Elizabeth Firm Whose Bid Was Rejected.

Elizabeth, July 19.—Testimony was taken before Supreme Court Commissioner Foster M. Voorhees here yesterday in the matter of the certiorari proceedings brought by the firm of Jacobson & Co., coal dealers, of this city, against the Board of Education. The testimony of the Board of Education was to the effect that it had evidence that the firm of Jacobson & Son was not a responsible firm. The members of the board believed that they were justfied in refusing to award the contract for supplying coal to the schools, although the firm was the lowest bidder, because the firm offered to sell coal to the city at a price lower than that for which some of the other dealers alleged they could have it shipped here. The firm of Jacobson & Son, on the other hand, claimed that the firm was able, through a special means which it did not care to divulge at this time, to secure coal at cheaper rates than the other dealers, and, what is more, could deliver better coal than other local dealers. The testimony consumed much space in detailing the various grades of coal.

A point which the prosecution made was that Section 53 of the school laws, approved by a special session of the Legislature on October 15, 1903, states that "bids shall be awarded to the lowest bidder" and that the Board of Education's action in throwing out that firm's bid was illegal and unjustified, in that the firm was the lowest bidder. The fact that the advertisement of the Board of Education in calling for bids stated that "the board reserved the right to reject any or all bids," the prosecution held, did not hold in law, for no provision is made in the law for the rejection of bids. The law states explicitly that the contracts must be awarded to the lowest bidder. City Attorney Connolly objected to this upon the ground that the board has the right to throw out bids which appear to be irregular.

FIGHT FIRE INSURANCE TRUST.

Paterson and Philadelphia Men Plan Formation of New Company.

Paterson, July 19.—Paterson and Philadelphia capitalists are planning to form a fire insurance corporation in opposition to the insurance trust, which has been exceptionally severe on Paterson since the big fire in 1902. The new company will have general offices in Philadelphia and a home office in Paterson, as it will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey.

James Ober, of Philadelphia, is one of the largest stockholders, and associated with him are James McGill, of Philadelphia, and Julius Schwab, Leopold and Adolph Meyer, Nathan Barnert and Jacob Haeberle, of Paterson. The company will have a capital of $1,000,000 and a reserve fund of $1,000,000.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 22.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Christ's Life VII. How Christ prayed and how we should pray.—Matt. xiv, 23; xxvi, 36-44.

There is nothing more impressive in the life of Christ than His habit of prayer. If a sinless humanity, linked to divinity, needed to hold communion with God, how much more does a weak and sinful humanity need "to carry everything to God in prayer!" Why Christ prayed need be no question of ours. The reason for His praying may be left with Himself, while we address ourselves to the great and important fact that He did pray. That He prayed is abundantly evident from the testimony of the Scriptural histories of His life. This is all we need to know in order to find in Him an example and an inspiration to prayer. God tells us all we need to know and keeps the rest to Himself, and he is a foolish man indeed who spends his time in trying to pry into the "secret things of God," while at the same time he fails to profit by "the things that have been revealed." Christ prayed. That is sufficient for the practical purposes of our lives. His example teaches us to pray, and His methods in prayer may well be taken as our models.

Prayer with Christ meant, for one thing, petition. He asked God for power to raise Lazarus from the dead, and before the event He said, "Father, I thank Thee that Thou hast heard Me, and I know that Thou hearest Me always." He prayed for Simon Peter and in so doing won a victory over Satan, who had also asked for Peter. In His intercessary prayer He prayed for the disciples and for His church, especially for its unity. In the garden of Gethsemane He prayed for Himself, yet in full submission to the will of God. It is our privilege and duty also to come to God with requests, and we also have the assurance that our petitions will be granted. "Ask and ye shall receive." We, like Christ, should pray for power to do the work of God; we, like Him, should pray for the safety of those nearest and dearest to us, and not only for them, but for the church universal and for the world; like Him, we should also pray for ourselves, but always in the fullest submission to the will of God. "Not my will, but Thine, be done." God knows what is best for us, and whether He gives or withholds it is for our good. What seems to us good may really be ill, and what seems to our limited vision adversity may be a blessing. Let us be thankful, therefore, that we have One who does know what is best and is interested enough in us to decide the question for us.

Prayer with Christ meant spiritual communion with God. It was His custom to go apart and spend nights in prayer, alone with God. We cannot think that these hours in the silent night were given up to requests. The more probable theory is that these silent hours were spent in communion with God. He was a Son absent from His Father's house, and it needs no imagination to realize that He would frequently seek fellowship and communion with His Father. Nor should our prayers be limited to petition. God is also our heavenly Father. Heaven is our home. We also are away from home and need to "speak oft with our Lord," with God, our Father. We are spirit as He is spirit, and we should rejoice in the possibility of fellowship with God and should hold communion with Him, as child with parent, as friend with friend, as created beings with their Creator.

Every phase of prayer is illustrated in Christ's life of prayer. He addressed God reverently as His Father. He prayed in secret and in public. He prayed amid the duties and cares of everyday life, and in the great crises of His life He gave hours to prayer. As He prayed let us pray, and we will make no mistakes in our praying, and God will hear us.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lv, 1-6; Ps. vi, 9; Matt. vi, 5-13; Luke xviii, 1-14; John xi, 41, 42; xiv, 12-15; Eph. vi, 18; Phil. iv, 6; Col. iv, 2; I Tim. ii, 1-8.

More Young Men.

Secretary Chaplin of the British Christian Endeavor union recently took a census of 3,000 societies and discovered that 40 per cent of the members were young men—"a far greater percentage of male members," he asserts, "than the churches would show."

A Seed Bed.

"The seed bed of the church is Junior Christian Endeavor," said the Rev. Mr. Wynkoop in the Christian Endeavor conference at Landour, India.

Endeavor.

"Endeavor" is the watchword of the present age; it will be increasingly the watchword of the new.

O Christ, I will endeavor
To serve Thee day by day!
Help me to make Thee ever
My Life, my Truth, my Way.

Strive, endeavor; it profits more
To fight and fall than on Time's dull shore
To sit and idle ever.
For to him who bares his arm to the strife
Firm at his post in the battle of life
The victory faileth never;
Therefore in faith abide.

* * * * * * *

Abide thou and endeavor.

"Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do * * * and that throughout my whole life I will endeavor, by His grace, to lead a Christian life."

O Jesus, I have promised
To serve Thee to the end;
Be Thou forever near me,
My Master and my Friend.
I shall not fear the battle
If Thou art at my side
Nor wander from the pathway
If Thou wilt be my guide.

HEALTHY PLANTS
Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.
Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.
A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.
You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.
You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.
You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

July 22: "How Brethren Can Help Each Other: In the Christian Life, In Everyday Affairs"—Gal. vi, 10; I Cor. vi, 1-7; Lev. xxv, 35, 47-49; Acts iv, 32-37; xi, 27-30; Heb. x, 24; xiii, 15-17; Jas. v, 16-19.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Unless people helped each other it would be impossible to live. That is stating the fact very strongly, but not more so than is warranted by the facts.

Did you ever when sitting at the dinner table consider what a countless army had worked to put that food on the table for you? Try it sometimes. Leave out no one. Begin with the dishes. Do not stop with waiters who placed them, but trace back through all salesmen and transportation to the workmen who shaped and decorated them. Include in your estimate all laborers who tended cattle, raised vegetables, grew tea and coffee, made vessels and railroads, and you have a task taxing the most active imagination. Yet all this is sober fact. All these and multitudes you do not count have worked to put that dinner on your plate. Complicated indeed is this civilized life.

Apply the test to the Christian life, and the lesson is not less emphatic and impressive.

Begin with the Bible. How many have worked and died to bring that precious volume to you? Scan what Christian literature you know, and how the field enlarges! Enter the church and in the service which gives you comfort and uplifts consider how many have labored to make it possible—what architects, builders, decorators, musicians and fellow worshipers as well as preachers!

Surely we have had many helpers!

What can we do to help others?

Much in every way by simple fidelity to everyday duty. Whatever your position in life do the duty of that position in the very best possible manner and it will hold the world together. Neglect the duty and however insignificant it may have seemed, something—many things—will suffer.

Beyond this, carry a cheerful heart and sunny face and joyous tongue. Be sunny inside and let it shine out. Better this than vain efforts to be great and wise and powerful.

When you see a person in any need, whether of cheer, advice, counsel or cash, consider carefully his condition and yourself and see if you cannot help him. See how best to do it. It will take more than a sympathetic impulse.

Whatever else you give or fail to give you can and should give him a brother's interest. That is worth more than bank accounts or long moral dissertations. Have a heart and don't be afraid to show it. But don't spend all your strength in crying over the poor fellow. After awhile tears become wearisome. Have some grit, some grip to the hand and help pull him out of the hole into which he has fallen. But be careful that you pull the right way. Use some brain power about it. An ounce of muscle backed by a pound of brain is better than a ton of muscle with an ounce of brain.

Love Above Liking.

"One of the most reassuring thoughts about life," said a man whose duties called him into association with all sorts of things and people, "is that you do not have to like the things and people with whom you find yourself in contact. Nowhere in all the tests applied in Scripture to Christian character do I find a word about liking or disliking people or work. Neither will you find yourself called upon to resent insults, for this type of mind is of the charity which 'thinketh no evil,' is not easily provoked' and gains its dignity by ignoring rather than by resenting those seeming slights or abuses which in others are oftener faults of manner than intentional injury."

Love is not liking. It may or it may not be associated with liking, but liking is of no particular consequence. Love is the thing of consequence, says Forward. And Love is simply the will to serve men for the sake of God. Perhaps those who most need our love are those most uncongenial to us. It was so with Christ. The Pure One came into a world of sin and shame and uncleanness. It was love, not liking, that brought Him. Love brought Him where everything was most unlike Him. True character is not loving only. It is lofty. The petty things cannot reach it. It is not seeking its own, and the taking away of its own cannot destroy it. It asks nothing from others and is therefore unchanged when it receives nothing or receives unlovely return. It is such love as this that makes us free.

Giving to the Lord.

There is always the practical question of how much we should give. In order to be always assured against giving too little, Paul advises the setting aside of a proportion. Undoubtedly he would have said that one-tenth is quite little enough. And then we ought to cultivate loving hearts to tell us in the presence of need when still a larger share ought to be given. Let us pledge ourselves never to ignore evident need, no matter what our own circumstances are.—Nolan R. Best.

Sacrifice.

The road of progress is a road of pain
That's stained by blood of martyrs.
Though the height
Beyond is crowned with glory infinite,
Around us are the corpses of the slain,
The heroes sacrificed to greed and gain,
The men who dared for the oppressed to fight,
Who stood for justice, liberty and right,
The God led rebels against custom's reign.
And yet the armies led by Mammon's might
Before the hosts of Truth are swept away,
Above the shadows of the human night
The dawn of ages now is growing gray,
The earth sweeps on into the sweeter light,
The glory of the long expected day.
—J. A. Edgerton in Ram's Horn.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

FASHION TIPS.

The low shoes of brown suede are particularly pretty.

There are fetching shoes, too, of moss-green canvas.

After the wave of violently colored hats there is a reaction in favor of all-black millinery.

Amber combs are much worn, and the girl with blonde hair can't do better than to do it high and top it with a high-backed comb of this material.

The girls are wearing openwork bands of filagree gold or silver, something like dogcollar, outside the stocks of their lingerie waists.

It's a new idea to lace your Oxford tie from the top down, the bow of the broad ribbon resting on the vamp of the shoe.

A HINT ON BELTS.

Under the bolero, which forms the top of so many tailor-made dresses, a deep and well-fitted belt is indispensible.

It is the leading point in the evening Empire frock.

To meet the necessities of the blouse and skirt, a well-fitting belt is important.

For morning dresses of serge or cloth, and for blouses and skirts, patent-leather belts are fashionable, and so are dull-faced kid.

For afternoon wear the belts obtainable are some of them as carefully fitted and heavily boned as if they were corsets.

One of these, if you are lucky enough to have a figure of stock size so that you can be fitted, will give great smartness to a plain muslin gown.

A pair of well-chosen buckles will often suffice to produce a very smart effect with plain ribbon for the belt that they hold.

SALT.

Put a pinch of salt in whites of eggs when beating them; also use it when whipping cream.

Put salt in cold water when you wish to cool a dish.

Put salt in whitewash to make it stick.

Use salt in cleaning piano keys, knife handles and glass spotted by hard water.

Salt dissolved in alcohol will remove grease stains from clothing.

To make a candle burn all night put finely powdered salt on it until the salt reaches the black part of the wick. In this way a mild and steady light may be kept all through the night by a small piece of candle.

AFTER THE DANCE.

Good-by * * *
I shall regret you;
To love you, dear, is vain;
I never should have met you.
Good-by * * *
And so I must forget you
Till you come back again.

Good-by * * *
I say it sadly,
You do not understand,
Your answer rings so gladly
"Good-by!"—
And yet my heart beats madly
Because you take my hand.

How near the cold Dawn hovers,
Her hooded silver head
Too swiftly she uncovers.
Good-by * * *
Oh, friend, we might be lovers
If one brave word were said.
—Olive Custance in Phila. Telegram.

To Wash Comfortable.

Examine the comfortable, and if you find soiled spots soap them and scrub with a small brush. Hang the comfortable on a strong line and turn the hose on. When one side is washed, turn the wash the other. The water forces its way through cotton and covering, making the comfortable as light and fluffy as when new. Squeeze the corners and ends as dry as possible.

Had to Guess Again.

A doctor was waited upon by a patient who confessed to playing in in a local brass band. Shortness of breath was the trouble in his case. "Ah, that accounts for it," said the medical man. "That brass band is the very worst thing for you. You'll have to give it up at once—what instrument do you play?" "The big drum," came the unexpected answer.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

CHAPTER I.

It was an odd, weather-beaten craft—a miniature ark which, on a December morning in 1806, pushed its ungainly way to shore and moored at a small island in the Ohio.

From it a dozen young men disembarked. They were armed with rifles, but wore civilian dress which, rough and showing the stains of travel, was out of keeping with their jaunty air and gallant bearing. There was, too, an air of suppressed excitement—almost of stealth—in their movements as, the boat safely tied, they fell into line, and, skirting the briary tangle that surrounded the beach, went up through groves and fields to a garden.

Here the company paused. Through the vista of bare trees, a-sparkle with frost, they could see the house. It was a low, broad dwelling, its wide piazza extending from wing to wing, like arms hospitably outstretched.

But the inviting porch, the smoke beckoning from the chimney, were the only signs of welcome. For everywhere about the place were marks of recent ruin. The newcomers stood aghast to see havoc in every quarter. Shrub, lattice and fountain had been wrecked, it seemed in sheer wantonness of spirit, and through the open windows they caught glimpses of the desecration and pillage that had been wrought within doors.

The cause of all this vandalism was not far to seek. On every step, on every garden seat, lounged a soldier, and this mansion seemed surrounded, possessed, by a noisy, brawling crowd of militia men.

The visitors had barely time to note this when they, too, were observed.

"Halt!" was the command of a sentry on guard near, and a dozen or more soldiers rushed to the rescue.

In the midst of the altercation which followed a lieutenant of the militia strode up with an air of authority.

Two or three privates, the worse for liquor, began a noisy explanation, but the superior officer stopped them.

"Who are you and what is your business here?"

The man addressed was of medium height, but so spare of flesh that he seemed tall. Out of his long face, blazing eyes and white, prominent teeth shone conspicuously. He had not yet spoken, but his undaunted behavior and calm air of superiority attracted the officer's attention.

This latter repeated the question insolently.

"Who are you and what is your business here?"

The other advanced slowly and surveyed him in silence. Then:

"For the first, sir, we are American gentlemen; for the second—you are right in speaking of it as our business."

"I know who they are, lieutenant; it's a gang o' the same sort as gave us the slip last night. I'll warrant these calculate to jine the others."

His superior officer smiled mockingly.

"Ah, I see; then I have the honor, perhaps, to address the future emperor of Mexico, or the president of our southwestern republic? For such, I understand, are the schemes which—"

"If you understand anything," the stranger interrupted, "you must realize that your first duty is to clear the place of this rabble."

To this the other retorted: "My first duty is to arrest you all—which I do—as conspirators against the government."

Instantly there was an uproar as the soldiers took forcible possession of the newcomers, with no show of discipline. The stranger who had been spokesman raised his voice in protest, but it was drowned in the general babel of remonstrance, mingled with the commands of the officer and the drunken shouts of his men.

But another voice made itself heard—a woman's voice. High and clear it rose above the din. There was a vision of flying draperies, and in the midst of the crowd stood a slight girl, her face pale, her eyes wide with excitement. Stooping beneath the palisade of bayonets, she raised her hands fearlessly.

"Do you call this fair play, lieutenant?" There was a short silence, then the officer spoke:

"Come away, Miss Creighton; this is no place for ladies."

"But what is the matter?"

"These men were resisting arrest."

"By what right do you arrest them?"

"By my authority as officer in charge, we came here to bring to justice Mr. Blennerhasset and his accomplices. They fled last night; these men are here evidently to join them. There is, therefore, as much reason for arresting them."

She interrupted with a slight sneer.

"You are quite right; there is quite as much reason." Here she looked at the leader of the strangers. Since her appearance he had kept silent, but now stepped forward.

"Have I the honor to address a friend of Mr. Blennerhasset?"

The slim girl, in her quaint cap and morning frock, courtsied in the center of this motley group of ruffian soldiery and dusty travelers.

"You have indeed, sir; and you?"

The lieutenant interposed with angry sarcasm: "A truce, a pretty trifling! I must insist upon an examination into the cause of your presence here. You are aware, better than I, what is your object in this attempt to join Aaron Burr and Harmon Blennerhasset in their unlawful plans."

Then as the other was about to speak: "Never mind your defense now; we'll hear it later. Burr and the owner of this estate—Harmon Blennerhasset, are charged with the project of establishing another country and another flag, where now waves the stars and stripes. I arrest you with complicity in the same. If not guilty, you will doubtless be willing to prove it."

"Anything that may bring this undignified scuffle to a close," was the reply. Then Winslow turned to his companions: "Friends, for this lady's sake, let us submit quietly."

The lady in question addressed the men, her voice a trifle high and unsteady: "I am sorry, gentlemen, for this rude greeting, but—"

"YOU WOULD DRAW UPON AN UNARMED MAN BUT EVADE A FAIR HAND-TO-HAND FIGHT. COWARD!"

"Forward, march!" interrupted the officer, and struggling, straggling, all in disorder, the crowd of soldiers and civilians disappeared within doors.

The man who had introduced himself as Winslow was the last to go. As he passed the girl he said:

"Will you present my compliments to Mrs. Blennerhasset, and arrange for an interview between us when this—this affair is over?" Before she could reply, the lieutenant swaggered up with insolent command. Winslow shrugged his shoulders. Then to her:

"Your servant, Miss Creighton, and—au revoir."

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

New York City, July 19.—Despite the tragedy which marred the opening night upon the Madison Square Garden Roof, "Mamzelle Champagne" now is swinging along in a breezy, bubbling manner, and bids fair to keep that amusement resort packed to its utmost capacity during the summer. In fact, were it not for the large number of curiosity seeking visitors to the city, who throng the roof every night and insist upon the attendants pointing out the exact spot where the great Thaw-White tragedy occurred, it almost could be said that the incident has been forgotten by the members of the company. As is usually the case with a new show in New York city, a large number of changes have been made since the opening night. Harry Short, who playing the principal comedy role, and who was upon the stage singing "I Could Love a Million Girls" at the time when the shooting on June 25th occurred, has been superceded by John Kearney, while a large portion of the dialogue, which is almost entirely lost upon a real open-air roof garden, like that on top of the Madison Square Garden, has been cut, and that which remains has been polished until the performance goes with a snap and vim suggestive of the title of the musical comedy. A number of new musical numbers have been added and as it naw stands "Mamzelle Champagne" is a most entertaining summer night's diversion.

The history of Luna Park yields no record of such tremendous patronage as this season has produced. By day and by night fun-seeking crowds have filled the great, glittering area and enjoyed the delights of the multitudinous new shows and devices. "A Mountain Torrent," Frederic Thompson's latest conception, has found immediate and lasting favor, and boat loads of delighted patrons glide down the winding waterway in endless procession. Three hundred thousand gallons of sea water are pumped up the heights each minute and descend through scores of picturesque channels. "The Great Train Robbery," a thrilling spectacle of Western life, continues a great popular centre. In vivid realism it eclipses all previous Coney Island productions. New acts appear each week in the free open-air circus over the cool stretch of the lagoon, and the crowds find comfort and diversion in the shaded nooks which overlook the continuous show. "Shoot the Chutes," "The Old Mill," the "Miniature Railway," "A Trip to the Moon," the "Dragon's Gorge" and the free helter-skelter are always centres of throngs, and the dance hall entertains by the thousand. Ten bands provide brazen melody throughout the Park.

Water from Jordan—Its Use and Price.

"Bottles of Jordan water," said a Baptist, "can usually be bought at ecclesiastical supply shops. The price is about $5 a quart.

"I was baptized in the River Jordan. Few men can claim that honor, though every royal child born in Europe for several hundreds of years has been christened with water from the holy river.

"Whenever a royal christening is expected word is sent to the Holy Land and a bottle of Jordan water is dispatched to the clergyman who is to officiate.

"The German Emperor ever since his accession has kept a cask of Jordan water in his cellar for christening purposes.

"Every now and then an American baby is christened with Jordan water. In the Vanderbilt family a number of these christenings have occurred. There are perhaps several hundred bottles of Jordan water in this country now."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TO REAR MONUMENT FOR GALLANT SOLDIERS

TWENTY-THIRD N. J. VOLUNTEERS' BRAVERY TO BE REWARDED.

Handsome, without the frailness that often accompanies beauty, stalwart, without heaviness, and simple, without the severity of plainness, will be the monument that New Jersey will erect at Salem Church Heights, Fredericksburg, in honor of the services of the gallant Twenty-third Regiment of Volunteers in the Civil War.

Plans for the monument have been decided upon and the contract for the work has been awarded by United States Marshal Thomas J. Alcott, of Mount Holly; General E. Burd Grubb, of Edgewater Park, and Elwood A. Kirkbride, of Mount Holly, the commissioners appointed by Governor Stokes in compliance with an act of the last Legislature, which appropriated $8,000 for the work.

The three members of the commission will go to Fredericksburg Tuesday and after looking over the old battlefield will pick out the exact location of the monument. The battlefield belongs to the survivors of the regiment and will be held in perpetuity as a memorial to their services in the war, it having been bought and given for the purpose by General Grubb, the commander of the famous Twenty-third during its years of active work.

The contract for the building of the monument has been awarded to a Red Bank firm, their bid being the lowest, their design the best and their articles of agreement the most advantageous offered. The shaft is to be of Barre granite, twenty-eight feet in height and with a base twenty feet square. Granite posts will support a handsome coping and a concrete walk will be laid all around the monument, four feet in width. The figure on teh top of the pedestal will be that of a private soldier in the act of loading his musket, ready to charge the enemy. Artistic numerals will indicate the years of service of the regiment and a list of the battles in which it took part will be carved on the base.

It is the present intention of the commissioners to have the monument ready for dedication this Fall, but if this cannot be accomplished the exercises will not be held until May 3, next, the anniversary of the battle of Fredericksburg. The dedicatory services will be made the occasion of a reunion of as many as possible of the survivors of the regiment, and it is expected that Governor Stokes, together with his staff and other State officials, will attend.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

During the summer months while the Sunday-school sessions are held in the morning, the morning preaching service at the First Baptist church will begin at 10:45, instead of 10:30 as during the fall and winter months.

Baseball and General Sports

DIAMOND DUST.

Every lover of high-class baseball will surely be at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, when the locals clash with the famous Philadelphia Quaker Giants. Without doubt this will be one of the star attractions of the season. Everybody has been anxious to see the Giants play, especially Monroe, who puts lots of ginger and snap in the game. The Giants are coming here to win and they will make Plainfield play the best game it knows how. The Giants will have their regular lineup and Plainfield will use its regular team, with "Phil" Smith and O'Neil in the points. The High School twirler has "made good" thus far, and fandom is anxious to see him hold the colored aggregation down. Two weeks ago he held the Cuban X Giants to three hits and if he can do as well Saturday, the chances are that the Plainfield team will win. After last Saturday's disappointment, the fans will certainly enjoy the treat scheduled for Saturday and it is predicted that the largest crowd of the year will be in attendance to root for the home nine. Wherever the Giants play they are a big drawing card and the records show that this was true last year when they played twice on the oval. It is quite an expense to bring such class teams here and it is believed that the cranks will appreciate it by turning out in large numbers. The contest will be called at 3:30 o'clock sharp.

The Elizabeth Times, half ashamed of the exhibition put up here last Saturday by the Invaders, with a pick-up team, treats the matter calmly, but suggests that if the Elizabeth team wants to make a showing for the county championship it would be wise to strengthen up before any future contests are played.

Fandom here almost to a man is against the proposition to give the Invaders a return game at Elizabeth on Saturday, July 28, or at any other time until they "make good" for the disappointment of last Saturday. The fans will not be satisfied until the Elizabeth Baseball Club comes to Plainfield with a team of the proper strength.

It is manifestly unfair for any baseball club to mislead the public from which it derives its support, and it matters little whether Manager Neubeck knew that he could not play the team as advertised, so long as President Rath gave out the information and allowed it to go uncontradicted.

It is safe to say that the fans will not follow the local team to Elizabeth to see a return game with the Invaders as they feel now and it would be a wise move to cancel such a contest if one has been scheduled.

"Red" Waller has "looped-the-loop" and taken the circuitous route in his efforts to land for a Sunday game, signing with the Elizabeth Invaders. His work was so poor with the Elizabethport Stars that Manager Frank Burke was practically compelled to release him, the team having lost several games. Now Waller is going to pitch for Manager Neubeck. There may have been a method in "Red's" work. He is so uncertain that he may have been induced to work for his release that he might join the opposition team. One of Burke's reasons for letting the auburn haired twirler go was that he could not play big league teams with him, yet Neubeck expects to do that very thing. Former Manager Denman, of Westfield, who knew "Red" as well, if not better than any other, always said that he never felt safe about the pitcher until he actually saw him on the grounds and in the box.

Charlie Atherton, piano player, son of a college president, and well known as a baseball player, has a nose as crooked as a rivulet. It is in the process of being straightened after the ninth break during his football and baseball career.

It is said that George Browne, formerly of Toronto, and for the past three years right fielder for the New York Giants, will soon figure in a deal for Catcher Mike Grady, of the St. Louis team. New York will also give a big cash consideration for Grady. The Giants are very much in need of another backstop and Grady is rated as one of the best.

Harry Gilmore has joined the Garwood Imperials. He is playing a fast game and looks like a big league comer.

GOLF.

The chief attraction at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow will be the final play for the club championship between Frank Talmadge, who defeated C. B. Morgan 2 up in the semi-final round, and Robert Abbott, who, in defeating W. Lester Glenney 5 up and 3 to play, in the semi-final round, made the low score record for the year, a 67. Both Talmadge and Abbott are in the best of condition for the finals and are at the top of their game. Whoever wins Saturday will clearly be entitled to the honors. Abbott, in view of his recent playing, is a slight favorite in the finals, although Talmadge has many warm supporters who predict that he will finish first.

Aside from the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup and the July cup and an occasional clock golf competition for women, there will be no events of special interest at the Plainfield Country Club until Saturday, September 1, when the many interesting fall events will be run off. This is according to the annual custom. So many of the members are away during the month of August that the Golf Committee wisely decides not to schedule anything special. Those who remain at home or care to can compete every Saturday for the Golf Committee cup, and thus keep up their game, besides there are a number who do not go away for any length of time and are glad to have this competition, in addition to the many social functions at the clubhouse.

The only events at the Park Golf Club Saturday will be the competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. It is expected that a number will contest for honors, although many members are away on their vacation.

Golfing will be rather quiet at the Westfield Golf Club for a few weeks during the mid-summer season. The club has a strong list of events for fall which will bring out a large field.

Plainfield Championship Tennis.

Match play in a men's singles tournament, open to all local tennis players, will be commenced at the Country Club courts Saturday, July 28. The tournament will be open to all players in Plainfield and North Plainfield and the title will be the Plainfield championship in singles. A title cup will be presented by the chairman of the Country Club committee and the club will also offer a cup to the runner-up. Entries of players outside the club, and names must be handed to T. M. Day, chairman of the tennis committee by Friday evening, July 27. Entries may be left for the chairman at 955 Hillside avenue.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Several applications will be received at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., tonight.

Grand District Deputy A. G. Barbour will install the officers-elect of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., tonight.

CAN'T GET AT TRUST.

Mayor Advised That Ice Combination Is Out of Reach.

Replying to Mayor Isaac Shoenthal, of Orange, who asked what course the city could take against the Ice Trust, William A. Lord, city councellor, said last night that if any legal course was being taken by a trust, the State and United States government, and not the city, should do the prosecuting.

Mr. Lord said it was the duty of the United States government, through the Attorney Genral of the United States, to prosecute unlawful combinations under the Anti-Trust law, and it was the duty of the Attorney General of New Jersey to proceed against local corporations exceeding their powers for participation in unlawful combinations in restraint of trade.

Hot Day Heat Test.

While the mercury was sizzing in its tube and the populace gasped for breath, the boilers and heating apparatus of the new building of the Plainfield Trust Company was tested this morning. The smoke and steam hovering over the building made the passersby pant harder from the suggestion of superfluous heat. The test marked the great progress that has been made in finishing up the equipment of the structure.

Sickness in the Bible.

At the regular meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, tomorrow in the W. C. T. U. rooms at 3 o'clock, the study will begin upon "Sickness According to Scripture; Its Origin and Remedy." The study will be confined very strictly to the Bible.

Start Excavation for Chapel.

Excavation for the new Warren chapel was started this morning. The work will be pressed from now on to completion, without delay.

COPS LOSE TO SCRIBES

Newspaper Nine Wallop the Bluecoats by the Score of 7 to 4.

"BOB" HOFFMAN TWIRLS

There was gloom at police headquarters last night, and heavy hearts beat beneath blue coats all over the city. In the newspaper offices joy bloomed in full beauty, and chortles of uncorked delight bubbled from swelling chests. All of which resulted from the unchangeable law which decrees that a baseball game is a sugar-coated peach for one team and an unadulterated mouthful of dust for the other.

After a real, full-sized game on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, the cops' nine went away with the dust thick on their biters, and the newspaper men's combination pranced off with a sweet taste in their grub traps, and their eyeballs proudly flashing, which is a habit of baseball champs. It was a lovely game and not without satisfaction for even the humbled cops. They took comfort out of a double play and the fact that the score wasn't worse. The figures were 7 to 4.

The suspicious person will regard to score doubtfully, but it was actually thus. Boldly attacking tradition and the hopes of their friends, the nines frequently handed each other a large round specimen of acidulated fruit. For seven unprecedented innings the cops didn't score, and there were four undoubted stanzas when neither side crossed the joy pan. This is scarcely to be believed, but it can be proved by affidavits by a circulation manager, a chief of police, an old inhabitant and other people of undoubted truthfulness.

The cops used a reversible pony battery composed of Willie Mullen and Cormack Caulfield, Jr. Mullen pitches, catches and plays the infield for the Laurels and Caulfield is a veteran of seven very swift junior teams, including the Little-Potatoes-Hard-to-Peel and the West End Terrors. Mullen pitched for four innings and was touched for only one run. Caulfield worked the David-and-Goliath game for a time, but the grown-ups got their mad up, Cormack went up, and the stock of the cops dropped down with a rush that disheartened the brass-buttoned host.

"Bob" Hoffman pitched for the newspaper men. He had speed and once the ball was actually seen to curve. He didn't try any more curves, because Jim McKeon, thinking the ball was coming straight, aimed at it that way and hit it. Hoffman confined himself to straight lobs after that and no more accidents occurred. It wouldn't be right to leave the subject of hitting without a mention of the terrific swathing of W. Waters. Swinging airily, and with no regard for the feelings of Mr. Caulfield and the cops, he sent the ball twice to grass.

The cops made a strong start. They scored twice in the first inning and duplicated in the next stanza. The newspaper men registered only once in the second, and Chief Kiely beamed proudly on his pets from the scorer's bench. Don't ask how the runs happened. There are the feelings of Charley Flynn and A. Hacquer to consider. They may reform and the record of this game would embarrass them.

Both teams cavorted industriously and to good purpose and for the next four innings. In the seventh, Caulfield was worked for some passes and a hit or two, and with a miscue now and then to season the mess, the newspaper men tied the score. "Bill" Messler tried to scare the scorer into bringing the cops up one, but the Chief, with an air of unconquerable virtue, backed the keeper-of-records up and the score stood at 4 to 4. Blanks marked the next inning, but the newspaper men, encouraged by Waters with his trusty bat, homped in with three more. The cops went out on the jump, a double play in which a pop fly three miles high figured, helping their demise. Chief Kiely didn't see the finish. He went away, with a sad and pensive air, in the seventh.

Some of the cops really fielded well. McCarthy, Payne and Dobson worked snappily. Corra Ryno astonished the vets at third. He made a real stop and a great throw from deep infield. Colthar froze to everything that came toward first and "Bob" Scott handled Hoffman's shoots with the steadiness of an old-timer. None of the outfielders had anything to do, but they all looked like dangerous men, and probably the ball was really afraid of flying within reach of their hooks.

LIFE AT SEA GIRT CAMP

Walter Sampson, of Company K, Appointed Orderly to Governor Stokes.

HOLMES SWELLS UP

He Also Was An Orderly to the Chief Executive of the State —Captain a Crack Shot.

Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, July 20.—The camp grounds presented a lively appearance yesterday, hundreds of visitors were examining the arrangements throughout the company streets. A large number of Plainfielders were on hand, and some of the women friends of the company are being entertained at lunch in the sergeants' tent.

Sergeant Petersen has developed into the biggest "crank" on the grounds, he insisting on completely forming the company on the first call. An honor has again been paid to Co. K by the selection of Private Walter Sampson as Governor Stokes' orderly. This is a credit to Co. K as only the cleanest looking are ever selected for the position and this makes the second one from this company so far. When it is considered that there are sixty men in the guard made up daily, it means that the man selected is the best out of sixty. Then there is selected an orderly for the brigade general and one for the colonel of the regiment.

Private Holmes and Sergeant Pearson left last night for home, being compelled to return to business. The boys say Holmes has an awful "swelled head" since having been the Governor's orderly. He says that they forget to relieve him from duty and he was compelled to stay on the mansion's front porch and look pretty for too long a time.

Lieutenant Lewis has been in command of the company since Wednesday morning.

Co. K has been up against it ever since the beginning of the encampment. Lieut. Kitchell has been picked twice for guard duty, and he is "sore." Some of the privates were selected for guard duty at a late hour last night, on account of the sudden disappearance of some members of the regular guard, and Capt. Martin, being officer of the day, came back to his own company and picked out K's men. Instead of seven men there were eleven men on guard from this company last night. Today there will be a twenty-mile march.

Capt. Martin returned from the rifle range yesterday, where he had been making bullseyes as usual. The encampment is near its end and the boys are weeping for they have just become attached to camp life.

Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, N. J., July 20.—Governor's day for the second time of the encampment of 1906 dawned foggy, and the atmosphere rivalled the thickest of the London weather; but the weather did not prevent crowd of politicians coming to pay their respects to Gov. Stokes, and incidentally to watch the citizen soldiers use up the money which they appropriated for them last winter. The legislators roamed through the camp, watching the men eat their meals, strolled down to the rifle range, the finest in the world, and in many ways showed their interest in the workings of the National Guard.

Gov. Stokes and staff received the visitors. In the first delegation to arrive were Senator W. H. C. Jackson, of Middlesex, and Assemblyman Barber, of the same county.

At the Governor's review of the Second Regiment and Battery B yesterday afternoon the soldiers were on their mettle, and the appearance they made was fine. The crowd liberally applauded the various companies as they marched down the line, company front, and the boys responded well. It was such a review as the Second Regiment is famous for.

Gov. Stokes, with his staff, rode down the lines at a brisk canter, and afterward took his position on the north side of the field to watch the boys march by. He frequently remarked upon the fine appearance made by the various companies.

Gen. Quincy O. Gilmore, commandant of the Second Brigade, has expressed himself as well pleased with the showing made by the Camden and Trenton boys during their two weeks in camp, and the same opinion has been expressed by many of the other officers during the past week. The Third showed the greatest improvement made by any regiment in years while in camp.

Today the men of the Second Regiment will go on a hike similar to that made by the Third last week. One detachment will go to Como, one to Allaire and the third to New Bedford. As a consequence there will be little going on in camp.

CITY COMMITTEE TO MEET

Much Business It is Reported Will Be Transacted on Tuesday Evening.

AT NEWCORN'S OFFICE

To Suggest Names For Membership On Election Board and to Discuss Mayoralty Situation.

The Republican city committee will meet Tuesday night to make plans for the coming campaign which promises to be one of the bitterest among the many bitter ones that have taken place in recent years. The session will be held in District Judge William Newcorn's law offices in West Front street, notices to that effect having been received by the members. It is said that Chairman Charles Joel Fisk, who has been stopping at the Manhansett House, Shelter Island, will not return for the meeting and that in his absence the vice chairman will preside.

Arrangements will also be made it is reported for the make-up of the election boards and other details of the primaries. The committee will recommend to the county committee such men as it desires placed on the various election boards.

It is expected that the municipal ticket will be discussed at length and it is not improbable that as a result of the session it will be learned definitely whether former Mayor Charles J. Fisk will allow his name to be used as a candidate to succeed Mayor James F. Buckle. Mr. Fisk is the unanimous choice of the city committeemen according to reliable report, but as yet it is said that he has not announced that he will be a candidate. It is also stated that the new naturalization law which goes into effect in September will be made clear to the committeemen. There are a large number who will take out their papers this fall.

Although the Colbyites launched their campaign sometime ago, it is not believed that the regulars will get into the fight until the latter part of next month. It is certain, at least, that no mass meeting will be held by the regulars until September if at all.

PLAINFIELDERS ABOARD STEAMBOATS IN COLLISION

THE PERSEUSAND THOMAS PATTEN CRASH IN DENSE FOG.

Two thousand passengers, among whom were many Plainfielders, aboard the steamboats Perseus, bound for Coney Island, and the Thomas Patton, plying between Manhattan and Shrewsbury river points, were thrown into a panic last evening at 7:25 o'clock, when the Patton rammed the Perseus during a dense fog, two miles south of Governor's Island. That there were no fatalities is due to the coolness displayed by the crew of each boat and the quick response to distress signals sounded immediately after the collision. The passengers aboard the two boats were transferred to steamers and tugs and landed in New York. After the Perseus and Patton had pulled apart, the former went to her dock for repairs. The bow of the Patton was crushed in but otherwise she was not damaged.

Robert Runyon, of Park avenue, one of the Plainfielders on the Perseus, was severely shaken up when the crash came but with other men aboard helped in allaying the panic. All the women were quickly provided with life preservers and the life boat were gotten ready for lowering. The Cetus, which took part in the rescue work, was bound in from the Island and had among its passengers William Miller and Miss Florence eighbor, of Plainfield. The transferral of passengers took nearly four hours and they had to remain there all that time.

The Riley Family's Annual Visit.

Members of the William Riley family of Gypsies and several of their relatives, numbering fifteen in all, are camping on the old "Riley" site at Avon Park. It is this tribe of Nomads that conducted the burial of Mother Riley at Hillside cemetery two years ago. They are among the best known gypsies in the country and have visited Plainfield annually for the past twenty-five years.

Sewer Committee Meeting.

The citizen committee appointed by Mayor Smalley to consider the question of borough sewers and sewer disposal beds will meet Tuesday evening in the borough council rooms. There are fifty members to this committee, of which W. J. Buttfield is chairman. The Mayor will receive his report at the meeting.

ELECTION LAW OPINION

Attorney General Mc Carter Says Election Boards Must Meet September 11.

STATISTICS NOT CLEAR

Applies To Election Districts Outside of Cities Having Population of Over 30,000.

Attorney-General McCarter has given an opinion to Secretary of State Dickinson, which is designed to settle a question relative to election boards resulting from a conflict between an election act of last winter and one of the preceding year. The attorney-general holds that in districts outside of cities whose population exceeds 30,000, election boards must still meet to register voters on the second Tuesday in September. Mr. McCarter admits that the situation is not plain, but concludes that this is the best way to settle the question. His opinion follows:

"My attention has been called to the confusion that seems to exist by reason of the provisions of Chapter 235 of the laws of 1906 in reference to holding of primary elections. This act provides 'The first registry day in cities having a population exceeding 30,000 shall be held in the fourth Tuesday of September in each year.' It further provides that the time for holding the primary elections shall be the first registry date. 'And in all election districts outside of cities having a population exceeding 30,000 the said boards of registry and election shall sit for the purpose of this act as primary election boards on the second and fourth Tuesday of September.'

"Section 6 of Chapter 258 of the laws of 1905 requires the boards of registry and election, in all election districts in the State outside of cities having a population exceeding 30,000 to meet annually on the second Tuesday in each year, for registration purposes, and on the second Tuesday of September said board shall meet for holding the primary elections in their respective districts.

"While the situation is not plain, I have, after reflection, reached the conclusion that in an election district outside of cities having a population exceeding 30,000, the boards must still meet; for the purpose of registering voters, on the second Tuesday of September, as provided in Section 6 of Chapter 258 of the laws of 1905, notwithstanding Chapter 235 of the laws of 1906."

SOMERSET CLUB'S OUTING WAS A BIG SUCCESS.

250 Boroughites Made the Trip Around the Loop In Trolley Cars—A Six-Hour Excursion.

Taking a party of 250 boroughites and their wives and families on a trolley trip around the Boynton Beach loop last evening, the first outing of the Somerset Club proved a great success. The excursion was in charge of D. J. Carney, as chairman of the general committee, and is an event which will be long remembered by the Somersets.

The trolley company had agreed to supply five cars, but announced yesterday afternoon that only four could be placed at the disposal of the club. Four big cars were sent accordingly to the Somerset street switch, from which the party started shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Ticket holders were given the preference in the seating, and several parties were unable to find seats. The party was delayed for a half hour at New Brunswick, waiting at the drawbridge, for a string of boats of the carnival to pass through. There was another delay at Perth Amboy, but on the whole, the trip was breezy and fast. The excursionists stopped for a half hour at Boynton Beach, where many took advantage of the opportunity offered for dancing. The party arrived in this city on the return trip at about 1:30 this morning. There were few mishaps during the trip, but Francis McIntyre, who was on the last of the string of cars, slipped and fell off during the return trip. The car was bowling along at the time, and McIntyre fell heavily. He was bruised and cut up about the face, but was able to return with the party.

The Somerset Club is not yet three months old. During that period it has acquired a membership of 175, many of whom are prominent citizens of the borough Its "open house" held last month and its "trip around the loop" has attracted the atention of the public and placed the club in the limelight.

CENSUS MAN'S FIGURES

City's and Borough's Make-up as the Houses and People.

COMMUNITIES' GROWTH

A compendium of the State censuses from 1726 to 1905, with the tabulated returns of the latter year, has just been distributed by the Department of State. Interesting figures on Plainfield and North Plainfield appear in the tables.

Dwellings in Plainfield number 3,240, and 3,893 families are housed in them. The white males number 7,831, and the females 8,787. There are 778 colored males and 1,072 colored females. Males under five number 867; between five and eighteen, 1,961; eighteen to twenty-one, 424; twenty-one to forty-five, 3,610. Females under five, 846; from five to eighteen, 2,022; eighteen to twenty-one, 568; twenty-one to forty-five, 4,261. There are 4,611 single males and 5,324 single females. The married people number 7,339 and the widowed, 1,168. There are 26 divorcees.

In North Plainfield there are 967 houses, and 1,203 families. The white males number 2,568, and the females, 2,878. The black males total only 64 and their womenfolk number 106. The males under five years of age number 270; between five and eighteen, 688; eighteen to twenty-one, 129; twenty-one to forty-five, 982; the females under five number 237; between five and eighteen, 727; between eighteen and twenty-one, 165; twenty-one to forty-five, 1,208.

The single males total 1,410, unmarried females, 1,574. Married people number 2,238 and widowed 382. There are twelve divorcees.

The first census taken in Plainfield after its incorporation as a city was in 1870, when the inhabitants numbered 5,095. The population has increased with each census as follows: 1875, 7,216; 1880, 8,125; 1885, 8,913; 1890, 11,267; 1895, 13,629; 1900, 15,369; 1905, 18,468.

The census of 1895 gives the first figures on North Plainfield borough's population. There were 4,245 inhabitants then, and they increased to 5,009 in five years and to 5,616 in 1905.

WAR AGAINST TRADESMEN WHO WON'T CLOSE SUNDAYS.

Dunellen clergymen are waging active war against the "Seven day tradesmen," of the town, principally confectioners and tobacco dealers, who conduct business Sundays all day, the same as during the week. Along North avenue, in the borough, there are several stores which are open for business all day Sunday and the church people of Dunellen are planning to take active measures to prevent the continuation of this practise.

The stand taken is that if the public can be made to quit trading on Sunday, the measure can be easily effected. One of the borough clergy, on an evening walk on North avenue Sunday, took occasion to speak to Louis Molinari, a confectioner, whose store was open for business at that time. Molinari was warned that he was violating the law, but said that he was forced to keep open because other tradesmen did, and more business was transacted on Sundays than on week days in his store.

Rebuilding 'Frisco Railways.

B. P. Legare, of this city, who went to San Francisco immediately after the earthquake to take part in reconstructing the street railways, has been made general superintendent of the work. Mr. Legare, who is one of the best known engineers engaged in street railway construction, recently designed a machine that saves the labor of forty or fifty men in excavating work.

Northfield Experiences.

William D. Murray, superintendent of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, telling of the work accomplished at the association conference at Northfield, which he attended. There will be special singing and music by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra.

COLT KICKED IN WINDOW

Valuable Thoroughbred Stallion Severed Artery In a Truant Gambol.

NEARLY BLED TO DEATH

Owner and Stableman, Chasing Animal About Yard, Didn't Know It Was Hurt Until It Fell Exhausted.

Theodore Willetts, a New Yorker living for the summer near Oak Tree on Park avenue, was awakened late Wednesday night by the noise of breaking glass. It came from the direction of the kitchen, and Mr. Willetts thought of burglars. Pulling a revolver from a drawer, he tiptoed down stairs.

He ran into no burglars, and located the broken glass in one of the kitchen windows. Mr. Willetts examined kitchen and glass carefully for burglar traces, but could find nothing to indicate how the crash had occurred. The glass had been broken inward, and it looked like a clumsy job. Mr. Willetts was puzzling over the incident, when a shrill neigh sounded in the darkness of the yard. He looked out and saw his young thoroughbred stallion, Digby Bell, gamboling about the grass and flower beds. Digby was kicking his heels with the joyous abandon of young stallions when playing truant, and Mr. Willetts understood how the window was broken. In circling about, kicking up his heels, Digby came within reach of the glass and shot his hoofs through it.

Mr. Willetts dressed and aroused his stableman, and the two went out to round the stallion up. The horse evaded capture for half an hour, when he staggered suddenly and went to his knees. He got up again, but ran weakly. The stableman reached his head and was about to slip a halter over it when the stallion sank to his knees again and dropped over on his side. Then for the first time the men discovered that an artery in one of his hind legs, severed by the glass, was spurting blood. He had run until weakness brought on by loss of blood keeled him over.

The stableman caught the artery between his thumb and finger, and Mr. Willetts twisted a tourniquet about the leg. Digby Bell was pretty far gone, but a dose of whiskey brought back a little of his strength, and Mr. Willetts and the stableman managed to get him to the barn. Dr. Voorhees, of New Brunswick, sewed up the artery yesterday morning and the stallion will probably recover, although his leg is likely to be stiff for the rest of his life. Mr. Willetts got Digby Bell primarily for breeding purposes, and will keep him even if his leg makes him useless for road or track work.

DR. ANDERSON TO BUILD ON WATCHUNG AVENUE.

Structure Will Be Of the New Method Reinforced Cement.

Through its local representatives, Doane & Doane, The Consolidated Engineering Co., of America, made application to the Fire and Buildings committee of the Common Council, last night, for a permit to erect a one-story twin store building on Watchung avenue, just off East Front street, for Dr. A. W. Anderson. The site is known as the Anderson property and the proposed structure will be located directly in the rear of the frame building which occupies that corner. It will be built of reinforced cement, the process being entirely new.

There is nothing in the local building ordinance which covers construction of this sort and accordingly Inspector Doane was unable to grant the usual permit. The commitee will consider the application and give its decision later.

Doane & Doane also made application for a permit for the erection of D. C. Smalley's cold storage warehouse on East Third street, to be constructed of the same material. According to the plans it will be a two-story building with flats above the ground floor.

Sociable For the Baby Camps.

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will give an entertainment and lawn sociable for the benefit of the two fresh air camps of this city —the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and the King's Daughters' Baby Camp—this evening at the church. Ice cream and cake will be sold.

White Chefs Find Work Scarce.

Herbert Gordon, who described himself as a cook looking for a job, was arrested last night for vagrancy. He told Judge Runyon this morning that he found it hard to get work because colored men seemed to have the call in his line. He promised to leave town if released and Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

SHAKE UP IN FIRE DEPARTMENT CAUSES SURPRISE

Captains Being Shifted Unexpectedly By Councilmanic Fire Board Make Talk.

REASONS NOT GIVEN

Chief T. O. Doane Gives His Version of Truck Accident at Special Meeting of the Board.

The fire committee of the Common Council held a special meeting, last night, ostensibly for the purpose of sifting the Bush accident to the bottom but it resulted in activity in another direction that has given the department its greatest "shake-up" in years. Following the conference, word came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky that each of the three captains in the service should be transferred by August 1, as follows: Captain William Townley from headquarters to No. 3 house; Captain James Daley from No. 1 house to headquarters; Captain George Feiring from No. 3 house to No. 1 house. No explanation accompanied the order and the stereotyped answer, "For the good of the service" is all that has been offered interrogators. On the street, some shake their heads and say "politics."

When the members first gathered, the truck accident was brought up and though no testimony was taken beside that of Chief Doane's, the committee discussed information previously secured. The head of the department declared that the injured driver had informed him that the horses had turned from Second street into Central avenue from force of habit and that the move came so suddenly he was unable to stop them. He further stated to the committee that in order to see what was in this explanation, he had taken the No. 1 team and driven down Second street, several times, both as if an alarm was being answered and as though the daily exercise jaunt was on. At no time did the animals show any inclination to swing into Central avenue.

The chief then related an incident which tended to show more than anything else that Bush disobeyed orders and sent the horses out at full speed when the alarm was turned in from box 83 a week ago Thursday night. Early that evening, one of the animals escaped from its stall at No. 1 house and made its way out through Exchange alley to West Front street. It became excited through men waving and shouting and in running about slipped on a car track and fell. It was then caught and taken back to the house. Dr. Pocock, the veterinary, was summoned, and gave the animal a thorough inspection, after which he informed Chief Doane, that it would be advisable to use it carefully for a few days as some of the muscles in the legs might be sprained. An order to the effect was given Bush at 9:30 and again at 10:30, the chief making a special trip to the house in order to impress upon the driver the need of going slow in the event of an alarm. To the committee he asserted that he had said to Bush:

"Never mind pushing the horses if you get a call, Harry; if you are behind, nothing will be said."

The alarm came in twenty minutes later and to all appearances, the order was lost sight of.

When Chief Doane had given his testimony, the committee talked the matter over and though no formal decision was reached, it was agreed among themselves that "driving too fast" was at the bottom of the accident and not "the horses' turning from force of habit." In order to give the injured man every opportunity, however, the hearing was postponed until he recovers sufficiently to appear before the members and speak for himself.

The transferral of the captains afterward engaged the attention of the committee with the result previously announced. By some of those who have followed the affairs of the department it is alleged it was done for the purpose of getting a "crack" at Townley and Feiring. They assert that the former fell into disfavor because of his activity in seeking Assistant Chief Murray's place, when the powers that be had slated John Cose. Feiring, it is said, was a warm supporter of former Councilman Robert L. Lee when he ran for tax collector and the fact was not appreciated by several gentlemen who had picked some one for the office. In addition the rumor has gained ground that Feiring sympathizes with the Colby movement and has been indiscreet enough to say so.

EXECUTORS SETTLE CLAIM ON ESTATE

MR. AND MRS. OAKLEY GET $1-804, VERDICT OF $3,000 BEING EXCESSIVE.

The suit brought in the Supreme Court by Armitage T. Oakley and his wife against John P. Emmons and Robert T. Belichambers, as the executors of the estate of Ellen Gill, deceased, has been settled by the payment to Mr. Oakley and his wife by the executors of the sum of $1,804.

The suit grew out of a claim for services rendered Mrs. Gill by the Oakleys for a number of years prior to her death. The executors would not recognize the claim and refused to pay anything. Suit was then brought in the Supreme Court to enforce the claim, and last year a jury at Elizabeth before Circuit Court Judge Heisley, to whom the case had been referred, rendered a verdict for $3,000. The Supreme Court thought this amount excessive and ordered a new trial. The case would have been the first case on the list for trial in October had it not been settled by the payment by the executors of an amount satisfactory to the plaintiffs.

Counsellor W. S. Angleman represented the Oakleys, the successful party to the suit, and Isaac P. Runyon represented the executors.

MINISTERED TO FLOCK FOR HALF OF CENTURY

VENERABLE PREACHER GOES TO REST AT AGE OF 82 YEARS.

For fifty years a faithful worker and beloved pastor of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, at Sidney, Hunterdon county, Rev. Joseph T. Williamson, ever an earnest and sincere worker in the Christian field, lies died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. F. Alpaugh, of East Sixth street, after a useful, unostensable life of eighty-two years. Dr. Williamson has been living in this city for the past three years, coming here to live with his daughter at the time of his wife's death, shortly after he resigned the pastorate of the Bethlehem church at 1900.

Dr. Williamson was born in Philadelphia, Nov. 17, 1824, and received his early education. Dr. Williamson was a member of the first graduating class of the Central High School of Philadelphia and was the oldest living graduate of that famous institution. He received his diploma there in 1842. He was graduated from Delaware College in 1846, afterwards spending two years at the Union Theological Seminary, in New York, and a year at Princeton. He was ordained and installed as pastor of the Bethlehem church by the Fourth Presbytery of Philadelphia, on Nov. 21, 1849, and was an earnest worker in building up the parish until his resignation from active work in the ministry in 1900.

He was married in June, 1850, when he assumed the pastorate of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church. Four children survive him, Joseph G. Williamson, Jr., of Brooklyn; Rev. Albert B. Williamson, of Delaware Water Gap; Mrs. Dr. E. E. Conover, Hasbrouck Heights, and Mrs. D. S. Alpaugh, of this city. Dr. Williamson's death comes as a shock to the many friends he had acquired during his residence in this city. The old man had been failing steadily for the past year.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie will be in charge of the funeral services to be held at the home of Mrs. Alpaugh this evening at 8 o'clock. Services will also be held at the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, at Sidney, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Dr. McGilvray. The interment will be made in the parish cemetery at Sidney.

"Jacobs' Day" at Netherwood.

Rev. F. H. Jacobs, the well known evangelist, of Brooklyn, will have entire charge of the afternoon meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Jacobs is pre-eminent in the evangelistic field; he will have entire charge of the services, will lead the singing and will make the address of the afternoon to the 300 children now at the home. A chorus choir from the local church societies will assist with the singing.

Two Stray Horses.

Police headquarters was informed by 'phone last night that two horses were wandering about Raymond avenue. Patrolman Myers rounded them up and took them to the pound. They were unclaimed this forenoon.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Dunellenites who are interested in tennis will have an opportunity to witness a first class exhibition of the sport this afternoon when Charles Bender and Edward Palmer are to meet in a championship singles match. Bender is a fast man with the racket, having been formerly champion of the state of Indiana on the courts, and Palmer is playing a steady fast game this season, with a strong reserve and consistent use of the strokes The match is to be with a view to arousing interest in the sport sufficient to start a series of local tournaments The first of these has already been arranged among the employes of the Jersey Central Railroad and match play will be begun Saturday. Palmer is one of the office men of the railroad, and a number of his desk mates are in town to see him play his match this afternoon. A sufficient number of young men from the Central offices live in this town to make a tennis match possible, and the entry list is growing daily.

About 200 local church people made the trip to Asbury Park yesterday on the occasion of the annual outing of the First Presbyterian church to the shore. The day proved clear and breezy by the sea, with a good sea breeze all day. The excursionists arrived in town on the return trip at 9 o'clock, making the trip up from the shore in two hours and a half, particularly good time for a fifteen car excursion train.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, it was decided to begin work at once upon church improvements Certain necessary repairs, including carpenter and roofing work on the two steeples, and minor repairs to the doors and windows, will be started as soon as contractors can be chosen It is estimated that the necessary repairs will cost $600

The annual report of the custodian of schools, recently published, shows that during the past school year the expense of conducting the borough schools has amounted to $7,252.52. This in an increase of expense from the report of the previous year, but this amount includes the payment of the school bonds and the additions of fire escapes upon the local building.

"Our Future Home" was the topic of the regular mid-week meeting at the Methodist church this week. Miss Tillie Muller sang several selections in connection with the musical part of the meeting.

Miss Ethel Rogers, of New Market, left today to make an extended visiting tour among friends in New York State She will be away five weeks.

The work of laying the concrete foundation for the new Methodist church parish house has been begun. F. H. Gise is doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peters have returned home after spending the past week with relatives and friends in New York city.

Routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Building and Loan Association held last evening.

$200 FOR SALVATION.

That Is the Average Cost of Saving a Soul in Chicago.

Chicago, July 20.—That the cost of salvation in Chicago is higher than in Atlanta, Ga., is revealed in figures given out by ministers and evangelists of nine different denominations. The Rev. E. H. Peacock, of the Tabernacle Baptist church, in Atlanta, who said that it costs $1 to save a soul in Chicago, while in Atlanta the expense is only twenty-five cents, fell far short of the mark as far as Chicago is concerned.

Instead of $1 the average cost of converting Chicagoans amounts to more than $200 for each convert. The most expensive souls are those saved by the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints (Mormons). It costs $1,500 for every Chicagoan brought into the fold.

Wire Thieves At Work.

Elizabeth, July 20.—Telephone wire thieves were operating Wednesday night in the southern part of Elizabeth and along the waterfront, causing much annoyance to the factories on Staten Island Sound, some of which were cut off from all communication with the telephone exchanges until near noon Thursday. It is said about a mile and a half of copper wire was stolen.

See Lehigh Valley ticket agent, 218 West Front street, for further particulars.

ARE PLEASED WITH THE AUTOMOBILE LAW

RESULTS, FOR MOST PART, HAVE BEEN SATISFACTORY, SAYS COMMISSIONER.

Trenton, July 20.—J. B. R. Smith, commissioner of motor vehicles, is pleased with the general results obtained under the Frelinghuysen automobile law which took effect on July 1, but equally displeased with the attitude manifested in certain automobile circles toward the new act. From his observation and reports received at the office during the two weeks or more that the law has been in force, Mr. Smith inclines to the belief that the grossest violations come from other States rather than from residents of Jersey. In short, the automobilists of New York and Philadelphia who use the State's highways in going to and from the shores and other resorts are the ones who show the least inclination to observe the restrictions upon public travel and also offer the most serious protests against the so-called drastic provisions of the new law.

It is probably too soon to pass judgment upon the enforcement of the law in different sections of the State, but first reports seem to show that the worst violations are in South Jersey and particularly along the route from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, where the speed regulations are honored more in the breach than in their observance.

Speaking of the general effect of the new law, Mr. Smith said:

"The first two weeks under the motor vehicle law have been highly satisfactory ones. There have been issued since May 7, the day the offices were opened for registrations, 8,206 registrations to vehicles and 11,252 licenses to drivers. We have collected $40,238 in fees, all of which is turned over to the State treasurer for repairs to the improved roads of the State. Since July 1, we have revoked the licenses of three drivers, and have made permanent the order denying the application of one other, while the temporary orders in ten other cases await final action. The department has been criticised in some quarters for putting the burden of the 'proof of innocence,' as the critics are pleased to call it, upon the applicant for licenses. They overlook the fact that we do not sit as a court of justice, but rather as a board of examiners, charged by the act to license at our discretion, and it is manifestly the duty of the applicant to prove his fitness rather than that we prove his incompetency.

"While we are daily receiving many reports of reckless and unlawful driving, yet many of these reports are accompanied by the statement that conditions as a whole are very much improved. Every report is investigated as thoroughly as possible and such action taken as seems fitting. In fact, only from one section of the State does the information indicate a worse condition than that which existed last year. There seems to be a very general disposition among drivers, particularly Jerseymen, not only to respect the laws, but to insist that others do likewise. The organized clubs of the State especially, and prominent autoists generally, are rendering the department great assistance."

SAY ALTAR BOYS STOLE COLLECTION.

They Went to Coney Island and Had Time of Their Lives.

Peter Renike and Emil Yeager, two altar boys of SS. Peter and Paul's church, Elizabeth, were arraigned yesterday on the charge of having stolen $30 from the collection of their church. Neither of the boys denied his guilt; and their case will be turned over to the juvenile court. Meanwhile they are in charge of the probation officer.

Father Zindzius, who made the complaint, said that the boys stole the money last Sunday. Being altar boys that had free access to the church. After they took the money, both went to Coney Island, where they proceeded to have the time of their lives.

When they were arraigned this morning, Yeager gave way to tears, while his companion maintained a stolid indifference. When Judge Mahon asked the latter what he had to say for himself, he answered "Nothing." Yeager was inclined to be more talkative. He said he had a mother but no father, but would have nothing to say about the charge against him.

Policeman Saves Man in Water.

Elizabeth, July 20.—John Stewart, of this city, was found yesterday by Policeman McDonald lying asleep on the bridge that spans the Elizabeth River at Westfield avenue. When awakened Stewart rolled over and his hat fell off the bridge and into the river. He started to follow it and, stumbling, he rolled down the bank into the water, but was rescued by the policeman. His ankle was badly hurt by his mishap, and he was unable to walk. He had to be assisted to his home.

CONSTIPATION CURSE OF MANKIND.

Dr. Oidman's Liv-r-oids never fail to cure Constipation, Billiousness and all Liver Complaints. They destroy the germs and thus remove the cause.

You May Try a Full-Sized Bottle Free.

Constipation is the starting point of all kinds of dangerous and distressing diseases, such as Appendicitis, Piles, Billiousness, Sick Headaches, Dyspepsia Female Troubles and scores of others. If your bowels are strong and healthy they will act properly and disease cannot enter or remain in the system. A sound Stomach means sound lasting health.

The true way to cure constipation, Billiousness, Sick Headache and all those diseases arising from a Torpid Liver, has been discovered by Dr. Oidman, and his prescription is known as Liv-r-oids. We ourselves know that Liv-r-oids will cure the worst forms of constipation and all the dangerous diseases of the Bowels and Liver, which are such a great menace to life. If you have never tried Liv-r-oids before, we will send absolutely free to every one sending name and address, a 25 cent bottle of this great remedy. Liv-r-oids make you feel right, and make you look on the bright side of life. Liv-r-oids are not a patent medicine but an eminent physicians prescription in tablet form (formula on bottle). There is no element of doubt in the curing power of Liv-r-oids. They are not a miracle, but only science working along on natural lines assisting nature. We want you to try Liv-r-oids to-day, they sell at 25c. a bottle, but if you have not tried them before, send your name and address and you will receive a full-sized bottle free—no obligations—nothing to pay—merely recommend them to your friends if they do what we claim. TWO KILLED ON THE C. R. R. TRACKS

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS RESIDENTS MEET DEATH WITHIN 12 HOURS.

Atlantic Highlands, July 20.—The death of Thomas Brady, of this place, yesterday makes the second man who has met a violent death in this vicinity within twelve hours. Brady was killed by a train, as was Thomas Gaffey, who was struck by a flier here Wednesday. Both met their death on the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Brady, who was about seventy years old, was a flagman for the Central road. He had been on duty but a short while yesterday when he stepped out of the way of one train into the way of another. When struck he was hurled about fifty feet and terribly mangled. Despite his injuries he did not die until after he had been taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Armstrong. He did not, however, regain consciousness after he was hit. He leaves his daughter, at whose home he expired.

The other man, Gaffey, who was killed, was a carpenter. He was working outside the centre of the town and was going to a hardware store when killed. He reached the Central road, at Central avenue, a point where five tracks cross the thoroughfare just as the gates were being lowered to let a train go by. He went under the gates, however, and stepped out of the way of one train right on to a track on which an express was coming. His view was obstructed by several freight cars.

He was instantly killed and his body, horribly mangled, was dragged along by the engine for about fifty feet. So badly was he cut up that the parts of his body had to be gathered up in a sheet. He leaves a widow and three children.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT COAL

HOW FUEL CAN BE BOUGHT BY DEALERS AT $1.20 A TON.

The testimony taken before Supreme Court Commissioner Foster M. Voorhees at Elizabeth, Wednesday afternoon, by witnesses for the prosecutors, B. Jacobson & Son, who have secured writs of certiorari to review the action of the Board of Education in throwing out the firm's bids for supplying coal to the public schools in preference to other bidders who were higher, upon the plea that the firm was not responsible, brought forth interesting information regarding the manipulation of coal prices by operators. The star witness of the afternoon was John C. Cole, of the firm of Whitney & Kammerer, through whom Jacobson gets most of his coal.

Jacobson made the statement that he has an arrangement whereby he can buy coal for $1.20 and $1.25 a ton at the mines and have it brought to Elizabeth to his yards at a total cost, including freightage, of $2.60 to $2.65 a ton. Testimony was offered to show how this was possible and to disprove the allegation that the coal dealer was not a responsible party.

Mr. Cole stated that at the mines, in the upper Lehigh Valley, the operators load up hundreds of cars of coal in anticipation of orders. When a slack time approaches the railroads demand that the cars shall be moved or that they be dumped. Then it is that they are able to make arrangements to buy up coal as much as thirty-seven per cent. less than other merchants are made to pay. Such had been the case, at just about the time the Board of Education was advertising for bids, in the early summer, when orders for coal are scarce and each time the firm has been able to supply coal to the local firm at prices way below that which the other dealers have to pay.

There was some question about a shrinkage in the bulk of coal delivered to the city on numerous occasions. This was explained by the witness, who said that in sending his coal to Elizabeth only Lehigh coal was shipped. There are several kinds of coal and he stated that the upper Lehigh coal contained eighty per cent. of carbon and other coal, such as came from Wilkesbarre, contain but fifty per cent. carbon, therefore the harder coal weighs more and has less waste in ashes, which accounts for the apparent shrinkage in weight noted when it was seen that the bins were from half a foot to a foot from their former level.

President John P. Hanifin was another witness at the afternoon session, and he gave some testimony as to the methods of advertising for bids. The taking of testimony then adjourned until yesterday morning. When the prosecution rests City Attorney James C. Connolly, for the defendant Board of Education, will give his testimony. This testimony will show, it is said, that the firm of B. Jacobson is not a responsible firm.

Edward Schoeller, of West Fourth street, is detained at home by an attack of pneumonia.

COL. KUSER ACQUITTED IN SPEEDING CASE

SON-IN-LAW OF SENATOR DRYDEN GOES FREE BY JUSTICE'S DECISION.

Colonel A. R. Kuser, who was arrested by speed constables at Bound Brook about a week ago for speeding his auto, in which his father-in-law, United States Senator John F. Dryden, was riding at the time, was acquitted of the charge by the decision of Justice of the Peace Brampton, who decided the case in his favor at a session of court at Bound Brook yesterday. Colonel Kuser was represented by Charles A. Reed, Esq., of this city.

The arrest was made by constables who were guarding the road on the lookout for speeding motorists near Bound Brook. Col. Kuser and Senator Dryden were driving in the Colonel's machine on the way to catch a train to Washington. The constables had marked off a part of the road, and one, who was stationed with a stop-watch, stopped the machine and arrested Col. Kuser on the pike road. In the course of the hearing, the constable witness in the case swore that the machine was going at the rate of 23 miles an hour, "beating it" for the train. The speed calculation was derived from a computation by the stop watch holder over the measured stretch of ground. Lawyer Reed called for the measuring line with which the distance was laid off, and found that it had been broken several times and in the mending had been shortened about half a foot. The constable who had charge of the stop-watch was questioned, and didn't show especially proficient knowledge of the timepiece, which he confessed he had never used before. A re-calculation of the time, from correct measurements showed that the machine was going within the legal speed limit, and the case was discharged by Justice Brampton.

War on Mosquitoes.

Health Officer Richards, of Elizabeth, yesterday, received a check for $1,000 from the Central Railroad of New Jersey to be used in the war of extermination against mosquitoes. This money will be turned over to the city's treasury, and will be then considered in the light of having been appropriated by the city for mosquito extermination. In that way Elizabeth will get $333.33 from the State, as the law provides that if a city appropriates any money for mosquito extermination, one-third of that sum shall be added by the State.

U. S. Senator Defends Prudential Company of Which He is President.

NO DANGER IN GROWTH

Says Publicity Is Best Guard Against Evils—Favors Big Salaries.

United States Senator Dryden was before the New Jersey Senate Committee in charge of the insurance investigation at Newark yesterday to explain the methods of the Prudential Insurance Company, of which he is president. All the members of the committee were present. William H. Corbin, counsel for the committee, examined Mr. Dryden, who was aided by several officials of the company, when questions relating to actuarial matters, and intimate details were propounded.

Mr. Corbin brought out the fact that the company's charter includes features both of the mutual and stock company form of administration and an admission that the policy-holders once had the right to vote, but that this right had been taken away when the policy-holders became numerous and widely scattered. Senator Minturn asked if this had not been a violation of contract. Mr. Corbin, speaking for the witness, replied that he thought not as the Legislature had altered the charter.

Mr. Corbin asked Mr. Dryden if he did not consider dangerous the growth of the company's business and assets from $40,000,000 in 1900 to $107,000,000 in 1905, a rate at which in five years the value of the company's business would exceed the total ratables of Essex county.

"It is not more dangerous than a lesser volume of business would make it," Dryden said. "It is as easy to be dishonest in the handling of $1,000,000 as in the handling of $500,000,000. It is very largely a matter of personal honesty."

Would Forbid Political Gifts.

The Senator said he favors the passage of a stringent law prohibiting the making of political contributions by companies. He is opposed to the standardizing of policies and the abolition of deferred dividends. The New York law, he said, is impracticable. He pointed out that the Attorney-General of the State has given three varying opinions on the same feature of the law.

The Senator said he considers it wrong to break down his company's system as it has proved sound, and had taken many years and much labor to build. He is opposed to State supervision of agents' commissions, saying he believed the State would have as much right to fix the standards of wages paid to all classes of workmen.

In a prepared statement, received as testimony, Senator Dryden went into the history of insurance, particularly industrial insurance. Of the primary aims of industrial insurance he said:

"From the outset the chief consideration was security, the absolute certainty that the contract agreement made with the people in the form of insurance would be kept. The public had been robbed by bubble companies and swindled by societies often parading under high-sounding names, which, upon the plea of fraternal interests, mercilessly fleeced the very poor of their last shilling."

"I welcome this or any other important legislative inquiry into the important subject of life insurance and administration of life insurance companies, including the Prudential. We readily complied with every request of us by the New York State Legislative Committee, and we have done likewise in the case of the present investigation. There is nothing whatever by way of testimony or data in the possession of the company's officers, or contained in our archives, that you may not call for, and that we shall not be pleased to furnish. We invite the most complete and exhaustive investigation, not only in justice to ourselves, but equally in justice to our policy-holders.

"While we cordially welcome any impartial inquiry into our affairs, we have opposed, and shall continue to oppose, the unworthy efforts of so-called reformers, to cast discredit upon life insurance management and methods in this State. We do not propose to allow men actuated by selfish and unworthy motives to wilfully and recklessly destroy, or seriously injure, a great and beneficient institution, which it has taken thirty years to build up."

Counsel went into Mr. Dryden's testimony before the Armstrong committee in detail with the evident intention of inducing Mr. Dryden to admit that changes in the existing laws are necessary. He obtained an admission that the law of 1904, which authorizes insurance companies to invest in any kind of securities, should be amended so as to exclude industrial securities and mining stocks.

Mr. Dryden said that unless it was the intention to rule out the best talent obtainable, high salaries would have to be paid. In some cases, he believed, $100,000 a year

ACCUSED OF ILL TREATING COWS, MUST FACE S. P. C. A.

Upon complaint by some of the neighbors, summons has been served upon Howard Carver, of Harrison street, by William F. Pangborn, local officer of the state society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Carver owns two cows which he pastures in a Bull Frog City pasture. The lot where the animals feed all day is absolutely shadeless, and no water is supplied.

It is alleged that Carver is accustomed to beat the animals cruelly for when they leave the pasture in the evening they are so thirsty that they run for water. On several instances, persons living in the vicinity or passing by have seen Carver belaboring the animals cruelly with the iron stake to which they are tied in the field and punching them about the face and eyes with his fist in anger. One woman, who saw the disgraceful treatment of the animals one evening last week, fainted away at the cruelty of Carver and the complaint was made soon afterwards through Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough police. One of the cows is alleged to be so lame it can hardly walk from being beated with the stake.

The case is to come up before Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy at the borough court Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Pangborn will be present to press charges for the S. P. C. A.

LINDLEY M. HILLMAN DEAD.

Word came by telegram to local relatives and friends today, announcing the death of Lindley M. Hillman, a former Plainfielder. It occurred last night at Gloucester, this State, where he had been making his home. The messages gave no particulars.

The young man was twenty-even years old and was the son of the late William H. and Sarah K. Hillman, the mother now residing on West Fourth street. He attended the Plainfield High School and when the High School battalion was organized by Captain Edwards he was one of its first buglers. He leaves a widow, having been married about a year ago.

Bright Young Life Ended.

Harold Martin, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Martin, of Somerset place, died this morning after a brief illness with rheumatism of the heart. He was nine years old and was a bright, well-liked little fellow. He belonged to the First Baptist church Sunday-school. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Chambliss.

Exchange Properties.

C. M. Raybert has exchanged the three-story building at 183 North avenue, where he has been conducting his plumbing business with a home over the store, for "Maple Cottage" on East Second street, near Watchung avenue, with August Jacot, who recently purchased the cottage from A. E. Bushnell, of Newark. Mr. Raybert will erect a shop at the rear of the Second avenue house.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

News picked up by the time the second issue of the weekly was prepared, on January 9, 1868, and the local column was fattened. Some of the items:

"At a meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' Building and Loan Association, held at Laing's hall, Monday evening, January 6, Zachariah Webster was appointed chairman, and J. B. Coward secretary. After a reading of the names of the stockholders by Elias R. Pope, the following persons were unanimously chosen a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, with power to draft a constitution and by-laws for the said Association:

"Zachariah Webster, Joseph B. Coward, Elias R. Pope, Oliver Runyon, Dr. John C. Sutphen, William C. Ayres, James F. Hubbard, Edward P. Thorn, Jonas H. Platt, Elston M. Dunn, William McD. Coriell and Martin Giles."

"On Sunday, the 27th of Oct. last, a young man by the name of Charles Trumpore, broke into the residence of L. H. K. Smalley, Esq., at Scotch Plains, and also into the residences of Mr. Henry Hetfield, and Wm. H. Enders, on the road leading from the above place to Rahway. The thief was identified, and upon complaint being made to the Grand Jury of this county at its last session, an indictment was found. The prisoner upon being brought into court pleaded 'not guilty.' He afterwards retracted the plea, and plead 'guilty.' He was sentenced to fifteen years in State Prison."

"During the past season there have been some very decided improvements made in and around Scotch Plains. The store recently built by Mr. William Bartle, and now occupied by James A. Baker as a Dry Goods and Grocery Store, is a great improvement to that place. The Central Railroad Company, in laying out Fanwood Park, grading its streets, avenues and sidewalks, have given an impetus to the spirit of enterprise and improvement not likely soon to be forgotten and that will cause the spirit of 'old fogyism' to seek retreat in some more retired locality."

"The skating has been fine for the past few days at the Lake, and the attendance has been very large, the young folks flocking there day and night, and all seeming to enjoy themselves, especially the fair sex, who attend in large numbers. Mr. Tier has commenced to fill his large icehouse, which some of the youngsters do not appear to relish, as it slightly interferes with their skating."

"The desirable residence on Seventh street, formerly owned by Mr. Crowell, and of late by Mr. Warren, was sold by Sheriff Pierson, at Thorn's Hotel, on Thursday last, for $11,500. We understand that Mr. Yates was the fortunate purchaser."

"At a regular meeting of the Democratic Association of Plainfield, held on Saturday evening last, S. O. Horton in the chair, the following-named officers were elected for the ensuing year:

The advertising columns of the first Constitutionalist recall some of the old business places. T. M. Paff dealt in cigars and tobacco, opposite Laing's hotel on Front street; Smalley & Neal, butchers, did business opposite Pound's bakery, on the same street; Leeson & Boughton sold household furniture; S. L. Horton advertised 1,000 posts and rails, "pressed and heled, cheap for cash," at William and Second streets; Peter P. Good taught stenography "or shorthand, and quick writing," by mail, "through the post office alone," for a dollar; James M. Dunn sold dry goods, provisions and fruits on Cherry street; William M. Voorhees had a drug store on Front street, opposite Pound's bakery; Insley B. Gardner kept "the old meat stand" at Front and Cherry streets; Pickell & Ramsey took up a whole column to advertise "tremendous excitement in the decline of dry goods" and furs; M. Vermeule's "hat, cap and fur emporium" on Front street also had a column; Freeman & Philpitt, of Cherry street, advertised staple and fancy groceries at "New York prices;" Chapin & Parker had a fish, poultry and vegetable market on Cherry street; George R. Pound dealt in skins "at the rear of the First National Bank;" Mrs. G. W. Stanford sold boots and shoes on Front street; Woodruff & Bainbridge kept a dry goods and grocery store; Kinyon & Schenck conducted the Plainfield Machine Shop on Main street; A. Vanderbeek sold pianos, organs and melodeons on Cherry street; L. DeKlyn kept a billiard and reading room on Front street, opposite Laing's hotel; E. W. Thrall & Co. ran a flouring, moulding and planing mill at Railroad avenue and Mechanic street; Estil & VanWinkle were in business as saddlers and harness makers on Front street; Gaston & Sutphen kept a drug store on Front street; George M. Angleman was an auctioneer in those days; Hiram Hornish had a confectionery store on Cherry street, near Front; Joe Martin advertised his horseshoeing in place, opposite P. M. French's Mill on Somerset street; John A. Staats was in the insurance business on Front street; so was John T. Lee, with an office opposite the depot; John H. VanWnkle advertised his law office over the post office; Dr. John C. Sutphen had an office with Gaston & Sutphen; James M. Voorhees was a carpenter and builder, with a shop on Mechanic street; so was James Frazer, doing business on Church street, between Third and Fourth streets; Jacob R. VanWinkle was a stationer and dealer in fancy goods on Front street; Joseph Blatz kept a beer saloon "next to the corner Front and Somerset streets; Mrs. Peter Dunn sold millinery and fancy articles on Front street; E. P. Thorn kept the Mansion House at Second and Cherry streets; N. Vars was a surveyor with an office on Cherry street; A. Vanderbeek conducted the Plainfield Marble Works on Cherry street; Perine & Doane were carpenters and builders, with a shop on Mechanic street; Thomas Smith had a hair-dressing parlor on Cherry street.

Cool at Asbury Park.

This sort of a day you feel like being in the surf. Your next opportunity will come Thursday, when the Methodist churches have their annual Sunday-school excursion to the shore. Nothing like a dip in the breakers to brace you for the Plainfield heat. The date is July 26.

Hurray for Dunellen.

NEW EXCISE BOARDS FOR NEWARK AND EAST ORANGE.

Judge Ten Eyck Names the Commissions Required by the New Bishops' Law.

Judge Ten Eyck, of the Essex County Court of Common Pleas, yesterday appointed the excise boards, required by the Bishops' law, for the cities of Newark and East Orange.

The Newark board will be made up of Richard C. Jenkinson and Eugene Ward, Republicans, and Edward Zusi and Gen. Edward A. Campbell, Democrats. The board will organize, probably with Mr. Jenkinson as president, July 24. They will hold office for two years.

The East Orange commission will consist of Henry Mills, Gilbert K. Wallace and George H. Allen. They are all members of the outgoing board of that city. Mr. Allen will hold office until the first of next January. Mr. Mills will go out in January, 1907, and Mr. Wallace will hold on until January 1, 1909.

Harry M. Harrison.

After a two weeks' illness with whooping cough, death came to Harry M. Harrison, of 27 Harmony street, yesterday afternoon. The lad was three years and four months of age and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. The funeral will be held at St. Peter's church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and the interment will follow in the cemetery at Millington.

NEWARK MAN DIVED TO HIS DEATH IN RIVER.

Body of Victim, Peter Culligan, Sank Halfway Into Thick Mud.

Elizabeth, July 20.—Peter Culligan, thirty-four years old and unmarried, dived to his death late Wednesday afternoon from the bridge spanning the Elizabeth river at Seventh street, this city. The tide was pretty low and the man's body was buried half way down in the thick mud. He was suffocated.

Those who saw him dive and who noticed that he did not come to the surface, rowed a boat to the spot and after much difficulty pulled the body out of the mud. By this time Culligan was dead. He drove a peddler's wagon for Thomas H. Fulton, Jr., a produce dealer of 706 Fourth avenue, Elizabeth.

The victim has a brother and sister who live at 172 East Kinney street, Newark. The brother came to Stiner's morgue yesterday and identified the body. It was taken to his home in Newark.

QUESTIONS FOR CANDIDATES.

State Civic Federation to Ask Men Who Want Offices What They Believe.

Orange, July 20.—The New Jersey State Civic Federation, the main offices of which are in Orange, is planning to send questions out to all candidates for State office this fall, as well as to candidates for the boards of chosen freeholders in the various counties. Questions will be propounded to the nominees for State Senators and Assemblymen in the various counties based on general conditions of policy, while to the freeholders the questions will naturally be those relating to more local affairs.

Letters have been sent out to members of the federated clubs throughout the State asking if it is thought the federation can be of use to the citizens of the State by submitting those questions and classifying the answers so that voters may know exactly how the candidates stand on vital State issues. The recipients of the letters are asked to draft a series of questions which will adequately cover the requirements and forward them to the Rev. Dr. Adolph Roeder, of Orange, who is president of the State Federation.

CLOCK BUILT IN 1676.

Owner of Timepiece with an Interesting History.

Rahway, July 20.—Mrs. E. B. Silvers, wife of Dr. Silvers, has just come into possession of an old-fashioned "Isaac Brokaw" clock, with an interesting history, from the time when Captain Morss, then owner of the timepiece, was taken prisoner by the British while he was at his home here, on what is now known as St. George's avenue, and taken to the old Sugar House prison in New York and kept there until exchanged. The blanket which he then used is in the possession now of Mrs. Amos White, a direct descendant, and from whom Mrs. Silvers purchased the clock.

Shortly after leaving the Morss house with all the plunder they could carry, the soldiers threw away the heavy frame of the clock and took the works to New York, where they sold them. The old timepiece is as accurate in pointing out the changes in seasons, dates, hours and moon changes as it was when the maker, Isaac Brokaw, put in German silver plate upon the face, where it has rested since about 1676.

Escapes a Serious Accident.

New Providence, July 20.—Frank Rosa, a driver of a delivery wagon, had an accident Wednesday which might have turned out seriously. He was driving a one-horse wagon, with a heavy top, from the freighthouse at Murray Hill with several barrels. Coming down the hill at a pretty fast gait he tried to turn the corner at South street. He turned too sharply and the wagon upset, turning completely over, with Rosa inside. The horse was stopped before it ran far and the driver emerged from the wagon top unhurt. Several passers-by helped him to right the wagon.

Charles Reilly, a freight brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, found on top of a freight train as it entered the yard at Bay street, Jersey City, early yesterday morning, an unconscious man, who at St. Francis' Hospital was found to have a broken skull. The man is about thirty-five years old. He wore a gray suit of ordinary quality and much soiled. There was no money in the man's pockets. He had a business card of Harry C. L. Sauer, insurance agent at No. 495 North Third street, Philadelphia.

A telegram sent to that address elicited the reply that Mr. Sauer was at his office. It was possible, he thought, but not probable, that the man was Robert H. Wannamaker, his bookkeeper, who was on vacation.

The police believe that the man was stealing a ride and that his skull was broken by striking a bridge, under which the train passed. This is also the opinion of the train hands, but they have no idea where the accident happened or when.

The surgeons at St. Francis' Hospital removed a piece of the man's skull during the afternoon in the hope of relieving the pressure on his brain, but he failed to rally, and they said last night that there was little or no hope of his recovery.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The "Eruption of Vesuvius" in Pain's Fireworks' Amphitheatre, Manhattan, Beach, is now finally launched for its summer season and it promises to be a good voyage favored by popular breezes. While much has been said in former years about other productions, nothing has yet been written or spoken that can convey a full idea of the grandeur and realism of the most successful of Pain's masterpieces. Each performance improvements are noticeable. Take for instance the volcano itself; from the moment the scene opens those present are kept in mind of the danger which is always impending, for at intervals flashes of light come from the crater and constant rumblings from the centre of the mountain are heard. Mob scenes have sometimes been successfully introduced in plays, but nothing approaching terror in great calamity has been shown as it is in the scene before the Cathedral just as Vesuvius bursts forth to destroy the city. The feast of lanterns and the gaily decorated Neapolitan streets give the lighter side of the picture. There are shown the happy inhabitants full of holiday spirits. They join in the water pantomime, applaud the acrobats and divers and in every way enter fully into the spirit of revelry.

Ouida's "Moths" has never lost its potency as one of the most widely read books of the age. Its story appeals to every sentiment and to all classes. It has the heart-interest so essential to a popular novel's success, and despite the fact that it was written decades ago, its hold upon the public of every country is quite as tenacious now as at any time in the zenith of its first fame. As a play it has always classed as one of the strongest attractions ever offered. For usage by stock companies it can scarcely be excelled for the special reason that there are so many "good" parts in the piece. It isn't a "star" play or a one-part drama at all. The principals all have what they love to designate as "fat parts," and this is an absolute assurance of a capital performance. In the uptown Keith & Proctor house next week one of the best productions of the summer season should be given in presenting "Moths," and it is certain that at no time has any stock organization ever equipped it better in the way of a cast. In the selection of the company and in the assignment of the parts, great stress has been laid to complete a perfect ensemble.

TO DUPLICATE STATE'S COTTAGE.

Walter Slack to Copy, Fac-simile of Washington's Home.

The governor's cottage at Sea Girt will be duplicated in Trenton. Walter Slack will build the house as a residence for himself at the corner of West State street an Parkside avenue in that city. The cost of the structure will be $18,000.

While visiting the camp at Sea Girt last week, Mr. Slack was taken through the governor's cottage by General Quincy O'M. Gillmore. He immediately formed a liking for the Colonel mansion and decided to erect one like it at once. General Gillmore will in all probability build another duplicate for himself at Princeton.

The governor's cottage is the New Jersey building that was erected at the World's Fair in St. Louis. The building is a copy of Washington's old home at Morristonw, N. J., and at the close of the St. Louis fair was taken to pieces and brought to Sea Girt and re-erected as a summer residence for the chief officer of the State.

The house is a strictly Colonial one in structure and decoration. Its inside finish is white and gold, with mahogany woodwork. Mr. Slack will also duplicate the furniture that is used, which is Colonial in style and harmonizes with its surroundings.

Mr. Slack says the house and its furnishings have an effective appearance that is seldom seen in these days. He will start building in about ten days.

THE PEOPLE ALL.
In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.
This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

CHAPTER II.

Left alone in the garden, the young woman realized the cold for the first time. She wore no wrap, and her head in its linen cap yet sparkled with a diamond frost which, in her hasty run, the trees and ivied trellis-work had showered over her. She shivered and turned to go. Fortunately progress to the house was free, the soldiers having gone above to witness the trial of the newcomers.

She slipped around to the kitchen and peered in.

"Good morning, America, is the coast clear?"

"Where are the other servants?"

"La, chile, don' ax me dat!" and the black cook's face grew blacker with anger. "Dem on'ry niggahs won't help none; dey jest loaf 'roun' de cabins like scairt woodchucks! Dar ain't de backbone ob a lizard in de whole passel ob 'em."

"But you aren't afraid, America?"

America brandished a skillet threateningly. "I'd like to see de sojer varmints dat could scare dis yer niggar!" and her head, its woolly topknot protruding from the gay turban, gave vicious nods of emphasis.

At last she said suddenly: "Do me a favoryte, honey; go wid me to de spring house, and he'p me to fetch some buttah and aigs. I mus' fix some ob dem new-fangled sandwiches. Dey ain't no'hin but hunks o' bread wid meat-leavins in de middle, but missus says it's a new style, an' I ain't neber behin' de times in my cookin'—dat's no lie!"

Together, peering cautiously about for fear of molestation, they proceeded to the spring house. Here they were confronted by a trio of militiamen, idling at the entrance. One reclined upon a statue which, dragged from its pedestal, stretched its broken length across the walk. Rising, he made a tipsy salute. "Egad! here come Beauty and the Beast!"

At the sight of the blear-eyed fellows, who made no effort to conceal their admiration, the girl would have fled; but America stood her ground. Folding both long, skinny arms over her hollow chest she glared sternly at them.

"Ef y'all ain't de beatenes' white men eber I come acrost!"

"Mind your own business! what are you, anyway?"

But America was not to be daunted. "What I am, I'm dat—and dat's what I am," was her oracular response. Then she continued: "Ain' you had no raisin'? Don' you know a lady when yo sees one?"

By St. Anthony, that I do, and no mistake!" was the maudlin answer; "and does my duckie know her dearie when she sees him?" and suddenly reeling up to the girl, he chucked her under the chin.

With a movement swift and strong, America sent him sprawling back, his body spanning the prostrate statue.

But just then a voice said: "Better learn them first, my man," and a slight, but muscular frame was interposed between the women and their assailants. The girl gave a scream—half of fright, half of relief, as she recognized the gentleman who had led the strangers this morning—he who had introduced himself as Winslow.

At assistance from this unexpected quarter, the other soldiers retreated through the shrubbery, leaving their leader alone to face the indignant rescuer.

Half soured at the situation, but too angry for caution, the bully drew sword and made a lunge at Winslow—a thrust unsteady and weak. Winslow easily parried it with his cane, but as he did so, the lace ruffles of his shirt fell over a wrist white as a woman's. At the sight of its delicacy his opponent laughed contemptuously:

"I never fight milksops; get home to your mother!" and he turned to go.

But, angered now, Winslow barred the way. "You would draw upon an unarmed man, but you sneak out of a fair, hand-to-hand fight; you are a coward!"

The man made a sudden dash for him, which, however, Winslow evaded by an agile turn. Then, before the fellow could rally his sodden senses, Winslow knocked him down, and snatched up his sword. Thus armed he faced his opponent. "Go!" he commanded, "I, myself, will return this sword to your superior officer. The man who insults women is unfit to wear it."

Paralyzed, less by fear than amazement and chagrin at being worsted in a bloodless encounter with one he thought so mean a foe, the soldier slunk away muttering vengeance belied by his hang-dog manner.

She picked up his coat, and flecking the dust from it, said:

"I am very much obliged to you, sir."

"The pleasure is mine; I was fortunate in being here."

"The trial, then, is over?"

"As a farce it began; as a farce it ended. I can only regret the embarrassment it caused you."

She laughed joyously. "Pray, sir, do not consider it. We have had so much to bear for the past two days that a trifle more does not matter."

Her voice was very near to tears.

Then, quickly recovering: "All this time, Mr. Winslow, I have the advantage. You do not know my name; I am Lavender Creighton."

She extended her hand, adding: "You must forgive my not sooner summoning my aunt; she has but just returned from Marietta."

"Then Mrs. Blennerhasset is your aunt?"

"I call her so; it is, however, the privilege of friendship only. We are old and dear friends. My mother and I have been staying with her this winter. We are en route to the new territory, and were waiting for good weather—for the spring—to continue the journey. It seems now," she added, with a little catch of breath, "that we are to go on regardless of the season. The law waits no man's pleasure—no, nor woman's, either."

Here America, returning, interrupted.

"'Scuse me, missy, but y' all better come on to de kitchen," and they followed her in silence. Then the cook placed chairs for them around the stove while she bustled about getting dinner, and this informal introduction into the family affairs delighted the guest, but Lavender apologized.

"I fear this is a poor sort of hospitality, sir, but America's domain is the only private part of the house. The soldiers bow to her will alone, and so give her a wide berth."

A few moments later the mistress of the house entered. She was a woman past the prime of life, but still attractive, her face beautified by the eyes, large, dark and full of purpose.

The stranger rose. "My name is Winslow," he said simply, "and I have the honor to present credentials from our distinguished leader, Col. Burr."

The name was open Sesame to the heart of his listener.

"You need no higher right of entry to our hearth, sir. May I ask, then, if you come to join the expedition?"

"I do, madam, and a dozen stout hearts bear me company."

He then briefly detailed the opposition they had met with.

"But the comic affair was soon over, and we are again free to proceed. There was no show of warrant for our detention."

"Can you imagine, sir, by what reason we are submitted to such outrages?"

A. E. & A. L. Giddes, the West Front street shoe dealers, handle nothing but the best makes of men's, women's and children's footgear. They are showing all the latest styles and sell them at reasonable prices. It pays to buy your shoes at this store.

No matter how good a straw hat may be, the summer showers and warm sun will soon make it untidy in appearance. If yours is that way, take it to U. B. Crane, of West Front street, and it will be made like new. He has an original process for cleaning straws and does it at a very small cost.

Summer shopping is a pleasure at I. H. Boehm's West Front street department store. It is always kept cool and obliging clerks are ready to give every attention. And then, too, the goods in all of Boehm's many departments are so attractively displayed it is a very easy matter to make selections. Drop in at any time and see for yourself.

Elizabeth Youth Drowned.

Dover, July 18.—Thomas Duke, eighteen years old, of Elizabeth, was drowned in Green Pond yesterday. Duke was one of a party of four campers. With two of his companions he rowed to a point about 100 feet from the easterly shore of the lake, where all three jumped into the water and started to swim ashore. Two of the party reached the beach, but Duke succumbed to a cramp, it is thought, and sank to the bottom. The body was recovered nearby by George Heimerle, of New York city.

Baseball is becoming the premier sport among the men at fire headquarters. The big yard back of the engine house has been levelled off, and with a twenty-foot wire screen above the back fence to keep hard high drives from going to Front street or into the neighbors' premises, the men have secured a lively little field. "Bill" Jaeger, driver of the chemical engine, has worked six of his mates and two faithful "buffs" into a swift combination. Games are played every afternoon against the pick of the junior nines, who are glad of the chance the field gives them for practice. If a game could be arranged between the cops and firemen a careful bettor might do worse than back the redshirts.

The McDowell Street Crescents will play Manager "Con" Schropfer's Laurels tomorrow afternoon, on the McDowell street field.

The Newspaper Men will play a return game with the Police nine next Tuesday afternoon. Capt. Payne has stirred his men up, and will go out after victory with a rush. He wants the game about as badly as he wants anything right now, and his cohorts feel the same way about it. Sharp, hard practice is what the cops require, especially in hitting. They will go up against a strong combination in Trenton, including a hard pitcher, and they will have to improve 300 per cent. over their showing of Wednesday to stand any chance of victory. In justice to the cops, however, it is to be said that Wednesday's game was the first game they have engaged in since 1904, and the men were not all in their right positions. For the matter of that, the positions have not really been assigned yet. Charlie Flynn, Payne, McCarty and Dobson have been picked roughly for the infield, but the positions are very likely to be shifted once or twice within the next week, as practice showing may indicate.

The Newspaper Men have accepted the challenge hurled at them by the newspaper men of Elizabeth, and W. W. St. John, who has been elected manager of the local team, is arranging the game, which will be played here. A return game will be played in Elizabeth, and if the second contest should make the standing a tie, a third game will be played here.

"Bob" Hoffman, the lanky Hercules of the pencil push, who twirled his first game for the Newspaper Men Wednesday, has shown up as the cream of the purely amateur pitchers in the neighborhod. All the veterans on the cop nine say he is the hardest pitcher they have ever batted against in police games. Hoffman has an out that breaks about half a foot from the batter, a sneaking little inshoot that foozles the hitter badly, a passable drop, and considerable speed. To put the whole combination in Class A he holds the ball well under control. He didn't pass a man Wednesday, and the game was pitched without any practice or a half-way decent warming-up, at that. With Hoffman in the box, and a purely newspaper combination against them, the local scribes should play rings around the moulders of public opinion from the county seat.

The Colored All-Americans have secured Brown, of the Rahway High School, as third baseman, and "Bill" Hammond, an ex-Cuban player, at first bag. All weak spots have been strengthened and a great game is expected Saturday on Hope Common, when they meet "the crack" Rough Riders, of Elizabeth. Warwick will be at short stop, and Brokaw in the box. Other new faces will be seen in the lineup. Game called 3:30 o'clock.

ROD AND GUN.

P. A. McVoy, of East Front street, fished in Greenbrook last night. He reports poor pickings.

F. C. Langhorne, Seeley Edsall, Den Gavin and William Pope spent yesterday fishing at Princess Bay. They landed forty-seven. The party got back to town on the 1:17 train this morning. The stay-at-homes want to know how late fish bite at Princess Bay.

Hooked Seashore Fish.

Constable John Manley combined fishing with his excursion trip to Asbury Park yesterday. He went out from Ocean Grove pier on the yacht of J. N. Thompson, and came back with twenty pounds of fine fish.

PERSONAL.

E. N. Erickson, of West Eighth street, is spending sometime at Avon, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pine, of East Second street, are spending a week at Ocean Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Depew, of Hillside avenue, is registered at Sea Cliff Inn, Nantucket, Mass.

Mrs. B. P. Legare, of South avenue, has gone to Shelten Island to spend part of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moran and family, of Grove street, are spending the summer at East Hampton, L. I.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of Lincoln place, are spending their vacation period at Dover, N. J.

Miss Ethel Bennett, of Newark, has returned home after spending a week with the Misses Fowler, of Fairview avenue.

Mrs. Sarah Burcell, of West Second street, has gone to Ocean Grove to spend the summer. She will return late in August.

A nine poung baby girl came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Swick Tuesday. Both mother and child are doing well.

Mrs. S. T. Wilson, of Sycamore avenue, and Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, of Grove street, are stopping for a couple of weeks at Oneonta, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Weeks and daughter, Martine, of West Seventh street, and Elizabeth E. Martin, of Lincoln place, are at the Richard' House, Asbury Park.

MAN KILLED; WOMAN MAY DIE.

Affected by Illuminating Gas and Two Deaths May Result.

Paterson, July 20.—Both unconscious from illuminating gas, Samuel Hough, eighty-four years old, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Elizabeth Smallwood, thirty-four years old, were found, late Wednesday afternoon, in a room at 12 Seeley street, where Hough resided.

The old man died a few minutes after reaching the General Hospital. Mrs. Smallwood, who was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, has a chance to recover. It is not known just how the accident happened, but it is supposed that after turning off the gas one of them accidentally turned it on again.

Ex-Champ To Be On the Stage.

Robert Fitzsimmons, the former heavy-weight champion of the prize ring, will leave his home in West Dunellen next week to fill a theatrical engagement at Rockaway Beach in vaudeville. Mrs. Fitzsimmons will accompany her husband, and the house will be closed until the engagement expires in the fall.

DRYDEN ON THE STAND

was none too much for the head of a great corporation. During the first two and a half years the company existed he worked for nothing. Then he received $100 monthly and worked as hard then as he works now.

Q. Did you prepare the charter of the company? A. I brought the idea here.

Q. Did you copy the charter of the London Prudential? A. Not the phraseology, but the idea.

Mr. Corbin read the second and tenth sections of the charter of the concern, which says that all policy-holders should become members of the society and had a right to vote with the stockholders.

Q. Mr. Dryden, in your testimony before the Armstrong Committee you said you regretted the elimination of the right of certain policy-holders to vote the same as stockholders? Do you entertain that oponion now? A. I do, so far as ordinary policy-holders are concerned. But when you consider that we have outstanding 6,500,000 policies, held by, perhaps, 5,000,000 policy-holders, in forty-five States, you can realize how difficult it would be to have that vast army vote.

Q. How long did your policy-holders have a right to vote? A. Until 1880, when the right to vote was limited to the stockholders by the law.

Q. Did you company have that law passed? A. We did not.

Q. At that time you had about 4v,000 policies in force? A. Yes, sir; and now we have 6,500,000.

Mr. Dryden said his company had in round numbers paid $6,500,000 in dividends on policies that were not entitled to receive any under the terms on which they were issued.

Publicity the Best Safeguard.

Q. Do you consider publicity the best safeguard against such abuses as were disclosed at the Armstrong Committee's investigation? A. There is no better and none perhaps as good.

Q. Do you favor legislation restricting the amount of capital stock of companies to, say, $2,000,000? A. Personally, I have no objection, but it might be detrimental to a young company, such as the Colonial.

After the recess Col. A. R. Kuser explained the manner in which the South Jersey Gas and Electric Company, of which the Prudential holds $3,000,000 bonds, was financed. Mr. Corbin read at the suggestion of Chairman Hillery an extract from the minutes of the hearing of the joint legislative committee at Trenton last March on the then pending Colby insurance investigation. The section read referred to George L. Record as having said in quoting the Armstrong investigation:

"Mr. Hughes in his inquiry did not trace those bond purchases, which we all know carried with them a stock bonus, to show where this stock bonus dropped before the bonds found their way into the coffers of the Prudential Insurance Company."

"Mr. Dryden, did you or any other officer or director of the Prudential to your knowledge receive any bonus on bonds purchased?" the Senator was aked.

"I can say positively that not $1 bonus or profit was received by myself or any one connected with the Prudential Company."

The committee resumed its sitting this morning. It is expected that the probing into the Prudential will be concluded and that President Frederick Frelinghuysen and other officers of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company will be examined. It is then the intention of the committee to adjourn until next September.

SAYS SCHOOL IS UNSAFE.

Cranford Educational Board Clerk Makes Statement.

Cranford, July 20.—The Board of Education met Wednesday night, when the district clerk reported receipts to July 1 of $31,705.20; expenses, $29,127.57; received from the State, $7,322.91; balance, $2,579.63. A communication from the State Board of Health stated that the State Board would enforce the penalty of $50 against physicians failing to report contagious diseases.

The clerk reported the approximate value of school property as follows: Grant School; $35,000; Sherman School, $20,000, and McKinley School, $7,500. The funded debt was $40,000. Trustee Burtis stated that the Sherman School, which was enlarged three years ago, and had cost $20,000, was in bad shape. It had to be closed up last year, he said, and the floors which had sagged jacked up. He said that the repairs now in progress were stopped, as it was found that the floor beams and timbers were not in accordance with the specifications, and it was doubtful if the building could be made safe.

It might be necessary to erect a new building, he said. The clerk was directed to request the county superintendent to meet the committee and inspect the building and advise the board as to the best means to make the building safe. The trustees and the architect should be held responsible.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, who left two weeks ago to spend the summer at Good Ground, L. I., were compelled to return home Wednesday on account of their youngest child having an attack of whooping-cough.

Lemons Continue Plentiful.

About fifty Plainfielders witnessed the Pawnee Bill show at Picton last night. It lasted just exactly an hour and a half and in the opinion of the local critics it was the punkiest Wild West exhibition that ever pulled coin from a Jerseyman's pocket. After sitting through the programme the majority of the spectators ceased to wonder why the aggregation quit Brighton Beach. The people of Easton, Pa., are being handed the same lemon today.

Slow "Governor's Day."

"Governor's Day" at Sea Girt was slow. The big politicians kept mum on political things and the small fry had nothing but airy trifles to circulate. Among those who made up the clans were Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, of Somerset; Assemblymen Tucker, Perkins and Tillman, and Gen. J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth.

COMPANY K ON A "HIKE"

The Local Soldier Boys Rear Guard in 2nd Regiment's Long March.

AT DESERTED VILLAGE

Sergt. Tranchand Tactical Officer—Sergt. Peterson Has a Good Memory.

Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, N. J., July 21.—Yesterday the regiment had its long predicted "hike." The First battalion went to Allaire, the deserted village, a distance of six and a half miles, measured by Capt. Martin's automobile chronometer. The Second battalion went to New Bedford, a distance of five miles. The Third battalion was sent to Como, a distance of three and a half miles from the State camp. Company C acted as the advance guard going out. Company I and Company M the main body, and Company K as the rear guard. The battalion's formations was the same as used on a march through an enemy's country. The battalion left camp at 7:30 and halted at Allaire at 11:30, which is excellent time for such a long march.

At Allaire Company K members examined the ruins of the old buildings and factories and they thought they were well rewarded for their long jaunt. An interesting sight was an old cross beam made of iron, on which was cast the name "James P. Allaire, 1831." Another interesting object was an old kiln with trees and vines growing through the cracks in its side.

The return march was commenced at 12:45. Company I formed the advance guard, with Companies C and K as the main body, with Company M as the rear guard. The boys had their first halt about three miles out of Allaire one hour later, where the boys enjoyed a brief rest. The battalion marched the remaining three miles in fifty-five minutes. They did not halt again until the camp was reached and then halted for good.

Yesterday afternoon there was a brigade review to Brig.-General R. Heber Brientnall, and it was followed later by the regular evening dress parade.

Sergeant Peterson is again exploding the long sixty mile march which he took part, or at least he claims to have done so, in the Porto Rican campaign during the Spanish-American war.

Some of the company boys are shooting on the rifle range to qualify before returning home.

All of the boys have had their turn splitting logs, pealing potatoes, cleaning fish and assisting the chef generally, so now they can go back home again and be of great assistance to their wives and future wives. Lieut. Kitchell was enjoying a day off yesterday, having been junior officer of the guard Thursday. One of the boys who asked Sergt. Peterson for guard duty yesterday was Jesse Dayton, who wanted to escape the long "hike."

Our new tactical officer, self-appointed, is Sergt. Tranchand and he is seen parading up one company street and won the next trying to instruct the different companies on things he knows nothing of and as the boys say never were known in military camp.

Guard detail for yesterday was Corporal Goldsack, Privaes Dayton Corporal Goldsack, Privates Dayton, Hartpence, Lambert, Loughlin, Pearsall.

Supernumerary Slingland asked for the place to escape the "hike." Walter Sampson, high private, is still telling the company boys and all visitors that he was "Governor's Orderly." Sergt. Tranchand is sergeant on guard today.

Sea Girt, July 21.—There is a possibility that an effort will be made to have the time for the encampment of each regiment increased to ten days. The good work accomplished makes it evident that to extend the time would be to add to the efficiency of the National Guard. The matter will have the consideration of the State Military Board and it is probable that an effort will be made next winter to have the plan sanctioned by act of the Legislature. General Wanser and General Murray are both in favor of the extension.

It is quiet at night in camp. Col. Collins cautioned the officers of the regiment that good order must be maintained and the men behaved themselves well after 11 o'clock. Before "taps" had been sounded, however, there was no end of fun and the "rookies" were hazed to the amusement of the entire camp.

Improving Residence.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef is making extensive improvements to his house on Prospect place. An addition is being built to make a large reception hall, a feature of which will be a broad oak staircase of modern design. A large veranda will be built on the front of the remodelled structure.

PRESS AGENT DOUD ON THE TIMBO OUTING

PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED FOR EXCURSION TO LAKE HOPATCONG.

The local weather man made glad the hearts of 150 members and friends of the Timbo Social Club today, by announcing that clear weather would prevail tomorrow. It is all that is necessary to make the organization's third annual outing to Lake Hopatcong the greatest pleasure jaunt that has ever left the city, all plans for the entertainment of the guests having been made on a lavish scale.

Presiding Officer Timbo made the request last night that all who attend come attired in the uniform of the Garibaldi Cadets, an organization in which his grandfather was bugler for many years. It consists of a green jacket, red trousers and cone hat, the outfit having first been adopted in 1360 to differentiate the members from the Pyrennese banditti.

When the coming out was first taken up, it was not intended to have any extensive programme at the lake but it has since been decided to present a reproduction of the ancient Roman games, such as were held in the Coliseum in other days. These will comprise throwing the discus, gladiatorial combats and chariot races, Henry Wierenga having promised to provide the horses and vehicles for the latter. The entertainment will conclude at dusk with a brilliant pyrotechnic spectacle, "The Burning of Rome," in which President Timbo will play the part of Nero, using a genuine Stradivarius violin presented his uncle, Michael Timbo by King Humbert.

The dinner to be served at the American House will be one of the features of the day. Before the first course is served the head of the club will give a reading from the "Rubayiat of Omar Khayam" and Frank Schuck will recite "Why Did They Reverse the Engine at High Bridge," having made a big hit with it last year. Delicacies on the bill of fare will include macaroni soup, Sicilian reed birds, Piedeseontese snipe and Neapolitan ice cream. There will also be plenty of good things in the paraphernalia car which is to form part of the train equipment.

According to Press Agent Doud, who has been working nineteen hours a day to get everything in shape, the Plainfield Band of fifteen pieces will go along. The musicians will render selections from "Il Trovatore," "Aida," "Cavaleria Rusticana" and by special request from "Doc" Voehl, the stein song from "The Prince of Pilsen."

FIRST CLASS CONCERT DREW CROWDS LAST NIGHT.

Filling the grandstand and standing crowded around the band stand, 4,000 people listened to a first class musical program of instrumental and vocal selections by LaVere's band and three soloists at Concert Park last evening. The night was absolutely breezeless, yet the crowd stayed, with occasional excursions of promenading between the numbers, until the final number had been concluded, and showed strong appreciation of the music.

The biggest hit was made by the soloists, who rendered popular pieces in connection with the program. Lew Leever made a big hit by his rendition of "When the Whip-poor-will Sings, Marguerite," and the crowd encored him five times on the Irish song, "Colleen Bawn." He has a clear tenor voice, which makes the words easily heard by all. John Driscoll was a new singer to Plainfielders, and won rounds of applause by his rendition of "Cheyenne," and a new song, "Alice, Where Art Thou Going?" William Redmond sang two of Synder's compositions, "Down Beside the Meadow Brook," and "I'd Rather Be On the Outside A-Lookin' In Than On the Inside A-Lookin' Out." The composer, Ted Snyder, who was the guest of Bandmaster LaVere, was on the stand, and was much pleased with the rendition of his compositions.

Next week fireworks will be displayed in connection with the music. The display will be in charge of the New Jersey Fireworks Co., of Hoboken, and will be an elaborate one. It is planned to have fireworks in connection with the band concert every other week. On the evenings when fireworks are to be displayed, the admission price to the grandstand will be twenty-five cents.

Colored Woman Wants Divorce.

Testimony in the suit of Mary A. Brown, colored, of this city, against her husband, William J. Brown, for divorce, was taken before John H. VanWinkle, special master in chancery, today. Coddington & Swackhamer are solicitors for the petitioner.

A.O.U.W. RATE THE SAME

SUPREME LODGE ACTION

Move of Highest Body at Montreal Does Not Apply to the Jurisdiction of New Jersey.

Grand Master Workman F. P. Fowle, of the A. O. U. W. for the jurisdiction of New Jersey, announces in a circular letter to the Plainfield lodge that the higher rate of assessments adopted by the Supreme lodge does not apply to this State. He says that the Grand lodge's action at the recent annual session at Montreal has caused a wrong impression and that therefore it is important to set the members of the craft right.

The higher rate is applicable, he says, to the supreme lodge beneficiary and the higher rate jurisdictions only. New Jersey is not only able under the present rate of assessment to provide for its own requirements but can and does pay its death claims. All claims, he adds, are paid immediately upon receipt of correct proofs. Not only is the grand lodge of the State able to do this, but the present revenue is making a handsome surplus to meet all future calls.

In concluding his address to the subordinate lodges, Grand Master Fowle says:

"The new rates do not apply in New Jersey and there is nothing to cause any change in the rates or the levying of additional assessments upon any member in this jurisdiction."

It will be recalled that the supreme lodge, at Montreal, resolved that all jurisdictions must be absolutely self-supporting. In many instances jurisdictions were falling behind and were not able without help from the supreme lodge to pay all death claims. New Jersey has not been nor is in this class.

A YOUNG LIFE ENDED.

Miss Alice Rand, Graduate of Muhlenberg, Dies in New York.

Miss Alice Rand, who graduated from the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School for Nurses a few years ago, died yesterday morning in the Presbyterian Hospital, New York. She had been there about three weeks, undergoing treatment for heart trouble but it was not generally known by her friends. News of her death came by telegram and was a great shock, the young woman having had a large number of local acquaintances.

Miss Rand's parents were missionaries for several years in Burmah and she was born at Maulmain. They are buried at Amherst, Mass., and the daughter's body will be taken to the same place. She leaves a brother, at present living in New York, but who resided here at one time.

After Horse Thief.

The police here have been asked by the New Brunswick authorities to keep their eyes open for a slick horse thief who got away with a rig belonging to W. J. McDede's livery stable, in that city, Thursday night. When hiring the rig, the man said he wanted to go over into Piscataway and drove in that direction. He was five feet six inches tall, with light complexion and a light stubby mustache. The horse is a bay cob mare, fifteen hands and one inch high. She had one white off foot and a white spot on her forehead.

Nine Hours at the Shore.

The annual excursion of the Methodist Sunday schools of this city and Dunellen will be at Asbury Park for nine hours, for the special does not leave on the return trip until 7:10. This is the longest time at the shore of any excursion so far this year—lots of time for supper on the beach. Put the lunch baskets and baby carriages in the baggage car and have more room at your seat.

House for W. T. Sharp.

W. T. Sharp has begun the erection of a handsome residence for his own use on Front street in Highland Park. The house was originally designed for Second street, in the Park, but water connections could not be obtained on that side of the property and the location was changed. The house is being erected from designs drawn by Architect F. L. Lancaster.

A Bungalow Lunch.

William Jeffery gave to W. L. Hetfield, Sr., and Sergeant-at-Arms Hezekiah Hand, of the District Court, a ride in his touring car to Berkeley Heights yesterday and entertained them at lunch in his new bungalow there. Mr. Jeffery sang for his guests and a party of neighbors after lunch, accompanied by Mr. Hetfield on the piano.

PROBE MUTUAL BENEFIT

Policyholders Have Rights in Assets Says President Frelinghuysen.

CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Deferred Dividends Not Right—Changes Likely to Be Recommended.

President Frederick Frelinghuysen, of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, was the principal witness in Newark yesterday before the New Jersey Senate committee investigating the insurance companies. The committee also examined Amzi Dodd, former President of the Mutual Benefit, and President U. H. McCarter, of the Fidelity Trust Company, and completed its hearings. It will rest until a report from David P. Fackler, actuary of the State Department of Banking and Insurance, is received, and will meet again at the call of Chairman Hillery. Mr. Fackler, it is expected, will recommend changes in the insurance laws.

It is thought that the committee will prepare several amendments of the present laws, one of which will repeal the act of 1904 enabling insurance companies to deal in industrial securities, another denning accurately the rights of policy-holders in the assets of the company, and possibly an act limiting the business of companies.

Mr. Frelinghuysen expressed on the stand the belief that, whether in mutual or stock companies, the policy-holders have positive rights in the assets of the company. This was in direct opposition to the position taken by United States Senator John F. Dryden, who, explaining the making of campaign contributions, denied that the policy-holders had any interest in those transactions.

Q. Has your company ever paid political contributions? A. Not one dollar, to my knowledge, nationay, State or local.

This was conrmed later by former President Dodd.

Q. What amounts have you paid to influence legislation? A. During the last ten years it has cost the company for this purpose $707.93, ranging from $21 in California to $400 in Mississippi. All of this was our proportionate share of expenses of the National Life Association looking after legislation in those States.

Q. Have you had any expenses of that kind in New Jersey? A. Not one dollar.

How to Correct Abuses.

"Have you any suggestions to offer relatives to an improvement in existing insurance conditions, or a change that might prevent a recurrence of the abuses recently disclosed?" asked Mr. Corbin.

"I have formed an opinion which, without being presumptuous, I think would cure most of the evils complained of: First, a strict adherence to the rule of paying all dividends annually; second, a specific statement to each policy-holder of the value of his holdings, as represented by his share of the earnings, savings and all other matters affecting the company; third, a full report of all purchases and sales, as required by one law growing out of the Armstrong investigation; fourth, an absolute prohibition of the participation of officers of the company in the profits of its investments or other financial transactions."

Q. How long has your company been in existence? A. Sixty-one years.

Q. What were your assets, according to your last report? A. In round numbers, $97,773,000.

Q. Have they increased since then? A. About $2,500,000.

Q. Making your total of about $100,000,000; and what amount of insurance have you outstanding? A. About $400,000,000.

Q. What were your receipts last year? A. $19,250,265.

Q. And your expenses? A. Death claims, annuities, dividends, $10,303,023; other expenses, including $480,000 for taxes, $2,962,000.

Q. What salary do your receive as president? A. Twenty-five thousand dollars a year. The first vice president receives $14,000 and the second vice president $12,000 a year.

Compensation of Agents.

"What compensation do your agents receive?"

"Forty per cent. of the first year's premiums and 10 per cent. of renewals for nine years. After that 4 per cent. is allowed for collections when made by the agent.

Q. Should the agent die does this allowance cease? A. Not if he dies in our service. In that event it would be paid to his estate.

Q. Is not the system of agencies rather an expensive one? A. I do not think so.

Q. Do your stockholders have a vote in the affairs of your company?

WOODHULL-MARTIN PLANS

THE CAPITAL IS $100,000

Firm to Turn Over the Business Next Friday—New Departments Are to Be Added.

Incorporation papers were placed on file yesterday in the office of Secretary of State Dickinson by the Woodhull & Martin Company, of this city. This is the name of the syndicate which succeeds the firm composed of Floyd T. Woodhull and Edson C. Martin, which has carried on a department store business here for a number of years. When the new company will actually take possession is not announced, but some statement, it is said, is likely to be made by the retiring partnership next week. It is believed that the real transfer will be made on Friday, July 27.

The capital of the new company as filed of record is $100,000. Just what sum was paid for the business and good will is not given out but it is known that the firm valued its good will at a high figure. The members of the incorporated company are Solomon Schuldenfrei, of Atlantic City; Adolph Hunt, of New York city, and Isaac Gleitzman, also of New York city.

Mr. Schuldenfrei's son is carrying on a general dry goods business in Atlantic City and it is said that the other two members of the company are engaged in wholesale lines of business in New York and will dispose of their goods to a large extent at the new company's store here.

Many changes are contemplated by the company, particularly regarding the interior arrangements of the big store in East Front street. The partition running crosswise of the store of the first floor and extending nearly half-way to the ceiling will be removed in order to give a patron a full view of the interior as he enters the place. Changes are also contemplated on the second floor. One of the first things the company will do will be to add to the assortments of goods now being handled and to introduce new lines altogether. The carpet department will be removed from the second to the first floor and women's ready made dresses and cloaks will be put where the carpet department is at present.

A report has it that Mr. Martin will remain for a time at least as buyer for the company but this cannot be confirmed. It is known that a resident manager will be selected but no one has been picked for the place as yet. A meeting of the company to elect directors was held yesterday but nothing could be learned today about the matter upon inquiry at the store.

DOG ATTACKS BUTCHER.

Dunellen Young Man Severely Bitten by a Vicious Brute.

John Stiliger, driver for J. Y. Young, a Dunellen butcher, was attacked and severely bitten by a vicious dog in Dunellen yesterday, while delivering orders. The dog, owned by Stephen Brown, sprang at Stiliger as he came down the path leading to the house. It jumped for his throat, but missed that mark and sank its teeth in Stiliger's face. His upper lip and mouth were badly torn.

The dog is a big and strong, and Stiliger had a hard time beating it off. The wounds were cauterized by a physician. The dog has given no evidences of hydrophobia, and no serious results from the bites are looked for.

Anna L. Higgins.

Anna L. Higgins, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Higgins, of 469 West Front street, died today after a brief illness. The funeral will be from the home of her parents Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9. The interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery. The child was one of eleven children. Patrolman Morris Higgins, of the local police force, is a brother.

Committee Framed Resolutions.

A committee composed of Miss Cramen, Miss Delaney and Miss Wildey, for the alumni association of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, has drawn up a set of resolutions upon the death of Miss Mary Alice Rand, who died at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, Thursday, July 19. Miss Rand was a graduate of the nurses' class at Muhlenberg in 1904, and was a nurse at the Presbyterian Hospital at the time of her death.

New Postoffice Fixtures.

The new fixtures for the postoffice are expected soon. They will be put up with all possible speed.

GOOD FEELING EXISTS IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

NO TRUTH IN REPORT THAT CAPTAINS AND MEN ARE AT LOGGERHEADS.

In connection with the transferral of the city fire captains, as ordered by the fire committee at its meeting Thursday night, considerable talk has followed to the effect that the move was partly made because of ill feeling between the captains and their men. When Chief Doane was asked about it today, he declared there was absolutely no truth in the report and added further that though there had been some trouble of this nature a few months ago, it was caused by two men who are now out of the service.

As a further evidence of good feeling between the officers and men in the various houses, the chief stated that several of the latter have spoken to him since yesterday and asked that they be transferred with the captains. A general move of this sort would be impossible and they were so informed. The answer was received in good faith and the applicants to a man declared they would do all possible to keep up the present high standard of the department.

As to the reason for the transfer order, as stated yesterday, only the committee knows why it was done and the members assert that it is a good thing occasionally.

Apropos of the assertion that Captain Feiring had become a Colbyite, this is emphatically denied by that official. He declares that he is in no way affiliated with politics.

DEDERICK GETS $200.

A verdict for $200 damages was returned yesterday afternoon for plaintiff in the case of Hezekiah W. Dererick against the Central Railroad Company, which was tried Thursday in District Court before Judge C. Addison Swift in Elizabeth. Dederick sued to recover damages for being ejected from a train in Bayonne on April 6 last, while en route to Elizabeth avenue station, that city. The only reason given by the railroad company for ejecting Mr. Dederick from the train was that the train on arriving at the Elizabethport station did not make close connection with another train to carry him to the Elizabeth avenue station.

MUST WEAR LINEN COLLARS.

Celluloid, Rubber and Paper Creations Not for Cops Any More.

The economical and easily-laundered celluloid collar is taboo in the police department; likewise the deceptive rubberoid and paper creations for the adornment of male necks. Chief of Police Kiely has issued an order confirming the men to linen collars.

"The order was issued," said Chief Kiely this morning, "because we want to keep the men up-to-date, and not like township constables. Such orders are common in police departments. The men are required to keep their shoes polished and to present a neat and cleanly appearance at all times while on duty."

Dr. Williamson's Funeral.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated at the funeral services of the late Rev. Joseph D. Williamson, held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. S. Alpaugh, of East Sixth street, at 8 o'clock last evening. The services were impressive in their simplicity, and there were several beautiful floral tributes. Services were also held at the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, at Sidney, this morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Dr. McGilvray, pastor of the church, was in charge. The interment followed in the parish cemetery at Sidney.

Real Estate Sales.

Ira L. LaRue, 152 North avenue, has sold for Rev. J. P. Taylor his New York house to C. B. Clifton, and 815 Second place to E. D. Alpaugh. He has also sold his tract of thirty-six lots at the end of Arlington avenue to Mr. Houghton, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who will improve the property. He has sold his house, 1031 Arlington avenue, to T. B. Kolb, who will make it his home.

Station House Ceiling Falls.

A big section of the ceiling in the hall of the jail room at the station house fell this morning. Nobody was in the hall at the time and a lot of debric was the only result of the accident. Not long ago a chunk of the ceiling in the reserves' room came down.

Little Daughter Buried.

Funeral services of little Marguerite Thompson, the infant daughter of John and Jennie Thompson, of 1 Halsey street, were held at the home of her parents yesterday afternoon at 2:30. The interment was at the Plainfield Avenue cemetery.

IN THE COLBYITES' CAMP

Organizations are Incomplete in Three of the Four Wards as Yet.

CHAIRMEN WANTED

Third Ward May Pick One Next Week—The Situation Throughout the County.

The Colbyites of the Third ward are without a chairman and it is planned by the executive committee, in whom the power is vested, to fill the vacancy next week. Frank E. Kinsman is vice chairman and he is likely to retain his present position. It was stated today by a member of the committee that three or four men are now being considered for the chairmanship and that from that number one will be selected. David E. Titsworth resigned the chairmanship two weeks ago. He gave as his reason for withdrawing his health and business affairs would not permit him to head the ward organization. At the same time he reassured the committee that he is heart and soul in favor of the "new idea" movement.

Another matter that will come before the Third ward committee for action will be the vacancy caused by the resignation of former Councilman E. T. Barrows. Mr. Barrows told the committee that he believes in the "new idea" movement in county and State, but does not see the need of any reform in the city government.

Elmer E. Cutting is temporary chairman of the Fourth ward committee and he is unable to say what the plans in that district are excepting that some strong man will be made permanent chairman. In that ward as in the First the organization is merely temporary.

There has been little doing in the Colbyites' camp during the week. The whirlwind automobile tour of the county planned by Judge William N. Runyon, of this city, and Thomas Debevoise, of Summit, president and vice president of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation, did not come off as scheduled on Monday. It was planned to visit Springfield, Rahway, Roselle and Cranford in order to get a line on the situations in those places. For some reason the trip was postponed.

On Thursday night the Colbyites will hold a meeting in Cranford. Among the speakers will be Judge Runyon. Other meetings are in view at various points. Some communities, it is reported, have not taken hold of the "new idea" to any considerable extent. Strong pressure was brought to bear on Mayor Furber, of Rahway, to head the movement in that place, but he has firmly declined to do so. The same condition of antipathy against reform as the Colbyites plan it is felt in Roselle. How Springfield stands is not known but reliable organization men say they do not fear any spread of the movement to that place.

Sheriff W. B. Lawrence, the regular leader in Summit, is said to feel confident that Thomas Debevoise and his friends will not be able to carry that place at the primaries in September. Reports are daily coming into the regulars' county committee that the situation is all right. On the other hand the Colbyites claim that they will have everything their own way in the major portion of the county when the time comes to vote.

Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, when asked how the situation is as viewed by the regulars remarked: "I have nothing to say; I refuse to be quoted."

Stole Church Notice Boards.

Rev. J. W. Harrison, who is acting pastor of the First Church of Christ, made complaint to the police today that two notice boards, which had been erected by the congregation at Front and Grove streets, had been stolen. They were put up with much difficulty and cannot easily be replaced. The police will try to locate them.

Her Umbrella Stolen.

An umbrella belonging to Mrs. A. E. Willard was stolen from the grandstand at the band concert last night. Mrs. Willard says she knows who got it and will take steps to compel its return unless it is brought back in a hurry.

Omit Interhaven Park Service.

The usual weekly meeting will be omitted Sunday afternoon at Interhaven Park, Miss Finnigan having been detained at Atlantic City on account of the illness of a friend.

Aged Laborer Was Drunk.

William Harrison, 62 years old, an English laborer, was arrested last night for drunkenness. Judge Runyon released him under suspended sentence.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

When the local nine goes into the game with the Potter A. C. this afternoon, there will be several changes in the players who are in uniform. In the first place, "Cap" Merwin Fagley is out of town and will be unable to scoop 'em up at short and wing 'em over to first as he did last game. Piddington, who will be on his regular job at the first station, is to act as captain of the team. Paul Brakeley is off on a vacation and his territory around third will be filled by Mahaffey, who did such good work on the slab for the Plainfield High School this season. Ed Harding will be out in left, for Lake is also among the pleasure seekers these hot July days. Ed will help the team out quite a bit at the bat, for he is handy with the willow and has been hitting the ball lately. "Cliff" Randolph will shake the curves down from his sleeve for the press works aggregation to fan at, and "Mr." Wood will render the decisions in the contest.

In accordance with due notice given by Collector George W. Day, twelve properties, principally in the borough of Dunellen, will be sold at auction for unpaid taxes, on Friday, August 17. The sale will take place at the borough building and Day will act as auctioneer. William B. LaRue, tax collector for Piscataway township, has also given notice of the sale of fifty-eight properties for unpaid taxes on the same date at Thornton's Hotel, New Market.

Mrs. James E. Touzeau is at Broadway, Warren County, to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law. Heart trouble was the cause of his death, and death came with especial suddenness as he was on his way to market when he was overcome by an attack and dropped dead by the roadside. His body was found by a R. F. D. mail carrier.

Joel Giddes, J. Russell Garretson and Fred Kirchner, who set out Monday for a week's camping trip to Ocean Grove, have returned home prematurely. They say that as long as St. Swithin is restless in his grave they'd as soon not be under canvas, but they intend to finish up that camping trip later, when there is less rain.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the First Baptist church, New Market, has gone on his summer vacation with his family. He will spend the time at Beechwood, York County, Maine, and will be gone the remainder of the month.

About fifty members of Levering & Garrigues' shop forces are spending the day picnicking at John Castel's farm. A mammoth clam bake is in order for this evening.

Benjamin Dodwell, who has been on the sick list for the past week, resumed work yesterday. He is employed by the U. S. Express Co. at Westfield.

"Jehovah Departed" will be the topic at the Seventh-Day Baptist prayer meeting to be held at New Market this afternoon.

Miss Millie Martin, of Brooklyn, has returned home after spending the month as the guest of Mrs Herbert H. Williams.

William Giddes has returned after spending two weeks at Ocean Grove. He was registered at the Princeton House.

Mrs. Frank Wilson and daughter, Miss Adelaide Wilson, are visiting Mrs. Wilson's parents at Easton, Pa.

D. L. Gulick spent yesterday at Elizabeth on business.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

With fair weather the annual union excursion of the several Sunday-schools from here, together with the schools of Westfield, should have a record breaking crowd when they take their annual jaunt to Asbury Park Wednesday. This is ideal excursion weather.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be as usual: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U., 7:15 p. m.; evening sermon, 8 o'clock.

The baseball attractions for this afternoon are the locals vs. Rahway Y. M. C. A. game on the home grounds, Daabsters vs. Philadelphia Giants at Crescent Oval.

The bishops' law has reduced the expenses of the local police department. Only one officer is to be kept on duty Sundays, instead of two as formerly.

John Wade will have charge of the Saturday night prayer meetings at the Methodist church while Rev. A. H. Cook is enjoying his vacation.

Miss Mary Jahn will begin her two weeks' vacation Monday, part of which will be spent enjoying the cooling breezes at Asbury Park.

Only the regular routine township business was transacted at the meeting of the Township Committee held last night in the town rooms.

Mrs. Ferdinand Schmidt, of Forest avenue, is entertaining her niece and nephew from Philadelphia, for two weeks.

Rev. Mr. Graves, a former pastor, will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church tomorrow, at both services.

The band concert at Plainfield last night, was a pleasure enjoyed by many of the local lovers of music.

Tomorrow promises to be another one of those dry Sundays as the lid is not off yet.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Baptist church sheds are badly in need of a new roof. Perhaps the enterprising Young People's Club will give another entertainment and put on a covering of roof-paper which is durable and unexpensive, and would quite shelter the horses through the winter. The work would make the shed in keeping with the church, which recently had a new coat of paint and was put in thorough order.

See the game this afternoon at 3:30 on Crescent Oval between the Philadelphia Quaker Giants and the home team. Phil. Smith will be the slab artist for Plainfield. Come out and see a fast game.

Rev. C. W. F. Attlee, pastor of the Baptist church, will preach morning and evening tomorrow. Subject for the morning: "Spoiling the Amalekites;" evening subject: "Troubled, Though Righteous."

J. H. Jones has bought a new horse to take the place of the one which died recently.

Miss Margaret Hays, of "The Farm," is spending some time in the Pocono Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Prine will leave here to go to housekeeping on Front street, Plainfield.

Frank Faulks has made a new lawn around his house.

Mrs. George Ryno visited her farm here recently.

Fall of Priest's Father Fatal.

New Brunswick, July 21.—Patrick Roache, who fell down the elevator shaft at the baggage-room of the Pennsylvania Railroad station, this city, Thursday afternoon, died yesterday morning from his injuries. Mr. Roache was seventy-three years old, and the last thirty-eight years has been connected with the Adams Express Company. He and Mrs. Roache celebrated their golden wedding on June 30. Mr. Roache leaves a widow and four children, one of whom, Rev. Thomas Roache, is one of the best known priests of the Trenton diocese, having held a number of seashore charges.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chandler, of Johnston Drive, have gone to Budd's Lake for a few days.

E. C. Martin and family, of Compton avenue, have gone to the Trousand Islands to spend the rest of the month.

HOBOKEN TO KEEP UP SCREENS.

Will Be Allowed to Do So, According to Ruling of an Acting Recorder.

Hoboken, July 21.—There is every possibility that this city will be an oasis for any thirsty mortal that chooses to visit here tomorrow for, according to a ruling made by Acting Recorder Laverty yesterday, the saloon-keepers may keep up their screens in their places of business, and it will be practically impossible for the police to prevent the selling of liquor, under such conditions. Eight saloon-keepers were arraigned before the recorder by Chief of Police Hayes yesterday, all charged with having their screens up last Sunday. Three of the cases were tried and dismissed, and then Chief Hayes said:

"Under your ruling these cases are farcical, and I will not allow another policeman to go on the stand, nor will I continue with the other cases."

Horace L. Allen, counsel for the liquor dealers, said he would show that the action of the police in arresting the saloon-keepers was farcical. He based his claim on that part of the law which provides that the licensing body of a town or city must first order the screens down before the police have a right to make arrests. Acting Recorder Laverty agreed with Mr. Allen in this contention, and all of the cases were dismissed.

Immediately after the court proceedings were over Thomas J. Lynch, representing the Civic Righteousness League of Hudson county, called upon Chief Hayes and complimented him for his vigilant actions. He then stated that he would make it his business to see that the Common Council of Hoboken passed an ordinance calling for the removal of the screens. He declared he would force the councilmen to do so whether they were willing or not, and then stated that he was of the opinion that all of the members of the council were liable to indictment for not having done so already.

He left, declaring that he would consult Supreme Court Justice Fort, if necessary, and endeavor to have the councilmen indicted should they fail to pass the necessary ordinance. The Civic Righteousness League is a recently organized body, the membership of which includes almost all of the prominent churches in Hudson county. Mr. Lynch is the representative for Hoboken and North Hudson.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Nearly seven years ago, Wednesday evening, Nov. 29, 1899, the premiere of Klaw & Erlanger's great production of "Ben-Hur," the most successful drama ever presented on the English-speaking stage, occurred at the Broadway theatre. Monday evening, October 1, this same firm will present the companion drama to "Ben-Hur," Joseph I. C. Clarke's version of Gen. Lew Wallace's romantic novel, "The Prince of India," at this house for the first time in New York. "The Prince of India" was presented at the Colonial theatre in Chicago last February and made a tremendous sensation in that city and throughout the middle West. It proved to be not only a wonderfully powerful dramatic story, but at the same time the greatest production ever staged in America from the scenic standpoint. For two months it played to the capacity of the Colonial theatre and subsequently was seen for one month in Pittsburg and Baltimore. In the latter cities its average receipts exceeded $16,000 a week. These figures give some conception of the number of people who saw the play in these places. The time of the action of "The Prince of India" is the year 1453, and the locale of the scenes is Constantinople and the Bosphorus just prior to, and during, the siege and fall of this historic city under the onslaught of the Turks, led by Mahommed, the Conqueror. Over this giant struggle between the Christian,s led by the last Constantine, and the Turks under Mahommed, Gen. Wallace cast a mystic glow by introducing the haunting figure of the Wandering Jew, whose legend has been the riddle of the ages since the Great Sacrifice on Calvary. In Gen. Wallace's story the prince is evidently the symbol of the universal desire of man for a resting place for the soul in a single and pure belief—hence a protest against the crimes committed in the course of religious conflict. Gen. Wallace's handling of the mystic and the human in this strage legendary being is masterly and Mr. Clarke very cleverly maintains the strength of this character in the play. The Wanderer gives the title both to the book and the play, for it is he who appears in these days of impending doom as the marvelously rich and gifter Prince of India, possessing a most commanding influence on the events of the story.

The first International Reunion of Infant Incubator graduates are to greet their Alma Mater at the Infant Incubator Institution in Dreamland, Coney Island, on Sunday, July 29. From the head physicians of the Infant Incubator Company which have become famous through the saving of lives at the Infant Incubator Institutions located in all of the large cities of America where they have saved many lives which rarely had any chances in this world due to the scientific care and attention which the infants received while in the care of those humanitarian institutions, which is recognized by the medical fraternity to have done more good for infantile life and which are the only institutions having the facilities of taking care of such infants in Europe and the United States, comes the interesting announcement of the grandest international reunion of Infant Incubator Graduotes, to be held at that great amusement mecca on Sunday, July 29.

Charles J. Ross and Joseph Coyne, comedians, who act father and son respectively (if not respectfully) in "The Social Whirl," at the Casino, New York, once upon a time—more years ago than either cares to admit—were in the same company and played parts in which their relation to each other was just the opposite from what it is now. At that time the juvenile looking Coyne acted the father and the silver-haired Ross (his locks were dark at that time) played the son.

"It was in a piece called 'The Proper Caper,'" said Ross the other night in the dressing room at the Casino that he and Coyne share together.

"Not the farce of that name," interjected Coyne, "but a musical comedy written by a man named C. N. Edwards. It was a 'lemon,' too."

"Yes," resumed Ross, "in reality it was anything but the 'proper caper' so far as playwrighting went. He stranded in Cincinnati—an awful fate—many miles from home, with no parents to guide us—alone in the snow. We had to do some great mental capering to know how to get back to Broadway."

"I would not have been so bad if we had not been put out of the hotel," broke in Coyne. "If that landlady had not been so mercenary everything would have been just lovely. Bue she actually wanted money. I've disliked that woman ever since."

"And she was the mother of one of our present most famous actresses, too," continued Ross. "No, I won't mention her name. One who now so feelingly portrays the lovelorn daughter of the Capulets would not care to have those hash days recalled."

"Her maternal ancestor had no such thought for our feeling," said Coyne with asperity.

"Cease," commanded Ross, "these are not 'The Proper Caper' days. I am playing the father now. But say, those were the great days, though, weren't they?"

"Well, maybe," half acquiesced Coyne, "but I am very well satisfied at being on Broadway and in 'The 17 BREWERIES IN BIG BEER TRUST.

Formal announcement of the organization of a beer trust, representing a combination of seventeen breweries, was made yesterday by the banking house of George W. Young & Co. and the law firm of Holm, Smith, Whitlock & Scarff.

The individual giants of the brewing business, like Ehret's, Ruppert's, Doelger's, Ringler's, the Lion and Bernheimer & Schwartz have not gone into the combine, but they propose to stand together to meet any act of aggression made by the trust.

The largest of the seventeen breweries which have entered the combine are the Consumers' Brewing Company, Limited; the Excelsion Brewing Company. The names of the other fourteen are withheld for the present by the promoters.

It is said in the formal announcement, signed by the law firm which attended to the work of the combination, that the seventeen breweries have an aggregate sale of 2,300,000 barrels per annum. Seven of the seventeen are what is known as co-operative breweries, in which more than 2,000 saloons have an interest and sell their beer exclusively.

The combination is to be known as the Breweries Bond and Securities Company. It has taken offices at No. 52 Broadway. The capital stock is $12,000,000, of which $6,000,000 is 6 per cent. noncomulative preferred stock, and $6,000,000 common stock. There is also a bond issue of $15,500,000, divided into two series.

It is understood that an effort will be made to bring into the consolidation all the large breweries like Ehret's, Ruppert's and the others, which have so far resisted all overtures made by the trust.

RESTORING FRIGATE.

"Old Ironsides" to Be Put in Her Former Condition.

Boston, uly 21.—Old Ironsides, which was saved from the destruction recommended by Secretary Bonaparte by a petition signed by over 30,000 citizens of Massachusetts, has been towed from Pier 1, where she has been moored for the last few years, to Pier 9, at the lower end of the navy yard. The work of renovation will be begun at once by Naval Constructor Snow under Congress' appropriation of $100,000 to have the old frigate fitted up as she was when she roamed the seas, flying the flag of victory and winning fame and glory for the United States Navy.

Naval Constructor Snow has written to the Portsmouth Navy Yard and to the Bureau of Construction and Repairs at Washington, asking that all plans and pictures of the old frigate be sent to him. He already has in his possession pictures dating back to 1817, and some of the original plans. From these he intends to change the frigate into her former self. The house is to be removed from the spar deck and the decks caulked and made tight. The hull is to be fitted with new timbers.

It is believed it will take over a year to put the ship into her former condition and during that time the sum appropriated by Congress will have to be increased. During the time that she is undergoing repairs visitors will be barred from the ship.

SHED HOTEL SILVER.

Forks, Spoons, Ladles Drop When He Was Tickled.

George Block, a waiter at the Hotel Ricadonna, Coney Island, and living at No. 23 Emmons avenue, at the resort, was unmasked Thursday night by a fellow waiter, who tickled him in the ribs, whereupon silver knives, forks, spoons and soup ladles scattered over the floor.

The merry jingle of the silver was heard all over the hotel. Ex-Judge Heyman, president of the hotel company, ran to find the cause of the silvery jingle. He saw various articles still dropping from Block's capacious clothes.

When arraigned at the police station, Block said the waiters had "to look after their own end" and that of special guests, and when they cast their eyes on a nice piece of silver they would tuck it carefully away in their pocket and serve it to the special patrons. President Heyman charged Block with grand larceny and he was locked up.

TRIED TO DIE TOGETHER.

Young Lovers Drink Chloroform—Girl Dead; Boy Will Recover.

Toledo, July 21.—The body of nineteen-year-old Mayme Wilson and the unconscious form of Oscar Brenneman, also ninteen, were found lying side by side Thursday in the haymow of a barn on the Wilson farm in Van Wert County.

The girl had taken half the contents of a bottle of chloroform, and the young man had inhaled the fumes of the remainder. He will recover.

A letter written by the girl to her parents stated that she and her lover had resolved to die so they could be in Paradise together.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Plainfield People.

There are days of dizziness;

Spells of headache, sideache, backache;

Sometimes rheumatic pains.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Here is proof in Plainfield.

James Harding, employed at the gas works, and living at 119 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Hard backaches, pains in the head, and, at times, dizzy spells, bothered me for several months. The aches became so sharp and painful that I was in no condition to work. Reading of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills I went to Randolph's pharmacy and got a box and began using them. I am very glad to state that they relieved me from all symptoms of kidney complaint and I am of the belief that it was the treatement with Doan's Kidney Pills alone that cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MORAN ON ICE MEN'S TRAIL.

Boston, July 21.—District Attorney John B. Moran has summoned two stenographers, Edward J. Morse and Whitman M. Collins, to report at his office on July 26, on which date the county prosecutor will take up evidence tending to prove that the Boston ice dealers have joined in an illegal combination to increase the price of ice.

The two stenographers in question were employed, Mr. Moran has learned, by the Massachusetts Ice Dealers' Association to make a full record of all that transpired at the meeting at the American House April 5, when it was decided to increase the price of ice, and the district attorney has ordered them to produce all stenographic notes and memoranda concerning this meeting.

KILLED VICTIM IN SLEEP.

Cut Father-in-Law's Throat and Then Disembowelled Him.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 21.—Rangers Brooks and Wheeler Thursday announced the capture by them of Quijada, who, it is alleged, on Thursday night committed a most heinous murder in Agua Prieta, Mex., a few yards south of the international line.

It is charged that Quijada approached the bedside of his wife's father, Marceline Uribe, cut his throat and then disembowelled him. So expeditiously was the deed accomplished that Mrs. Quijada, who was in the same room, did not awaken and knew nothing of the crime until morning. Then she fainted.

No motive for the crime is known.

BIG FIRE IN DUNDEE.

1,000,000 Gallons of Whiskey Destroyed.

Dundee, Scotland, July 21.—One of the most destructive fires that ever occurred in Scotland started in this city Thursday night in the bonded warehouse of James Watson & Co. It is estimated that damage to the amount of $1,500,000 has been done.

Five acres of buildings were on fire and over 1,000,000 gallons of whiskey was destroyed. Whiskey ran from the windows in blazing streams.

THE HOE FOR JOE.

J. Medill Patterson Will Study to Be a Farmer.

Chicago, July 21.—Joseph Medill Patterson, millionaire Socialist, who called himself a drone the other day because he was able to live in luxury off other folk's labor, has decided to become a farmer. He has arranged to take a course in agriculture at the University of Wisconsin next winter. Then he will become a horny-handed son of toil on an Illinois farm of several thousand acres which his friends declare he is planning to purchase.

Incidentally he will write a book on Socialism and take a flyer in German while learning to follow the plough. Patterson declares that the chemistry of soils and the nutritive value of foods are subjects that have always interested him and that it is for this reason rather than on account of Socialistic tendencies that has led him to the decision to take up the simple life.

FIGHTS FOR GIRL.

Young Man Attacks Insulters and Is Locked Up.

After having been repeatedly insulted by a gang of tough young men who hang about 123d street, New York, Mrs. Hattie Levy, twenty-four years old, of 58 West 116th street, in that city, decided Thursday night that when she went walking she would have a protector with her. Accordingly, Benjamin Lebigg, twenty-two years old, of 121 West 116th street, followed Mrs. Levy at a short distance.

The gang began to insult the young woman again, and Lebigg rushed at once of the young men. They were having a rough-and-tumble fight when Policeman Dunn arrived and placed both under arrest. Lebigg's antagonist said he was Morris Cusick, eighteen years old, of 166 West 120th street. Both were bailed out later.

SHOES LEAD TO HER ARREST.

Clerk Tells Detective Address of Woman Accused of $1,300 Theft.

Mary Blair, of 167 East 103 street, New York, was arrested Thursday night on a charge made by Louis Ahlston, of 28 West Ninety-third street, who says the young woman robbed him of $1,300 in cash on the night of July 17.

On the night in question, Ahlston purchased a pair of new shoes for the woman at a shore store on Third avenue, near 108th street, the latter leaving her old shoes to be sent home. The next morning, Ahlston says, he discovered that both his money and the woman were gone.

He reported the matter to headquarters, and detectives, paying a visit to the shoe store, found a clerk with a good memory, who recalled the address the woman had given.

MAHER WINS ECLIPSE.

Pilots Llangibby to Victory Yesterday at Sandown Park.

London, July 21.—Llangibby, ridden by Maher, the American jockey, won the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park yesterday.

Beppo was second and Wombwell was third. Nine horses started.

"Skeets" Martin, an American, rode Wombwell. The betting previous to the start was 2 to 1 against Llangibby, which was an easy winner.

The Eclipse Stakes are of 10,000 sovereigns, the owner of the second horse to receive 500 sovereigns, the owner of the third horse 100 sovereigns, and the nominator of the winner 500 sovereigns out of the stakes; for three and four year olds; the distance about one mile and a quarter.

PATERSON AFTER ICE TRUST.

Butchers There Arrange for Supply From Independents.

Paterson, July 21.—The ice trust in Paterson is doomed to suffer defeat at the hands of the local butchers unless the plans miscarry. A committee of the Butchers' Association has arranged to get its supply of ice from independent dealers out of town, and has decided to purchase ice from the trust only when absolutely necessary.

Mayor Johnson has taken the matter in hand and communicated with a number of dealers out of town. He has their promise to deliver ice up to four carloads daily to the butchers at a fair price.

JOHN D. COMING HOME.

Means to Return to France—Has Written Up His Travels.

Campiegne, France, July 21.—John D. Rockafeller and his family left Compiegne yesterday morning to return to New York. Mr. Rockefeller declared that he was enchanted with his sojourn here and would probably return for another visit next year. He has written an article setting forth the impressions gained on his travels in France. A German periodical offered him a big price for the right to publish it, but Mr. Rockefeller declined the offer.

Elbert Arthur Dead.

Northport, L. I., July 21.—Elbert Arthur, former Supervisor of the town of Huntington, died suddenly Thursday night on board his yacht at Oyster Bay. He was 77 years old, and was formerly prominent in Democratic politics. He was a wealthy widower and leaves one son, former Supervisor John W. Arthur.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Whatever the occasion may be, A. F. Naylor can supply the music fitting to it. East Fifth street.

The Kensington Hotel, North avenue, is famed throughout New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and some other States, as a perfect hostelry.

High grade coal for immediate or fall delivery can be secured at Nash's coal office on Park avenue. Place your order now and take advantage of the summer rates.

For the very best groceries at the lowest prices, leave your orders with W. W. Dunn, Duer street and Lincoln place. They will be carefully filled and delivered free.

It's hard to be comfortable in the barber's chair this hot weather. But if you get shaved at Maynard's, on North avenue, you will sit in the coolth during the entore operation.

The choicest borough properties can be bought and rented through the real estate offices of George F. Brown, of Somerset street. If you're planning to live across the brook, give him a call.

For bargains in bicycles and sporting goods, you need go no further than S. Frutch's West Front street store. He buys in large quantities and is enabled to give the purchasers the advantage.

John F. Koch, the butcher on Watchung avenue, has high grade meats properly kept during the hot weather. Telephone him your order instead of walking down town in the heat of your marketing.

If you contemplate a camping trip as an outing, you will need some appropriate shirts, neckwear and perhaps a cap. If so, drop in James R. Blair's "Town Toggery" and see if you can't select something from his large stock.

The wise family man puts all his silver plate and other valuables in the City National Bank's vaults before closing his house and going away for the summer. As a wise man he also keeps his account at the bank. The best place of deposit he could find.

Worth & Marsh, the Somerset street hardware dealers, want every man and woman in town to see their patented window and door screens. They are just what you have been looking for and it is surprising how cheap they can be bought. Just drop around and be shown.

Plainfielders in need of a trunk should see the large line carried by Shirley & Johnston in the Babcock building. Everyone is guaranteed because they are made by reliable firms. They come in all sizes and at all prices. Shirley & Johnston are the awning makers you have heard about.

Smalley Brothers, proprietors of the City Market, would like your patronage. They know how to take care of it, having catered for years to people in every part of the city, giving only the best meats, poultry and provisions. A trial with them is all that is necessary to show you that they are reliable.

Laundry work done at the American Steam Laundry gives satisfaction. Harry Marshall, the manager, will arrange to have family washing called for at the house each week, if you don't want to have the house made hotter by a wash day heat from the kitchen on Mondays. Fashionable finish on neck linen.

PACKINGTOWN IMPROVED.

Secretary Wilson Says Conditions Grow Better Daily.

Washington, July 21.—"Conditions in the packing plants are steadily improving," said Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, on his return from inspecting the packing plants in the west. "I went carefully through the plants in Chicago and elsewhere, both those doing an interstate business and the smaller plants. All these plants are improving daily."

Secretary Wilson said the meat inspection regulations will be prepared and ready for the public Monday or Tuesday. They will be so simple that they cannot be misunderstood, and hence easily enforced, Mr. Wilson added.

Cranford Committee Meeting.

Cranford, July 21.—The Township Committee met Wednesday night and awarded contracts for building sewers on Hamilton, Elizabeth and John streets to J. N. Jackson at $1,689. Charles Nick was appointed sewer inspector and G. E. Ludlow, E. G. Maroney and Isaac Winans road inspectors. Treasurer E. G. Woodling paid over the money to Dr. J. K. MacConnell for the triangular plot of land on Eastman street, and the deed was signed dedicating the land for a public park.

Needn't Tell Her Age.

Columbus, O., July 21.—Samuel L. Black, Judge of the Probate Court, has ruled the question of her age put to Miss Tennie Frisloe in the trial of her suit to recover money and which she refused to answer was not material and ordered her release from jail, to which she was committed for contempt. Miss Frisloe walked triumphantly from court with the secret securely locked in her little bosom. She says she will win her suit, too, now.

Plainfield, N. J., July 21, 1906.

It is reported that the Bishops' bill has so effected the trade of Elizabeth saloons that one out of every six of the places will have to quit business. Several of the roadhouse proprietors it is added have already signified their intention of shutting up shop. Thus another good result of the new law is to be seen.

A newspaper in Elizabeth which is booming an "old home week" enterprise suggests that the first day of the carnival be known as "Plainfield Day." It is commendable to see the county seat get a stir on once in a while but it is hardly to be imagined that Plainfield would want to help make a noise in a graveyard.

John C. Holder.

After an illness lasting but a week, John C. Holder, a former resident of this city, died at his home in Roseville, a suburb of Newark, late Thursday evening. The cause of death was locomotor ataxia. He was a month over seventy years of age. Mr. Holder was a devout churchman, having been an active member of Trinity Reformed church during his residence in this city, and identifying himself with the Roseville Presbyterian church, after he moved from here. In early life he was a school teacher, following this vocation for thirty years. He is survived by a widow and eight children, four sons and four daughters. Two of the sons, Abraham K. Holder, of East Second street, and Hubert N. Holder, of West Fifth street, reside in this city. Mrs. John G. Taylor, of East Fifth street, is a daughter. Funeral services will be held at his home in Roseville tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A Tribute.

In the morning of her earthly life, Miss Alice Rand passed peacefully into the spirit world Friday, July 20. She had been at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, about three weeks for treatment of heart trouble. She will be taken to Amherst, Mass., where her parents lie buried. They were Baptist missionaries for several years in Burmah, where their daughter was born at Maulmain. Her early death brings sorrow to the hearts of a large circle of intimate friends. Her cheerful presence and tender sympathy in the sick room will be a lasting memory with those to whom she so kindly ministered. In her New England home life she manifested those charming characteristics which made her the joy and light of the family circle.

None knew her but to love her,
None named her but to praise.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, has returned home from St. Louis, where he has been making metal tests for the government.

Miss Maude E. Swilling, of Lavonia, Georgia, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Morse, 604 Washington street. At present Miss Morse and her niece, Miss Swilling, are at Nyack, on the Hudson, attending a convention of the Christian Alliance Church.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

The third number of the Constitutionalist, on January 16, 1868, had the following editorial:

"Senatorial Stars."

"New Jersey is most shamefully misrepresented in the Senate of the United States. One of those radical luminaries, Cattell, has electrified the world, 'and the rest of mankind' with a speech, in which he endeavored to prove, not that the earth rested upon the backs of four elephants, but 'that the resumption of specie payment could never come from the contraction of paper currency. 'Wonderful genius. Matchless statesman! To secure gold and silver we must augment the volume of irredeemible paper. That is worthy of a Cattell, and can only find counterpart in the logic of his colleague, Frelinghuysen, who deems a State anti-Republican without negro suffrage, and styles the African a higher type of manhood."

Some news items:

"We are pleased to greet the return of our esteemed townsman, James Clark, Esq., who has been on a business trip of several weeks duration to the West."

"We learn that a movement is on foot to provide Plainfield with street lamps. That is a move in the right direction, if it can be accomplished without burdensome taxation."

"An anti-monopoly party is projected in this State. A convention is called to meet at Trenton January 22nd. E. W. Runyon signs the call on behalf of Union county. We know not the platform of principles, but hope it won't have the everlasting negro, underneath, alongside or on top."

"Grand Promenade Concert—The members of 'Gazelle Engine Co., No. 1,' of this place, will give a Grand Promenade Concert at Laing's Hall, on Thursday evening, February 20. This will be one of the finest affairs of the season. Seunderhalft's Brass Band, of Newark, has been engaged for the occasion, and as the Gazelle boys know how to get up an affair of this kind, a good time may be expected. Committees are appointed to make all the necessary arrangements, due notice of which will be given."

"A friend handed us a card the other day, on which was inscribed the name of 'S. K. Spencer, Supt. of Central Park Garden and Restaurant, N. Y.' If any of our Plainfield boys, while visiting the city, should give 'Sam' a call they will find him a first rate fellow and one who knows how to keep a hotel."

"The 'Scotch Plains Theft Detecting Society' held their regular yearly meeting at the Lecture Room, Scotch Plains, Saturday evening, and the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year. Dr. Jos. Clark, President; G. R. Nichols, Vice President; W. H. Brower, Treasurer; and O. H. Putnam, Secretary.

"This Society has been in existence for a number of years, and always act with united exertions to hunt up thieves and stolen property.—They are about to make application to the Legislature for a charter with power to make the Society a complete terror to all thieves. The limits of the society for membership extends three miles around the centre of the village any anyone living within these limits, and not being a member, can become so by applying to the President or Secretary, or presenting himself at the regular meeting and complying with the rules of the constitution. The regular meetings are held on the first Monday of every month, at 7½ o'clock, in the Lecture Room of the village."

"The following gentlemen were elected Directors of the First National Bank of Plainfield, for the ensuing year, at the annual election, held at the Bank on Tuesday of last week: Zachariah Webster, Alfred Berry, John D. Titsworth, Jeremiah R. Van Deventer, William McD. Coriell, E. W. Runyon, Manning Stelle, John Simpson and Isaac S. Dunham.

"A large audience listened to the Rev. Mr. Tiffany's lecture at Laing's Hall, on Tuesday evening. The gentleman advanced many sound ideas and clothed them in beautiful language. His reading was excellent, especially that of the 'Song of the Shirt,' but we thought, at times, he soared so high on 'spread-eagle' wings as to lose sight of his subject. Some of his companions were also hard strained.

"The citizens of Princeton are agitating the question of introducing water into that place."

DOCTORS ARE BAFFLED BY SLEEPING WOMAN.

Strange Trance of Burlington Invalid After Three Days' Remains Unbroken.

Burlington, July 21.—Kept alive by liquid foods given her in glass tubes through her nose, Mrs. Nathan Marter, of this city, is still sleeping and so far efforts to arouse her from the trance into which she fell last Tuesday morning, have been unavailing.

For more than three days now, Mrs. Marter has remained unconscious, totally unaware of what is going on around her and unresponsive to the words and carresses of her grieving husband and daughter Margery, who is 14 years old.

The nurses and physicians in attendance were surprised to see a slight improvement in the condition of the sleeper this morning when the convulsions in which she has been tossing almost constantly for two days, passed off. This afternoon she was sleeping peacefully although was extreme lyweak.

Physicians are certain that Mrs. Marter's prolonged sleep has been caused by brain trouble, but they have not as yet been able to decide upon the exact nature of the malady.

When but a child, Mrs. Marter fell and struck the front of her head a sharp blow. Soon after that she was affected with severe pains in the head which the strongest of medicine failed to relieve.

Accompanying the pains there came a slow but gradually increasing dullening of the vision.

Philadelphia specialists operated upon her head but were unable to afford any permanet relief and she became worse as time passed.

A few years ago the affliction had reached such a stage as to totally destroy the sige of one eye and the other has since been so affected that she has not been able to distinguish anything and has recognized her friends only by their voices.

Violent headaches have affected Mrs. Marter more of late than usual, and she has enjoyed but little rest for the last month or more.

It was after one of these spells with her head that Mrs. Marter was taken with a strange drowsiness last Tuesday morning that she seemed unable to shake off. As she lay down on the couch for a moment to rest, she said to her husband:

"If I don't wake up soon yoy had beter call the doctor."

A few hours later Mr. Marter found her in a heavy slumber, but, thinking that she was tired and would be benefited by the rest, he did not arouse her. It was late in the afternoon that Margery, the daughter, became alarmed because her mother had slept so long, and unsuccessfully tried to awaken her.

Dr. J. M. Davis was then summoned, and when he failed to bring the sleeper to consciousness, Dr. J. E. Blair was called in consultation, but without results.

The doctors are of the opinion that the trouble may be from a tumor on the brain or from the decaying of the brain tissues, but they are by no means positive of this.

State's Exhibit For Fair.

Trenton, July 21.—The New Jersey commission to arrange for an exhibit at the Jamestown Tercentennial awarded the contract for erecting the New Jersey building to R. C. Strahlow & Co., of Norfolk, Va., for $17,797, as the lowest bidder. The building will be of Colonial design and similar in plan to the New Jersey building at the St. Louis Exposition. New Jersey will spend $75,000 for her Jamestown display.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Lew Dockstader's big minstrel troupe will open its season at Jacob's theatre, Elizabeth, Monday night. All the old favorites including Neil O'Brien, John King, Manuel Romaine, Matt Keefe and the Foley boys, will be seen in the circle. Lew has promised to sing something else beside "Everybody Works But Father."

During August the following attractions will be seen at the New Plainfield: 4, "Queen of the Highbinders;" 9, "Seekers of the Police;" 11, "A Desperate Chance;" 14, Haverley's minstrels; 16, "At Cripple Creek;" 18, York and Adams in a new musical comedy; 19, Neil Burgess in a revival of "The County Fair;" 21, "For Her Children's Sake;" 23, Billy Van and Rose Beaumont in "The Errand Boy;" 24, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird;" 25, Florence Bindley in a new play; 28, "Wonderland;" 29, "The Marriage of Kitty;" 30, "The Girl from Broadway;" 31, "The Little Duchess."

Treasurer Sam Cunningham has returned from Philadelphia to attend to the preliminaries in opening up the house. Manager Counihan is still enjoying daily dips in the surf at Atlantic City but will move up this way next week.

Lew Fields has gone abroad and before returning expects to capture several famous English players for the all-star company which he is to present in musical comedy under Shubert direction at his recently-acquired Herald Square theatre in New York. Mr. Fields is working with a view to having a greater company than the one that he and Joseph Weber made renowned the world over several years ago at Weber & Fields' Music Hall.

BISHOPS' BILL IS CLOSING SALOONS.

One in Every Six Elizabeth Places Will Probably Shut Up Shop.

Elizabeth, July 21.—The bishops' bill has so affected this city that it is estimated that at least one-sixth of the saloons will have to quit business. Several of the roadhouse proprietors have already announced their intention of retiring. There were but two saloons in the city, it is generally admitted, that observed the old Sunday closing law. The other places put their losses through the new regulation from one-quarter to two-thirds of their old business. Many saloons depended solely on their Sunday business.

The new law is being strictly observed. Many of the saloons have, since it went into effect, had large signs placed over their bars. A popular sign reads "The law does not allow us to sell to persons under 21 years of age. Please don't ask us to break the law." So careful are some saloonkeepers that they have adopted a rule against selling birch beer to minors in pails or pitchers for fear the public will accuse them of violating the law.

DENTAL CONVENTION ENDS.

The New Jersey State Dental Society closed its sessions at Asbury Park yesterday after electing these officers:

President, Dr. H. B. Brinkman, Hackensack; vice president, Dr. Walter Woolsey, Elizabeth; secretary, Dr. Charles A. Meeker, Newark; assistant secretary, Dr. H. S. Sutphen, Newark; treasurer, Dr. Henry A. Hull, New Brunswick; chairman executive committee, Dr. W. A. Jaquette, Salem. Dr. W. E. Truex, of Freehold, was recommended to the Governor for membership on the State Board of Examiners.

Can Copy Primary Lists.

Justice Reed in the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals at Trenton yesterday filed an opinion in which he decided that upon application to the county clerk any one might copy the county primary registry list.

OF NEW JERSEY AND ITS PEOPLE

Trenton, July 20.—Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson has had prepared for publication a compilation of census returns which for detail and completeness is probably not equalled in any other State. The work was done under the direction of Assistant Secretary of State J. B. R. Smith and includes a synopsis of all censuses that have ever been taken in the State. Whenever possible the returns have been tabulated by counties and municipalities. The work includes all the federal censuses since 1790 and all State censuses since 1790 and all State censuses since the first was taken in 1855. There is also a colonial census dating as far back as 1726. All these censuses may be found in the table accompanying this article.

In going over the work it was found that there had been an enumeration ordered by the crown in 1702, but no record appears of it. One of the valuable features of the compilation is that it shows the date of the legal organization of every municipality in the State and every change in the boundary line of such municipalities as remain on record in the office of Secretary of State or in the record offices of the various counties, together with a reference showing where the record may be found.

C. S. Aitkin's Task.

The work of the preparation has been done by Charles S. Aitkin, and has entailed an enormous amount of work, due to the unsystematically kept and inaccurate records available. The anomalous conditions which his investigations have brought to light should certainly receive the attention of the Legislature at its next session. It was found that municipalities are now existing without any record of their organization; others have gone out of business, have abandoned their government and associated themselves with other municipalities without warrant of law; names have been changed in some places either without a record of the change or without authority, and in one instance a small community actually abandoned its government without associating itself with any other, and presents the absurd condition of being without a municipal government of any sort.

Besides this, the errors that have crept in the official indices and editions of enumerations were found so numerous that it was found necessary not only to verify every item, but to make a complete search of the statutes from the beginning, and while the compilers do not claim accuracy in the present work, they do feel that they have been able to correct many errors that have been accepted as facts for many years.

Dutch in Bergen in 1613.

"There seems to be good ground for belief that there were settlements made by the Dutch in Bergen county as early as 1613 or 1614. It is probable, however, that 1618 should be put down as the date when the first settlement which could be in any sense regarded as permanent was effected. They occupied the northern part of the province, and to the present time their descendants, constitute a large portion of the population of Bergen, Passaic and Hudson counties. From here and from other Dutch settlements in and around New Amsterdam, immigrants soon found their way to central Jersey and populated Somerset and Middlesex counties, while a few soon afterward settled in Monmouth county.

"Besides this, the Dutch, working their way down from Esopus, N. Y., through the Minisnik and Delaware valleys, made a settlement in what is now Pahaquarry township, Warren county, probably as early as 1643, at which point they developed copper mines to a considerable extent and constructed the famous mine road extending from the mines along the Delaware to what is now Port Jervis, N. Y., and from that point across the mountains to the Hudson at Espous. A large part of this road through Sussex county is still in use. These mines were abandoned soon after the surrender of New Amsterdam, but many of the Dutch settlers remained and their names, as well as their characteristics, are still found throuhout all this section.

"Besides the Dutch whom we have referred to, the English, extending through what is now Union county, and the northern part of Middlesex county, comprised the principal early English settlement. There were also settlements of Danes and Norwegians among the Dutch in Bergen; Scotch and Irish among the English in Essex and Middlesex, and the Ewedes at Tinicum.

"The earliest attempts to settle west New Jersey were by the Dutch, but the loss of their settlements at Fort Nassau in 1623 and again in 1630 so disheartened them that they abandoned the territory. In 1637 the Swedes settled at Tinicum, and shortly after the Dutch reoccupied Fort Nassau. The English, coming from New Haven, Conn., settled along the Delaware in 1640, and although resisted by both Swedes and Dutch, they eventually occupied all of West Jersey about Salem, to the exclusion of the latter.

"Fairfield, Cumberland county, took its name from a town of the same name in Connecticut, as did Greenwich, which was also settled by New Englanders, with some Irish settlers added. English whalers from Long Island located at Cape May probably as early as 1640.

"In 1677 a colony of English Quakers, who found some scattering Swedish habitations about Raccoon Creek, settled in West Jersey. The land below Trenton, about Burlington, was selected by Yorkshire Quakers while those from London chose the country about Gloucester. They all centred at the town of Burlington, however. We are told that about 1680 West Jersey became quite populous by the rapid accessions which were taking place. They were mostly Friends, and in West Jersey, from this time, English blood predominated. New Jersey was included in the grant made by King Charles II. to the Duke of York March 12, 1663. The latter transferred the province to Lord Berkeley and Sir George Corteret, who held it until July 29, 1674, when a second grant was made by the Duke of York to Carteret of what is known as East Jersey. The division into East and West Jersey was made by the Quintipartite Deed of July 1, 1676.

Earliest Reference to Counties.

"The earliest reference to counties occurs on November 13, 1675, when county courts were established, though burgesses from Bergen, Elizabeth Town, Newark, Woodbridge, Middletown and Shrewsbury are named May 26, 1668. West Jersey was ordered surveyed along the Delaware river and divided into tenths February, 1681, and from these tenths were formed the counties adjacent to the river. By an act of March, 1682, East ersey was divided into the four counties of Bergen, Essex, Middlesex and Monmouth, and about the same time West Jersey was divided into three counties, although these boundaries were not clearly set out. By the act of January 21, 1710, the boundaries of the counties were definitely defined.

"By an act of 1693, the counties were divided into townships, and on February 21, 1798, under the general act, all the then existing townships were incorporated, and on May 22, 1820, the townships erected since 1798 were incorporated. Since that time there has been a steady increase in population, and, in order to serve the inhabitants more acceptably, new counties have been created, and many subdivisions have taken place in the form of incorporated boroughs, cities, towns, townships and villages. The various terms to denote municipalities were loosely used, city, town or township often indicating a sparsely settled community, rather than a clearly defined division, as now expressed.

"The Indian population was never large, and at the time the English made their first settlement in Elizabeth Town, in 1664, it is estimated that there were probably not more than 2,000 Indians in what is now the whole State of New Jersey, and it is quite probable that at the time the white man first began to make his home on this soil there were not more than 3,000 red men in the Territory. The population of East Jersey, in 1673, is indicated somewhat by the following enumeration of men suitable for defensive purposes: Elizabeth Town, 80 men; Newark, 86 men; Woodbridge, 54 men; Piscataway, 43 men; Middletown, 60 men; Shrewsbury, 68 men, a total of 391 men subject to military duty; also 18 Quakers, who were non-combatants.

6,000 People in 1682.

"It is estimated that in 1682 the population of the State was 6,000, and at the beginning of the eighteenth century it was 20,000, of which 12,000 belonged to East Jersey and 8,000 to West Jersey. The militia amounted to 1,400 men. Holmes' Annals gives an estimate of 15,000 for the year 1701. Upon the surrender of East and West Jersey by the proprietors, her majesty Queen Anne appointed Lord Cornbury Governor of this province, November 16, 1702, and in her letter of instructions of that date directed him to 'send an account unto us and to our commissioners for trade and plantations of the present number of planters and inhabitants, etc.'

"This seems to be the first enumeration of the province ordered; whether it was made is doubtful, as no records of it have yet been found, either here or in the record office in London. This makes the census of 1726, which was returned by Gov. William Burnet to the Lords of Trade, May 9, 1727, the first of record. In 1790 the national government began taking a census every decade and the returns given at those periods are from the United States census returns. Since 1855 the State has made an enumeration every ten years and the returns given for these decimal periods are from the State census records.

"Previous to 1810 the returns were made by counties, with few exceptions, and frequently since then the returns for a township include the municipalities within its limits and no separte figures can be given for the sub-divisions. Diligent search has been made in the newspapers of the time and by application to the census bureau at Washington for the population by sub-divisions of counties, but the returns are scattering, as the tables show. The term 'colony' was ordered abandoned and 'State' substituted September 20, 1778, in official documents.

"It must be borne in mind that there have been, in some instances, territorial expansion and consolidation of municipalities, and in others the municipalities had an existence prior to their incorporation, having received grants, patents or concessions fro mthe crown, and sometimes were organized by the courts."

A FACT PROVEN.
Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.
If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.
It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.
Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.
Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

"It is, indeed, more than I can understand. Until our mock trial of today I had no knowledge of any suspicion against the character of our undertaking, its chief, or those engaged in it. As peaceful citizens under the flag we reached your island, intending to join in the settlement of new lands in the southwest. Call us pioneers—soldiers of fortune—what you will, but traitors—ah, it is too absurd!"

Then, more seriously, he added: "I am in the dark as to the specific charges. It appears, however, that Col. Burr and your husband are suspected of a design to overthrow the existing government and set up another in some vague part of the south. I cannot account for all this farrago of nonsense and quibbles, except on the score of political intrigue. And most of us are helpless to fight that."

"Then you are not a politician?" the lady asked, smiling at the warmth of his manner.

"No, madam. God save the mark! I am an emigrant—a homeseeker."

There was a lull; she looked about the desecrated room.

"I deeply grieve, sir, that I have no hospitality to grant—no home. Mr. Blennerhasset went away two nights ago. He disliked the stealth, the secrecy, but would not wait for the law's delay. Next day the militia descended upon us, and we have since been at the mercy of these lawless administrators of the law."

"And what excuse do they offer for this outrage?"

"They tell us that the president's proclamation has reached Wood county, and they must carry out his orders to stop our 'treasonable designs.' Mr. Blennerhasset foresaw this, and we had arranged that I was to follow in our family boat to the mouth of the Cumberland. This is his meeting place with Col. Burr, and from there we were all to go south together."

"All!" Before Winslow's mind rushed a swift picture of the girl he had seen braving the bayonets and men. "All" must include her.

He inquired, tentatively: "And Miss Creighton?"

"She and her mother are my guests; my plans must include them. But, alas! for those plans, since I am refused the boat. I pleaded, commanded—to no avail. The authorities at Marietta are frightened by Jefferson's vague proclamation, which tells little, and threatens much. They have refused me the use of my own boat. I know not which way to turn," and a hunted, desperate look crept into her tired face.

Winslow sat in a brown study for a moment. Suddenly he spoke. "Come with us. Our boat is not a fine nor a commodious one, but its best is at your service. Come."

Overcome with relief, the tears filled her eyes. "I am weak, and cannot thank you. You are kind, and kindness is a luxury we soon learn to do without. But while I thank you, I cannot accept your offer. Besides my sons, I have two guests. I cannot leave them."

"You need not leave them," Winslow urged. "I will explain your situation to my comrades, but for their consent I can vouch. We will find room for everybody—such as it is."

Mrs. Blennerhasset's sensible, earnest face relaxed in a grateful smile. She took his hand in silence.

"Then let us consider it settled," he said, cheerfully, "and prepare to start at dawn to-morrow. To champion ladies in distress will give new zest to our enterprise."

"I see, sir. Wayfarers, even traitors, though you are called, you are to be knights-errant, too."

CHAPTER III.

A thick mist hung over the island when, at sunrise next day, the boat with its little band of voyagers set out on the journey down the Ohio

There were none to molest them, the soldiers yet asleep after the drunken carouse of the night previous. The island in its dressing gown of fog through which the rising sun blinked stupidly, was but a dark blur between the lighter gray of river and sky. They seemed a ghostly crew setting out from the land of shadows, as silently they moved with the noiseless stream. A bleak wind blew off shore, bringing frosty promises of earnest winter.

Two women, pale and somber-eyed, leaned against the railing aft, watching the island recede and fade until it seemed a mirage caught in the long shafts of growing, purple light. With every leap of the narrow craft they were being borne away to a new life.

But in Mrs. Blennerhasset's mind regret had little place. A ruined home—a present helplessness, were light evils to an ambition so strong, a courage so dauntless and a hope that would not see defeat. She gazed with wide, tearless eyes at the blot in the fog, which she had once called home. Then resolutely turned her gaze westward.

"Come, look ahead, dear," she said to Mrs. Creighton. "Let us go into the cabin and make merry with the rest. Think only of the future; we are beginning again."

Mrs. Creighton tried to smile in answer. "I will join you in a moment," she said.

But, left alone, the smile died from her lips, the color from her eyes. For to this woman—no longer young, to whom worldly ambition seemed a will-o'-the-wisp, "beginning again" was a task not worth while. Before her mental vision swept a swift phantasmagoria in which past, present and future were strangely mingled.

She saw the home they had lately left, that spot of all to her most sacred, the home of others. On the hearth burned a stranger's fire; the old paths were trodden by other feet; her flowers were spoil for other hands.

And then fancy tried to picture the home awaiting her—that new home in the far west which her husband and son had gone to prepare, that beyond the great river they might begin life again. But between these two—the dear home she had left and the one in store, there were wild forests, yet wilder men, and that great mysterious barrier, the Mississippi.

But it was not in her nature to rebel at the inevitable.

Too wise in experience for high expectations, and too philosophic for despair, she had also a fine optimism, a faith in the future. And it was easier to leave now, that the old home was no longer theirs. The claim to the grant of land in the old Dominion was declared invalid, their title contested. Gradually their savings had been swept away, until, after the havoc of legal battle, no property remained. Ruined, broken in spirit, Mr. Creighton had gone to the new country—to that far western territory—that land where, so swift had been the change of masters, there yet waved the flags of Spain, of France and of the new republic. There, if fortune awaited, he could spend a few years, at last to go back, his head high, a prosperous dweller in the old haunts. If not—then let the wilderness swallow up his failure.

His wife, and daughter, too, had left Virginia, but had intended remaining on Blennerhasset island until spring. But now their friends were involved in a deep undertaking; one, indeed, which as it unraveled, was proving perilous, perhaps disastrous.

This protection denied them, they must, nevertheless, continue the journey; but how, and under what guidance? They had little money and no influence. So far they were safe with Mrs. Blennerhasset and her party, but soon their paths diverged, and then—

Lavender's voice recalled her.

"Mother, let us go in; you are cold."

The girl had been talking to the man at the pole, and turned to see her mother, the poise of whose head, the droop of whose shoulders, indicated sorrowful reflection.

Lavender, in her brilliant cloak, with a flush on her fair cheek, seemed to concentrate within her own glad self, all the radiance and glow of the morning. As the elder lingered, with wistful gaze on the swirl of water, she continued, pleadingly:

"Don't be dawnsome, dearest—surely, you are hopeful of our success and happiness in the new life?"

"It is never best to be too sanguine, daughter; hope is the mother of disappointment; faith and love are the best of the trio."

Lavender's eyes grew moist and all the violet in them paled to the gray of the morning. Her mother smiled and clasped the little mittened hand which rested on the arm of her chair.

are fast doing away with ancient and difficult ways of working. A coal range blackens the pans, overheats the house, makes much unnecessary work and is difficult to regulate. The Gas Range is just the opposite. It is clean both for pots and kettles and home. It is cool and there are no ashes to carry away, no kindling to split and you can regulate the heat to the viand cooking. Prices $11.50 to $15.00; $2.00 down, $2.00 a month. Order one today.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

FOR THE TOILET.

When the hands are sore and blistered wash them in fresh buttermilk and allow it to dry on the skin, as it aids in whitening it. Slices of raw cucumber, cut thick, peel left on, may be bound on sunburned fingers at night and do wonderful work in restoring the natural color.

Hop poultices have always been used with splendid effect for all sorts of pain. An old-fashioned one is made as follows: Put a handful of dried hops into one cup of water and let it boil until the water is reduced to half a cup, then stir in sufficient Indian meal to thicken. Apply very hot.

Small white spots which often appear on the nails are caused from bruising the nail before it has fully developed. This is sometimes done with the instrument used to press back the cuticle at the base of the nail. Always use a soft wood stick or the fingers of the other hand to loosen the cuticle.

An excellent mouth wash, especially in fruit season, because of its good effect upon the teeth, is lime water. To make it pour one quart of boiled or distilled water over one teaspoonful of slaked lime. Pour into a bottle and shake well every fifteen minutes for the first hour; then allow the lime to settle and pour off the water, which should be bottled for use.

An excellent lotion for making the hands white is made as follows: Scrape sufficient horseradish to measure one tablespoonful and pour on it a pint of hot milk, allow it to cool and bottle. After washing the hands rub them over with this lotion and then dry them with a soft towel.

Thin arms should be washed twice a day with a fine lather of soap, rinsed well, rubbed thoroughly and then rubbed vigorously. This treatment will bring the pores into action and induce a healthy condition of the skin.

A good shampoon preparation may be made by cutting a cake of pure olive oil soap into a quart of boiling water. When cold it will be about the consistency of jelly. A couple of spoonfuls of this mixture and a pinch of soda may be rubbed into the scalp previously wet with hot water or the hair may be parted and the mixture rubbed into the scalp with a small nail brush. After the entire scalp has been cleaned it should be vigorously rubbed with the finger tips and well rinsed.

FOR THE SUMMER HOME.

In plaited grass furniture are dark green sofas, arm-chairs, rockers, many styles of tables, swings, couches.

For table furnishings in the summer home nothing is prettier or more suitable than the blue and white Japanese china. It is inexpensive and just the thing for the summer cottage.

At the stationery counter there is a box twice as long as the usual one containing thin correspondence paper and envelopes with dark linings. The sheets of paper are the length of the box, about fourteen inches.

The trousseau box, covered and lined with white satin, hand-painted with flower or figure designs, is one of the bride's cherished possessions. Among the designs are natural sprays of apple blossoms, June roses, orchids, etc.; Empire wreaths and bow-knots, cupids and garlands. The boxes hold one set of lingerie.

TO WEAVE A RAFFIA SQUARE.

Raffia makes cool and artistic pillow covers, which are not spoiled by moisture or sun.

Make a square frame four inches larger than the cover; size and fasten strips or raffia across from side to side.

Take some raffia and weave across, bringing it up and under the warp threads like a rag carpet is woven.

Two pieces are made, one for each side of the pillow.

The raffia can be bought in colors and plaids and stripes woven. Make a cushion of stuffed hair and place the raffia squares over this and sew through with a thread of raffia.

Four inches is left unwoven on all sides, to form a fringe.

Her Time All Taken.

The average woman thinks the sun and stars would cease to shine sooner than that she could interfere with the regular routine of household duties. A Sabetha woman was recently informed by her physician that she would have to have an operation performed. She said she didn't see how she could—that Monday was washing day, Tuesday ironing day, Wednesday the missionary society met, Thursday was the day to clean up, Friday to bake, Saturday to give the children their baths and mend. If he could get it in Sunday after dinner and before evening service perhaps she would try it.—Sabetha Herald.

Couldn't Stand the Racket.

"There's a country buyer out there," said the senior member of the firm, "that I want you to take care of."

"Not me, please," protested the salesman. "I promised my wife I'd stop drinking."

DIAMOND DUST.

Capt. John Jacot, of the Gillettes, is improving in his hitting. He bats in the 290 class.

"Jimmy" Beisel is keeping in championship form by hard practice three times a week. James has an eye to the future and is beginning to consider what to do when his pitching arm goes back on him. He has worked in all the infield positions and has just about decided on the initial sack for his when his spikes no longer deant the rubber. He is working up the position and shows promise of lively playing at the first corner. He makes one-hand grabs of high chucks like a duplicate Hal Chase.

There is no truth in the story that Jocko Halligan, the great old outfielder of the Jersey City team, has jumped to the outlaw Tri-State league. The Williamsport management has written Jocko a couple of times, telegraphed a few, and buzzed him an the 'phone, but he has remained true to "Billy" Murray, and says he has no intention of turning outlaw. Stories of his dissatisfaction are all bosh. He hasn't been able to play because his ankle is still weak, and as soon as it strengthens up, which it will probably do by next week, Jocko will go back into the game. Murray ranks Jocko second to none of his players. He is the headiest fielder in the Eastern league and one of the hardest hitters. The fact that the Tri-State leaders wanted him indicates his rank as a player. They don't go after cast-offs in the Tri-State. The best in the Eastern league is none too good for them, and they don't hesitate to fish for the class A players in the big leagues.

Mehaffey, the High School pitcher, is developing into a fast infielder. He has played third base on all the different amateur teams in various games through the summer, and is showing up in great form. He lines 'em to first prettily, and has got the Mike Leonard style of one hand diving stops down rather fine. His playing in semi-fast company will make him invaluable to the school team. High School pitchers who can field fast and are seasoned hitters are not common.

DIVORCE INVALID; SECOND MARRIAGE TO BE SET ASIDE.

This Action Advised by Master in the Case of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Sewell.

Special Master P. F. Cook has recommended to the Court of Chancery that the marriage of Elizabeth Hoyt Sewell, daughter of Jefferson F. Hoyt, of Montclair, to Barton Sewell, on January 14, 1905, be set aside on the ground that Sewell had another wife living at the time of the marriage.

The testimony before the Special Master showed that Sewell was granted a divorce from his first wife, Julia Thayer Sewell (whom he had married in Chicago in 1872), in Knox County, Tenn., in 1905. But this decree is not recognized by the New York courts, and under the New Jersey statutes will not be held to be valid, as at that time there was in force a judgment in the Supreme Court of New York in favor of Mrs. Sewell holding that both she and her husband were residents of New York, and that he had deserted her, and as, moreover, she was never served with notice of the Tennessee proceedings, except by publication.

After the marriage of Mr. Sewell to Miss Hoyt Mrs. Sewell No. 1 sued for an absolute divorce in New York, making the second Mrs. Sewell a co-respondent. Both husband and second wife defended, relying on the Tennessee divorce. The Court decided against them and granted a divorce to Mrs. Sewell. The second wife then separated from Sewell and is at present in Europe.

Oliver Tynan, well known among Red Men here, has been raised up as Sachem of Indianola tribe, Bound Brook.

WOULDN'T ENJOIN SCREEN REMOVAL.

Court Grants Writ of Review of Jersey City Order, But Not to Act As a Stay.

Robert S. Hudspeth, counsel for the Jersey City Liquor Dealers' Association, yesterday applied to Justice Franklin J. Fort for a certiorari removing to the Supreme Court for review the resolution of the Excise Board ordering all screens removed from saloon windows. Justice Fort decided that the writ should not act as a stay. He also refused to make the Police Commissioners parties to the writ, as Mr. Hudspeth requested, and advised him to apply to the Court of Chancery for an injunction if he wished to restrain the police from acting in the matter.

The writ of certiorari is returnable at Trenton on July 28, when Justices Fort and Reid and one other yet to be named will sit to hear arguments on the subject.

Chief of Police Hayes, of Hoboken, said yesterday that he would make no further effort to enforce the screen clause of the bishops' act until the City Council shall have ordered the removal of screens.

"There is no use in me having men haled into court only to have the cases dismissed," he said.

This was said after Acting Recorder Laverty held that an order of the Council was necessary and had dismissed the cases of ten saloon-keepers in which the police swore that they could "partly see the bar."

"Several Asbury Park hotel proprietors will be indicted for the illegal sale of liquor by the present Grand Jury," is a remark credited to Assistant Prosecutor Stokes, of Asbury. "I will show that the lid is not on as tight as is generally thought. I have evidence in my possession and will prosecute if bills of indictment are found by the jurors."

The Grand Jury was in session Thursday and yesterday, sonsidering, it is believed, the cases of liquor men.

WANTS LIQUOR LAW ENFORCED.

New Brunswick Retailers Asks Authorities to Act at Once.

New Brunswick, July 21.—The local branch of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association has held a conference with the Police Committee of Common Council and the Mayor, demanding a strict enforcement of the new liquor law. The executive committee of the association practically served notice upon the police that if strict compliance with the law is not compelled by the city authorities the liquor men themselves will take hold of prosecution of offenders.

The association declares that its members are observing the letter of the law and its spirit, but that there are saloon-keepers not connected with the association who are violating the law, while there is evidence that "speak-easies," selling bottled beer, are also operated. The law-abiding dealers claim that in justice to them compliance with the law should be general.

The Mayor and Police Committee share this view, and it is probable the police department will receive instructions that a strict watch must be kept for liquor law violations.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Elizabeth Camp, Woodmen of the World, and its friends will have a day's outing at Bartell's Grove, near Westfield, tomorrow. The start will be made from the Arch on Broad street about 8:30 a. m. There will be athletic games and various sports, and plenty to eat and drink.

Nearly all the reports for the past six months from the tribes of Red Men throughout the State have been received by Great Keeper of Records D. M. Stevens, of Camden. They show a total of assets amounting to more than $500,000, an increase of $20,000. About $37,000 has been paid out in sick benefits, and $12,500 has been paid out in burials. The 163 tribes that have reported show a net increase of 683 members, which will swell to more than 780 when all the reports are in. Twenty-five tribes are still to be heard from.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Congregational church will be closed the last two Sundays in August.

Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will occupy the pulpit of Faith chapel tomorrow evening.

Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Brooklyn, will preach tomorrow morning at Bethel chapel. The hours of service is 11 o'clock.

Rev. J. W. Musson, of Faith chapel, will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow evening.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, will speak at the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow night. Some of her tots will recite and sing. The services will begin at 8 o'clock.

LIQUOR DEALERS WISH TO TEST "BISHOPS' LAW."

Association Favors Questioning Constitutionality of the New Excise Measure.

Carlstadt, July 21.—A sub-committee of five of the Liquor Dealers' Association of this section, composed of Charles Rehwoldt, of Kingsland; John Motzer, Henry Heflich, John Romer and Franz Fritsch, of Carlstadt, held a conference Wednesday over the "bishops' law" and other interests that affect the liquor dealers. It was decided to recommend to the regular organization that every effort be made toward testing the constitutionality of the new law.

Every one present expressed sympathy with Mayor George Zimmerman's movement toward enforcing the blue laws, but thought action should be deferred for a fortnight to await developments. The councilmen will meet in regular session tonight, when it is expected that petitions will be presented by several business men favoring the enforcement of the blue laws.

A KNOWING DOG.

Recognizes His Master's Whistle Over the Telephone

New Brunswick, July 21.—Bartley McGough, who lives at Weston's Mills, two miles from here, telephoned the police Thursday that his pet pug dog wandered away. The patrolmen were notified to look out for the dog and soon a stray pug was picked up. It looked like any other pug, and positive identification seemed difficult till some genius suggested calling McGough up on the 'phone and letting him whistle to the dog, while the telephone receiver was held to the pug's ear. At the whistle his pugship became wildly excited and "yapped" two of three times. "That's his mark," exclaimed McGough so that those around the 'phone heard him. He came to town at once and secured the animal.

INSANE, WANDERED AWAY.

Orange Police Looking for the Wife of James Savage.

The Orange police sent out last night a general alarm for Mrs. Margaret Savage, who wandered afay from her home, No. 271 Washington street, Orange, in the afternoon, while temporarily demented.

Mrs. Savage is the wife of James Savage, a former sparring partner of "Bob" Fitzsimmons. She is twenty-two years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 135 pounds. She wore a white waist and gray skirt, and a straw hat trimmed with black and white feathers. She walks very slowly and has religious delusions. The police traced her as far as Newark.

Elizabeth's New Excise Commission.

At a special session of the Court of Common Pleas, this morning, Judge Atwater appointed Elizabeth's new excise commission. The members named are Douglas G. Moore, Robert B. Cissel, James A. Hand, S. Otto Walter and Frederick S. Blasby. Moore and Walter are Democrats, the others Republicans.

Clergyman Bitten By a Dog.

Rev. J. T. Lansdale, pastor of Marconnier chapel, was bitten on the leg by a dog yesterday. The wound was cauterized at Muhlenberg Hospital and it is thought no serious results will follow.

Mrs. J. H. Whitemack, of Craig Place, is spending a few days with relatives at Philadelphia, Pa.

C. Edgar Dean has given up his position as agent for the I. C. S. to sell pianos for a big Newark firm.

PROBE MUTUAL BENEFITS

A. They do.

Q. About how many policy-holders are represented at your annual election? A. About 2,000 or 3,000, of which 100 are voted in person by officers and employes, and the rest by proxy.

Q. Do you have any friction at your meetings? A. Never heard of any.

Q. Your expenses are lower than other companies, and your premium rates lower, according to the Armstrong report, as stated by President Catlock, of the Washington Life; is that so? A. We have that reputation.

Q. Is that because you are a mutual company? A. Not necessarily, as all companies are more or less mutual.

Q. Have you any deferred dividends? A. We never had, as we always consider that contrary to the very spirit of life insurance.

Q. Is that not the real cause of all the recent trouble of life insurance affairs? A. I think it is largely due to that cause. We have always maintained that the earnings belong to the policy-holders, and should be paid as earned. The deferred dividend has an element of gambling or chance about it which makes it attractive to some, but it is costly on account of excessive commissions.

Opposed to Federal Control.

The witness said he would, if necessary, bar political contributions. He was of the belief that the State Department already exercises adequate control over insurance companies. He was opposed, he said, to Federal supervision, because, as the States will still have the right of supervision, he believed a conflict of authority would result. He also was opposed to the standardizing of policies as unnecessary and liable to result in serious complications because of a conflict of State authority.

Former President Dodd attacked the tontine policy as illegal and immoral. He pronounced against deferred dividends and suggested that the remedy for existing evils was in the widest publicity in insurance affairs.

President McCarter, of the Fidelity Trust Company, was recalled to give his version of the promoting of the South Jersey Gas and Electric Company, previously explained by Col. Anthony R. Kuser. Mr. McCarter said the Prudential did not receive any stock bonus for its purchase through the Fidelity of $3,000,000 of the bonds of the South Jersey. The Fidelity did not receive any bonus either, he said, except that after the formation of the company in a purchase made outside of the underlying companies the Fidelity received $80,000 in stock.

The witness was quizzed by Senator Minturn as to the campaign contributions made by the Fidelity, either for itself or clients. He admitted that in 1900 the Fidelity contributed $5,000 to the Republican National Committee to help defeat Bryan. It gave nothing in 1904. When asked if the company had contributed locally or to the State campaigns, Mr. McCarter recalled that within the last five years two local contributions of a political nature had been made by the company. He was rather hazy as to the particulars, but remembered that on two occasions $2,000 or $3,000 had been given to somebody for political purposes. He could not recall whether it was to the Republican or Democratic organization or to individuals, nor could he tell for what offices the candidates were running.

Mr. Nebele Able to Be About.

William G. Debele, who was injured by the explosion of a gas engine at Debele & Stahl's, on Somerset street, is able to be about his work again. His right eye, which was severely burned, is still causing trouble, but the physician in attendance feels that his sight is safe. The eyelid of the left eye was severely burned, but the eye was hardly harmed by the jet of flame.

"Nip" Back in Harness.

"Nip," the borough fire horse which has been laid off with a collar chafed neck, during the first part of the week, is back in harness, running with his team-mate "Tuck." The animal was treated by the firemen, and its place was taken by a bay from Stonewall Jackson's stables.

Church of Christ Services.

Services will be held at the Church of Christ, Grove street, tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the morning and 8:00 o'clock at night. The sermon in the evening will be on "It is I He Lifteth Up." Rev. J. W. Harrison is the preacher.

Organ Recital.

The following programme will be played at the weekly organ recital at Grace church at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Grand Choeur, Salome; Cantabile, Loret; First Meditation, Guilmant.

Mrs. William B. Martin and Miss H. Martin, of Clinton avenue, are at Quogns, Long Island.

TO HEAR THE 'NEW IDEA'

Somerset County Colbyites to Hold a Mass Meeting at Somerville.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Colby, Record and Fagan to Speak — Situation in North Plainfield.

After a couple of attempts to get out a crowd, the Colbyites of Somerset county advertise a "new idea" mass meeting to take place at Somedville on Monday night, July 30. The meeting will be held in Somerset hall, in all probability, although no definite arrangements for it have been made. W. W. Howland, of North Plainfield, temporary chairman of the Good Government Republican League of Somerset county, will preside.

It is announced that State Senator Everett Colby, who is now at his summer home in the Thousand Islands, will be the principal speaker. Among the others to expound the "new idea" will be Mayor Mark Fagan, of Jersey City, who is now in the Adirondacks, and Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City, Colbyite candidate for United States Senator.

In all probability permanent officers will be chosen by the league. Mr. Howland, it is said, will not be chanrman, but just who will be is not reported. There is a likelihood that some one will be mentioned as the reformers candidate for the Assembly. Several names have been mentioned in this connection but there has been no concerted effort to boom any particular "possibility."

No plans have been made for a mass meeting of the Colbyites in North Plainfield and from what can be learned it is unlikely that any will be held. The leaders in the movement appear to take it that the mass meeting held in this city last month answered the purpose and they have made converts from the ranks of the regulars.

EVANGELIST F. H. JACOBS LED MEETING AT NETHERWOOD.

Made Afternoon's Address and Sang at Sunday Services at Miss Curry's Camp.

Conducted by Evangelist F. H. Jacobs, of Elizabeth, the afternoon meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home proved a great success yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jacobs was in charge of the service, and aside from making the address of the afternoon, led the song service and rendered several vocal selections. The meeting was one of song and testimony, and of evangelistic character, Mr. Jacobs relating to the children the story of a young lad and his influence upon an entire town in the South, where he led to the true life many characters, who, through use of strong drink, and by living, had sunk to the lowest moral depth.

In connection with the afternoon's address, George Craft, also of Elizabeth, gave a testimony address upon his absolute reform from the base life of a drunkard. Craft told in a vivid and realistic way of how through the use of strong drink, he fell to the lowest depths of life, and was almost continually in prison. He spoke of inspiration he had received from a church worker, who had led him to Christ, and of the change that had come over him from that day. He is at present active in the religious field and a co-worker with Mr. Jacobs.

Singing was a feature of the service. With Mr. Jacobs in charge, the children sang many of the familiar gospel hymns, and Mr. Jacobs also sang "The Pilot" and "He Lifted Me." The prayer was offered by Dean Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church. Miss May Clark, organist at the Park Avenue Baptist church, was at the melodian, and Mr. Jacobs was assisted by a volunteer choir from the local church societies.

Netherwood Home Services.

Evening services at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home have already been arranged for tomorrow and Friday evenings by the secretary, Miss Florence Hawkins. Tomorrow the Christian Endeavor Society of the Dunellen Presbyterian church will be at the camp and conduct the evening meeting. The Faith chapel Christian Endeavor Society will be in charge of the services Friday evening. Next Sunday will be "Park Avenue Baptist Day" and special patriotic services will be held at the camp in the afternoon. Rev. Arthur E. Finn, pastor of the church, will make the address, which is to be of a patriotic nature, and national songs will be sung. The grounds are to be decorated with flags and bunting.

TIMBO CLUB OUTING ENJOYED BY 248

THIRD ANNUAL OUTING AT LAKE HOPATCONG A BIG SUCCESS.

If anyone failed to have a good time or get his money's worth on the third annual outing of the Timbo Social Club to Lake Hopatcong, yesterday, it was no fault of the committee. The weather was a trifle too warm but otherwise was perfect and not a thing that could add to the enjoyment of the guests had been left undone. There were just 248 boarded the club's special cars attached to the regular excursion train, more than twice as many as were carried last year, and they were unanimous in their verdict that the junket was the most successful the Timboites have yet conducted.

The run to the lake was made without incident, except that a half hour's delay was caused by excursions from Allentown and Catasaqua, Pa., getting in ahead of the Plainfielders on the High Bridge branch. The Timboites left the cars at Minnisink and headed by the Plainfield band, marched to the American House where a full course dinner was in readiness to be served. The diners had hardly become comfortably settled in their seats when they were consternated by the receipt of the following message from Plainfield:

"Tell Timbo the store caught fire and burned down. Will meet him at the train and give particulars. (Signed) Neighbor." Though the majority of the excursioners saw the joke, the victim was uneasy until he had called Plainfield Fire Headquarters on the 'phone and learned that everything was intact on North avenue.

After the dinner, the guests assembled on the hotel porch where an hour's musical programme was furnished by the Plainfield Band. This organization numbered sixteen men with James Dawe as leader and "delivered the goods." All the latest song successes were introduced and the concert was also enjoyed by hundreds of cottagers and lake visitors. The start for home was made at 6:45 and Plainfield was reached at 8:30.

The committee which arranged the outing and to which credit is due for its complete success was composed of Henry Wierenga, chairman; Frank Schuck, George Voehl, William Doud and Edward Bown. President Gaffney had seen to it that the railroad furnished comfortable cars and with the other club officers assisted in looking out for everybody.

MARRIED OVER A YEAR.

Miss Willietta C. K. Naylor Surprises Friends With Wedding Announcement.

To mark the announcement of their daughter's marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naylor, of West Dunellen, held a reception at their home Saturday night. The bride, who was Willietta C. K. Naylor, married William F. Sussen, of New York, on May 30, 1905, at the Little Church Around the Corner, New York. The couple guarded their marriage as a close secret, and the announcement came as a complete surprise to their friends.

The reception was a brilliant affair. Mrs. Robert Naylor, of this city, and Miss Mary Naylor, sister of the bride, received. Guests were present from Somerville, Plainfield, New Brunswick, Newark and New York.

The house was prettily decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The bride was gowned in light blue silk and silk chiffon.

The bride was a nurse in the Somerville hospital, and is well known in that town as well as in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Sussen will make their home at 818 Webster place.

Kissimmee Fruit Co. Incorporated.

Certificate of incorporation has been filed in the office of the county clerk by the Kissimmee Fruit Company, the principle office of which will be at 525 Madison avenue, Plainfield. The objects for which the company is incorporated are to cultivate, plant, sell and deal in fruit, vegetables, etc., of every description. The total authorized capital stock is $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at a par value of $1 each. The incorporators are Orra S. Rogers, Plainfield; Charles C. Chipman and Herbert G. Whipple, of New York city.

OLD FIRE COMPANY PLANNING A REUNION

ZEPHYR H & L MEMBERS TO DISCUSS "NEW IDEA" THURSDAY NIGHT.

Steps have been taken by members of the disbanded Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company, which went out of existence seven years ago when the call men were appointed to the fire department, to have a reunion in the near future. George Mehl, tillerman of the present ladder truck, who was corresponding secretary of the old company, has issued notice for a meeting to be held at Blimm's hotel Thursday night, when plans will be discussed.

In its best days, Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company was one of the best known in this section of the State and many prominent Plainfielders were members of it at some time or other. When it disbanded there were twenty-five active members and the last officers elected were as follows: Foreman, Jacob Blimm, Jr.; assistant foreman, Edward McCann; corresponding secretary, George Mehl; financial secretary, Samuel Miller; treasurer, Jacob Blimm, Sr. All these men are interested in the reunion idea and are working to bring it to a successful issue.

There is a possibility that if the plans can be carried out, there will be a parade of the company, the old truck which the members hauled to fires still being in the possession of the city.

HERSH BROS., ELIZABETH GROCERS, TO BUILD HERE.

Marclay Estate Has Been Purchased and Plans Are Being Drawn for Building to Measure 50 by 140.

The house and lot at Central avenue and West Second street, which originally formed the Michael E. Marclay estate, but which has passed into the hands of Lemuel E. Hart and C. Frank French, has been sold to Hersh Brothers, wholesale produce dealers and grocers, of Elizabeth, and the work of erecting a building will be commenced there early in August.

The sale was concluded through the firm and Mr. Newman, their local manager, and the entire property, fifty-five feet on West Second street, and a hundred and fifty feet through to the railroad track, has been purchased. The old house has been sold separate from the property, and will be moved by a local contractor to a site across the brook next week. In speaking to a Daily Press reporter this morning regarding the plans of the firm, Mr. Newman said that Nathan Meyers, a Newark architect, was engaged on plans for a building 50 by 140 feet, and the plans will be completed by next week. Civil Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh is at work surveying the property for the architects. The new building is to be three stories in height and will be a brick structure. Work of construction will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible as soon as the contracts can be awarded.

The Elizabeth store of the firm will still be continued, and the local branch will serve as a general distributing depot for this district.

New Excise Board.

Judge Atwater in a special session of Court of Common Pleas Saturday appointed the new Excise Commission for Elizabeth to take the place of the board which went out of office on Thursday. The appointees are all well known citizens. They are Douglass G. Moore, Robert B. Cissel, James A. Hand, F. Otto Walter and Frederick F. Glasby. Messrs. Cissel, Hand and Glasby are Republicans, and Messrs. Moore and Walter are Democrats. According to the order issued by the court, the appointments date from July 24, 1906.

Funeral of J. Harold Martin.

The funeral of J. Harold Martin, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Martin, of Somerset place, was held at the parents' home yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, and was attended by a large gathering, including many of the little fellow's playmates. A solo was rendered by E. E. Runyon and there were numerous floral tributes. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery, the pall-bearers being A. W. Sutphen, C. B. Dennis, Joseph Martin and Corra Ryno.

Miss Curry at Scotch Plains.

Miss Sara Curry, with twenty-five of the children from the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, attended the service at the First Baptist church, Scotch Plains, last evening. Rev. T. Moore-Smith, the pastor, made the service one especially for the Netherwood Home, and Miss Curry made an address. The collection received will be devoted to carrying on the work at the Home, where nearly 300 children are now spending the summer.

LeRoy J. Ellis, of Park avenue, has returned from a stay at Narragansett Pier.

ROBT. ABBOTT CHAMPION

RETURNS LOW SCORE 74

Talmadge Wins a Leg on Semi-Scratch Cup—Stuart H. Patterson Captures June Cup.

While the heavy shower and threatening weather interfered with every other sport on Saturday, the schedule programme of golf was played at the Plainfield Country Club. There was an unusual crowd of enthusiasts out, although many did not post their scores. The chief attraction for the day was the final play for the club championship between Robert Abbott and Frank C. Talmadge. In view of the low score record made on the course by Abbott last week, when he returned a 67 for 18 holes, his many friends predicted that he would win the championship. However, Talmadge made a good fight and followed his opponent very close throughout the match. Abbott won out, beating Talmadge 5 up and 3 to play. His hole score was 74, showing that he is at the top of his game. Talmadge won a leg on the semi-scratch cup with a score of 82.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, Charles A. Stover won first honors with a net score of 80, while F. C. Talmadge and Stuart H. Patterson divided the remaining points, each returning a net score of 81. The scores:

The leading scores returned for the July cup were as follows:

Charles A. Stover, 90, 10-80; Frank C. Talmadge, 82, 1-81; Stuart H. Patterson, 90, 9-81; W. Lester Glenney, 86, plus 2-88; W. B. Tyler, 112, 15-97.

In the finals for the June cup, Stuart H. Patterson was the winner, beating L. A. Chase 3 up and 2 to play.

While there were a number of players on the Park Golf Club course, Saturday afternoon, no one posted their score. This was due to the rain-soaked condition of the course, which made it impossible to play the game well. Certain parts of the course were not much better than minature lakes, but the contestants continued to play although they did not post.

TWO HOUSES IN BOROUGH DAMAGED BY LIGHTNING.

Saturday's Storm Wrecked Chimneys In Mayor Smalley's and Shepherd's Homes.

Though Saturday's heavy thunder shower gave plenty of rain this side of town, the principal damage of the storm was done in the borough, where two houses were struck by lightning during the shower just before noon. An especially vivid flash of lightning near the conclusion of the storm shattered the chimney on Mayor Newton B. Smalley's home on Craig place. The lightning struck the chimney, scattering the bricks and ripping off a piece of the cornice on its ways to the ground. There was no fire, but Mrs. David King, sisted of the Mayor, was severely shocked.

One of the houses belonging to William Smalley, father of the Mayor, was also damaged by lightning during the storm. The house is occupied by B. H. Shepherd, and is on Somerset place. The chimney was struck and badly damaged. There was no fire, and none in the house was shocked.

Farm Hand Departs Suddenly.

A farm hand who had been employed by Mrs. M. S. Van Court, of Oak Tree, took his departure suddenly late Saturday night. With him went a double barrelled gun, a revolver, a coat and a small sum of money, which he hastily gathered up. Mrs. VanCourt heard him moving about the house but thought that he was indisposed and was looking for a tonic. In his hurry he overlooked a gold watch and several other valuable articles. The fellow had been employed by Mrs. VanCourt only two weeks.

No Rain Left By Thursday.

Having all the rain early in the week is a good sign. It means that it's going to be clear for the Methodist excursion Thursday. Don't overlook the day, but be ready to get on the special train for a day at the shore. You won't regret making the trip.

Ready For Tennis Play.

Play in the tennis competition for doubles will begin on the Y. M. C. A. courts this week. They were put in first-class shape Saturday and are ready for the first quartette who may come prepared to play.

The recent festival conducted by the members of Marconnier chapel netted $38.

MEMORIAL PIPE ORGAN GIVEN BY MRS. H. F. EGE

INSTRUMENT COSTING $2.500 TO BE INSTALLED IN NEW EDIFICE.

Through the generosity of Mrs. H. F. Ege, of Truell Inn, a fine pipe organ will be the choral accompaniment at the services of Warren chapel's congregation when its handsome new edifice is completed. The instrument will cost $2,500 and will be of the best American make. It is intended as a memorial to Mrs. Talmadge, a sister of the donor who died some time ago.

Mrs. Ege has taken much interest in Warren chapel and when it was decided to erect a new edifice at the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues, she offered the session of the Crescent Avenue church, which founded the chapel, a Tiffany window as a memorial. Friends persuaded her, however, that a pipe organ would be a more suitable gift and she at once authorized a member of the session to offer the gift in her behalf.

As the new edifice will not be completed until next Easter the congregation will continue to use its present melodian at the services. It was the wish of Mrs. Ege, who is now at Squirrel Island, that the name of the donor be withheld.

Warren will be the first of the three chapels of Crescent Avenue church to have a pipe organ and the members of the congregation are much elated over the fact. Their new edifice, for which they have struggled for so long, will also be the finest of the trio of chapels.

MISS ANNA HIGGINS' FUNERAL IN CHARGE OF SOCIETY.

Children of Immaculate Virgin Turned Out to Service for Departed Member.

A touching tribute to the memory of Miss Anna Higgins, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Higgins, of West Front street, was the incident that the funeral was in charge of the girls' society of St. Mary's church, the Children of the Immaculate Virgin. About 125 of the young girl members of the society were at the church this morning for the celebration of requiem mass for their departed society member. Father Bogan acted as celebrant.

The music was by the children of the society, who took part in the requiem responses. Miss Mary R. Smith was at the organ. Miss Lannon, the contralto of the senior choir, sang the offertory solo, "Tie Jesu." The delegation of members of the society came to the service, which was at 9 o'clock, wore white dresses and white veils. The Misses Mary Caulfield, Florence Bulkley, Adeline Deady, Matilda Conroy, Margaret FitzGerald and Ruth McCarthy acted as pall-bearers and the flower girls were Miss Mary Burns and Miss Margaret Brown. The interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery. Miss Higgins had been a member of the Children of the Immaculate Virgin for three years.

FOR THE TOTS' SAKE.

Lawn Party Held by Epworth League of Monroe Ave. Church.

For the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and the King's Daughters' Baby Camp, the Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church held a most successful lawn party Friday night. The lawn of the church was prettily decorated with lanterns.

The committee in charge was made up of W. M. McGee, George Fisher, Jr., John W. Daub, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Smith, Miss Emily Haff, Miss Olla Cline, Miss Edith Manning, George Beekman. The cake and cream tables were under the charge of Mrs. N. M. Smith, Harry Gardner, and the Misses Minnie Gunzelman, Mary Matthews, Ethel and Stella Rink.

Ice Takes a Drop.

One of the Natural Ice Co.'s heavily loaded wagons lost a wheel twice on its trip through town this morning, each time causing delay and tying up traffic. Just as it was leaving the barns on Somerset street at about 7 o'clock this morning, the left front wheel became dished in the trolley tracks and came off, dumping the wagon load. The accident delayed the trolleys for nearly an hour, for the load had to be moved off before the wheel could be put on again. The trip was continued after the wagon had been repaired, but the same wheel came off again at Front street and Park avenue, so that the wagon blocked up the street. The end of the axle was bent in the first accident and the wheel would not stay on. The load of ice was moved to another wagon and the wrecked one taken off for repairs.

Tax Collector George F. Brown, who has been ill, passed a very bad night, Saturday, and his condition has not since greatly improved.

FATHER AND CHILD VICTIMS OF TRAGIC DROWNING

Robert L. Thomae Goes to His Death At Atlantic City in Futile Effort to Save Daughter.

MEN CURSE THE GUARDS

Life-Savers Helpless Or Inept, Can Do Nothing To Help Heroic Father As He Struggles Before Frantic Crowd.

Robert L. Thomae and his thirteen-year-old daughter, Helen, of Scotch Plains, were the victims of the most tragic drowning, Saturday afternoon, that Atlantic City has witnessed in years. While men cursed at inept and helpless life guards and women paled and wept with heart-wrenching pity, Thomae, battling heroically for the life of his child, went down with her to death.

More than 300 residents of fashionable Chelsea saw the heroic struggle of the father, saw the velvet-coated serio-comic lifeguard, "Cap" Clark, halt at the first line of breakers, and Guard Morales beaten to semi-consciousness by the pounding of a criss-cross sea, and then witnessed a humble hero, William A. Lux, a cook, do gallant but unavailing battle for the lives of the doomed persons.

Mr. Thomae, his daughter and twelve-year-old Howard Washington entered the surf at half-past 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon about a square above Albany avenue, where Clark was stationed Saturday. Clark's post is directly before the home of Councilman William Riddle, and the appointment was viewed by many as one of Mayor Stoy's jokes.

The father was about fifty feet distant from his daughter and young Washington, when a huge wave, which broke in V shape, swept Helen Thomae from her feet, twisted her over and beneath its crest and carried her out beyond her depth.

"Papa, save me," she screamed, and the appeal died away in a shriek as she sank for the second time. Howard Washington added his scream to that of the girl, and instantly panic seized all the bathers within hearing except the father.

His powerful frame leaped through the pounding surf. He did not take time to dive through the breakers, but rushed through them. When he reached deep water he struck out with mighty strokes to the place where the brown hair of his child showed above the water.

Breathless, he reached down and caught up her almost senseless body. As he did so, she clutched him convulsively about the neck. Then the tremendous force which had carried him through the struggle with the waves died out and he sank. As he came up for the first time, it was seen that the girl was lying in his arms apparently unconscious.

Thomae was trying to swim on his back and trying to sustain the girl's head above the water. His efforts were feeble, and feeling his strength ebbing, he lifted his voice in a terrifying shout that brought to the beach men and women who had been out of sight of the tragedy. The death cry continued at intervals for several minutes while horrified onlookers ran frantically in search of guards.

They found Charles Clark, better known as "Cap," near the newly-established tented city where about fifty families make their summer homes. Clark is more than sixty years old.

With a wobbling run, dragging a buoy by its rope through the sand, he reached the scene five minutes after the first alarm. Life Guard Morales, coming from Boston avenue several squares further away, was there before him, and was trying to get through the breakers. Four times he tried and then lay down exhausted.

Clark walked to the first line of breakers and stopped short, looking helplessly first out to sea and then back to the crowd that watched the struggle of Thomae.

As Clark gaped and was cursed for his inaction, a figure in soiled overalls and a cotton undershirt went tearing past him through the surf. It was the cook from the tented city, Lux. He seized the buoy from Clark's nerveless hand as he swept by, and called to the guard to play out the rope.

Lux was well on his way toward the feebly struggling Thomae, when, by some mischance, the buoy was pulled from his hands and he was at the mercy of the cross-currents and

PLAINFIELD PLAYERS STILL WIN AT TENNIS

F. W. GODDARD AND HARRY CARTER VICTORIOUS IN SATURDAY'S PLAY.

Despite showery weather and heavy courts at the Westfield Club, the match play in the open club championship tennis tournament begun two weeks ago brought a number of the pairs up to matches in the fourth round. A single local pair, Fred W. Goddard and Harry Carter, of the Plainfield Country Club, are still in the match play for the title, and will play their match in the semi-final round on Saturday. In the play in the second round, they trimmed K. D. Miller and partner, of Roselle Casino, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, and also won from E. E. Ferriss and L. H. Ferriss, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, 6-2, 6-2. This puts them up against M. W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder, of the Crescent A. Co., in their match in the semi-finals.

The other local team did not have such luck, and the two other players from the Country Club were forced down and out in their match in the third round. These were J. B. Close and C. McKenzie, whom M. S. Charlock and H. McK. Glazebrook, the crack team of the Elizabeth Town and County Club, defeated 6-1, 6-1. The tournament will probably be concluded on Saturday. There were 32 pairs entered, representing all the tennis clubs in the East Jersey Lawn Tennis League. The Westfield Club has offered title cups to the winning team and the pair of runners up will also receive cups.

The matches played Saturday were as follows:

Second round—C. Miller and B. Berry, Ilderan Outing Club, defeated M. Goldman and partner, Westfield Club, by default; E. S. H. Pendergast and William B. Cragin, Jr., Elizabeth Town and Country Club, defeated A. S. Wrenn and C. Wrenn, Westfield Club, 6-1, 7-5; M. S. Charlock and H. McK. Glazebrook, Elizabeth Town and Country Club, defeated H. M. Bartlett and F. W. McAnnenny, Fanwood Club, 6-0, 6-2; J. B. Close and C. McKenzie, Plainfield Country Club, defeated E. Alpers and F. A. Taggart, Westfield Club, 6-2, 6-2; F. W. Goddard and H. Carter, Plainfield Country Club, defeated K. D. Miller and partner, Roselle Casino, 6-3, 6-3; M. W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder, Crescent Athletic Club, defeated W. H. Connell and Dr. William Rosenbaum, New York Lawn Tennis Club, 6-0, 6-4; Thomas Wrenn and C. Thomas, Cranford Casino, defeated W. F. Anderson and H. Merrihew, Westfield Club, 6-0, 6-4.

Third round—C. Miller and B. Berry, Ilderan Outing Club, defeated E. S. H. Pendergast and William B. Cragin, Jr., Elizabeth Town and Country Club, 6-4, 6-3; M. S. Charlock and H. McK. Glazebrook, Elizabeth Town and Country Club, defeated J. B. Close and C. McKenzie, Plainfield Country Club, 6-1, 6-1; F. W. Goddard and H. Carter, Plainfield Country Club, defeated E. E. Ferriss and L. H. Ferriss, Elizabeth Town and Country Club, 6-2, 6-2; M. W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder, Crescent Athletic Club, defeated Thomas Wrenn and C. Thomas, Cranford Casino, 6-4, 6-4.

Services at Holy Cross Church.

In the absence of the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, who is summering in the Berkshires, Rev. W. Wilson-Ward had charge of the services at the Church of the Holy Cross yesterday. Dr. Wilson-Ward has but recently come to this country, having been engaged for the past eight years in missionary work in South America. He is an Englishman. The topic of his address at the morning service was "The Power of Speech, Its Use and Abuse."

Baptismal Service.

The ordinance of baptism was administered by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, yesterday morning at the close of the sermon at Faith chapel's service. Communion service will be held on Sunday morning and new members will be received at Faith chapel. A covenant meeting will be held on Wednesday evening at Faith chapel.

Mr. Barrows' Contributions.

Elliott T. Barrows has sent to The Daily Press $5 for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain and $5 for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. The contributions have been transmitted to the proper officers of the associations.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The condition of Charles S. Dayton, of New Market, who was seriously injured by a fall from his bicycle one evening last week, is somewhat improved today. Dr. Nelson, the physician in attendance, has discovered that a bone in Mr. Dayton's right cheek was fractured by the fall. The patient is still confined to his home.

At the Methodist church last evening, Rev. Edward C. Dutcher, the pastor, preached the third of the sermons in the series he is conducting, "The Sea, the Forest and the Field." The topic of last night's address was "The Grass." Miss Estelle Sofield, of New Market, presided at the organ. At the morning service, Charles Apgar acted as the organist.

Paul Brakeley is spending a two weeks' vacation at "Camp Comfort" in the Berkshires. He is one of a party of forty choir boys of the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, who, with the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, are camping on the lake near Shushan, N. Y.

The award of bids for the construction of four roads in Middlesex county is to be announced Wednesday. The bids were received Friday last, under the State Aid Act for the improvement of highways.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Fulton, of New Market, entertained at their home over Sunday Mrs. D. Bennett and her two children, and Miss Grace Harrison, of Newark.

Professor Cortez R. Clawson, ex-president of Salem College, Salem, Virginia, preached Saturday morning at the regular service in the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

William Winges is at present engaged in the construction of an automobile garage for Dr. Marc L. Clawson, of Plainfield. The structure is of brick.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Methodist church will be in charge of the meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tomorrow evening.

Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of Plainfield, preached yesterday at the First Baptist church at New Market.

Edson J. Davis, of New Market, is engaged in the west, surveying for the Salt Lake Railroad at Beatty, Nevada.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Oliver, of New Market, are entertaining friends from New Haven, Conn.

Charles B. Lake is spending the balance of the month of July visiting friends in Rhode Island.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Instead of the usual service at the Baptist church last night, a meeting in the interest of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home was held. Miss Sara Curry, accompanied by a number of the children from the camp, were present. Miss Curry gave a short, but interesting talk upon the work being done among the poor of New York's east side. A collection was taken for the benefit of the work.

Mrs. James H. Buckley, who has been spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. William Woods, at Taunton, Mass., has returned home. Mrs. Buckley was accompanied by her daughter, Anita, who has been spending several months with her sister.

Mrs. Julia Wilcox, who has been spending a week with Miss Lizzie Nichol, has returned to her home at South Norwalk, Conn.

Rev. Mr. Graves, a former pastor of the Methodist church, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church yesterday.

Scotch Plains, like Plainfield, had to forget the pleasure of a ball game Saturday afternoon on account of the weather.

The weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. George H. Johnston, of Westfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nester were the guests of out of town friends yesterday.

Miss Louise Robison has been spending a week with friends at Vineland.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The gypsies are here again. Last year two gypsies entered a farm near here, drove up to the barn, and began pitching hay from the loft. When asked what they were doing replied: "Only getting a little hay for our horses." These same men entered the grounds across the street and filled two bags with kindling wood which they were made to bring back, and unload.

A crowd of young urchins from Plainfield come up here daily to have a swim and in a state of nudity plunge into the water from the dam, shocking automobilists and all who pass by. The constable has been authorized to arrest any lad swimming without tights and will bring them before the justice of the peace, who, it is understood, will deal with them severely.

Miss Juliette Hill, with a friend from Quakertown, N. J., brought their luncheon two days in succession, and spent the time boating on the lake.

W. E. Smith has been out of town on business.

Educational.

The Centenary Collegiate Institute, at Hackettstown, N. J., has acquired a fine tract of land, containing 118 acres, which will be transformed to school uses. A golf course is contemplated, without the usual expense. A skating pond will be constructed, and a field of six acres made into new athletic grounds, with a quarter-mile cinder track, inside of which will eb a fine baseball diamond. This school has made an enviable record in track athletics, and it is the purpose of the directors to develop this branch of schoolboy sports. Work on the new fields will begin as soon as a lease expires.

Curing a Pampered Pet.

A very clever veterinary had a system all his own. When he received an overfed toy dog he would consign him to a disused brick oven with a crust of bread, an onion and an old boot. When the dog began to gnaw the bread, the anxious mistress was informed that her darling was "doing nicely." When it commenced operations on the onion, word was sent that the pet was "decidedly better;" but when the animal tackled the boot, my lady was gratified to hear that her precious pet was "ready to be removed."—Woman's Home Companion.

THESE FRAMES ARE GUARANTEED FOR 20 YEARS, made of Gold Seamless wire, (not brass or steel.)

The exact measurement of your face taken and every frame made to order, so the frame will set correctly and not hurt your face.

Any style we manufacture, either Rims or Rimless.

ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE.

Your Eyes will be examined by The Dammers Scientific Method, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(No Drops Used.) Those who have been examined for Glasses by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

No Questions Asked, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes Blindness, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have the trouble to get glasses correct.

Many thousands of our patrons will indorse every word you read here.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, neusea, Watery Eyes, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by Eye Strain. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism, by our scientific methods of Examining.

An experience covering every detail of the Optical Business for over a quarter of a century is the continuous record of the great Dammers concern.

Our position in Newark, N. J., and Providence, R. I., as the Leading Eyesight Specialists is proof of the high confidence in our responsibility, and the reliability of our representations.

GEN. KEARNY'S CHILDREN AT ODDS OVER ESTATE.

Are Trying to Break Will of Their Mother, Who Died at Cape May.

Cape May, July 23.—Proceedings have been commenced in this county by Countess de Kermel and Miss Elizabeth Kearny, daughters of General Phil Kearny, to break the will of their mother, Mrs. Diana Kearny, who died here early in June.

Mme. de Kermel had been for many years estranged from her mother, and she returned to this country to be with her only a short time before her death. Mme. de Kermel has been for many years at war with other members of her family also, and her brother, John Watts Kearny, of Washington, has refused for years to recognize her. It was her presence in Mrs. Diana Kearny's house at the time of her death that prevented John W. Kearny from visiting his mother.

Miss Elizabeth Kearny, who was for several years a nun in France, but was compelled to retire from the order on account of her health, received $1,000 from her mother, in addition to what she received from her father. Mme. de Kermel was not mentioned in the instrument.

Mrs. Kearny's two grand-daughters, the Misses Powell, of Washington, came into possession of all Mrs. Kearny's real estate here, which includes a number of valuable cottages. These were deeded several years ago by Mrs. Kearny to Mrs. Powell, her favorite daughter, who had always made her home with her. Mrs. Powell died early last winter, and the property went at the death of their grandmother to her two children.

It is a share in this property that Mme. de Kermel and Miss Kearny are attempting to get. They charge that undue influence was brought to bear on their mother, and that her faculties were not such as to enable her to make a will. The defense will insist that Mrs. Kearny's condition of mind was entirely normal, and that she had often spoken of her intention to dispose of her property just as she did in her will. Mrs. Kearny had only a life interest in the share of the estate of General Phil Kearny which went to her. The bulk of his fortune went to his son, and his mother's share also reverted to him.

FAVORS ROD IN SCHOOLS.

Rev. Dr. Buckley the Speaker of "Pennington Day."

It was "Pennington day" at Ocean Grove Friday and devoted to Pennington Seminary. The Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, spoke on "Schools." He said he didn't believe in woman suffrage, but did believe in women being elected to school boards.

Dr. Buckley also said corporal punishment should be restored. He said the press was one of the bulwarks of the nation. Roosevelt's crusades against the trusts, he said, could never have been successful without the influence of the newspapers.

The doctor spoke of co-educational schools, declaring: "I would much rather have a girl of mine find her husband in a co-educational school than at a bridge whist party or in a theatre."

EGGS FOR THE UMPIRE.

Minneapolis, July 23.—Thursday's game between the Minneapolis and olumbus American Association teams got no further than the first strike owing to a demonstration against Umpire Owens, who was nearly mobbed Wednesday, after an unpopular decision. There was a big attendance and when Owens appeared he was greeted with a volley of eggs. One of them hit him on the head, and he was escorted from the grounds by the police. The game was neither formally called off nor forfeited.

A temporary restraining order has been issued, returnable today, preventing the enforcement of the suspension of Freeman and Oyler, of the Minneapolis team, pending a hearing.

Cast Babe Into Canal.

The naked body of a girl about two months' old was found in the Morris Canal at Jersey City yesterday with a railroad coupling pin fastened about its neck. County Physician Converse said that the child had died of natural causes. In his opinion the parents were too poor to pay for a funeral and had taken that way to avoid expense. The police were unable to trace the child's parentage.

Fifteen Pirates Caught.

Hongkong, July 23.—Fifteen of the fifty Chinese pirates who attacked the British steamship Sainam near Samshui last Friday, murdered the Rev. Dr. Macdonald, a missionary, and dangerously wounded Captain Joslyn, the skipper, have been captured. There are hopes of capturing the whole gang.

MR. DRYDEN'S MISTAKE.

On the whole, John F. Dryden's appeal for support for re-election as the junior United States Senator from New Jersey is rather disappointing. Here and there in his much disjointed statement he well defines his position regarding National questions. But he mars the tone of the instrument by his evasiveness regarding internal affairs in New Jersey. Particularly is this the case when he says "As to my attitude concerning the questions which confront the people of this State, I do not know that an United States Senator, as such, can properly have any attitude towards questions of purely State character that do not come within the sphere of his action as a National legislator."

Within the ranks of the regular Republican organization leaders in New Jersey, it would be unreasonable to presume that there is any fair-minded man who would not say that it is highly important for a candidate for the United States Senate to state whether he believes the charges made by the so-called reformers are true or false. As one of its State's representatives at Washington, Mr. Dryden would stand close to the President, who would naturally look to him for information concerning what is best for the welfare of New Jersey. The President has appointments to make and some of these plums will fall to Jerseymen. It is to be expected, therefore, that he will consult Mr. Dryden about such matters at least.

A greater reason than this why Mr. Dryden should declare himself regarding the present condition of affairs in his own State is that, if elected, he will be presumed to be a type of the best Republicanism in New Jersey; the brand that the people of this State desire to have represent them; just as La Follette is for Wisconsin or Platt is for New York. But there is hardly any necessity for going into Mr. Dryden's views regarding his position in this connection for it is well known where he stands. As a matter of fact he does himself an injustice when he says that he does not believe it is his duty as an United States Senator, to define his position "as such." It is his position as a candidate and not as an United States Senator that is called into question and no one knows that better than he.

WORSHIPPING THE DOLLAR.

Interest in the death of Russell Sage lies in the fact that "he was one of the greatest business men the United States has ever produced," and not because of any good he did. If his life, which brought about the accumulation of a fortune variously estimated at from eighty to a hundred millions of dollars, was worth the living it will not be known until his will is read. Unlike Carnegie, Rockefeller, Morgan and other captains of finance, he was not given to aiding his fellow man; at least so far as was ever recorded.

How he lived is best told in the following account for an obituary: "For breakfast he drank part of a cup of weak coffee and ate dried toast. His mid-day meal consisted of a couple of apples and some times a glass of milk. His dinner, at 6 usually, consisted of beef broth with vegetables, weak tea and double baked bread. Through the entire 69 years of his business life, he never spent a dollar in anything but the most careful manner, inherent frugality and a natural born business instinct being the secret of his success. In Wall street his career was marked entirely by his money lending enterprises."

Russell Sage was not the type of a man whose life is worth emulating, he was not the type of a man who is greatly needed in this era.

Don't forget the Baby Camp; that worthy charity conducted by the City Union of King's Daughters. Before leaving town send your check to The Daily Press. It will be acknowledged in these columns and immediately transmitted to the camp chairman.

George L. Record beat all records for dodging pointed questions in his reply to Rev. Mr. Nash; the Prohibition party leader. It was one of those acrobatic feats which has marked him as the champion political lightning change artist.

And we repeat—keep your eye on John W. Griggs when studying the Senatorial situation.

FATHER AND CHILD DROWNED

the chopping sea. He strove manfully for a time to reach the expiring father, but, realizing that he was making no progress, and that his own strength was failing fast, he turned toward the shore. The rope of the buoy became entangled about his legs, and, for a time, it was feared that he, too, would be drowned. He was taken from the surf exhausted.

In the meantime the alarm had spread up to Chelsea avenue, where the crew of the life boat was notified. Guards Wills and Lefano manned the boat. They were obliged to row against an ebb tide and a heavy wind which retarded them seriously. When they reached Thomae, he was floating face downward. The girl could not be seen.

Thomae was taken ashore. Beach Surgeon Beckwith and a Dr. Gigson, who was staying at the tented city, worked for more than an hour to revive him. Once or twice he breathed faintly, but in the end the breath fluttered away.

The body of the daughter for whom he had died was washed ashore about 7 o'clock at night.

Dr. Beckwith, who has charge of the life guards and the life-saving equipment along the beach, said Saturday night that the sea Saturday was the worst for bathing within his memory. It was treacherous, running with a current which had all manner of zigzag twists, and was accompanied by a heavy undertow.

Two more drownings occurred at about the same time, and the afternoon will be remembered as one of the most tragic in the history of the seaside city.

An investigation of the conduct of the guards near Albany avenue when the Thomaes were lost will be commenced today. Residents are insisting that all the guards shall be vigorous young men, who shall be subjected to rigid swimming tests before their appointment.

The Thomae family went to Atlantic City Saturday, from Riverside, a suburb of Philadelphia, to spend the day. Mrs. Thomae and another daughter, Rose, were with the ill-fated father and child. Mr. Thomae moved the family to Riverside three weeks ago, a short time after he was transferred by the Victor Talking Machine Company, with which he was connected, from New York to the Philadelphia office.

The Thomaes had a handsome home, "Hawksnest," in Washington Valley. It was leased when they moved to Riverside. Mr. Thomae was well known in Fanwood and Scotch Plains, and the story of his, and the daughter's, drowning was deeply felt in both communities. Mr. Thomae was much interested in the Public Library of Fanwood, and gave it great support.

Rose Thomae is the only surviving child. A brother, George Thomae, is in the Government marine service.

Mr. Thomae was a member of Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E. He is the second member to come to a tragic end within six months. Harry Taylor shot himself in Yonkers in the spring.

The bodies of father and child were brought to this city yesterday. They will be buried tomorrow morning in Scotch Plains cemetery, after services at the home of Mrs. James B. Carter, of Fanwood.

Among the various interesting records of our neighbors are the following items: Mrs. Henry E. Hall, of Fanwood, is stopping with her sister, Mrs. Thomas E. Seaborn, Jr., at her Newport villa and in the list of American tourists registered on Friday at the Paris office of the New York Herald are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chase and William Walten Chase, of Westfield.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral services of Miss Mary Alice Rand, daughter of the late Reverend Stephen J. Rand, are taking place this afternoon at the Baptist church in Amherst, Mass., Miss Rand's former home. Miss Rand was born at Maulmain, Burmah, where her father was doing missionary work, but came to this country when about two years of age. She was educated at Northfield, and came to Plainfield about seven years ago to take up convalescent nursing, but later on decided on a professional training, and entered Muhlenberg Hospital, graduating from there in 1904. Going from one case to another without sufficient rest she doubtless overtaxed her strength, and she was taken ill at the summer home of Charles J. Fisk at Easthampton, L. I., about the middle of June with rheumatism, which brought on alarming heart trouble. Physicians and nurses were called, and every care given her in Mr. Fisk's hospitable home, but her condition remained so serious, that it was deemed best to give her the advantages of hospital care, and she was taken to New York in a special car on June 28 and carried to the Presbyterian Hospital, where her death occurred on Friday morning. Miss Rand leaves three sisters, Mrs. H. Alexander Hathaway, of Williamsburg, Mass., and the Misses Laura and Maude Rand. One brother, Wilburface Judson Rand, resides in New York, and is an employe of Harvey Fisk & Sons. Miss Rand leaves a host of devoted friends in Plainfield, and the family and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver B. Leonard are deeply affected by her heath, as Miss Rand was betrothed to their son, James M. Leonard, and they and the Misses Marsh, with whom Miss Rand was making her home, are receiving the sympathy of friends.

Sunday Morning Fires.

A slight fire in an Italian barber shop on South Second street, opposite Muhlenberg place, resulted in an alarm being turned in from box 45 at 8:20 yesterday morning. The blaze was quickly put out with chemicals. The loss is placed at $50. The West End company had barely returned to its house when it was called out for a chimney fire on Monroe avenue. Three extinguishers had to be used before the blaze was killed.

Mrs. Harry S. Potter, of El Paso, Texas, came to Plainfield Friday, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woodruff, of East Second street.

Walter Higgins, formerly of this city but now of Watertown, N. Y., is spending a month with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Higgins, of West Front street.

DRYDEN ISSUES APPEAL

Offers His Record as Reason Why He Should be Re-Elected U. S. Senator.

HARPS ON THE TARIFF

Evades Internal Political Troubles —Says He's a Conservative Man.

Having completed his senatorial duties, and with time at his disposal for carefully considering the subject, United States Senator John F. Dryden has yielded to the wishes of his personal friends and political supporters and declared himself in regard to his campaign for re-election by the next Legislature. Senator Dryden, in his statement, says:

"The problem seems to me to be a very plain and simple one. It is whether the people and the Legislature of New Jersey think they made a mistake in electing me to fill the unexpired term of the late General Sewell. If not, if I have met their reasonable expectation and have served them acceptably, approved political usage suggests my re-election. This personal phase of the matter is one, of course, into which I cannot enter.

"The people of New Jersey must examine the record and judge for themselves. I can only say that their examination of that record is invited without misgiving. It is open before them and cannot be misrepresented. But this I may, at least, proudly claim that the record made by Congress during the period that I have served in the Senate will bear comparison with that of any similar period in the history of the country. The achievements of the recent session were more notable than any since the Civil War and Reconstruction periods.

"These triumphs involved tremendous struggles with enormous adverse interests. The railroad rate bill, the inter-ocean canal bill, the pure food legislation, the alcohol bill and several other great enactments were only won after long and doubtful struggles with vast corporate powers.

"The chief fear was that the Senate would block these proposed reforms. It was in many quarters plainly intimated that this 'American House of Lords,' or 'Millionaires' Club,' as it has various been termed, was not truly representative of the great body of the people against powerful financial and business monopolies. But these misgivings have been shown to be groundless. They were largely founded upon the calumious clamor that has lately filled the current newspaper and magazine world with its din, teaching the dismal doctrine that everything in American business and political life is unworthy and unclean."

The Senator goes on to pay a high tribute to the personality of his colleague in the upper branch of Congress and then continues:

"I have stood for and supported by voice and vote every great measure that adorns the matchless record of the recent session. As to the future I have no rash promises to make of being certain to bring an early millennium in either politics or business. My temperment and instincts are towards conservatism and while I fully realize the characteristic evils of our times, I am disposed, while seeking a remedy for them, to guard with care the ancient and time-honored business and political foundations. It seems to me that the mental attitude of President Roosevelt toward public questions of our day is a fine blending of a broad and courageous progressiveness with a wise and steady conservatism that is altogether admirable.

"As to my attitude concerning the questions which confront the people of this state, I do not know that a United States Senator, as such, can properly have any attitude towards questions of purely state character that do not come within the sphere of his action as a national legislator; but this I can say without reserve—that the work of the last Legislature in point of important and progressive legislation is without precedent in the history of the State. These enactments place New Jersey in the van among the State of the Union for wise and courageous solution of great questions of corporate taxation and corporate franchises.

Strong for High Tariff.

After showing the fallacy of the charge made by the Democrats and reformers that the Republican party is in the grasp of corporations, the Senator concludes by stating his position on national issues. He says:

"There is one great question of supreme importance that is likely to be the dominating issue in this year's elections in all parts of the country. I refer to the American policy of protection to home industry. The enemies of the system are everywhere preparing to make an attack upon it. It is marvelous how soon the lessons of recent calamities are forgotten by the people. It is only a little more than a decade ago that this country was writhing in the pangs of distress and universal business prostration, brought upon by the "tariff for revenue" act of the Cleveland administration. The protective tariff law of the McKinley administration cured all these evils as if by magic. What madness it would be to abandon this policy and go back to the policy of disaster! And yet this is what restless and unscrupulous politicians, willing to ride into power over the ruins of our industries, are proposing. They hope to capture the House of Representatives and to make gains in the Senate and thus pave the way for the destruction of our protective fabric.

"I am inexorably opposed to any revision of the tariff in the direction of free trade. I believe that such revision would again and at once bring measureless disaster upon industry and business. New Jersey, with its six hundred millions of annual industrial products, is deeply interested in this question and whether I am elected or not, I fervently trust this State will not suffer the dangerous mischance of being represented by any one whose absolute and high-principled devotion to the protective principle is open to the slightest doubt or question."

THE FORUM.

Short Weight Ice.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Last year we had an enormous crop of ice, but the ice men, through a trust or combination or was it a mere coincidence, fixed upon forty cents per hundred pounds as the price for the summer—just double what it had been in previous years—to families. A year ago this spring, my wife called in an ice man and told him that she wanted him to supply her with ice for the summer and told him to bring in ten cents worth. He brought in not more than fifteen pounds, while she was entitled to twenty-five, and when she asked him if that was ten cents worth, said, "Y—es, that's ten cents worth." So we got along without ice the rest of the summer rather than submt to such bare-faced extortion. This spring, my wife called to an ice man and asked him the price of ice. He said it would be sixty cents per hundred weight. She told him to bring in fifteen cents worth. He brought in a little piece, not more than fifteen pounds, instead of twenty-five. So we are getting along without ice this summer also. So it seems to make no difference as to whether the crop of ice is large or small, plenty or scarce. The ice consumers of Plainfield get "hit" just the same. It is bad enough to be compelled to pay an extortionate price for ice if you want it and it seems downright robbery when they will cheat you in weight right before your eyes. An ice man boasted, not long since to a friend of the writer, that he has taken out 1800 pounds of ice in the morning of a hot summer day and brought back pay for 2700. A customer can go into a grocery or dry goods store and see his or her purchases measured or weighed, but when you buy ice you must trust to the honesty of the ice mon for what he brings in and—well, what are we going to do about it? In conclusion, I beg to remark that any man that could put ice robbers behind the bars of the State prison would be hailed as a public benefactor. FAIR PLAY.

WAS DRY ONLY IN SPOTS

SUNDAY IN NEW JERSEY

Newark Saloon Men Caused Arrest of Four Violators of the Bishops' Law.

New Jersey was dry only in spots yesterday, many saloonkeepers deciding to take a chance and sell to regular customers.

The exodus of the thirsty to New York, Coney Island and other pleasure resorts outside the State began with daylight and continued long into the night. In many instances workingmen accustomed to drinking on Sunday took their families with them. The ferries, railroads and trolley lines report the greatest business of the summer to New York.

The dryness has worn off in Hoboken, Union Hill and other North Hudson resorts. Practically all of the places were open and doing business yesterday. It was no difficult matter to get drinks in Hoboken. The business was done by way of the side doors. The activity of the police and county detectives made it dangerous for the saloonkeepers to admit any one they did not know.

Thousands of keg parties were organized, and these filled the woods of North Hudson and Bergen counties.

Arrests in Jersey City.

Few arrests were made in Jersey City. Chief of Police Murphy and Detectives Van Horn and Pearson visited Herrman Floerke's Pennsylvania House, No. 31 Montgomery street, shortly after midnight and saw a man drinking from a stein. Floerke had been refused a license on the ground that his place was disorderly. Chief Murphy seized the stein, saw that it contained beer, went behind the bar and drew another stein of beer and then placed Floerke and his bartenders, John Ellis and August Grafe, under arrest. Grafe resisted and was struck by Detective Pearson. All were released on bail.

Stanislau Ruscruski, of No. 253 Warren street, was arrested for selling beer in the living rooms over his saloon.

Many of the saloons in Paterson were wide open yesterday, but so far as the police could learn there was no violation of the Bishops' excise law. No intoxicating liquors were sold or offered for sale and the thirsty had to content themselves with "soft stuff."

The Chief of Police decided the saloonkeepers had a right to remain open on Sundays if they did not sell intoxicants. The saloon men were warned though that no loitering would be tolerated in the saloons which elected to stay open and sell the "soft" drinks.

In Hoboken John Harden, of No. 135 Adams street, was open and selling "soft stuff," and the police arrested him not for violating the Bishops' act, but under the old vice and immorality act.

The retail liquor dealers of New Brunswick aided the police in keeping all saloons tightly closed throughout the day and no arrests were made.

In none of the towns or cities was the anti-screen provision of the law strictly enforced.

Saloon Men Cause Arrests.

Newark was dry. The saloons, clubs, picnic parks and all other resorts were all closed. There was no change as to the removal of screens from the town previous Sundays. Four saloonkeepers, charged by other saloon men with doing business on the quiet, were arrested. They were Allan Malloy, No. 525 Ferry street; Mark Collins, No. 49 Downing street; Michael Kennedy, No. 162 Ferry street, and Joseph Wallait, No. 207 McWhorter street.

Atlantic City Sold Liquor.

Atlantic City, July 23.—Uneasiness concerning the possibility of a strict enforcement of the new excise law appeared to have died down yesterday and timid liquor dealers who closed last Sunday took a chance on furnishing drinks to the thirsty under cover. The city was very orderly and the police report that the saloon district in the city and the cafes on the beach gave no sign of doing business. The regulation concerning screens is held in abeyance pending decision of the courts.

Back-Room Business Done.

Camden, July 23.—Saloon screens were down in nearly all saloons yesterday but in some sections of the city a brisk back-room business was done. To defeat the plans of the Law and Order agents who are active in this section keys to the doors are given to very discreet customers and "clubs" are multiplying with remarkable rapidity, most of them on the second floors of licensed saloons.

Lid Down at Capital.

Trenton, July 23.—All the drinking places were closed here yesterday. The screens in all the saloons were open all day, giving a complete view from the street of the empty bar within. The Trenton saloonkeepers will observe the law strictly until the courts decide its constitutionality.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

PRETTY ATTRACTIONS FOR FAIR SHOPPERS.

Those fascinating little handkerchiefs to tuck into one's glove are all the rage just now, and they are by no means cheap as things go, but the material and workmanship are so fine that one is willing to pay for them.

Dainty gingham petticoats with scalloped and embroidered flounces cost very little, and are more desirable than silk, as they may be sent to the tub as long as there is a piece left, and come out looking like new.

A new white serge coat and skirt frock has a white taffeta waistcoat trimmed with fine gold braid and hemmed with pale blue silk. The coat is edged with cream silk braid. It is a plaited little garment, the plaits being stitched flat to within an inch or two of the bottom, which ruffles out slightly when released.

White muslin pieces stamped in choice patterns for lingerie hats are marked away down.

A lingerie yoke of lawn and valenciennes lace is finished with a wide front tab that reaches to the bottom of the waist. The yoke is of generous depth.

Stylish washable reefers for the children have been marked down, owing to the lateness of the season.

Pique Afghans for the baby's carriage are very desirable in every way, for they look well, wear well, and launder beautifully.

Just now an almost essential possession is one of the rubber-lined bags intended for the bathing suit.

A number of shops are having sales of that handsome wide embroidery so much used for corset covers.

A case of leather containing brush, comb and toothbrush, costs but a trifle and is always ready to slip into the traveling bag at a moment's notice.

HINTS ON STARCHING.

A good starch is made by mixing two tablespoonfuls of laundry starch with one-fourth of a cupful of cold water and pouring on it, while stirring constantly, one pint of boiling water.

Then add half a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of sugar and a lump of spermaceti about the size of the top of the thumb.

If spermaceti is not on hand use the same measure of lard and a few drops of kerosene.

Boil ten minutes and keep the starch covered while boiling.

Strain through a piece of cheesecloth and keep covered until cool enough to put the hands into.

The articles to be starched should beneatly dry.

Dip each article into the starch separately and draw it through the half closed hand, thereby working the starch into all the threads and pressing out the surplus starch.

Hang up and when dry dampen with cold water, roll in a clean dry cloth and set them aside for a few hours.

When ironing starched clothes keep the unironed part damp by covering it with a wet cloth.

A good starch will will give collars and cuffs a fine gloss, if the same are properly ironed, is made by adding two tablespoonfuls of raw starch, which has been dissolved in a little cold water, to the cooked starch, when it has become quite cool.

Stir thoroughly. The starch should be the consistentcy of thick cream.

FOR SUMMER USE.

Old rush-bottomed chairs stained green, with burlap cushions, are nice for porch or summer cottages.

Some very pretty hammocks are woven of closely twisted twine in red and brown in imitation of Indian rugs.

A good protection for your better pillows when used during the summer months is the large bandanna handkerchiefs. Sew up the square, leaving the ends open part way and tie these in knots on the corners.

For clover brushes which give a pleasant odor to the closet gather the red clover with long stems and while still pliant tie the stems close to the flowers with a cord. Plait the stems and tie at the end with narrow ribbon.

Cotton felt, which is cotton batting in sheets, is preferable to down as a filling for summer pillows that are used on porch or in a hammock.

Khaki has a great deal to recommend it to the economical housewife for furniture covers. It has all the qualities of washable linen and the beautiful sheen of silk. It makes excellent summer curtains and drapery and launders well. It makes excellent ottoman covers and pillow tops and its exquisite brown or ecru shade harmonizes with most surroundings.

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

"I am glad you are hopeful, sweet child; glad that for you the future is so rich in promise. But it is in youth that the rainbow takes its glitter from the gold at the farther tip. At my age, dear, you will have learned to value the glory most because it shines through tears."

At this point they were interrupted by Mr. Winslow. "I beg your pardon, ladies, but I am sent as envoy-in-extraordinary to call you in to breakfast. I can recommend our johnny-cakes; they have, indeed, stood the trip wonderfully. And your servant bade me add that she has a bowl of quiddany—whatever that may be. It certainly sounds like something very remarkable."

Laughing and talking brightly, they went in to breakfast.

The meal was served in a small, dark-raftered room, cosy with a glowing fireplace. Here America presided with all the strength of her ungainly body and loyal heart. She, alone, of the servants, insisted upon accompanying the party. "Am I gwine?" and she repeated Lavender's words. "Well, honey, I jes wush I was as plum sho ob Heaven as I am o' cavoortin' 'roun' in dat ole Noay's ark!"

"ARE YOU SO FICKLE TOWARD OLD LOVES, OLD THINGS, AND OLD PLACES?"

The owners of the rude boat to which America thus alluded were, for the most part, gay youths from the eastern cities, who, for varied reasons, had chosen to follow the fortunes of Aaron Burr.

Those among them to whom he was personally known, had been carried away by his magnetic presence; others by party preferences, but more, like Charles Winslow, were here in obedience to a longing for change, with moderate hopes of fame and fortune. If there were schemes afoot against their country—if there were peril to its flag in the proposed expedition—they were ignorant of it. Burr's public successes had awakened in them an admiration which no later disgrace could subdue. Hence their zeal in a cause which, originally undertaken from motives of personal gain, was, by hostile opposition, converted into a crusade for the vindication of their leader. All were enraged at what they considered unwarranted interference on the part of the authorities, and this indignation was roused under conditions which barred sober thought; at a time when party feeling ran high; when if, as seldom, men held impartial opinions, they were confined to private individuals. The truth concerning those in official power was largely obscured by the mist of calumny or the glamor of worship.

At dusk of the first day on the river, Lavender was standing on the roof which served as promenade deck. A light snow began to fall. She watched the white flakes drift reluctantly into the black water that leaped and foamed to meet them. Dark treacherous snags reared their jagged heads Cerberus-like, the foam from the keel circling in a white lather about their giant mouths.

The hills rose bare and rugged on either side, without sign of life; she might have been a lonely passenger on the river Styx, with the man at the pole a silent Charon.

Shivering, she turned to go and it was with a start of pleasure that she saw Winslow's figure loom out of the fog. She was glad of this interruption to her unquiet brooding. Morbid fancies came to her as unwelcome guests, and she only smiled at Winslow, and turned to look again at the foam-flecked path they had come.

"You are staring at the river regretfully, as though it were a gray ribbon unwinding between you and everything good," he said.

She shook her head. "On the contrary, it is bearing me along with what I love most, to everything that is most dear."

"Then you do not dread the change?"

"I do not," she replied.

"Are you so fickle toward old loves, old things, old places?"

She turned to him with a rueful smile. "You give me credit for deeper feelings than I possess. I am both so shallow and so optimistic that I always think the new is to be as good as the old. For that reason I am, perhaps, easily reconciled to change. Besides I will have both—the old and the new."

—a legacy."

"Well," she admitted, "are not memories sweet? Do we not enjoy legacies?"

"But they presuppose loss."

She frowned and shook her head in playful remonstrance. "You are making me gloomy; let us go below."

A little later, they joined the others in the cabin.

Here, about the fire was gathered the group of travelers, and Winslow and Lavender paused in the doorway to watch them.

The light and shadow played strange pranks with all. It brought into grotesque relief a suit of nankeen here a buff waistcoat there—or singled out for an especial gleam a saucy cap or scarlet kerchief. In spite of past difficulties and a future that threatened more, their spirits were strong, their hearts light and undismayed. At first there had been exciting talk and speculation, but gradually silence fell, and somebody started a song.

Mrs. Creighton slipped to the spinet and softly played the air, while the rest joined in the refrain:

"Are we almost there—are we almost there?"
Said a dying girl as she drew near home,
"Are those our poplar trees that rear
Their forms so high 'neath the Heaven's blue dome?"

The slow, sad words rolled in sonorous measure from floor to rafter, until a solemn hush fell upon all. At this moment America filled the threatening gap, and turned the tide of sadness which seemed setting in. Back in the shadow she rocked to and fro, and with the squeak of her chair the only accompaniment, she sang the old camp meeting hymn, in a voice loud, but tuneful:

"Wrastle, Jacob, daylight's a-breakin', Oh, wrastle, Jacob, I will not let thee go."

CHAPTER IV.

Toward the close of a raw day in January there was a stir on board—the Cumberland was in sight! Gray and green, the water of the two rivers blended in a muddy torrent. At the last bend in the Ohio they came in sight of the flotilla. Moored on the bank were the boats, and moving about the shore the pilgrim voyagers. There was a flutter of handkerchiefs, and a halloo of welcome as the newcomer glided to a landing-place, and the tired travelers stepped to shore.

Mrs. Blennerhasset's eyes sought but one face in the crowd. Her husband sat on a fallen tree in the background. His companion, with whom he was in earnest conversation, was a small, lithe man, below the medium height, under whose high, pointed forehead dark eyes flashed with mesmeric power. These, and the dilated nostrils, were the only signs of excitement. His voice was very low, his manner quiet, with movements restrained, except that he constantly poked one long forefinger in his listener's face. All the vehemence of a strong soul seemed condensed in that gesture.

A man approached and, bowing, said: "Col. Burr, our party from the east has come, and word has it that Mrs. Blennerhasset is with them."

Harmon Blennerhasset rose with a startled exclamation: "My wife—here? But that is not our boat!" And he rushed to the landing, where his wife with her little sons and the others were disembarking.

"Welcome, Mavourneen! And you, Mrs. Creighton? And Lavender? Will wonders never cease?"

In the midst of the hurried explanation which followed, Col. Burr approached. He greeted the ladies with a soft cordiality rather fitted to the drawing room than this river bank, where every lingering ray of sun served but to illumine the embracing waters, leaving the snow-pied bluffs on either side in dusky gloom.

The leader invited the newly arrived voyagers to supper on his boat, and the time passed delightfully; enlivened by the seductive charm of his manner and conversation. Winslow, too, was a brilliant talker when the spirit moved, and they with the two elder women, flashed wit and wisdom to which the others listened with an admiring attention which was a good fashion of the time.

Later, however, a current of sadness lay underneath the gayety, and Lavender slipped out, and up to the deck alone.

The moon, low-hung and wan, like a dim torch lighted a wandering wrack of clouds. The quiet beauty of the night, and the lullaby of waves rocking the anchored boat, soothed her—dispelled her forebodings of the uncertain morrow.

"Pardon me—I seem destined to disturb your reveries."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

A. H. Woods' great production of "Chinatown Charlie" aside from a vivid exposition of several scenes of a genuinely artistic character contains in the course of its melodramatic developments, a few scenic glimpses of a gruesome kind; notably, The Secret Chamber and Rat Alley, both of which are said to be exceptionally clever works of the painter's study, while not in the least exaggerations of what certain New York localities offer to those whose slumming propensities lead them where others are afraid to venture. It will be well worth a visit to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday for the sake of making the various contrasts in the different parts of the metropolis.

The "human staircase" scene in A. H. Woods' melodrama, "Queen of the Highbinders," which is booked to appear at the New Plainfield theatre on August 4, is one of the many clever things in this highly interesting play. It is a thriller from start to finish, though it never borders on the ridiculous, every situation and climax having some particular bearing on the plot. The patrons of the New Plainfield theatre will certainly like "Queen of the Highbinders," not because it is intensely interesting, but because it is human. The play is in four acts and contains twelve distinct and original scenes of great beauty and realism, besides numerous stage pictures. The tank scene showing all the varied denizens of a flowing river, where the boys who help the heroine are taking a plunge is one of the most pleasing and best liked of them all.

Dress Color Combinations.

It is not infrequent for the petticoat, neck ruche, hat, parasol, shoes and gloves all to be of the same color, while the dress is gray, black, and white, or of other neutral tone. A smart black cloth princess gown seen lately was accompanied by all the accessories in mauve.

DIAMOND DUST.

There was too much moisture on the diamond Saturday afternoon for the game between the Daabsters and Philadelphia Quaker Giants. Both teams were here and the Giants hustled out by the tireless Monroe, were on the diamond early and had some throwing practice.

Next Saturday, the locals will play a return game with the Invaders at Elizabeth. Manager Neubeck has announced that he will have the strongest possible team on the grounds that Saturday conditions permit. He pleads that it is impossible to get his Sunday players together on Saturday, and must take his chances.

When the Plainfield nine bumps into the Invaders next Saturday they may go up against "Jimmy" Beisel in the box. "Jimmy," whose wing has improved under steady practice and careful gymnasium work, was to have twirled for the Invaders Saturday in the game that was shut off by the rain. Neubeck will probably want him to take the slab against Plainfield, and Jimmy will not shrink from the terrific task of keeping the horsehide where someone of the Neubeck prizes can lay hands on it without straining too much. Jimmy was always a fearless pitcher, and he said yesterday that a go against Plainfield, picked players though they be, had no terrors for him. He is confident his part of the game would go all right, and if the men behind him did what the situation demanded of them, Manager Daab would leave Elizabeth with troubled feelings.

Beisel, it is worth remembering, was the first twirler of the Commuter team. Lines Groo always insisted that he was the real thing, and holds to the opinion yet. Other elements of the management didn't, however, and Jimmy was given his release. These bits of ancient history would make the clash between Beisel and the Daab batters of much and peculiar interest. If he should beat them on clean-cut pitching, one can hardly imagine a ruler big enough to measure the ironical smile that would curve about his face opening.

For the benefit of those who do not know, the name of Shortstop Snow is not Snow. It is Lambert. Lots of semi-professional ball players have stage names nowadays. Tommy Barry, by the way, over whose non-appearance here in several games so much excitement has raged, is called Skelly in his party clothes.

The Somersets will play the Laurels, of Bound Brook, at Bound Brook, Saturday.

This week will demonstrate whether or not the ink-slinging combination is the champion of the newspaper teams in the State. The Newark News team will play here Thursday and the Elizabeth Times combination will play Saturday.

The News has a lively nine, composed of veterans of the diamond. Some of them are even more than veterans—they run on into the second childhood of baseballing. What they don't know about the game wouldn't spoil on the hottest day. They claim the state championship, and disapprove of the cocky air with which the Plainfield team surveys the field. They are coming here for the specific purpose of chastising the Plainfied aggregation and putting them in their place. The Newsies have been hitched for play several seasons, and have glorious traditions to maintain. The locals have no traditions, but they have a useful habit of scoring runs.

The News men will be fed and petted after the game at some quiet and orderly resort. Only places bearing the mark of the Bishops' approval will be considered for the tea.

The Saturday game will be an eat-'em-alive affair. The Elizabeth reporters are consumed with jealousy over the prominence that has come to their country cousins, and they have sworn strange and Bohemian oaths to make the simple farmer-folk realize that city people are dashing and irresistible at anything they turn their hands to. What will happen to that push is too painful to forecast. "Bob" Hoffman, the phenom of the Newspaper League, is being kept in cotton and fed on prepared pop, just for them. Hoffman once had to work on the Elizabeth Times and he is aching for a chance to get square.

To season them up for the two great struggles, the Newspaper Men have a game with the Police tomorrow afternoon. They have already taken the measure of the cops, and regard the contest merely as a bit of useful practice.

BACK FROM CAMP.

Second Regiment Ends Its Week of Soldiering at Sea Girt.

The Second Regiment broke camp at Sea Girt Saturday afternoon, Co. K getting back into town at about 5 o'clock. The men looked brown and hardy, the week of real soldiering evidently agreeing with them well.

The men were paid off before leaving the encampment, in accordance with the provisions of the new Dick law. Before leaving camp Governor Stokes sent a letter to General Gillmore congratulating him on the success of the encampment. General Gillmore warmly praised Colonel Dennis Collins, commander of the Second regiment for the excellent discipline and spirit that pervaded the camp during the week.

Rev. F. B. Newman Chapel Supply.

Rev. F. B. Newman, formerly a resident of this city, will occupy the pulpit at Hope chapel during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Laurence R. Howard, who starts on his vacation next week. Dr. Newman is pastor of the East Trenton Presbyterian church and will be the supply of Hope chapel during Mr. Howard's vacation, except on August 12, when Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach there. Mr. Howard will spend his vacation in the west, staying most of the time at Chicago. Mrs. Howard left for Chicago this morning.

Wrecked Wagon Delayed Trolleys.

A heavily loaded truck belonging to Mobus Bros., the building contractors, lost the right front wheel in crossing the trolley tracks on Somerset street near the high school this morning and wrecked the wagon right on the tracks. The cars were delayed for half an hour.

OLD HOUSE SOLD.

Maple Cottage Was One of First Structures on East Second St.

When the "Maple Cottage" was purchased by C. M. Raybert recently, one of the oldest houses in the city changed hands for the first time in seventy years.

The house, 221 East Second street, was built in 1836 by Jacob Irving. There was but one other house at that time on the street, the street not being cut through. Joseph Webster erected another house adjoining, in 1834, at present occupied by Miss Catherine R. Webster, his granddaughter. Mr. Irving lived in his house fifty-one years; he died in 1886, his wife a year later.

Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, his daughter, the surviving heir, remodeled the house and gave it the name of "Maple Cottage." The property was recently sold to Mrs. Louise acot, who transferred it to Mr. Raybert, who will reside there and erect a plumbing shop in the rear of the lot.

Mrs. Jane Smith.

Mrs. Jane Smith, aged seventy-five years, died Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Ball, of Sycamore avenue. She had been ill for some time with a complication of troubles. Mrs. Smith was born at North Branch, and had resided there until six years ago when she came to Plainfield. She leaves two sisters and three brothers. The funeral will be held at Mrs. Ball's home tomorrow night and interment will be at Somerville.

Realty Co. Works Out of Town.

A. D. Thompson, who has been especially active in the local real estate field as president of the Plainfield Realty Co., has extended the territory controlled by the company. Land has been acquired at Gloversville, N. Y., and at Oyster Bay, L. I., and dwelling house lots has been laid off. F. A. Dunham, the local surveyor, has been in charge of much of the work. The Gloversville property will be disposed of at auction on Thursday.

New Exit At Plainfield Theatre.

Carpenters are engaged at the New Plainfield theatre making an emergency exit from the theatre to the street through the shop next to the theatre. This exit will form a means of ventlating the building as well. The foyer of the theatre is being painted an ochre yellow, red and blue, and the decorations inside are being touched up in a soft red.

Stephen Davis Dead.

Stephen Davis, a former resident of Plainfield, died at his home in Plane street, Newark, this morning. He was an exempt fireman and was a member of Gazelle Engine Company during his residence here.

RUNAWAY DURING FUNERAL.

Horses Attached to Hearse Make Wild Dash and One Killed.

Elizabeth, July 23.—A team of horses attached to a hearse containing the bory of Policeman Frank Cavanaugh, while entering Mt. Olivet Cemetery Saturday, ran away, knocking down several patrolmen and killing one of the horses instantly. The hearse was badly damaged, btu the casket remained intact.

A sudden blast of trumpets of the fife and drum corps, which escorted the body to the cemetery, caused the horses to bolt.

A train of freight cars, making up on the tracks of the Lehigh Valley, gave a crash, which also frightened the animals. They ran upon the tracks of the railroad, directly in the path of a local train approaching this city from New York. The horses managed to pull the vehicle safely out of the path of the train, but collided iwth a telegraph pole. Frank White, the driver, was not injured.

Elizabeth Year Book.

N. E. Barton, of the Barton & Moody Publishing Company, of Elizabeth, submitted a proposition to the Board of Trade Friday evening for a year book for Elizabeth. The proposition was to print 5,000 copies of the book, containing a write-up of the city, its advantages, features, etc., besides advertisements. The Board of Trade was asked to pay the publishing firm $50 on completion of the work, the firm to reimburse itself for the remainder of the cost from sales of the book and ads. It was stated that 5,000 copies would cost the printers $5,000. The book is to sell at 35 cents a copy to private buyers, but cheaper to the Board of Trade. The board accepted the proposition.

At May's Landing.

May's Landing, July 23.—A law and order society has been organized here with these officers: M. C. Joslin, president; C. S. Darrett, secretary; Rev. C. W. Ridout, R. S. Vanaman and M. R. Morse, executive committee. Its purpose is to wage war upon vice in the surrounding towns and especially to enforce the Sunday closing law.

Outing to Westfield.

Members of the Swedish Lutheran church took a trolley outing to Westfield Saturday evening. There were about thirty church people in the party, which started from this city early in the evening. A stop was made at Westfield, the excursionists returning on one of the later cars in the evening.

—During his stay abroad, Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie's address will be care of Parr's Bank, Ltd., Bartholomew lane, London, E. C., England.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

State Committee Says the Party Demands a Constitutional Convention.

HOT SHOT FOR G. O. P.

Declares Republican Party in New Jersey Is Intoxicated—Avarice Its Chief Thought.

To the People of the State of New Jersey:

For thirteen years the Republican party has been in unchallenged control of this State. Its record is open to all. In the early years of this period it had been chastened into virtue because of its many years' absence from the chief public offices of the State, and its record was consequently less vulnerable than it has since become. It is now intoxicated with the continued use of its power in every branch of the government. It has become insensible to every passion but greed. Avarice seems to be its chief characteristic. The corrupt influences of corporate control have eaten into its very heart. Its own supporters openly charge its record to be one of bitter hostility to the interests of the people of the State.

This record so made is now to be examined by the people, in order that judgment may be passed upon it. We invite attention to it and we unhesitatingly place ourselves in opposition thereto and invoke the verdict of the people in the contest before us.

Extravagance.

Their extravagance has been extraordinary. When the Democracy relinquished the chief executive office of the State, the annual expenditure was the sum of $1,857,982, exclusive of payments of bonds or loans. Today it has attained the extraordinary figure of nearly three times this sum, which is grossly disproportionate to the growth of our wealth and population.

Contributions by Corporations.

A gigantic evil at which the Democracy has always warred has been the unlawful contributions by corporations to political parties for legislative protection in their predatory control of the business of the day.

It is well known that the sums of money contributed to the Republican campaign funds in this State have been gigantic in proportion. No such gifts are made without a common understanding, that such companies shall receive adequate protection in their plunder of the people. Corrupt legislation is the consequence of this partnership in crime.

Bills introduced for relief were defeated. Effective legislation was denied. It was felt by the collection of men who dominate the Republican party in this State that such loss to their treasury would seriously menace their control of the political machinery of the State. The tide is rapidly rising and if anything is clear at the present hour, it is that the people purpose to write in the statute book that corporate contributions to political parties must cease. The creature cannot be suffered to remain the master. Prompt chastisement should be visited upon all offending corporate bodies and in addition a revocation of the charter by the State.

These corporations maintain their chosen representatives on the floor of both chambers of the Legislature, and they are able to defeat measures intended to release their grip upon the State. They defeated the lobby bill intended to exclude these freebooters from the precincts of the legislative chambers.

Equal Taxation.

For many years in this State the Democratic party has been the outspoken champion of equal taxation. In all State conventions for twenty-five years it has so proclaimed.

In 1884, Leon Abbett, with his strong individuality and powerful influence, pressed it upon the legislature with such marked result that for the first time an advance was made toward this desirable goal. It was a compromise, but it was also advance. The party, in season and out of season, in every State platform, boldly championed the cause. In 1904 every other consideration was set aside and the party constructed its platform to achieve this single purpose. It was made plain for the first time the special privileges New Jersey railroads enjoyed in taxes, since their organization, that was not common to the people of the whole State.

The Republican party denied the truth of this statement, and in mendacious documents sought to answer the charges. A year later, however, they were frightened into action when a division in their own ranks on this very question compelled them to adopt their views advocated by

WHO IS F. SAGE'S SON?

Dispatch Says Inmate of Ill. Asylum Comes Here to Visit Offspring.

HE IS NOT KNOWN

Father Unjustly Incarcerated In Institution for the Insane For Five Years—He Escaped.

According to a dispatch received today from Chicago, Franklin H. Sage, a mechanical engineer, of Hartford, Conn., who escaped from the Elgin (Ill.) Asylum for the Insane, after five years unjust imprisonment, is supposed to have started for this city, where he has a son living. He left Hammond, Ind., last night, it is said, and he so stated to friends before boarding the train. The Plainfield directory does not contain the name of any Sage and a thorough inquiry has failed to locate the relative.

The dispatch states that Sage received an injury to his head early in his career and a tumor resulted which subjected him, in hot weather especially, to sudden spells of unconsciousness. He was in Chicago in August, 1901, en route for Phoenix, Arizona, to his home in Connecticut, when one of those spells came upon him.

When he returned to consciousness Sage found himself in the detention hospital. Before he could take steps to prevent it he was committed to the Elgin asylum. Then he began efforts to communicate with his relatives, but without success. He made one memorable escape four years ago, when he eluded the guards and got to Hammond, Ind. He stayed a few days with Masonic friends and went to Chicago to cash a draft. He was arrested and taken back to the Elgin asylum.

Sage had no further chance to escape until Wednesday, when he was taken to a ball game. He eluded the guards and made his way to Chicago.

Sage went to the residence of W. R. Donaldson, president of the Chicago Motor Vehicle Company, an old friend. After a narrow escape from being turned away as a tramp by the servants, he was recognized by Mr. Donaldson and in fifteen minutes was started on a whirlwind automobile trip to Hammond, to get him out of the jurisdiction of the Illinois authorities.

Beside the son supposed to be living in Plainfield, Sage is said to have two sons in New York, a son and two daughters in Hartford and a daughter and two sisters in New London, Conn.

Party on Second Birthday.

In honor of the second birthday, Willetta H. Ord, daughter of George W. Ord, of East Seventh street, had a birthday party at her home yesterday afternoon. Among those of her playmates who came to wish her happy returns of the day were Kenneth Housman, Gordon Mumford, Helen Poole, Mildred Boole, Esther Patterson, Albert Patterson, Gilbert Stover, Helen Lake, Eleanor Stover, Alvia Hensen, Rutherford Dalley and Arthur Giles. Refreshments were served on the lawn, where the little folks spent the afternoon playing games.

Help Negress Get Divorce.

In her efforts to free herself from her husband, Mrs. Mary A. Brown, colored, who has sued her husband, William J. Brown, for divorce, is being backed by her white employers. The latter have looked into the case and sympathize with Mrs. Brown in her desire to divorce her husband. The latter is charged with desertion.

Fireman Campbell Better.

William T. Campbell, of borough fire headquarters, who has been ill at his home on Somerset street, is able to be about today but has not yet returned to his work. His place is being taken at headquarters by Frank Hull, one of the borough call men.

For Benefit of Tots.

For the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, Minnie Klein, of West Fifth street, and a number of her young friends will hold a lawn party Friday afternoon. Cake, ice cream and fancy articles will be sold.

At Monmouth Horse Show.

Collector Brown Better.

Borough Tax Collector George F. Brown, who is confined to his home with a severe attack of neuralgia and rheumatism, is slightly better today. He hopes to be back in his office next week.

MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS

Candidate For Mayor, Four For Councilmen and Two For Freeholders.

FIGHT AT PRIMARIES

Terms of Mayor Buckle, Councilmen Tolles, Hibbard, Tyler and F. Randolph and Two Freeholders Expire.

Candidates for mayor, ward councilmen and freeholders will be selected by the Republicans at the primaries on September 25. Several names have been mentioned in connection with the mayoralty but the politicians are all at sea regarding the councilmanic nominations, though four have to be picked. Two candidates for freeholder will also be chosen.

Those whose terms expire as ward councilmen are Ralph I. Tolles, in the First; Henry D. Hibbard, in the Second; William S. Tyler, in the Third, and Col. Frank deK. Randolph in the Fourth. Mr. Tolles will be renominated in the First for the regulars are solid for him and the Colby movement there is not formidable. In the Second there will be a fight against Mr. Hibbard, should he decide to stand again for a nomination. The Colbyites favor him, it is said, but the regulars oppose him.

As the Second ward is the stronghold of the "new idea" men it is said that Mr. Hibbard's chances of success would be excellent. Mr. Tyler will likely be the Colbyites candidate in the Third ward. There will be opposition to him, however, on the part of the organization men, though they do not say who they will favor. In the Fourth ward, Col. Randolph can have a renomination, the leaders say, if he wants it, but it is reported on good authority that he doesn't want it. Who the Colbyites will pick in that ward is not known.

Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur will be favored by the organization for a full term. The Colbyites are out against him. Just who they will boom is being kept dark but it is said that many of the anti-organization men favor J. F. MacDonald. It is quite certain that another man will be put in Freeholder William A. Westphal's job.

It appears to be reasonably certain now that R. Henry Depew will be the choice of the anti-organization Republicans for mayor. Mr. Depew, himself, is non-committal as to his attitude but close friends say that he will accept the nomination if tendered by the Colbyites. Both Henry L. Hall and Elliott T. Barrows are out of the running. Mr. Hall has emphatically declined and Mr. Barrows is not a Colbyite so far as the municipality is concerned.

A report is in circulation that Mr. Barrows is a regular organization possibility for the nomination provided former Mayor Charles J. Fisk declines to become the administration candidate. Mr. Fisk has not announced as yet whether he will stand, but knowing ones say that there will be something doing at the meeting of the city committee tonight. Should he be named, the situation will not be cleared up for the Colbyites declare they will oppose his nomination on September 25.

Mrs. Jane Elmira Dayton.

Mrs. Jane Elmira Dayton, wife of John E. Dayton, died at her home on Richmond street, yesterday, after an illness from dysentery. She was in her sixty-sixth year and leaves one son, Harvey Dayton, of Easton, Pa. The funeral will be held at her late home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which she was a member.

Caroline Hewitt.

Caroline Hewitt, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewitt, of Fritz place, died this morning from acute peritonitis. The little girl has been ill for several months, and was but recently brought home from the hospital, where she was operated upon. The funeral will be held from the parents' home Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

R. A.'s Semi-Annual.

District Deputy William Koester, of Bayonne Council, was present at the meeting of Greenbrook Council, R. A., at K. of C. Hall last evening. The lodge men held their semi-annual business meeting last night and reports were received from the various officers. At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments were served and a social evening was spent.

Plainfield Band Affair.

The Plainfield Band will give its second ball in the Academy Hall, Park and North avenues, tomorrow night. Music will be furnished by the band orchestra directed by Morris Sorensen. The committee to have charge comprises James Dawes, Charles Fisher and Morris Sorensen.

LAKE HOPATCONG SOON TO HAVE A 'CAMP COLBY'

PARTY OF PLAINFIELDERS TO PITCH TENTS THERE NEXT WEEK.

The camping colony at Lake Hopatcong will be invaded next week by a party from this city that will undoubtedly become one of the most popular around the water sheet. It will be headed by City Judge William N. Runyon and will include James Dodd, John H. Cose, B. C. Firstbrook, Thomas M. Muir, Philip Jahn, Elmer D. Cutting, John P. Hall, George Cose and Matthew D. Sweeney, the last named of New York.

A site has been secured on Halsey Island, directly across from Nolan's Point, and the paraphernalia will be shipped there Saturday. It will be known as "Camp Colby" and there is a possibility that some of the time may be devoted to inculcating the principles of the "New Idea" into the young voters in that section of Morris county.

Most of the members of the party have had previous experiences in camping at the lake and they have arranged a regular daily schedule to be followed out. Edward Washington, who was Grand Exalted Ruler of the Kitchen for the Hope Y. M. A. campers three years ago, has been engaged to make it his business that no one goes hungry and from his past record no one doubts but what he will fill the bill. Musical instruments will be taken along and evening song fests will be nightly events.

Mrs. Anna B. Smith.

Mrs. Anna B. Smith, widow of Seymour T. Smith, died at her home on Willow avenue, last night. She is survived by one son, Seymour, and three daughters, the Misses Anna and Agnes Smith, who reside at home, and a married daughter living in Cleveland. The funeral and interment will be at Geneseo, N. Y., Friday morning.

Train Leaves Shore at 7:10.

Staying longer at the shore than any of the other excursions so far this season, the Methodists of this city and Dunellen will not leave Asbury Park until 7:10 in the evening. This means nine hours at the shore. The outing is after tomorrow, Thursday. Train leaves Plainfield at 8 o'clock. Don't be late.

A New Roadbed Laid.

Tarvia, the new road material that is to be tested by the street department, has been laid on the experimental stretch on East Front street. Some of the mixture was left after the job had been completed, and this will be laid on Ninth street, between Arlington avenue and Cottage place.

"Skidoo Club" Outing.

A carload of young people, on a special trolley decorated with green boughs and bunting, passed through this city last night on a trip around the loop. A big sign on the side of the car, announced them as the "23 Skidoo Club," of Perth Amboy. There were about fifty in the party.

He Will Take the Pledge.

On complaint of his wife, Joseph Doyle was arrested last night, charged with drunkenness and disorder. He was penitent when arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning and promised to take the pledge for a year. With that understanding, Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

One Pole Down, Other Up.

The new pole for the police alarm box has been erected at North and Park avenues. The old pole at Second street and Park avenue, which looked like a ghost of ancient days when the curb line moved back and left it starkly in the roadway, was taken down yesterday afternoon.

Burned By Molten Lead.

William Allen, a helper at the Pond shop, burned his hand severely early yesterday morning in soldering a water pipe at his home on Spooner avenue. A big drop of molten lead fell on the forefinger of his right hand, searing it so badly that hospital dressing was necessary.

Must Return Invitation Cards.

All members of the Master Builders' Association who have not yet returned their invitation cards for the dinner tomorrow night, are asked to do so at once. Provisions will be made only for those who give notice in advance that they intend to be present.

Brown Divorce Testimony In.

Special Master in Chancery John H. VanWinkle has finished taking testimony in the divorce case brought by Mary A. Brown, colored, against William J. Brown. S. S. Swackhamer, who represents the petitioner, is confident of a decree in his client's favor.

—"In the good old summer time" or any other time, Neuman Brothers have a fine assortment of fruits and vegetables. Take a look at it tomorrow.

HUNTING FOR CANDIDATES

So Far the Colbyites in Union Co. Have Made Futile Search Excepting Here.

WANT STRONG MEN

No Programme Mapped Out in Union, But General One Is Issued From Colby Headquarters.

Not until August 20 will the Colbyites in Union county have their movement in full swing for the New Jersey Republican League for Equal Taxation has decided not to begin its whirlwind campaign until that date. It has not even announced its programme as yet, although it is probable that every section of the county will be invaded during the latter part of next month and the fore part of September.

The trouble being encountered by the Union County League is in finding candidates for Assemly nominations. When Judge William N. Runyon, president of the league, announced his candidacy it was thought that others would follow in various parts of the county, but the expectations were not realized. Half a dozen men have been urged to come out. Each in turn emphatically refused for one reason or another.

In order to make the movement a strong one it is said to be necessary to have some popular man in Elizabeth on the ticket. No one can be found there, and now the leaders of the "new idea" are searching high and low in other parts of the county for men.

The following programme was issued by the State Equal Taxation League at its office in Newark yesterday:

Beginning on Monday night, July 30, in Somerville, Somerset county, the three champions of the Republican State League, Senator Everett Colby, Mayor Mark M. Fagan and George L. Record will repeat their whirlwind week of campaign work that was so successful two weeks ago. The coming week promises to be even more strenuous than the former.

W. W. Howland, temporary chairman of the organization in Somerset county, predicts a big turning out of the voters on Monday night. Tuesday night, July 31, will find the Colby men down in Burlington county. What promises to be a busy day for the "new idea" workers is scheduled for Wednesday in Camden county.

On August 2 Monmouth county will be the scene of another lively day. August 3 will find Senator Colby and his friends back to their own bailiwick, in Essex county.

After that week's campaign the leaders will take things a bit quieter for two weeks, preparing themselves for the final fight that will start on August 20, when Senator Colby comes down from the Thousand Islands for good, and will not end until the last polling booth is closed for the primaries on the night of September 25.

Stephen Davis' Funeral.

The funeral of Stephen M. Davis, who died at his home in Newark yesterday morning, will be held at his late residence, 230 Plane street, Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. David was a former well known Plainfielder and at one time was assistant chief of the volunteer fire department. He was a member of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., and a delegation from that organization will attend the service.

Postoffice Clerks Salaries Increased.

Postmaster Elias H. Bird received notice from First Assistant Postmaster-General Hitchcock, today, that the following advancements had been made in the salaries of clerks at the Plainfield office: William Thorn, from $800 to $900 per annum; Robert Goldsack, from $600 to $700 per annum.

Evening Service at Netherwood.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church of Dunellen will conduct the week day evening service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tonight. A delegation from the society will be in charge of the singing by the children.

Aeolian Club Entertained.

The Aeolian Club was entertained by Miss Lavinia Douglass, last night, at her home, 610 East Third street. Music, dancing and refreshments were the features of the evening.

Minister Accepts Call.

Rev. N. M. Mayall, of this city, has accepted a call to the First Baptist church, of Bushnell, Ill. He will take charge of his new parish within a fortnight.

To Return to Ireland.

Joseph Nesbitt, of South Avenue, will leave tomorrow on the White Star Liner "Teutonic" for his former home in Belfast, Ireland.

INVESTIGATE DROWNING

Atlantic City Authorities Stirred Over Tragic Death of Thomaes.

CITIZENS ARE AROUSED

Father and Child Buried in Scotch Plains This Morning, After Simple Funeral Service.

Investigation into the drowning of Robert L. Thomae and his daughter in the surf at Atlantic City Saturday is to be made today by the authorities there. A storm of criticism of the authorities for putting "Cap" Clark on duty, and comments on the lack of proper provision for saving life has been aroused and there may be a scandal as the outcome of the whole affair. The father and child were buried in Scotch Plains this morning.

Mayor Stoy returned last night from a twenty-four hour trip to Wildwood and said that he would this morning begin a rigid investigation into the affair. He will receive a report from Beach Physician Beckwith containing a statement of the affair, but Mayor Stoy will scarcely be satisfied with this and will summon all the parties concerned in the affair before him.

"If Captain Clark is not the man for the beach guard service why we will have to do something else," stated Mayor Stoy last night. We shall see if he was to blame for the affair. He may have been and he may not have been. We will ascertain the facts and then will know what to do. I shall take the matter up promptly on Monday."

County Physician Souder stated last night that he has not been informed of anything in connection with the Thomae drowning that required investigation, but that if he was, the matter would be immediately brought to the attention of the authorities.

Captain Clark laid his inability to reach the drowning to the rough sea and the entangling of his feet in the life line.

Captain Clarke said yesterday that when he arrived at the place where Mr. Thomae and his daughter were drowned they had disappeared and that he could not see them.

"They disappeared before I got my bearings," he said, "and if I did all in my power to save them and if I failed to get through the surf the best evidence that I did all I could is that the other guards could not make any headway in it."

Captain Parker said that if Mr. Thomae and his daughter had allowed themselves to drift upon a bar they would have been safe. He defended the guards and said that Mr. Thomae attempted to fight against a strong current.

The funeral services over Mr. Thomae and his daughter were held at the home of Mr. Thomae's sister, Mrs. James B. Carter, of Fanwood. The double funeral was simple, Rev. William R. Mulford, of the Episcopal church, officiating. The interment was at the Scotch Plains cemetery.

TO ENTER PRO TOURNAMENTS.

Marty O'Loughlin to Compete in Van Cortlandt Park Golf Tourney.

Accompanied by C. B. Morgan, "Marty" O'Loughlin, the golf "pro" of the Country Club, will go to New York Monday to play over the Van Courtlandt Park course, where a golf championship tournament will be played Tuesday and Wednesday. "Marty" is playing his best game yet this season and will go out for scalps in a field with the best professional players of the Metropolitan district. Ben Nichols, of this city, will also compete. Charles Kirchner, of Netherwood, is one of the officers in charge of the match.

The second week in August, "Marty" will play in the tournament at Hollywood, to be held there on the dates August 8, 9 and 10. This tournament will be for the Metropolitan Golf Championship and a big field of professional golfers will doubtless be entered for the title.

Firemen Bush Resting Easily.

A rumor was current in the city today to the effect that fireman Harry Bush, who was injured in the accident to No. 1 truck, had become much worse and that his condition was serious. When the hospital was called on the 'phone at noon it was stated that Bush was resting easily and if anything he is better than at any time since he was hurt.

Prompt Payment.

D. W. Littel, treasurer of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, today received from the Supreme Council a check for $2,000 as payment on the life of the late Roland C. Treadwell, who was a member of the Council. The proof of death was filed just ten days ago. The money was paid over to Mrs. Treadwell this morning.

LOST THEIR WITNESSES

Two Lawyers Received Sudden Checks in District Court This Morning.

SESSION ENLIVENED

Agitated Search of Barristers for Missing Witnesses—One Is Non-Suited But the Other Gets Adjournment.

The session of the District Court was enlivened this morning by the unexpected check to two cases through the sudden disappearance of witnesses.

The first lawyer to suffer through the incidents was S. S. Swackhamer, who appeared to press a contract case for the Dunham Grocery Company against Paul Nachtwey, for $100. When the case was called Mr. Swackhamer was looking hurriedly for the bookkeeper of the Grocery Company, whose testimony was necessary to carry the cause on. He secured a delay from the court, and went out to look up the witness. He found, after a breathless search, that the latter had gone out of town, and finally got an adjournment to July 31.

When the cause of Anna Schwartz against Aaron LeVine, for $150 in tort, was called, Lawyer Fred J. Huff, attorney for the plaintiff, looked about and his face took on the same expression as that which clouded Mr. Swackhamer's a few minutes before. The complaining witness and the other witnesses for her side had disappeared. They came into court with Mr. Huff, and he couldn't understand what had become of them. His motion for an adjournment was refused, and after an unavailing search for the witnesses the case was nonsuited. LeVine claims that the dress was not damaged, and that it was held at the store because the plaintiff herself asked him to keep it for her. Francis J. Blatz is LeVine's lawyer, and a vigorous defense will be interposed if another suit is brought.

Other cases in the court were disposed of as follows: W. W. Wilson against Patrick Kneeland, on contract, judgment for $72, F. J. Blatz appearing for plaintiff; Kussel Sachar against Annie Meier, in tort, for $300, was referred to Judge Swift; W. J. R. Thiers against Arthur Masters, on contract, for $200, judgment for $145, Coddington & Swackhamer representing the plaintiff; A. J. Cadmus against Henry Begall, on contract, judgment for $189, W. S. Angleman appearing for the plaintiff; H. K. Lister against John Manley, in replevin, discontinued, Charles McNabb appearing for the plaintiff; L. W. Lambert against D. R. Dunn, on contract, for $300, off to September 25; W. H. Twine against Walter Hamilton, on contract, for $100, judgment for $47, Codington & Swackhamer appearing for the plaintiff; Siche Gas Company against W. G. Osgoodby, on contract, for $300, discontinued, Reed & Coddington for the plaintiff; Hugh McDonnall against George B. Doty, on contract, adjourned to July 31, F. J. Blatz for the plaintiff; F. C. Schaffer against Edward Grau, landlord and tenant, judgment for possession; Adam Young, agent for O. H. Lock, against Mary Cushman, landlord and tenant, settled.

Wagons Collided On Somerset St.

One of Giles' confectionery wagons came in collision with Debele & Stahl's delivery wagon on Somerset street this morning and caused slight damages to rig and horse. Giles was driving along Somerset street, and in passing Debele & Stahl's store, locked wheels with the delivery wagon which was standing in front of it. The horse was pulled along backwards with the confectioner's rig, and was slightly cut by the shafts. The wheel was sprung, the rubber tire partially torn off, and the axle bent. Giles' rig was uninjured.

Bad Fall Over Dirt Pile.

Edgar Pollard, of South Second street, fell over a heap of dirt in front of Morse's Row on West Fourth street, last night, and sustained a broken arm. He was assisted to the office of a physician where the member was set. The dirt is piled half way over the sidewalk and has been there for the past week, a nightly menace to pedestrians. Pollard declares he will bring suit against the owner of the property and the city.

Eagles' Boat Club.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

At the regular meeting of the borough Board of Education held last week, Miss Helen Hall was appointed a teacher in the New Market school. Miss Hall is from Hunterdon county, and will come to New Market to fill one of the positions made by the formation of two new classes. The teacher for the other class has not yet been appointed. The second vacancy is in the primary department of the South Plainfield school. Necessary repairs are being made at all the schools during the summer vacation, and a new heater is being installed in the South Plainfield school. The term of B. DeWitt Giles, custodian of school moneys, having expired, Township Treasurer Thomas Brantingham was appointed to fill the position. This was done in accordance with a State school law recently put into effect. It was decided that the school meeting be hereafter held on the first Tuesday of each month.

The recent heavy rains have pretty well washed out the roads all through town. The borough scraper was out yesterday on North avenue, cleaning off the mud and smoothing off the surface of the roadway.

Friendship Lodge, No. 81, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a meeting at New Market last evening. Two initiates were received, and a social time followed the business session.

Contractors are engaged in moving the large barn of Kuldoshes Bros., grocers, to a different position on the lot at the corner of Lincoln and North avenues.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is to start on his vacation next week. He will join his wife, who is summering at Haddenfield, Pa.

Mrs. Theodore Miller, of Walden, has returned home after spending several days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Hetfield.

Abram G. Nelson and family, of New Market, returned home yesterday after a short sojourn at Asbury Park.

Frank Nye has returned after spending a two weeks' vacation visiting friends at Bound Brook.

Miss Jessie Shawell and Edward Welsh were out of town guests of Miss Baldwin over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Henry are entertaining a niece and nephew from Newark.

Clarence Marlow is spending his summer vacation at Asbury Park.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Tomorrow is the one day in the year when the residents of the borough and 'Plains, as far as possible, enjoy a day's outing together. The annual union excursion of the three Sunday-schools from here and several from Westfield are scheduled to hold their annual excursion to Asbury Park. This means the town and borough will practically be deserted tomorrow.

The local ball team plays the Riversides, of Rahway, Saturday afternoon, on the home diamond. The locals have only met defeat twice this season. The Riversides administered one of them and the home team intend to redeem themselves for this on Saturday.

Miss May Schmidt, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Ferdinand Schmidt, of Forest avenue, has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McKeown, former residents of the borough, but now of New York, were the guests Sunday of friends here.

Beats all what the Bishops' law will do. Another clam bake was held Sunday on the mountains near Glenside.

Dr. F. W. Westcott has returned from an automobile trip of several days through South Jersey.

The Misses Todd, of the borough, have been spending a week with friends in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The trolley now looks like a sure thing. The Lehigh Valley Railroad employed engineers to survey the land and they were several days last week doing so. No one should oppose it, when approached for signatures, as the residents have tried hard for the past ten years to connect Plainfield and South Plainfield by a trolley line.

While working on a polishing wheel in Pond Tool Works, Charles Randolph sustained a deep gash in the middle finger of his right hand, piercing the flesh and crushing the bone. A number of men, standing near, said it was a miracle that his hand was not torn off.

Wilbur Dorland, of Larchmont, N. Y., a nephew of Philip Smith, is spending the summer with him. They have fine times sailing on the lake when Phil has leisure time from his business in New York city. He is in the employ of the Edison Electrical Co.

Albion Page and family, of Madison, visited Brookside Farm, yesterday.

Mrs. Oscar Thorne has been entertaining out of town friends.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

To Break the Ice Trust.

The Plainfield Protective Association, which has brought the Public Service Corporation to terms in that city, but which has thus far been foiled in its efforts to compel the ice dealers to reduce what are considered their extortionate prices for this necessary article of household consumption, has now under consideration a scheme that gives promise of being effectual and permanent. It is not a municipal ownership plan, but one that to a degree fulfils the requirements of public ownership, and secures many of its advantages. The scheme in Plainfield is for the Protective Association, which is something like a board of trade, to buy the local ice plant outright, operate it as a stock company and sell ice to private consumers at the cost of manufacture, with a reasonable percentage of profit added thereto. Shares in the stock company are to be sold to subscribers, limiting the number to each, all householders becoming shareholders to be supplied with ice, and as many more as the capacity of the plant will allow. It is estimated that ice could thus be manufactured and sold with fair profit at fifty cents a hundred. The city of Yonkers, in New York, has under advisement a little different plan of breaking the Ice Trust. The Mayor of the city calls the attention of the citizens to the fact that Yonkers owns its reservoir, that in the winter the latter freezes over and supplies the city with a vast quantity of natural ice, to be had simply for the cutting and storing. Instead of laying off a large number of laborers during the winter season, Mayor Coyne, of Yonkers, would employ them to harvest ice for the benefit of the citizens. The taxpayers and ice consumers of Mt. Vernon, in the same State, have a somewhat similar plan under consideration. There is less excuse for tolerating the Ice Trust than any other trust in existence, for the simple reason that ice is a product both of nature and of art that is absolutely without limitations. The supply is or can be made inexhaustible. All the oil of the world can be controlled by one or two companies. All the coal may be owned and doled out at exorbitant prices by the railroad corporations. All the cattle of the vast Western plains may be corralled by the Beef Trust, but ice is formed every winter, untold millions of tons of it, and plants for manufacturing artificial ice can be located and supported in every town of a few thousand inhabitants. Ice can be made at any plant of reasonable size for $1.25 or $1.50 per ton, and no people need pay sixty, seventy or eighty cents a hundred for it if they have a little capital and are willing to invest it and accept a reasonable profit thereon. Ice plants are now brought to such perfection that private residences are furnished with them, and are independent of the ice trust. What can thus be done advantageously in private houses can be done much more economically in plants large enough to supply a city. It is not necessary that a local, independent plant should be large enough to turn out each day during the summer a quantity of ice sufficient to meet the demand in the busiest season; but by working throughout the entire year it could store up enough ice in the winter to meet the severest exactions of the hot season. With these facts before them a few public spirited citizens in any city, large or small, could become totally or permanently independent of the ice trust. Plainfield, Yonkers and Mt. Vernon are already taking the steps necessary to secure their freedom, and there is nothing to prevent the complete success of their respective plans. One effect will inevitably follow, if these and other cities establish ice plants: the ice trust will break prices before it will allow itself to be broken to pieces by a robbed and indignant people. But it would be the part of wisdom to build the independent plants, so that the trust would never have another chance to practise extortion.—Newark News.

PLUCKY YOUNG WOMAN SEPARATES FIGHTING DOGS.

Shows More Courage Than Crowd of Grown Men When Fierce Animals Battle.

While grown men looked on afraid to interfere, a plucky young woman separated two big fighting dogs on East Front and Richmond streets yesterday afternoon. One of the dogs came down the street with her, a heavy, black hound. The other, a collie, met the black dog at the corner. The black became incensed at something in the collie's behavior and attacked him. The collie had the traditional courage of his breed, and went back at the black tooth and nail.

The girl called to her dog, but it paid no attention to her. In a few minutes the fight became savage, and both dogs began to bleed from rips and slashes about throat and shoulder. It looked like a fight to the death, but none of the dozen or more men attracted by the battle had courage enough to mix in it and separate the foes. The girl looked on in distress, evidently hoping some one of the men would stop the fight, but when she realized that there was no help to be expected from that direction, a determined light came into her eyes and she walked over to the fighting dogs. She seized her own by the collar, and landed a neat shoe against the flank of the collie. Two tugs and two more kicks, broke the dogs apart, and then two of the men, shamed into action, went to the girl's assistance and helped her drive the collie off. The dogs were both badly chewed, and the black limped from a torn forepaw.

None of those who saw the fight recognized the girl, but they all agreed that she was pure pluck. Her hand and her voice were quite steady after she had dragged the snarling, red-eyed brutes apart, and her comments were terse and businesslike.

Robert L. Suffern, of Sycamore avenue, has returned from a trip to the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Clark, of Webster place, have returned to their home after a visit to friends in Moorestown, N. J.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Business Bulletin, No. 3.

Cyclopaedia of technical drawing, ed., by E. Worther. Illustrated.

The author's intention to make it a complete course of instruction to the mechanic, architect and engineer. Deals with drawing instruments, shades and shadows, plotting, topographical drawing, machine drawing, freehand drawing, etc.

Drawing for carpenters and joiners, by E. A. Davidson. Illustrated.

The purpose is distinctly to teach the styles of drawing required by the carpenter and joiner. The course is so arranged as to combine linear, freehand and object drawing.

Drawing for bricklayers, by E. A. Davidson. Illustrated.

Not confined to linear, but includes also a certain amount of freehand and model drawing.

Drawing for stonemasons, by E. A. Davidson. Illustrated.

Devoted to such branches of drawing as are of immediate importance to stonemasons.

Elementary drawing for house painters, decorators and sign writers, by E. A. Davidson.

Forms part 7 of his work on "house painting." Treats of freehand and geometrical drawing, elementary perspective, etc.

Mathematical drawing instruments and how to use them, by F. E. Hulme. Illustrated.

Industrial drawing, by D. H. Mahan. Illustrated.

Chapters on instruments, their use and care, construction of problems of points and straight lines, regular figures, projections, shadows, linear perspective, etc.

Machine drawing and design for technical schools and engineer students, by W. Ripper. Illustrated

A series of graduated exercises, commencing with simple projection, and advancing to the more difficult examples occurring in actual practice.

Manual of industrial drawing for carpenters and other woodworkers, by W. F. Decker. Illustrated.

The earlier portion useful to classes, but the latter part dealing with house plans, etc., is too advanced, for young students.

Manual of machine drawing and design, by D. A. Low, and A. W. Bevis.

Illustrated from working drawings and claims to represent the best modern practice in machine design. These range in difficulty from the simplest machine detail to a set of triple-expansion marine engines.

Practical hints for draughtsmen, by W. MacCord. Illustrated.

Advanced. Takes up working drawings, freehand sketching, drawing instruments, and materials, etc.

Theoretical and practical graphics, descriptive geometry and mechanical drawing, by F. N. Willson. Fully illustrated.

Contains chapters on freehand sketching and letters, choice and use of instruments, working drawings by the 3d angle method, etc.

Workman's manual of engineering drawing by J. Maxton. Illustrated.

The author's object is to enable the working engineer to instruct himself in an important branch of his business.

ICE TRUST PUTS IN LENGTHY DEFENSE.

President Wesley M. Oler Sends an Affidavit to Prosecutors and Newspapers.

President Wesley M. Oler, of the American Ice Company, of New York, Saturday issued a defense of the trust in the form of an affidavit sent to the public prosecutors of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and to the newspapers of those cities.

The gist of the statement is that the price of ice to families is 40 cents a hundred pounds, instead of 60 cents, as averred by the people who pay the bills.

He also says that ice never sold to families at 15 cents a hundred, but that the price has come down from 60 cents in 1878-82 and 1900 to 50 cents in 1886, '87, '89, '91, '92, '94; to 40 cents in the other years when there was no shortage in the crop.

Mr. Oler furnishes statistics of the ice crops since 1878, the point of which is the allegation that the Maine harvest was only 385,145 tons last winter, as against 1,326,430 tons in 1899, when the trust was formed, and 3,092,400 tons in 1890. The Hudson crop, he alleges, was only 1,672,188 tons last winter, as against 3,572,376 the previous winter and 4,300,293 tons in 1899.

Semi-Centennial and Old Home Week at Hazelton.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad will sell tickets at low fares July 29th to August 5th, inclusive. Fare from South Plainfield, $3.60. Tickets good going and returning on all regular trains except the Black Diamond Express. Limited for return until August 6th, inclusive. See Lehigh Valley ticket agent, 218 West Front street, for further particulars.

ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE.

Your Eyes will be examined by The Dammers Scientific Method, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(No Drops Used.) Those who have been examined for Glasses by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

No Questions Asked, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes Blindness, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have the trouble to get glasses correct.

Many thousands of our patrons will indorse every word you read here.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, Watery Eyes, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by Eye Strain. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism, by our scientific methods of Examining.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Manager Counihan was prominent in the third annual dress rehearsal of the Green Room Club at Steeplechase Pier, Atlantic City, Saturday night. This affair is one of the greatest of the year to theatrical men in all lines and as a member of the organization "Bill" was on hand to do his share. He offered to sing "My Name Is Morgan, But It Ain't J. P.," but Ned Wayburn, who was stage manager, preferred to have him act as his assistant.

The improvements being made to the New Plainfield theatre will be finished by Saturday and will make this house still more cosier than ever. An emergency exit has been placed beneath the east stairway leading to the balcony, two extra windows have been cut in the east wall and a large curtain is to be placed at the rear of the orchestra chairs to prevent patrons hearing the arrival of late comers. The decorative scheme is being changed and where portions were neglected last year in the hurry to complete the house, they are receiving careful attention. A soft red predominates in the coloring, and it is off-set by robin's egg blue and ochre yellow. The lobby has been fixed over entirely and now presents a striking appearance.

A theatre party of a dozen Plainfielders witnessed the opening performance of Lew Dockstader's minstrels at Elizabeth, last night. It was pronounced one of the best shows Lew has ever put out.

Charles Klein, who has been over to England to rest and incidentally to witness the London production of his play, "The Lion and the Mouse," which comes to Plainfield this season, returned recently on the Minnetonka, of the Atlantic Transport Line, accompanied by Mrs. Klein and their son. Mr. Klein said that he had entered into a contract to write a play for a well known English actor, to be delivered by January 1, 1908. "They are anxious to get 'The Music Master' over there," said Mr. Klein, "and one man has offered Mr. Belasco $50,000 for it, but has been refused. Everything in London nowadays seems to be musical comedy," he continued. "The only legitimate play that has been doing anything at all is Pinero's 'His House in Order,' which is a big success."

"Did you find that American humor goes over there?" Mr. Klein was asked.

"Well, yes, if you explain it. If you give them a sort of diagram they take to it very well."

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Wirth's bread, cake, pies and confectionery are pronounced "the best ever" by all who have partaken of them. Send in your orders for some and see if you don't acquiesce.

The Hotel Waldorf on East Front street offers every accommodation that is supposed to be part of an up-to-date hostelry. Those who have once stopped there are always sure to return.

If you wish to please "her" on her birthday, get her one of those pretty watches that L. Moraller & Son, the Park avenue jewelers, are showing. They are in gold and silver and are sold at all prices.

William H. Brokaw, of West Front street, is a contracting carpenter of many years experience. If you contemplate having a house, barn or building of any kind erected, he will gladly furnish any information you need and estimates for the work.

Housewives who have limited sums for meat and groceries, should consult the price lists of the Crescent Cash Grocery and Meat Market at Watchung avenue and East Fourth street. Everything in this line is sold at rates lower than elsewhere in the city. All orders are delivered without extra cost.

There is an old saying about "take care of the pennies, the dollars will look out for themselves." That is strictly true, and as soon as you have sufficient pennies to make a few dollars, begin a bank account with the City National Bank. It has an up-to-date savings department and pays a good rate of interest.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

There was certainly a sound melodramatic awakening when A. H. Woods' new production, "Chinatown Charlie," was first launched upon the sea of popular success, and such a profitable as well as pleasurable condition was made possible through the agencies of pronounced originality and sensational novelty. A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" has been quickly recognized as possessing something more than an array of startling stage pictures, as all throughout its absorbing story steeped in crime, there is a powerful undercurrent of moral persuasion. It is a simple story based upon the follies of youth. It tells how a promising young man has been beguiled by evil companionships. How his weak understanding has been dragged to the verge of despair before he is made to realize the mistakes. Charlie Jackson, the hero of the story known to all his friends and acquaintances as Chinatown Charlie, furnishes proof that even a person lost to all sense of honor whose whole system has become undermined from the effects of liquor and deadly drugs, can still be reclaimed if only the proper opportunities arise. Those who attend the play house for the double purpose of amusement and thrilling entertainment will find in "Chinatown Charlie," which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday night, of additional interest as the scenic investure and unique features introduced guarantee a very many sided dramatic treat.

Lovers of sensationalism, thrills and well balanced excitement will be more than amply repaid by going to the New Plainfield theatre August 4, to witness the latest thriller, "Queen of the Highbinders." This is a typical A. H. Woods' production, which ought to be sufficient guarantee that the patrons of the show will get more than their money's worth. The play contains a score of novelties, including the tank scene, Kai Tong's torture chamber, the "human staircase," the hero's escape from Sing Sing, a cruel murder in a Chinese den in Pell street and the "writing in blood on the wall," a realistic attempt at abduction, a reproduction of a noted art gallery on Fifth avenue, and others. Besides, "Queen of the Highbinders" bubbles over with heart throbs, comedy, human interest and clever characterization. Mr. Woods has given the Queen his usual careful consideration in the way of a capable cast and a mounting that he will surely be rewarded for.

Vacation Preachers.

Pulpit supplies at the Crescent Avenue church during the vacation of the pastor, Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, will be as follows: July 29, Rev. Robert Mackenzie, D. D., of New York, minister of Rutgers Presbyterian church; August 5, 12, 19 and 26, Rev. Henry Elliott Mott, D. D., minister of the Westminster Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth; September 2, Rev. Dr. Merriam, professor in the Hartford Theological Seminary; September 9, Rev. Edward M. Chapman, formerly of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; September 16, Communion service; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel. Evening service, Rev. Lawrence R. Howard, of Hope chapel.

Rainbow Chases Record.

George L. Record has done much harm to the Colby cause by his ill advised criticism of the Governor's appointments to membership on the Boards of Taxation in the various counties. The Senatorship is a long distance from Mr. Record.—Union County Standard.

Plainfield, N. J., July 24, 1906.

The Journal would impress upon the minds of its readers the importance of putting in a good word for Elizabeth when away from home. Tell strangers what a beautiful city this is and how hospitable its people are. Invite them to come and see for themselves.—Elizabeth Journal.

Tell 'em all about it but for the sake of your reputation for telling the truth don't ask that they pay a visit.

At last the Democrats have gotten into the fight, the State committee of the party having fired a broadside at the Republican breastworks that is permeated with some hard facts. The "new idea" of the Democracy is a new constitution.

A news item in the New York Tribune says that W. W. Howland predicts a big turning out of the voters at the Colby meeting to be held at Somerville. Must have heard that Mr. Howland is not going to be one of the speakers.

Samuel P. T. Wilbur has furnished ample proof that he is the right sort of a man for freeholder and there should be no question about his being continued in that office.

Plainfield doesn't need any "old home week." What we want is a "new home week" every week in the year. For the reason why consult the real estate man.

Manager Daab has decided to waste another Saturday with the Elizabeth Invaders. Why not schedule a game with the Holy Cross boys' nine?

Every time John F. Dryden issues a statement, the voters find additional proof why he should not be re-elected.

The only really new feature of the Bishops' law of any importance is that it is one statute rigorously enforced.

Trenton Brakeman Killed.

Elizabeth, July 24.—A brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad fast freight train that passes through Elizabeth at midnight on Saturday fell off his train at North Elizabeth and his body was litreally cut to pieces. The body was discovered on the track yesterday by the engineers of a west-bound express and removed to Stinere's morgue. Later it was identified as that of M. A. Ryan, thirty-two years old, of Trenton. It was shipped to that city last night. He leaves a widow and two children.

Rahway Mayor Resigns Club.

Rahway, June 24.—Angered, it is said, by the intimations that he winked at liquor selling in clubs on Sundays, Mayor James B. Furber, of this city, has sent in his resignation in the exclusive Rahway Club.

the Democracy. After two years' delay, most reluctantly, a bill was framed to accomplish partly equal taxation. True to its instinct for entangling corporate alliances, it was resolved to turn this appeal for bread into a stone. Laws were passed to cut the tax rate in two by doubling the valuations, so that the railroad property that for the first time in the history of the State was called to pay a proper proportion of the public burden should only be obliged to pay the smallest sum possible. County boards of tax government were created, invested with extraordinary powers in pursuance of this common end.

The shameful plot is now bare in all its business. To make it sure and safe these county boards were made, not non-partisan, but partisan, as an appendage and adjunct of the Republican State machine.

Assembly Districts.

When it became clear that it was in the interest of their party to go back to the election of Assemblymen by districts, the Republican leaders caused an act to be passed, which has never been surpassed as a brilliant illustration of a political gerrymander. Territory not contiguous, or but slightly so, was fashioned into groups avowedly proclaimed for the sole purpose of returning Republican members of Assembly. The common sense of fairness in the breast of every man was outraged by this gross and pernicious scheme, which has been overthrown by the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Municipal Ownership.

We advocate the enactment by the legislature of laws giving local municipalities the right to submit to the people the question of owning and operating their public utilities, such as water, gas and electricity.

United States Senators.

We advocate the election of United States Senators directly by the people, as the best means of bringing the Senate of the United States in close touch with the electors. Until this amendment is adopted we believe it to be a wise public policy to have candidates for this high public office proclaim their candidacy and appear before the people for support.

Constitutional Convention.

The people of New Jersey have outgrown the present constitution. It was adopted more than sixty years ago. In population and material advancement we have outgrown many of its limitations.

We demand that a constitutional convention be called, in order that the people may have an opportunity to bring the fundamental law into harmony with the requirements of the age.

Our judicial system must be reorganized.

Assemblymen must be elected by the district system.

The nearer the undivided responsibility of each office holder is brought to the people, the purer will the system of government be.

The constitutional requirement of sixty years ago, when the population was sparse, has long since passed away. The assembly districts of the State when created as they must be, by a vote of the people, shall be so created in conformity to such constitutional mandate that the people of the whole State must have equal advantages, equal opportunity.

The chief officers of State, the Attorney-General, Secretary of State, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and the Clerk in Chancery must be elected by the direct vote of the people.

The taxation of all public franchises must be at their true value.

We demand a rigid investigation of all insurance companies of the State; such investigation should be not perfunctory but exacting, that the truth may be fully known;

A non-partisan judiciary;

The immediate repeal of the Avis bill;

A strong measure relating to corrupt practices at elections.

All combinations in restraint of trade particularly those affecting the necessaries of life, should be declared criminal, and a rigorous anti-trust measure passed by the legislature of the State.

All contributions for campaign purposes must be made public and in connection therewith we demand a rigorous act prohibiting all corporations from making contributions toward campaign funds.

Conclusion.

We believe that the people have awakened at last to the truth that their interests are corruptly betrayed at Trenton; that the Republican party of this State is ever booted and spurred to race for corporate favors. Their defiant disregard of clear public duty permits a pronounced public chastisement.

We ask all citizens who believe in this declaration of principles and are convinced of the truth of the charges herein set forth to join us in an effort to redeem the State from their mercernary control.

GOLF IS TRYING ON THE NERVES.

It is doubtful if the average golfer appreciates to what extent the mind is affected by the little incidents which come up in the course of a trip round the links. Golf is certainly a game of nerves. The subtle influence of surrounding conditions has its effect upon every stroke, and its a fact that mental condition is of greater importance than physical fitness.

To play golf successfully one cannot be worried, consequently temperament becomes an important factor. To a certain extent golfers are born, not made. The thousand and one minor trifles which distract the nervous man of highly strung organism altogether escape the notice of the phlegmatic individual. Most golfers know how depressing it is to be continually outdriven by an opponent. On the other hand, how our confidence increases when playing against a man that we know is likely to "crack" under the slightest provocation.

Doggedness is also a factor often overlooked, yet few will deny the disconcerting effect of playing against one who never knows when he is beaten. The talkative golfer is one that has to be sure, but it occasionally happens that one's only alternative is to give him a dose of his own medicine.

Tell the noisy fellow as he tees up for a drive at a hole where the width of the fair green is limited, that nine out of ten drives generally go out of bounds, and he is quite likely to hand out a wild one in his extra efforts to keep straight.

It is this control over the nerves more than anything else which is the secret of the professional's success. Their advantage is considerable over the more imaginative and more sensitive amateurs. How frequently golfers start out by reeling off hole after hole in par figures and then go to pieces. They have suddenly awakened to a realization of the fact that they have a chance to break the record. It is then that the nerves get busy. This inability to keep the nerves under control over the whole course is the cause of nearly all the trouble.

To use the phrase, "not to crack" is the one thing most desired. It seldom happens that two players fight out a match with equal nerve mastery; sooner or later one or the other loses control, and in consequences the match. The golfers, therefore, whose nerve mastery is complete, though playing but an average game, would beat the world.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

This was the editorial leader of the Constitutionalist on January 23, 1868:

"Despotism."

"The work of destroying the American Republic goes swiftly on. With unrelenting hate the revolutionists in Congress continue assaulting and annihilating the fortress of civic freedom. Piece by piece the sheltering breastworks of that citidel of personal safety and public prosperity are crumbling before the traitor norde, and unless the people speedily arouse to danger and frowningly interpose their sovereign might, soon our fair fabric of free government will be a heap of rubbish, our Union a discarded word, and our Constitution of no more value than crumpled paper. The House of Representatives, on Tuesday, passed the bill robbing the President of constitutional power, proclaiming Gen. Grant

"Supreme Dictator.

"Over ten States of the American Union,

"Abolishing Civil Government,

"And Establishing Military Despotism Therein.

"Strike! Freemen! or Be Slaves!"

"Local items are scarce," states the lead to the local news column. "All is quiet on the Potomac (Plainfield). No robberies, dog-fights or brawls to record; no accidents by fire or flood; no snows to block the trains; no runaways, either horse or human; no trotting on the track or upsetting on the corner. So mote it be."

Some of the news:

"The next lecture of the course given by the Young Men's Christian Association will be delivered at Laing's Hotel on Tuesday evening, January 28, by Rev. E. H. Chapin. Subject: 'Building and Being.'"

"We notice that the 'Steamer Boys' have housed their engine in their new and commodious house, on Front street, next to Laing's Hotel."

"We understand that it is in contemplation to erect a large hotel in Fanwood Park, near where the new railroad station is to be erected. Parties from New York have been recently on the ground prospecting for site. Why not select Plainfield."

"At the annual meeting of the Second Presbyterian church of this village, held on Monday evening of this week, the following board of trustees were elected for the ensuing year, viz: Wm. S. Cook, Peter Gosline, William McD. Corriel, John C. Sutphen, E. D. Dow, Jr., R. VanDeventer. It was also resolved to purchase a parsonage of the church and the trustees-elect were empowered to act as a committee to make the purchase. The committee yesterday purchased the new property of Albert Thorn on Front street, near the Episcopal church, for the sum of $11,000, Mr. Thorn agreeing to furnish the bond. About $3,300 were subscribed at the Parish meeting towards paying for this property."

"While the American people are loaded with taxation beyond precedent," says the leading editorial in the next issue, "the contingent expenses of a Radical Senate amounts in one year to the enormous sum of nearly $165,000. Embraced in that expenditure, or more properly speaking, plunder, about $25,000 went for pen-knives, and over $500 for kid gloves. Among the articles required to carry on Radical legislation, at the expense of our outraged people, were the following:

"Corkscrews,

"Lemon-squeezers.

"Lemons,

"Sugar,

"Alcohol,

"Bayrum,

"Cologne,

"Toilet powder,

"So much for a small part of the cost of Radicalism, and what is the return—

"A violated Constitution,

"A Broken Union,

"Negro Equality,

"Military Despotism."

News Bits.

"We regret to hear of the intended removal from Plainfield of M. F. Hazen, Esq., as he is one of those public-spirited citizens and generous-hearted men a place like this can illy afford to part with. We trust he will at no distant period resume residence among us."

"Dr. Homer, from Philadelphia; a homeopathic physician of established reputation, has become a resident of Plainfield and succeeded to the extensive practice of Dr. Nichols, who designs removing eastward."

"High praise is accorded to our gentlemanly and efficient Assemblyman, Doc. Hough, by those of his constituents who have had occasion to visit Trenton. He is accessible to everyone and proves himself to be the right man in the right place."

"Correction—In our notice of the parish meeting of the Second Presbyterian church, last week, we omitted the name of Joseph B. Coward, (through the carelessness of the compositor), as one of the Board of Trustees."

"T. S. Smith, the best barber in town, has a splendid article of Tonic for dressing the hair. We know it is, for we have tried it."

"Mr. John W. Laing has disposed of his property in this place to a Mr. Young, of Newark, for $52,000."

"We are happy to learn that our friends, Dr. Joseph Clark and Cooper Parse, Esq., of Scotch Plains, who have been for sometime past quite seriously indisposed, have regained their accustomed health."

"We are glad to learn that the church and congregation at Scotch Plains are holding a series of protracted religious meetings. Their excellent pastor, Rev. J. C. Buchanan, is assisted in these by the Rev. Dr. Swain, Financial Secretary of the New Jersey Theological Seminary. The meetings are said to be well attended and interesting."

"We learn that Mr. Jacob M. Stiger has disposed of his property at Scotch Plains, consisting of about twenty-five acres of land, to a Mr. Gilbert for the sum of $11,000. Cheap as dirt."

"We understand that Mr. Smith Cole has contracted for the building of a large addition to his 'hotel' at Scotch Plains depot. This, when completed, will be a decided and much-desired improvement. Mr. Cole's increasing popularity as a 'hotel keeper' has rendered this step unavoidable and indispensable."

"Mr. Miles Swaney, formerly of Scotch Plains, and son-in-law of Mr. Henry Hetfield, of New Market, died at his residence in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Thursday, the 23d inst., and was brought to Scotch Plains and interred on Monday, the 27th inst."

ALL FIRMS MUST FILE NAMES OF MEMBERS

PARTNERSHIPS OF "& BRO., AS WELL AS "& CO.," INCLUDED

Replying to a letter from County Clerk Charles H. Baker of Mercer county, Assistant Attorney-General Edward D. Duffield gives the opinion that any establishment doing business under a firm name, which does not clearly indicate the personel of the body must file with the county clerks the membership of each corporation. His letter is as follows:

The assistant attorney general writes:

Trenton, N. J., July 20, 1906.

Charles H. Baker, Esq., Clerk of Mercer County, Trenton, N. J.:

Dear Sir—Your favor of even date, addressed to the attorney general, has been handed to me for reply. As I understand it, you desire the opinion of this office upon the construction to be given to chapter 240 of the laws of 1906, entitled "An act to regulate the use of business names."

That act provides, in its first section, that any person who transacts business using the designation "and company," or "& Co." as a part of the firm or partnership name, shall file a statement with the clerk of the county setting forth the full name and residence of all persons who are members of such partnership.

Section two provides that no person or persons shall carry on or conduct or transact business under any assumed name, or under any designation, name or style, corporate or otherwise, other than the real name or names of the individual or individuals conducting such business, unless they shall file in the office of the county clerk a specified statement showing who are the persons constituting such partnership and what are their real names.

The inuiry which you make is whether these two sections are practically identical and whether the language of section two applies solely to the persons described in section one, viz., those who use the words "and company" or "& Co.," excluding those who have adopted some other partnership name which fails to disclose the real persons engaged in the partnership.

I think it clear that these two sections refer to two separate classes of persons who it is intended shall file statements with the county clerk. The first person or persons who, using one name, add thereto the words "and company" or "& Co.," making it impossible for anyone desiring to bring an action against them to ascertain the real name of the persons who are liable to any such action. The second contemplates the class of persons who use some other designation which fails to disclose the real parties to the partnership. The words "and Son" and "and Brother" as suggested by you are indicative of this class. I think it clear that the provisions of section two are not to be limited to the class described in section two are not to be limited to the class described in section one. They are to be given the broadest sense, and any partnership or any individual doing business under any assumed name must file a statement with you, as described in the act. The purpose of the act is that the true or real name of all members of partnerships shall be disclosed, and the construction above given leads clearly to that result, while a more narrow construction would defeat the obvious purpose and intent of the Legislature in enacting the law.

The conclusions above stated seem to me, therefore, obvious and necessary. I am,

Very truly yours,
EDWARD D. DUFFIELD,
Assistant Attorney General.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

LINEN HINTS.

Little Points That Will Insure Good Results.

When hanging your linen to dry uhe two lines comparatively close and parallel for your tablecloths and sheets.

Throw one selvedge side of your tablecloth over one line toward the other, allowing it to hang down about a quarter of a yard and being careful to pin it a short distance from the ends. Take the opposite of your cloth and throw it over the other line, facing the first line, and pin it in the same manner.

This will form a sort of bag and wil prevent to a considerable extent the wild blowing of the tablecloth in windy weather.

After the table linen is thoroughly dried, remove it from the line ane prepare to dampen it. A whisk broom is excellent for the purpose.

Table linen, in order to bring out the bright gloss that makes it attractive, should be dampened quite considerably.

Sprinkle the tablecloths freely, being sure that the selvedge ends of hemstitched borders are thoroughly damp, says Woman's Life. Roll up tightly, patting the roll frequently to spread the dampness.

FROM MME. LEANDRE'S JOURNAL

When we mourn the death of a friend, we mourn the death of part of ourselves. That aspect of us which he had conceived is no more.

Do not expect any love to last. And let go away everybody and everything that wishes to leave you. As soon as you struggle to retain, you become small and foolish and commonplace.

Everything that is most beautiful in life and art owes its existence to impulse—not to intention.

The more I like people the less I wish to meet their kith and kin.

Debts are bad every way. If you take them lightly, they coarsen you. If you take them seriously, they worry you.

I do not love you. I love in you a ceretain quality or combination of qualities that has power to attract me. Every woman is at the mercy of a certain type of man.

To care for people on account of their attractive appearance only is like frequenting a house where you like the facade rather than the hostess.—Helen Woljeska in Smart Set.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A little flour put over the top of a cake will prevent the icing from running.

Sprinkle clothes with hot water and a whisk broom.

Scrape a raw potato and apply to a burn. Instant relief will follow.

Throw flour on kerosene flames.

After blankets have been washed and hung on the line and are thoroughly dry, beat with a carpet beater. They will become soft and light and the wool like new.

When washing china silk, add a slight suggestion of starch and it will look like new.

In blending flour and water, if a fork is used it will not lump.

Beating cocoa with an egg beater before removing from the fire is an improvement, and a few drops of vanilla in the cocoa pot will make it still better.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Ignorance maye not be bliss, but it is often contentment.

Everybody has trouble of some kind. What is the nature of yours?

The average wish is about as valuable as the check of a bankrupt.

People are confronted every day with little problems and do not know what to do with them.

Some men's idea of perseverance is to see how long they can cherish ill feeling for some real or fancied grievance.

No matter how busy a man is he thinks he isn't waisting time if he takes an hour to prove he was right in a most trifling question.

After you have worked hard and saved your money it makes you mad to be approached by a man who has spent his and he invited to go into a scheme that is solely for his benefit.—Atchison Globe.

Shellfish Silk.

Sicily supplies a curious silk which is spun by the puina, a Mediterranean shellfish which has a little tube at the end of its tongue. Out of this tube, spider fashion or silkworm fashion, it spins a silk thread, with which, says the London Tit-Bits, is fastens itself on any rock it fancies. When the puina moves on its silken cable remains behind. This cable, which is called byssus, the Sicilian fishermen gather. Byssus weaves into the softest and shiniest of fabrics, but it is very rare and expensive.

Keats-Shelley Memorial.

The British committee which has been acting in conjunction with an American committee for the establishment of a memorial to Keats and Snelley announces that it has secured an option on the house in Rome in which John Keats died, and in which it is proposed to gather a library of their works in various editions, with portraits and manuscripts.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

She smiled faintly at Winslow's approach, but made no reply, and for a time they stood together in silence. He was conscious of her mood, with an instinctive delicacy commonly called feminine, but which, when it exists at all in men, is above that of women. The power of Winslow's personality lay in a happy adaptation, when he so pleased, to the moods of others.

"The moon has unsociably drawn behind that veil of cloud. Can't I take her place, and share your thoughts? I will be as silent as a confessor, if you command."

"You are very kind, but for your own sake do not open your ears to my burden. Why, they are heavy for me—and I am a woman!" she concluded, smiling.

"In the name of my sex, I accept the inference."

He leaned against the boat's edge, watching her. Only her profile shone, clear-cut against the background of cloud-swept sky. Winslow was a lover of beauty in the abstract; its poetical value appealed to him, and it was with an interest at once sensuous and impersonal that he studied the girl before him. An almost classical correctness of outline was given warmth and tone by a subtle charm that seemed original with her. This charm lay in the indefinable atmosphere which enveloped her—gave her a unique personality. "She seems so much alive!" was his mental comment upon the girl whose thread of life had become so closely and suddenly entangled with his own.

Meanwhile the object of his thoughts said: "This has been a happy evening, but I am all the more sad now, realizing that it is our last glimpse of civilized society for many a long day. Tomorrow—ah! 'what will to-morrow be?' Her voice broke, and Winslow hastened to say: "When I left the cabin Col. Burr and Mr. Blennerhasset were in consultation with your mother; no doubt matters will be arranged as you would wish. I—I am only sorry you are not going farther with us. We—we have much enjoyed your company."

"And we can never forget your kindness."

There was a short silence as their eyes met. Just then a gentleman came on deck to say that Col. Burr desired audience with Mr. Winslow. Excusing himself, Charles went below.

Descending into the cabin, which served as parlor, he was greeted by Aaron Burr with formal courtesy.

"You are doubly entitled to my gratitude, sir, as being no less an adherent of our enterprise than a champion of distressed females. On my own behalf, I thank you for your zeal and loyalty; on theirs—well, on theirs, I have to ask another favor; 'tis the way of the sex." His black eyes twinkled merrily, and he took a pinch of snuff. Then blowing some of the particles of powder from his buff waistcoat, he said: "The plight of the lady, Mrs. Creighton, and her daughter, you doubtless know. They cannot continue with us on the river, since their final destination is one of the new settlements in the recently acquired territory—near St. Louis, I believe. Mrs. Blennerhasset has asked my advice; it is, that the ladies be established for the winter at Fort Massac. I think there will be no difficulty in this plan. I am—I am acquainted with the commander." Here Col. Burr cleared his throat, as with tacti deprecation, and took another pinch of snuff.

"In early spring, they can proceed by keel boat up the river—the Mississippi. Or, in the meantime, if necessity arise, the journey can be made overland. But whatever ultimate plans are decided upon, our present duty is plain. We must provide them with suitable escort." He paused, looking straight at Winslow.

The pause and look were full of meaning, but the younger man ignored both, save by an expression of polite inquiry.

"I think you will agree with us," Burr continued, "that it would be imprudent to leave the ladies at this time, in this unsafe country, without one whose sole care would be their comfort. You will also see, that this one must be a gentleman; that he must have courage and address, and above all, must be a person whose company will be agreeable to the ladies in question. You guess my drift, sir?"

"Modesty forbids," and the young man smiled.

"Then, to be direct, let me say that you, of all men, seem best fitted for the charge; if you will undertake it, let me assure you of the gratitude of all concerned."

Winslow drew a deep breath, and in the long pause which followed his eyes rove unseeing about the room. The slight, dark man watching him, read his thoughts, but made no effort to interpret them aloud. At last Winslow spoke: "I am deeply grateful for your confidence, Col. Burr; believe me, I realize the honor. I also realize that hesitation is unchivalrous, but—" a slight pause, then he shrugged his shoulders with ill-concealed impatience, "but all nicetics of speech aside, and waiving gallantry, you surely can understand, sir, that I must be disappointed at your command."

"My 'command?'"

"A request from our leader is equivalent to a command; as such I obey it. But I frankly state that I am sorry to abandon the quarry—especially now, that the falconer himself is with us."

The leader bowed. "I thank you. Your loyal appreciation makes it hard to part with your services, even temporarily. But we are confronted with a choice of evils. Our chivalry is at stake; it would be a bad beginning to our enterprise were we to fail in duty to women in distress. And I am convinced our duty can be best fulfilled with you their guide and escort."

Winslow shook his head. "Pardon me, but I do not think your choice a happy one. It smacks of the heroic, and I—" he glanced at his own slight figure, and threw up his hands with a half-mocking smile. "I am no hero; only a plain country schoolteacher in search of pastures new."

"But you are a brave man, and a gentleman. You have, too, common sense. Valor for valor's sake, is obsolete as the shield it accompanied. Of all the synonyms for courage, fortitude is, I think, the best. This, your friends assure me, you possess. Above all, you are particularly congenial to the ladies, and to be frank, the suggestion of your name met with their distant approval."

"That ought to decide the question, if I have a spark of gallantry," Winslow said, lightly.

"Furthermore," Burr continued, "we do not consider that you are giving up the expedition; there will be many opportunities for you to join us later; consider this but a furlough—a release on parole, not a 'mustering-out.'" Rising, he added, in low, sibilant tones: "Then we may believe it settled, and the ladies can count upon your services, which, by the way, are not to be underrated. A village schoolmaster with a level head and temper well in hand, is safer guide than a swashing gallant with a too ready sword.

Winslow bowed his thanks, and was about to withdraw, when Aaron Burr stopped him with a slight gesture. "One moment, Mr. Winslow; there is yet another service I would impose; it is a personal favor."

A slight pause followed, which, had Winslow been younger or more enthusiastic, he would have filled with protestations of devotion and pleasure at the prospect of serving his chief. But he only said, "You do me honor, sir," with a grave smile, and waited further instructions.

Burr lowered his voice and stepped closer as he said, "I have been engaged in some correspondence with our commander-in-chief, Col. Wilkinson. Communication with him, however, is difficult, and since what I have written is upon private—I may say, ticklish business, I am anxious that the letters fall into no hands but his. Now the favor I would ask of you is the safe delivery of these." He took from the pocket of his waistcoat two bulky envelopes.

Glancing at the address, Winslow said, "I am to deliver these at a given time?"

"I hope you will not have to deliver them at all," was the surprising answer. Then Burr explained: "I expect—I hope to meet Col. Wilkinson at Natchez, or near there. I shall do so if our plans have not miscarried. But he may not have received my instructions; he may yet be in St. Louis, or he may stop at Fort Massac while you are there. In the event I do not meet him, I wish him to have this packet. I expressly desire, too, that nobody else see it; in the hands of the enemy these letters might do me harm."

SITE WANTED FOR ELIZABETH POSTOFFICE.

Government to Advertise for Bids Here Monday—Corner Lot Demanded.

The Treasury Department of the Federal Government is looking for a site for the new post office to be built in Elizabeth, and yesterday began to advertise in this section for proposals for the sale of a suitable sits to the government for that purpose.

The government demands a corner lot approximating 150 by 165 feet. Each proposal must be accompanied by a diagram of the land, showing the widths of adjacent streets and alleys, the grades, and the character of foundation obtainable. Any buildings on the land purchased by the government must be removed by the seller, who is also required to pay all expenses connected with furnishing evidence of titles and deeds of conveyance.

The proposals for the sale of the site will be received up till August 15 next, on which day they will be opened at the office of Secretary Shaw, in Washington.

The sum of $250,000 has been appropriated for a new post office in this city. The original amount was $200, to which $50,000 was added at the last session of Congress through the efforts of United States Senator John Kean.

HYPNOTIZED SIX YEARS.

Woman Claims Property from Which Suggestion Kept Her.

Camden, July 24.—A strange story of hypnotic influence and auto-suggestion lasting six years was told by Mrs. Mary Wheeler, Wright, of this city, Saturday. She has retained a lawyer to obtain possession of considerable property. The property is part of the estate of Mrs. Ellen Williams, of No. 1735 South 7th street, who died in August, 1900, leaving considerable personal property, several houses and lots and a small farm.

Mrs. Wheeler, who is about sixty years old, said Mrs. Williams was a near relative. On receiving notice of her death she came from Baltimore to Camden to attend the funeral.

After the services, Mrs. Wheeler says, the will was read, and it provided that the property should be divided equally among four beneficiaries; of whom she was one. It was decided to have two lawyers, who are now dead, settle the estate.

Mrs. Wheeler said she was taken ill, and when she recovered she became acquainted with a man who possessed hypnotic powers, and to whom she revealed the fact that she was heir to property in this city.

The woman says she believes she was hypnotized. She says that many times she made up her mind to come to this city to get her inheritance, but that every time she attempted she was taken ill in the street and was sent to the hospital. She had forty cards of admission to hospitals, which showed that she had been treated for many kinds of illnesses.

She was sitting at the supper table eating what seemed to her like tasteless food when suddenly she felt like a new woman. Her mind, which at times had been inactive, suddenly became clear and all the incidents relating to her inheritance came back to her. She came to this city at once. She says the other beneficiaries are dead and that she is now the sole heir to the estate.

TO HAVE OLD HOME WEEK.

Elizabeth Plans to Hold Celebration Next Year.

Elizabeth, July 24.—The Board of Trade, at a meeting Saturday night, unanimously approved the plan to have an old home week celebration in this city some time during the month of October of 1907. President Charles H. K. Halsey will appoint ten members as an advisory committee to consider ways and means with instructions to report at the next regular meeting in September.

The Board of Trade also decided to issue a year book of 150 pages costing $5,000, the covers to be published in colors, showing the advantages which Elizabeth has for home and factory sites. This book will be published by a local firm and it will be ready for delivery on January 1.

A suggestion was made to refer to the committee on rivers and harbors a plan to secure a bridge from this city to Staten Island, with instructions to confer with the New Jersey State Commission now organized to discuss the advisability of constructing interstate bridges between New Jersey and New York. This was also adopted.

THINK HE MET FOUL PLAY.

Search Near May's Landing for a Missing Farm Hand.

May's Landing, July 24.—The mysterious disappearance of John Johnson, a farm hand who was employed by Anderson Bourgets, at Estelleville, near here, has led the authorities to believe that the man has met with foul play, and a search is being made for him.

Johnson disappeared from the Bourgeis farm on the afternoon of July 4, leaving clothing and money behind. It is known that another farmhand employed by Bourgeis had had an altercation with the missing man. For several days detectives have been at work and a lake has been drained, but as yet nothing has been found to indicate murder.

The battery for the Elizabeth Times team in its game with the local newspaper men's nine on Saturday will be "By Doc" and "Jim Dash." Isn't that a Sauer combination?

Although they go to Trenton on the thirty-first, the Cops have not yet decided on their lineup for the game. A tentative placing of the men will be tried this afternoon, if the game with the Newspaper Men comes off, however, and the uncertainty that envelops the players will be dissipated after the contest. Capt. Payne will try first base, Charles Flynn second, Dobson short, and McGinley third.

W. L. Hetfield, 2d,, captain of the team that played the newspaper men three years ago, is reforming the barristers for another game with the ink-slinging combination. The date for the contest has not been decided.

Willie Mullen and his brother, Tommy, will be the battery of the Cops against the Newspaper Men this afternoon. Chauncey Colthar will pitch for the Scribes and Percy Vail will catch.

The rejuvenation af amateur ball has aroused the Red Men to talk of a series between the two tribes, Wetumpkah and Miantonomo, like the one played three years ago. The games would be played Saturday afternoons at Sebring's Mill.

For Plainfield Championship.

Entries are being received by T. M. Day, of the Country Club, for a tennis tournament to be conducted at the Country Club courts beginning Saturday. The play is for the singles title of Plainfield, and entries will be received from any aspirant in this city or the borough. The tournament is not a club affair, but is an open event. Entries close with T. M. Day Friday evening at six o'clock.

Taylor Mehaffey, twirler for the High School nine, will umpire balls and strikes at the Police-Newspaper game this afternoon.

FOR RECORD AND REFORM

Essex County Assemblymen Appeal to Party For Renomination.

ON COLBY PLATFORM

They Favor Local Taxation of Main Stems of Railroads and of Street Franchises.

On a platform radical in its demands for reformation of the laws of New Jersey, and with an open avowal of their intention if elected to support the candidacy of George L. Record for United States Senator Dryden's seat, the eleven members of the present Assembly delegation from Essex county yesterday came out in a public appeal for support at the coming Republican primaries on September 25.

The stand taken by the Essex men was agreed upon at a meeting at which William P. Martin, leader of the Colby forces in the last Legislature and State Chairman of the new Colby organization, was appointed to prepare the declaration of principles. The platform indicates that it is the intention of the Colbyites to carry the fight they began against trusts and corporations and in favor of equal taxation to still greater lengths. Their most important pronouncement of the taxation question is that in favor of local taxation of the main stems of railroads and the taxation at local rates of the value of the franchises of street railway companies.

Their Platform.

The declaration of principles follows:

"The overthrow of the control of the party organizations by corporations through the medium of the bosses.

"The nomination of candidates for public offices by direct primaries without the intervention of delegates or conventions.

"The taxation of local rates of the value of the franchises of public utility companies using the streets.

"The enactment of a law permitting the voters to indicate upon their official ballots their choice for United States Senator.

"The assessment and taxation of all railroad property locally, except the personality without a situs and franchises which are to be taxed by the State. The repeal of the Hillery Maximum Tax-Rate act of 1906, and the County Board of Equalization of Taxation act.

"Any inti-monopoly law providing that any contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or for the purpose of maintaining a monopoly, or fixing prices, or limiting quantities of articles or commodities in general use shall be unlawful.

"Vesting in the court the power of summary review of the results of primary and general elections, including the power to order a recount of the ballots cast.

"A thorough legislative investigation of life-insurance companies and the relations existing between such companies and allied and subsidiary financial institutions.

To Prevent Over-Capitalization.

"An investigation of the capitalization of corporations to enable the intelligent enactment of laws to prevent over-capitalization and the evils which result therefrom.

"The repeal of the statute passed in 1903, chapter 182, in protection of fraudulent promoters.

"In order to prevent the suppression of popular legislation by killing bills in committee, the adoption of a rule whereby each house of the Legislature will be required to vote upon the request of twenty per centum of the members.

"The registration of legislative agents and lobbyists under a law similar to that for some time in force in Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Maryland, and lately passed by the Legislature of New York.

"A comprehensive civil-service law which will take the employment of sub-ordinate public officials out of politics.

"Legislation empowering municipalities to own and operate electric light or gas plants.

"A law compelling grand and petty juries to be publicly drawn by lot from the entire qualified citizenship of the county, with discretionary power of repection in the court.

Constitutional Amendments.

"We also pledge ourselves to the following Constitutional amendments:

"An amendment separating, so far as possible, municipal from general State elections in the even numbered years, and the municipal elections in the odd numbered years. Pending such amendment, we pledge ourselves to the enactment of legislation to affectuate the principles as nearly as may be.

"An amendment providing that no act, unless it affects the health or safety of the people, shall take effect until ninety days after the adjournment of a session of the Legislature and approval by the Governor, and if within such ninety days 5 per centum of the voters file a petition with the Secretary of State requiring that any act shall be referred to the people, that thereupon an election shall be held, and if the act is sustained by the people it shall become effective, but if not sustained shall be void.

"An amendment providing that 5 per centum of the voters may file a copy of any proposed statute in the office of the Secretary of State requesting that the same may be submitted to the people, and that thereupon the same may be submitted, and if sustained by the people shall become a law.

"An amendment providing for the election of Assemblymen by districts, apportioned according to population, but at least one for such county, and providing appropriate safeguards against gerrymandering.

"The Assemblymen from Essex also announce that they favor the candidacy of George L. Record for United States Senator."

PERSONAL.

William H. Paine, of North avenue, is confined to the house with rheumatism.

Marguerite Neal, of West Front street, is spending a few weeks visiting at Lebanon.

Mrs. Charles E. Ryder and her daughter, Miss Ryder, of East Front street, are stopping at Brattleboro, Vt.

Charles Remsen, of Pearl street, who has been confined to his home for the past few days, is able to be about again. He expects to be able to resume his work as New York messenger tomorrow.

F. Clyde Doane, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Doane, of East Seventh street, has returned home after spending three weeks as the guest of the Bromfield boys at the summer home of Laurence B. Bromfield, at Sunset Park in the Catskills.

FIREWORKS WITH MUSIC AT CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT.

Elaborate Display to Be Given by Bandmaster LaVere in Connection with Programme.

The first of a series of fireworks exhibits in connection with the weekly band concerts is to be given at Concert Park Friday evening under the direction of Bandmaster Ben LaVere. Arrangements have been made for an elaborate exhibition of pyrotechnics, which will include eighteen set pieces. Among these will be a large American flag, reproduced in colored fire of the national colors. Rockets and mines will also be shown, including some eight shot rockets. The display will be in charge of four men from the New Jersey Fireworks Co., of Newark, who are to come to this city Friday to arrange for the building of the set pieces.

The musical programme has not yet been announced, but will include several selections from recent musical comedies by the band, and solo selections by three soloists. "Nick" Parker, who was in Plainfield for the last concert of the season last fall, will be here again to sing. Jack Elliott, a new tenor, will have two numbers, as will Eddie Weston. The fireworks will be displayed between the selections by the band. Arrangements have been made so that the fireworks will be displayed where they can be best seen from the grand stand, and admission of twenty-five cents will be charged to the stand Friday evening. The stand can only accommodate 800 persons, but arrangements have been completed for a supply of camp chairs to be brought to the grounds for the accommodation of a large crowd.

SEWER PLAN COMMITTEE

Seven Boroughites to Decide Whether an Independent System is Better.

BUTTFIELD CHAIRMAN

Mr. Osgood Sheds Some Light On Situation—Col. J. F. Wilson Resigns.

A representation of twenty-six members of the committee of fifty-five boroughites appointed by Mayor Smalley July 6 to investigate and report upon a system of sewage disposal for North Plainfield held a meeting last evening in the borough council rooms. The formal resignation of one member, former Mayor John F. Wilson, had beben received by the Mayor, but, considering the number of members who are out of town at present, the Mayor decided to have the meeting even though there was not an exact quorum.

The principal business of the evening was the passing of a motion by Edwin S. Hooley that the chairman of the commission of fifty-four, William J. Buttfield, should appoint a sub-committee of six men to work with the same chairman to consider the question as to whether the borough should attempt to share Plainfield's sewer disposal beds or to establish independent beds. Before Mr. Hooley's motion was put to vote, Mr. Buttfield made it clearly understood that, feeling himself inadequate to serve as chairman of such a sub-committee, he would resign the chairmanship to Charles W. McCutchen, who was not at the meeting, but is now abroad. The motion was passed, after reconsideration to allow for the sub-committee of six to include boroughites other than those who were members of the commission appointed by the Mayor. The six members were not appointed by Mr. Buttfield at the meeting, but are to be announced by him later. The general idea of the commission is that a smaller committee will be able to work to a better advantage in the consideration of the matter of disposal beds.

As the commission had no report to present, the Mayor desired to get an idea of the consensus of opinion of the members present, among whom were many property owners. The discussion was slow getting started, but long winded and more or less circumnambulent after it was once entered upon. At the very first, the question of consolidation with Plainfield was brought up for an argument for the borough using disposal beds in common with this city. It was at once decided that such a question should not enter at all upon the discussion of the evening.

When urged to speak on the subject, Jos. O. Osgood summed up the work which has been done by Engineer Pierson in computation of cost and methods of sewer disposal. He announced that the approximate cost to have borough sewage disposed in the Plainfield sewer beds near Rock avenue, would be between sixty and seventy-five thousand dollars for construction of the system, while the construction of an independent system in the township, several miles from North Plainfield, would cost about $130,000. Mr. Osgood announced that it would be possible to have sewage taken to independent beds by mere gravity flow without the establishment of a pumping station. When a discussion regarding cost of allied disposal beds with Plainfield arose, Mr. Osgood said that he informally understood that the borough would be taxed proportionally with the amount of sewage discharged into the bed.

Despite the fact that the question of a tide water disposal of sewage has been put down by the recent decision of the State sewage commission against such a system unless the sewage is first passed through sewage disposals beds similar to those used by Plainfield, there was discussion of the tide water method of disposal, even to the computation of $175,000 as the cost of establishing such a system, with septic tanks at the bank of the river. Captain Smith, who served on a committee which waited upon the State sewage commission some time ago, finally ended the discussion by declaring this system to be more expensive and merely a removal of the sewage to a greater distance before its treatment in a manner similar to that now carried on at the Plainfield beds.

Near the conclusion of the meeting, the proposition of joint sewage disposal beds with Dunellen, where there is much talk of a sewer system, was brought up, but there was no definite discussion. It was merely informally agreed that such a thing could be easily effected by a trunk sewer system to disposal beds beyond both towns.

While many theories were aired last night, the consensus of opinion

SAY HE BEAT COWS WITH AN IRON BAR

HOWARD CARVER MUST FACE A JURY BEFORE SQUIRE MUNDY.

Through the application of his attorney, S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., the case of Howard Carver, of Prideville, was not decided last evening by Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy but was adjourned until Monday evening, when the case will be decided by a jury. Carver was brought to court upon the complaint of some of his neighbors in Prideville, who accuse him of cruelly beating his two cows in pasture at Mountain avenue. It is alleged that Carver used an iron stake to beat the cows and he was haled to court by William N. Pangborn, local officer of the State society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The court room last evening at the hearing was well filled with residents of Prideville, and the two lawyers, S. S. Swackhamer for Carver, and V. W. Nash, Jr., for the S. P. C. A., entertained them with a long argument about the proper jurisdiction in the case. Swackhamer's objection to the ruling of a justice of the peace in the case was overruled, but he was finally allowed a jury, and the case was postponed until Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

SERVANT VICTIM OF P. S. C. TROLLEY CAR

HARRIETT O'NEILL, OF WESTFIELD, MEETS HER DEATH ON TRACKS.

Harriet O'Neill, 36 years old, a servant, employed at 145 South avenue, Westfield, was killed by a trolley car in that place last night. She was struck by the car at 7:30 o'clock at Summit avenue and Washington street, and died three hours afterwards.

The accident happened so quickly that details were hard to learn after it was over. The woman is said to have stepped directly in front of the car, which was eastbound. She had been visiting, and was on her way home. Several Plainfielders were on the car.

When picked up, she was unconscious and never recovered sensibility. The conductor and motorman were arrested. Coroner Westcott viewed the body at the house, to where it was brought, this morning, and will investigate the accident.

Lightning Followed Line.

The storm was very severe at Martinsville Saturday, lightning striking in several places. Henry Banty, a bookbinder in New York, who lives near Mt. Horeb church, has a wire clothes line attached to one corner of his house and a tree. The tree was struck by lightning, which passed along the wire and communicated with the kitchen, where Mr. Banty was sitting. He received a severe shock which paralyzed his right arm and right side, but he is gradually rallying from the effects and it is believed he will recover. Seven small shoats were struck and killed near Martinsville.

Burial of Lindley M. Hillman.

The body of Lindley M. Hillman, the former Plainfield young man who died last Friday night at Gloucester, was brought to this city yesterday. Interment was made this afternoon at Hillside cemetery, a brief service being held at the grave side. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends.

C. W. Krausse Home.

C. W. Krausse, of Vine street, who has been touring Germany for the past month, returned home yesterday on the Kromprinz Wilhelm. Henry Liefke and former Sheriff B. Coriell, who were with him, caught a later boat and will not reach home until Friday or Saturday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD KICKS

Its Citizens Resent Imputation That Mill Pond Water Should Not be Used.

CLUB TAKES INITIATIVE

Good Government Members Will Go To New Market and Protest Against Proceedings Anent the Question.

Following a recent announcement that the Middlesex Water Company desired to connect its mains with the South Plainfield mill pond in order to be sure of a reserve supply of water, notices were sent out by Dr. M. J. Whitford, secretary of the Piscataway township Board of Health, for a public meeting to be held at New Market tomorrow night to discuss the proposition. One of the notices was received by the Good Government Club of South Plainfield and that organization held a special session Monday night to talk over the action of the Health board. William Hamilton was in the chair and Wm. E. Smith acted as secretary.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. Smith and adopted unanimously: "Resolved, that the members of this club present at this meeting hereby protest against any proceedings by the Board of Health in the matter of any petition as against the Middlesex Water Co., in the use of the water from the South Plainfield mill pond, until the said water has been used, analyzed and found to be detrimental the public health."

On a motion made by John I. Holly it was decided to appoint a committee from the club to attend the New Market meeting and formally protest against any opposition to the plan until it is shown that the water is not fit to use. The members named are William E. Smith, John I. Holly, Samuel R. Manning, J. Adams, Peter J. McDonough, B. Horn and William Hamilton. This committee is to be further increased so as to include as many of the club members and residents as can attend the meeting.

It was stated at the gathering that as yet the Middlesex company had drawn no water from the mill pond, and that it would not until a filtration plant had been installed. It was further said this would make the water just as good for household purposes as that drawn from the artesian wells and that the inhabitants need not be worried lest they get an inferior supply.

STATE BUILDERS IN SESSION TODAY

150 DELEGATES OF NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATION AT CASINO.

A big delegation of members of the State Association of Master Builders, about 150 in number, are in town to attend the quarterly convention of the organization. The delegates, which represent the forty local associations in the State are in session at the Casino, where the convention was called to order by President Hugh D. King, of Bloomfield, at 2 o'clock. The reports of special committees will occpy most of the time at the session, which will last the entire afternoon, and there will also be reports from the several county vice presidents, as follows: L. B. Woolston, Union; Emil Koyen, Middlesex; George A. Miles, Morris; Andrew Diedman, Passaic; Andrew D. Boght, Bergen; R. H. Hughes, Monmouth; John W. Lathrop, Hudson; Henry W. Egan, Monmouth. An effort is to be made by the legislative committee to put through a measure by which contractors for buildings must hold certificates of master builders. This will insure the employment of only skilled labor.

At the conclusion of the business session fate this afternoon, the majority of the delegates will stay over in this city for the evening and will be entertained at a big banquet to be served at the Casino at 7 o'clock. Most of the masons and builders of this city are members of the organization, which is three years old and has about 1,500 members.

Refreshments at Mission.

A special service, with social features, will be held at the Rescue Mission tomorrow night. J. B. Oakley, of Elizabeth, will speak. He will be accompanied by some of the boys from his Elizabeth mission, who will sing and recite. There will be special music, and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Justice Mosher Moves.

Justice J. E. Mosher has removed his office from the third to the second floor of the Marsh building. The change was made because of the exertion required to climb the two flights of stairs.

NEWSPAPER MEN BUMPED

Cops Come Back at Them Strong and Win By Score of 10 to 3.

SCRIBES WERE TANGLED

Didn't Know How to Handle the Ball, and Offered No Objections When Bluecoats Walked On Them.

Some of the swell was pounded from the chests of the newspaper leather-handlers yesterday afternoon by the bluecoat bunch. The cops exhibited some real baseball moves, and what they did to the suffering scribes made a noise like 10 to 3 on the score board.

The Newspaper Men did everything to the ball except to pick it up, or, on occasion, plunk it to the grass. They fell on it, jumped on it, kicked it, slapped it on the wrist, and misused it in cruel and unusual ways, but heartlessly scorned to take it in their hands and give it a straight ride. Once in a while they did, in a moment of petulance, seize it by the scruff of the neck and cast it from them, but never with any regard for the honor or dignity of a globule.

Willie Mullen pitched for the Cops, with his brother Tommy at the receiving station. It was a lovely combination for the scorer, because he was only bothered once or twice in following Newspaper Men around the bases. Willie had the Indian sign on all the reportorial sluggers, and only one man from the composing room, where men become aged but tough and handsome forms with iron frames are developed, poked the leather thing where none of the cops could reach it. Willie handed the batters so many lemons that they got cholera morbus and looked as yellow as their playing.

And those cops. Cursiz-z-z on them, they played well. They stopped grounders and caught flies, and only looked foolish at the bat. Colthar held them to punky swats or airy swings, and only a man or two could do anything but fade away or give the infield a chance to fall over itself.

The cops registered twice in the opening stanza, and kept it up through the game. They were blanked in only two innings. The Newspaper Men didn't score until the fifth, and wound up their activities at the joy pan in the seventh.

To do them justice, the bluecoats showed great form in the field. McCarthy at short and McGinley at third scooped fast and threw well. Dobson held down second like a comer, and Cap Payne held most of the things that came his way on first.

None of Manager St. John's colts deserve mention, except in the obituary column. If they had all laid down and died in the first inning, it might have helped a whole lot. Maybe the cops would have stopped scoring out of respect for the dead.

HELPED A WAYFARER.

Mayor Buckle, Chief Kiely and Amos Andrews Play Good Samaritan.

A tall, well-dressed young chap came into police headquarters yesterday afternoon and asked Chief Kiely for advice relative to reaching Scranton, Pa., on nothing. He told the old, old story of the young man from the West, who goes to New York, finds the Tenderloin the first thing, and wakes up in the morning with his pockets cleaned out. This particular young man had a little change left, and the remorseful journey homeward that he started with it worked all right, on the trolley, to this city. He said he had a brother in Scranton who would see that he got home all right from there.

While the Chief was talking with the young man, Mayor Buckle and Amos Andrews came into headquarters. They liked his looks and started a purse for him. With contributions from the Chief and some of the officers, the pilgrim was provided a ticket to Scranton and some change.

A Birthday Party.

In honor of her fifth birthday, Sereta Skinner, of West Third street, had a birthday party at her home yesterday afternoon. Those who were invited were Louise Butler, Queen Reed, Bessie Connett, Margorie Venable, Iola Reed and Foster Kline. The children played games on the lawn, after which refreshments were served.

LEAVES CITY COMMITTEE

Judge Newcorn Retires From Active Political Work As Expected.

TOWNSEND FOR OFFICE

Resignation Sends Secretary-Treasurership from Fourth to Second Ward—Big Advisory Committee Appointed.

Judge William Newcorn resigned from the Republican city committee at its meeting last night. His resignation left a vacancy in the secretary-treasuryship, which he had filled for a number of years. William Townsend was elected to the office.

Judge Newcorn's action has been expected ever since his recent elevation to the bench. In presenting it, he stated that he "did not deem it within his sense of propriety to take active part as a member of the committee while on the bench." His successor is a Second warder. Mr. Newcorn is a Fourth warder.

Vacancies on the committee were filled and the different standing committees, which have been held open since the 1906 organization, were appointed. The full advisory committee, which has been increased to 125 members, was also shaped up by Mr. Fisk, with Alexander Gilbert as chairman. The 125 will be announced this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

The committee vacancies were filled as follows: Second ward, Marion Ackerman; Third ward, Joseph M. Shellabarger, George A. Beaton, George J. Tobin; Fourth ward, J. Harry Cook.

The committees are made up as follows: Executive, Charles J. Fisk, cnairman; Dr. O. L. Jenkins, vice chairman; William Townsend, secretary and treasurer; S. P. T. Wilbur, Robert A. Meeker, George A. Beaton, Frank H. Smith. Finance, James F. Buckle, J. Hervey Doane, B. Frank Coriell, Herbert Buxton. Registration, W. L. Gloak, Francis Montgomery, George J. Tobin, Frank De W. Randolph. Naturalization, H. G. Adams, Cornelius VanHerwerden, Charles Foster, W. G. Hochcroft. Legislature, Charles Smlnck, Robert A. Meeker, W. S. Angleman, William T. Kirk.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION AT NEW PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Automatic Water Curtain One of the Safety Devices Installed.

In order to reduce the danger of fire to a minimum and to still further guard his patrons, Manager Counihan has had completed at the New Plainfield theatre a number of improvements that have made the house one of the safest in the State. The work has all been done under the supervision of Chief T. O. Doane and he declared yesterday that there was nothing more that he could suggest in the way of equipment or changes.

The principal improvement has been the installation of an automatic water curtain, a contrivance that makes it practically impossible for flames to reach out from the stage to the auditorium. It consists of a large water main which extends across the stage close to the proscenium arch, so constructed that 106 degrees of heat will melt lead connections and cause a sheet of water to descend. A fire that could be smothered with a hat would be sufficient to start the flow and in several cities of the country they have been the means of preventing conflagrations.

Three new exits have been added to the house, making thirteen in all. One leads off from the rear of the orchestra on the east side to Second street, another from the east wall of the balcony and the remaining one from the gallery. Iron stairways are to be built from them to the ground below, making them counterparts of the ones on the west side.

Beside the usual up-to-date fire extinguishers, Manager Counihan has also had reels of 2½-inch hose placed at convenient points and there are enough lengths to reach any part of the house. A four-inch main leads from the street to the stage and there are three-inch standpipes running up to the fly gallery. Beside all these precautions, the attaches of the house are to continue the regular fire drills introduced last season and the usual number of regular firemen will be in the theatre during every performance.

Last Excursion August 16.

The last of the season's Sunday school excursions will go to Asbury Park from this city Thursday, August 16, when the Warren chapel school will spend the day at the shore. The big Hope chapel excursion is to go Saturday, August 11, and the combined excursion of Grace Episcopal church, Holy Cross, Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and the Seventh Day Baptist church will spend the day at the shore Thursday, August 9.

HORSE THIEF GETS AWAY WITH LIVERY STABLE RIG

REPRESENTS HIMSELF AS TELEPHONE MAN AND WORKED GAME EASILY.

Working a very old game, with no variations and no trouble, a horse-thief got away with a rig belonging to the Central Livery Stable, 115 East Second street, yesterday afternoon. He simply asked for a horse and buggy to hire, got it without deposit or identification by representing himself as a New York and New Jersey Telephone Company employe, and decamped with it.

The thief was a young man, apparently an American, twenty-four years old, five feet five inches in height, smooth-faced, dark complexioned, and wore a blue coat, dark mixed trousers and black derby. He came to the stable at 4:30 o'clock. He told James Kane, who was in charge, that he was a telephone man and wanted a rig for the rest of the afternoon. He looked all right to Kane, and he got a horse and runabout without question.

The police were notified of the theft this morning, when it became certain that the young man was not coming back. His description and a description of the rig was telephoned to all the surrounding towns, and to Newark and New York. A reward of $50 has been offered for the recovery of the rig.

The stolen horse is a brown cob, with black points and hollow back. The runabout is black, with red running gear.

Bound Brook, July 25.—A horse stolen from the Central Livery Stable, Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, was found in a hotel stable here this morning. It was left here by the thief last night. Ralph Bache, of Plainfield, who had heard a description of the horse, saw it in the stable while here on business this morning and recognized it. He telephoned to the livery stable men, who sent one of their employes and identified it. It is supposed the thief lost his nerve and abandoned the horse to escape capture.

MAY BUY INSECTIDE SPRAYING MACHINE

CITY WILL PROBABLY ARM ITSELF AGAINST THE TREE PESTS.

To arm itself against the ravages of pests among the shade trees that have become one of the chief beauties of the locality, the city may purchase one of the powerful sprayers with which the insects and grubs have been destroyed under the direction of George T. Powell. Mr. Powell, who is an expert on the subject of protecting trees from pests, says action is necessary to save them at this time. His men will do the work for $500, but one of his machines may be purchased at that figure, and city employes can work it at no further expense to the municipality, after which the city will have the machine for use other seasons.

Mr. Powell told a Daily Press man yesterday that an examination of Plainfield trees would disclose the fact that the elms have been badly infected by the elm beetle, and that the foliage has been much injured. Two years of such attack, he said, would destroy many of them. If a steam sprayer, capable of throwing over the highest trees, were put in operation when the beetles first appear, the trees would be saved. The frequent and heavy rains, Mr. Powell, continued, had killed many of the cottony maple scales just as they were hatching, saving the maples much injury this season.

Street Commissioner Gavett said this morning that conditions were not as bad as they had been. He believed, however, that it would be wise to take precautionary measures.

Heavy Pole Fell on Him.

Bernardsville, July 25.—Walter Buist, son of Thomas S. Buist, was painfully injured Monday afternoon, near the residence of Charles Barker, on the Mine Brook road. Buist is employed as an apprentice electrician by his brother, David Buist, and with a number of men was assisting in connecting the residence of Mr. Barker with electric wires. The men were placing a pole in the rear lot when some of the wires broke and the pole fell, striking Buist and knocking him down. He was brought to his home here and examined by Dr. Josiah Meigh, who found that he had sustained a severe gash on the upper lip and that one of his legs was injured to some extent. No bones were broken, however, and Buist is resting comfortably.

Mrs. C. B. Dennis and daughter, Ada, of East Second street, left today for Naugatuck, Conn., for a week's outing.

CITY CHAIRMAN EXPLAINS

Mr. Fisk States Reasons For Appointing Advisory Committee of 125.

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

New Committee Empowered to Make the Party Ticket Without Any Interference.

That the regular Republican organization is anxious to have the cooperation of the Colbyites was made plain by former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, chairman of the city executive committee, in a conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press today. So far as the committee is concerned, the chairman declares that it is most anxious to have the very principles of the "new idea" movement carried out in municipal politics and that he for one intends to do all in his power to attain that end.

"There is no earthly reason why there should be any division among the Republicans of Plainfield," said Mr. Fisk. "We all agree that this city stands for the best sort of government and I for one think that it has enjoyed that privilege for a long time. Personally I have had a talk with both Judge Runyon and Henry L. Hall and have state unequivocally to them that we want to have their advice whenever they see that anything can be done for the betterment of the party.

"My reason," continued Mr. Fisk, "for appointing an advisory committee of 125 Republicans is that the party government in Plainfield may be of the most democratic form. That committee will suggest nominations and we will carry out their recommendations. In them is vested the utmost latitude so far as party government is concerned, and if any misstep is made it will not be the fault of the city executive committee. I should say in this connection that the executive committee will keep hands off and will not interfere with the advisory committee in any way.

"Mr. Gilbert has consented to act as chairman of the advisory committee and I do not feel called upon in view of his standing in this community to make any comment on his selection. We are indeed fortunate in finding so suitable a man for the onerous position. The 125 members are picked with much care from the various wards and no factional differences has been allowed to enter into the matter. Colbyites and regulars alike have been chosen. Inasmuch as we have not sent out the notices of appointment as yet, I think it would be unfair to give out the list.

"If the Colbyites do not join us in this movement," concluded Mr. Fisk, "the responsibility will be on their shoulders. I think we have done all that could be done in the cause of good government."

CONSTRUCTING A DIRECT PATH.

Central Railroad Making a Walk From Depot Platform to Sycamore Street.

For the accommodation of east end commuters, a pathway is being maed from Fourth street and Sycamore street almost direct to the depot platform. Commuters who passed through Sycamore street could only reach the platform by walking nearly down to Watchung avenue to take the pathway or by cutting across the lawn and through the shrubbery and flower beds. A path has been worn across the grass in such a short cut and the appearance of the park thus spoiled.

The railroad people have commenced work upon a path to lead from the end of Sycamore street to the platform across the lawn and through a gateway in the stone wall bordering the driveway.

In Judge Snape's Court.

The case of W. S. Terhune & Co. vs. Jacob E. Hillpot, of Bound Brook, on contract was settled in Justice Snape's court this morning without legal action. The amount was $50. Papers in the contract case of William Kiene vs. the Watchung Spring Water Co. are returnable at the court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The amount is $75.

Hurt in Bicycle Spill.

J. W. Graham was thrown from his wheel on West Fourth street early last evening, and the fall sprained his wrist severely. Mr. Graham went back along the road to see what caused his tumble, but could find nothing that looked as if it might have caused the accident.

Clerks to Have An Outing.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

In attempting to alight from a trolley car Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Eugene Runyon, of Main street, was heavily thrown and sustained a broken arm. The accident, according to bystanders, was due to the fact that the car started before Mrs. Runyon had alighted and jerked her off her feet. She was taken to Dr. Whitford's office, where an examination showed that the right forearm was broken. She sustained several bruises and was badly shaken up, being still confined to her home.

A large delegation of boroughites will take advantage of the Methodist excursion to spend a day at Asbury Park tomorrow. The special train will be made up at the depot, and will leave at 7:45, stopping at Clinton Avenue, Grant Avenue and Plainfield. The return trip from the shore will commence at 7:10.

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church visited the Netherwood Fresh Air Home last evening and took charge of the regular evening service conducted there. There are now 300 children at the Home.

Ernest H. Muller, of Newark, has purchased two lots on Lincoln avenue, near First street, and is planning to erect a house. The sale was made through Real Estate Agent George W. Day.

The regular monthly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will be held at the conclusion of the regular prayer meeting in the chapel this evening.

Dr. Myron J. Whitford has rented his house on Main street to a family from Newark. Several repairs are now being made to the place, for the family is to take possession next month.

Mrs. Andrew Spence and daughter, of New York, are the guests of Mrs. Robert L. Pierce, of New Market.

George Penrose, of New Market, has secured a position with the Crescent Embossing Co., of Plainfield.

Fifty feet of new hose were received for the use of the fire department yesterday afternoon.

Defender Fire Co. will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening in the borough hall.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Funeral services of Robert Lowry Thomae and Helen De Forest, his thirteen-year-old daughter, victims of the tragic drowning accident at Atlantic City, Saturday afternoon, were held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. James B. Carter, mother of Mrs. Thomae, Fanwood. The service was impressive, yet simple. Rev. William Mulford, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, had charge. Mr. Mulford spoke of the deceased as he and his fellow townsmen and neighbors had known him, of his tragic end, giving up his life for those he loved. The house was filled with relatives and friends who had gathered to pay their tribute of respect. The floral offerings were many and included several large set pieces. Interment was made in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery, the pall bearers being Capt. Benjamin Tuzo, Thomas J. Nicholl, Mr. Clark, Lowry Van Dyke and A. D. Beekon.

Glenside Park is enjoying one of the most prosperous seasons this popular resort has enjoyed since its opening. Every cottage is occupied and Manager Bailey has been unable to furnish cottages for all who desired to spend the summer there.

No, the town was not entirely deserted today, although several hundred of its residents attended the annual union Sunday-school excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stillger and children, who have been visiting Mr. Stillger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stillger, of Front street, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

Fanwood Council, R. A., met last night in the library rooms. Owing to the warm weather only the usual council business was transacted.

George Archibold, who has been visiting his father, John Archibold, of Washington Valley, has returned to his home in Westfield.

John VanArsdale has opened a blacksmith shop in the building recently erected by William H. Lee on Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fancher, of the borough, are spending the week with relatives at Somerville.

Mrs. Charles R. Vincent and children, of the borough, are sojourning for a time at Point Pleasant.

A meeting of the Board of Education was held last night in the school parlors.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A meeting of the Good Government Club was held last evening, and matters of importance were transacted. A committee was appointed to inquire into the feasibility of going to the Lake Water Co. for drinking water.

W. E. Smith has rented his summer cottage to Mr. Ong and family, of New York city.

Mrs. William Manning has returned home from Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. Fitz Gerald spent last evening in New York city.

Mrs. Walter Sisty is visiting at Lakeside Farm.

MT. PLEASANT.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamlin, of Jersey City, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Harris.

HUNDRED SALOONS ARE KNOCKED OUT.

Forty Refused Licenses By Fagan's Excise Board at Jersey City.

Jersey City, July 25.—Mayor Fagan's Excise Board, consisting of George W. Decker, Matthew F. Fallahee, John O'Brien and John Bumsted, has made good the promise of the administration that it would wipe out all disorderly saloons in this city.

More than forty saloonkeepers, against whom complaints of law violations and disorderly conduct in their places were sustained after public hearings, at which they were permitted to be represented by counsel and interpose a complete defense have been refused licenses by the Excise Board.

This does not represent one-half of those saloons which have been put out of business by the board, as many saloonkeepers, who knew from the character of their places that they were on the blacklist, did not deposit $500 and apply for a license, but closed their doors July 1. "To let" signs in windows of saloon properties are numerous, especially through lower Jersey City.

It is figured that more than 100 of the places which were run either in violation of the law or as close to its provisions as possible without getting caught have been closed, and another 100 will be run on different lines in the future, the proprietors having narrowly escaped being put out of business, and not daring to take any chances under the new law, which provides that one violation breaks a license and puts the proprietor and the property he did business in under a ban for a year.

That the Excise Board means to fight, to retain its existence despite the new law legislating it out of office is shown by the fact that it has adopted a resolution asking the Board of Finance to appropriate $7,250 for its expenses during the next fiscal year.

FIREMEN OF RAHWAY ASK FOR PARADE FUND.

Rahway, July 25.—The Rahway fire department is actively engaged in making arrangements for the big parade on October 9. The committee has issued the following appeal to each citizen of Rahway:

"Dear Sir—The Rahway fire department has decided to hold a grand firemen's parade in this city on October 9, 1906.

"Each company has invited one or more fire companies from other cities to be guests on this occasion, and the event promises to be a notable one in the history of the Rahway fire department. To properly entertain the visiting firemen, and to provide music and other necessary expenses incident to such an affair will require considerable money. The firemen will contribute liberally of their time and means toward making the affair a success, but naturally they cannot meet all the expenses.

"It is ten years since a firemen's parade has been held in Rahway. The firemen render their services without cost of expense to the taxpayers. The efficiency of our fire department is too well known to enlarge upon. The members are always ready—night or day—to protect the public against the devastation of fire, and in appealing at this time to the public for assistance toward meeting the expenses of the proposed parade they do so, confident that there will be a generous and liberal response. You are hereby solicited to subscribe such sum as you may feel inclined to give toward this object. Checks may be made payable to H. Simmons, treasurer.

"Trusting to receive a favorable response, we remain,

"Yours truly,

"HARRY SIMMONS,
"Treasurer."

WOMEN'S WOES.

Plainfield Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. J. Krewson, of 119 Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Symptoms of weak or diseased kidneys afflicted me for some time, and dull heavy backaches and pains in the to pand back of my head nearly drove me to distraction. I have also had trouble from inactive liver and at times my complexion has been of an almost saffron hue. About two months ago I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and did so with the very best of results, procuring them at Randolph's drug store. I am now free from the aches and pains in my head and back and my liver and bladder troubles have left me. I have a great opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills after what they have done for me, and I would not hesitate to recommend them to anybody suffering from such troubles."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco has returned to his home on East Front street after a month's vacation spent in the West.

Lee Ashley Grace and family, of West 85th street, New York, are stopping at the home of Mrs. Grace's parents, former Mayor and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street.

Semi-Centennial and Old Home Week at Hazelton.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad will sell tickets at low fares July 29th to August 5th, inclusive. Fare from South Plainfield, $3.60. Tickets good going and returning on all regular trains except the Black Diamond Express. Limited for return until August 6th, inclusive. LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Could any fair-minded follower of melodrama desire or expect a more formidable assortment of spectacular realism than is offered in A. H. Woods' new melodrama, "Chinatown Charlie," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. Truly it would seem as if human ingenuity had entirely exhausted itself in the endeavor to make this offering stand out in bold relief as a production of unqualified stupendous effort in every conceivable direction.

Seventeen scenes have been prepared for this purpose, each outstripping in the matter of startling effectiveness and each being essential towards dressing up a story of love, intrigue, crime and atonement, with the reformation and reward of an "opium fiend" as the backbone of the whole revelation. It is a capital story, intelligently told to serve a great moral lesson, while the main feature is to furnish entertainment to the masses.

"Queen of the Highbinders," the new four act play which A. H. Woods will produce at the New Plainfield theatre on August 4, can compare favorably with any show on the road in originality of construction, characterization, scenery, comedy and heart interest. The theme of the play is drawn, in a measure, from the actual plottings of a notorious Chinese secret society known as the Highbinders. This band is headed by a white woman named Bettina Otis, who is looked upon as the Highbinders "Queen." There are twelve scenes in all. Dreamland, Coney Island, by night; a Pell street den; interior of a typical New York police station on the lower East Side; the exercise yard at Sing Sing; pleasure pier at the foot of 129th street, Hudson river, New York; Kai Tong's den in New York's Chinatown, showing an underground passage and the torture chamber; the lonely house by the Golden Gate, 'Frisco, with the "human staircase" scene, and others equally sensational. Those who see this show will not wonder at the popularity of the "Queen of the Highbinders." It has all the elements necessary to success and pleasure giving.

FOR BRYAN RECEPTION.

Members of Committees and Connecticut Plans.

New Haven, July 25.—Alexander Troupe has outlined the final plans which have been arranged for William J. Bryan's reception in New York on August 30. Mr. Troup, who is on the committee in charge of the Madison Square dinner, met several of his fellow committeemen on his trip, among them Norman E. Mack, Democratic National Committeeman from New York, and Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland. As a result of these and other committee meetings, Mr. Troupe gave out the organization of the New York Bryan dinner committee as follows:

Committee on Addresses—John W. Tomlinson, Norman E. Mack, Willis J. Abbott, Henry Walker and others.

Committee on Labor Unions—John N. Bogart and Congressman William Sulzer, of New York, with power to add.

Business Men's Committee—Ex-Governor William L. Douglas, of Massachusetts, with power to add.

Press Committee—Henry Walker, John H. O'Brien, Alexander Troupe, Norman E. Mack and Willis J. Abbott.

Committee on Finance—Nathan Straus, O. H. P. Belmont, Burton F. Harrison, Alexander Troup, Mayor Tom L. Johnson, P. F. McGowan, of New York, and Senator W. J. Stone, of Missouri.

Committee on Madison Square Garden—John H. O'Brien, Thomas L. Feitman, A. E. Eastmont, Controller Herman A. Metz and Richard Croker, Jr.

Committee on Invitation—Norman E. Mack, William J. Stone, James K. Jones, William Sulzer, udge Dwight, Bird S. Coler, P. F. McGowan and H. A. Metz.

Committee on Invitations to Democratic Mayors—P. F. McGowan, Norman E. Mack, Tom L. Johnson, John S. Fitzgerald, of Boston; John W. Tomlinson, of the National Committee, and Carter H. Harrison, of Chicago.

Indian Discipline.

As an evidence of Indian discipline over their children the entertainment they gave here a few days ago showed that reverence for their chiefs could hold even the youngsters in line. A number of traveling men on the front seats scattered nickels on the stage, and the little fellows who were ranged in a line on the back of the stage in front of their mothers scrambled for money. But no matter how many coins were thrown while the old chiefs were making their talks, not a move was made by the pappooses until the talk was finished; then there was a general scramble until the money was all collected. Pierre Correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

Cheap Sightseeing Trip.

A London firm has organized a system of seeing London in six days for $10.50, including a midday meal every day. The tourist will have an opportunity to inspect everything, "whether of picturesque or historic interest," in the capital and its suburbs.

Edwin S. Hooley and family, of Rockview avenue, are spending the summer at East Hampton, L. I., where they have a cottage.

Any style we manufacture, either Rims or Rimless.

ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE.

Your Eyes will be examined by The Dammers Scientific Method, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(No Drops Used.) Those who have been examined for Glasses by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

No Questions Asked, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious, and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes Blindness, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have the trouble to get glasses correct.

Many thousands of our patrons will indorse every word you read here.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, neusea, Watery Eyes, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by Eye Strain. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism, by our scientific methods of Examining.

An experience covering every detail of the Optical Business for over a quarter of a century is the continuous record of the great Dammers concern.

Our position in Newark, N. J., and Providence, R. I., as the Leading Eyesight Specialists is proof of the high confidence in our responsibility, and the reliability of our representations.

Six Days Left For Buying Best of Furniture Under Usual Cost.

The fair one who has been warning you day by day of the passing of the Furniture Sale holds up but six fingers to-day, telling you that, including today, only six buying days are left for those who would secure the advantages that are made possible while the July Sale reductions are on.

If you have money in the bank drawing trifling interest, or elsewhere earning anything less than 10 per cent., and you have need of furniture, we would urge you to make the best use of your money by investing it in furniture now while anything needed may be bought at 10 per cent. less than usual, and in many instances 25 per cent. less than usual, and in many instances 25 per cent. and 30 per cent.

The days are passing and growing beautifully less. Tomorrow the young lady in the picture will drop another finger!

25 of these $145.00 Parlor Suits to go for $89.50

This is certainly one of the best offerings that have been made in this great sale of furniture. We cannot impress the fact too strongly upon prospective buyers of parlor suits. They should be delighted with this unquestionably saving opportunity.

These Suits consist of five pieces, including a large sofa, two generous arms chairs and two side or reception chairs with small, low arms. The pieces are covered with light tinted tapestry of neat design, the backs being upholstered and tufted, the sides upholstered plain. The frames are massive, with just a little relief carving—not enough to make them gaudy. The framework is beautifully polished and the finish throughout is high class. Every piece in the suit is made for service and comfort. They will surely be admired by all who see them, and they ought to sell readily at the astonishingly low price we are going to ask for these 25 suits—usually $145.00; on this occasion $89.50

THE NEW WAY TO CURE DYSPEPSIA

Pepsoids cure the worst forms of Dyspepsia and all other Acute or Chronic Stomach Disorders by repairing the worn-out lining of the stomach and destroys all disease germs. Dyspepsia once cured in this way never returns. Pepsoids is not a patent medicine, but the successful prescription of Dr. Oidman who has cured thousands of cases of Chronic Stomach Troubles, among them Cancer of the Stomach. It cost more money to produce Pepsoids than any similar preparation on the market, owing to the large quantity of the purest Pepsin and other expensive drugs each tablet contains, (see [illegible] on bottle.) Pepsoids are sold at 50 cents a bottle on an absolute guarantee to cure, or money refunded. We will send you, if you have not used Pepsoids before, a 50-cent bottle FREE; merely send us your name and address, and you will receive promptly a full sized bottle. You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Every man or woman now has the opportunity of possessing a strong and healthy stomach. Will you grasp it? People with weak stomachs are always in misery. Pepsoids have made thousands of people happy by giving them what nature intended everyone should possess—a strong and healthy stomach, so as to enjoy the best there is in life. Try Pepsoids to-day, price only 50 cents a bottle at drug store. Or you may have a full sized bottle free by writing the Medical Department of The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill.

The Outfit is beautiful, triple plated silver, leather case.

Any man would rather shave himself if he could, and any man can give himself a delightful velvet shave in three minutes with the Gillette. Impossible to cut or irritate the face.

The Gillette Safety Razor is 24 razors in one. Always ready to use. NO STROPPING OR HONING.

The Gillette has twelve double edged blades; each blade is thin as paper, perfectly tempered and glass hardened; gives from ten to thirty perfect shaves. Case and blades packed and sealed direct from factory, showing them to be new. Additional blades at nominal cost.

Gillette Razor, triple plated silver with blades, leather case, $5.00; will save five times its cost the first year.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

For trees, plants and shrubbery, the place to go is the Belleview Nursery, of which W. H. Forristel is proprietor. A large stock of each always on hand and prices to suit.

Nothing looks neater on the summer piazza than enameled porch chairs. Dull or glossy finish, easily cleaned with a wet cloth. C. Conover, the painter, on Elmwood place, can do the work.

F. H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer, has specials of every kind every day in the week. By sending your orders to him you are sure to make money, for what is saved is earned. Firstbrook's wagons deliver to any part of the city.

Roth & Co., the East Front street butchers, sell the best cuts of meat at lowest prices winter and summer. They can do this, because the market in this city is only a branch, and the firm buys immense shipments so that a lower price can be made in the retailing. First class assortment of all sorts of seasonable fish right there on ice every Friday. The firm invites inspection of ice boxes and storage rooms. Wagon deliveries.

Hot weather clothes can be secured at lowest prices now during the big semi-annual clearance sale of men's suits and trousers at Weinberger's, on West Front street. Prices are cut almost in half—and they were fair prices for the clothes before the cut was made. The weather now is still warm, and you can't do better than go there and look over the clothes before you pay twice as much for the same garments elsewhere.

For absolute comfort if you shave yourself in the summer time, you should use the Gillette safety razor. There are numerous kinds of safety razors, but the best of them is the Gillette. No strapping or honing is necessary—just slip in a new blade. You can cash in the old blades when you're through using them. Take a look at those Gillette's at H. E. Gayle's hardware store, on Front street.

Lovers of fresh fruits and vegetables should bear in mind that Neuman Brothers make a specialty of each at all times of the year and that in the summer they carry an extra large stock. The consignments are received fresh each morning and their prices are never high. This firm also has a great reputation for the excellence of its teas and coffees. Their Formoso Oolong and special Mocha and Java are especially suited to the making of iced tea and coffee.

DUTIES AT ELECTION TIMES.

Secretary of State Issues Index Giving Changes.

Trenton, July 25.—Secretary of State Dickinson has issued the chronological index of duties relating to the election on November 6 giving the changes under the new laws passed by the last Legislature. August 1 the terms of office of all members of the county boards of election commissioned this year will begin. Under the law the county boards of election are required to meet for organization during the first ten days of August. Between August 11 and 15, inclusive, the chairman of the county committee of each of the two largest political parties must nominate members for the election boards in each election district in the county, appointments to be made before August 25. The terms of office of the members of the local election boards will begin September 1.

Tuesday, September 4, the election boards in election districts outside of cities having a population of 30,000, must hold their first meeting, and then shall proceed to make a house-to-house canvass, completing it before Friday, September 7. Tuesday, September 11, the election boards in districts outside of cities having 30,000 population, must hold their second meeting, between 1 and 5 o'clock p. m. for the transcribing and making up from its canvassing books two lists of all persons entitled to vote in the respective districts. Voters must register personally, or the board must be shown by the affidavit of some voter in the district that an applicant for registration is legally entitled to vote therein. Tuesday, September 25, the election boards in all election districts in cities having 30,000 population, must hold their first meeting for the registration of voters. This will be the first registry day in Newark. The boards are required to sit from 1 to 9 p. m.

On this same day between 1 and 9 o'clock p. m. the primary election will be held in every election district in the State. An important change was made in the primary election law by the last Legislature, under which the basis of representation at the political conventions will this year be election districts instead of wards, or boroughs without wards. Under the new law each election district will be entitled to at least one delegate at each party convention. The representation above one delegate in each district will be based on the number of votes cast at the last election, as was formerly the case in the county representation. The other registration days will be as follows: In districts outside cities having 30,000 population, Tuesday, October 30. Within cities having 30,000 population, Tuesday, October 9; Tuesday, October 23.

LIQUOR DEALERS MAKE THE POLICE GET BUSY.

New Brunswick Saloonkeepers, Members of Association, Demand that Excise Law Be Enforced.

New Brunswick, July 25.—New Brunswick witnessed Sunday the paradox of the police enforcing with unusual stringency the new liquor law as a result of the demands of the liquor men themselves, enforced by the executive committee of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association. The co-operation of the association with the local police has been pledged, and the liquor men have made it clear to the authorities that in justice to law-abiding liquor dealers a strict conpliance with the law should be enforced.

At a conference of a committee from the Liquor Dealers' Association with the Mayor and the Police Committee of Common Council the charge was made that because of laxity on the part of the police a number of saloonkeepers, not members of the association, were not obeying the law, while all the members of the association were. It was intimated that if the police did not stop violations of the law the association would take the matter up.

The fariness of the liquor men's demands impressed Mayor Cooper, and strict orders were issued that the police should get busy. Saturday Police-Detective Dunn notified all saloonkeepers that the law must be obeyed to the letter, and Sunday every patrolman was under instructions to see that the saloons were kept closed.

GIRLS STRIKE WITH DOUBLE GRIEVANCE.

Denied Increase in Wages, They Declare One of Their Leaders Was Struck.

Eighty girls, ranging in age from fifteen to eighteen years, employed in the cigar factory of Isaac Lewis & Co., Morris avenue and Bank street, Newark, struck yesterday morning with a double grievance. They were refused an incease in wages, and one of their leaders, Miss Rebecca Dimond, they claim was assaulted by Hyman Lewis, foreman of the cheroot department, when she refused to leave the factory after Lewis found her talking with a group of her companions about the wage trouble.

Miss Dimond alleged that Lewis struck her in the face with a piece of cloth and also handled her roughly.

Lewis denied that he struck the girl.

In consequence of the trouble with Miss Dimond the girls, who had left the factory in a body, held a meeting at Columbia Hall, Prince and Court strets, and decided to remain out until they received more wages and Miss Dimond was reinstated.

GREAT PARADE OF VETERAN FIREMEN

CELEBRATION AT ELIZABETH OCT. 11 WILL BE ON A LARGE SCALE.

The Veteran Volunteer Firemen's parade, which is to be held in Elizabeth on October 11, promises to be the greatest thing of its kind that has ever been seen in the State. Over sixty companies have already accepted invitations, and if no more should come in there would be, with the bands, 4,500 men in the line of march, which would stretch from Broad street to First street, Elizabeth.

There are to be all the modern fire-fighting appliances, besides the old-fashioned hand pumps and other paraphernalia used years ago to fight fire. It is expected that there will be at least 60,000 visitors in town and perhaps more. Every company will have its following of admirers who will come with them from the neighboring States of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Delaware, New York and Connecticut.

When it is considered that the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association has arranged to entertain all the visiting companies, it may be seen that there is going to be a lot of expense attached to the movement. Members of the association have been soliciting subscriptions, and funds are coming in but slowly. The affair comes at a very unfavorable time, for the people of Elizabeth have not yet recovered from the effects of their contributions to the monument fund and the San Francisco disaster called for more giving.

But it must be considered that the association in charge of the matter contributed its services to the people of this city in times past and it would be the proper thing now, its friends point out, for the citizens to put their shoulders to the wheel and make the celebration a success.

Kittatinny Hose Company, No. 1, Newton; Centennial Fire Company, No. 1, Phillipsburg; Independent Engine Company, No. 2, Red Bank; Newark Exempt Firemen's Association, Plainfield; Union Hose Company, Red Bank; Relief Hose Company, No. 2, Raritan; Protection Hose and Ladder Company, No. 1, Perth Amboy; Englewood Fire Association Company, No. 1; Lincoln Engine Company, No. 1, Perth Amboy; Union Truck and Bucket Company No. 1, Rutherford; Hackettstown Fire Department; Dover Fire Department; Elizabeth Fire Department.

Eagle Hose and Chemical Company, No. 4, Perth Amboy; Maxfield Engine Company, No. 1, Boonton; Oceanic Fire Engine Company, No. 1, Long Branch; Somerville Engine Company, No. 1, Somerville; Hanley Hose Company, No. 1, Chester, Pa.; Washington Fire Company, No. 7, Wilmington, Del.; Washington Steamer Company, No. 1, Washington; Goodwill Fire Company, Belvidere; Washington Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 1, New Brunswick; Union Fire Company, No. 13, Reading, Pa.; General Warren Hose Company, No. 2, Haverstraw, N. Y.; Association of Exempt Firemen, Paterson; Valley Hose Company, No. 1, Belleville; Woodbridge Fire Company, No. 1, Woodbridge; Steam Engine Company, No. 1, Freehold.

Association of Exempt Firemen, New York; Essex Hose Company, No. 3, Belleville; Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, Jamica, L. I.; Mt. Vernon Fire Patrol Company, No. 1, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Firemen's Active Association, of Philadelphia; Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, of Jersey City; Rescue Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, Haverstraw, N. Y.; Pacific Engine Company, No. 1, Bridgeport, Conn.; Unexcelled Fire Company, West Grove; Volunteer Firemen's Association, of Philadelphia; Union Fire Engine Company, No. 2, Mt. Holly; Woodhill Hose Company, No. 1, Jamaica, L. I.; Veteran Volunteer Firemen, of Pittsfield, Mass.; Association of Exempt Firemen, Bayonne; Hope Engine Company, No. 1, Burlington.

Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, Montclair; Exempt Firemen's Association, Trenton; Engine Company, No. 1, Flemington; Washington Engine Company, No. 1, Metuchen; Exempt Firemen's Association, Chelsea, Mass.; Protection Engine Company, No. 1, Hackensack; Exempt Firemen's Association, Westfield; Columbia Engine Company, No. 1, Peekskill, N. Y.; Phoenix Engine Company, No. 3, New Brunswick; Volunteer Firemen's Association, Camden; Centennial Hose Company, Peekskill, N. Y.; Veteran Firemen's Association, Charlestown, Mass.; Liberty Hose Company, No. 2, Easton, Pa.

Assessor Stops the "Kicks."

South Orange, July 25.—Frank Fenner, village assessor, has hit upon a new idea with reference to the assessment of property. Persons who came to his office with a complaint that their property was assessed too high, and that they would sell it for less, were confronted today by the assessor with a big roll of money. "I'll buy your property at your figure," he said. In every case the property owner withdrew his objection. Mr. Fenner thinks he has solved the problem of equal taxation, and he says that if every assessor carried money with him the assessment could be made without any appeals.

CITY NATIONAL BANK

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

News for the week of February 6, 1868:

At a regular meeting of the Democratic Association of Plainfield, held on Saturday evening last, the following standing committees for the present year were nominated by the president and unanimously confirmed by the association: Executive: Nathan Harper, Stephen O. Horton, John Simpson, William R. Clarkson, W. E. Langley, Frazee Lee, Jr., John H. VanWinkle; Finance: Daniel J. Marshall, William E. Gardner, John M. Gilligan, Cadwalader Jones, S. Lester Horton.

Both houses of the Legislature were compelled to adjourn last Monday evening in consequence of the gas going out. We suggest the expediency of adjourning from Trenton to Plainfield, as our friends, Squires and Randolph, would treat assembled wisdom with more respect than to give darkness for light.

The oldest inhabitant cannot remember finer sleighing than we have been having the past week. Those fond of the sport and who could afford it, have been enabled to gorge themselves with the smooth running and moonlight luxury. Others who preferred a warm stove or lacked dollars, consoled themselves with Franklin's philosophy: "That to put your feet in a tub of ice water and ring a bell was equivalent to a sleigh ride." Our jovial neighbor, Rosell, we doubt not, holds to a country opinion. His fast teams did not exist in Franklin's time.

On Thursday of this week Collyer's Combination Minstrel Troupe will be at Laing's Hall. This is said to be one of the best troupes now travelling.

A. Warnock has moved his bakery to Front street, in the place formerly occupied by Jacob Laing.

John White, a fireman on the Central Railroad, was severely scalded at New Market, on Saturday morning last, by an accidental escape of steam caused by the tire of one of the driving wheels bursting and striking a steam cock. The engineer was also injured slightly.

It is proposed to lay a new street, commencing at the Northerly end of Second street, Plainfield, and to be a continuation of the same, to run along parallel with the railroad, to cross Terrill road about two hundred feet from the culvert, on the Westerly side, and terminating in the Darby road, near the residence of L. H. K. Smalley, Esq. This, if done, will open a beautiful avenue from Plainfield to Scotch Plains, and will offer many very valuable and desirable building sites. Let it be done.

At the closing exercises of the State Normal School, Trenton, on Thursday last, distinguished certificates were awarded to Hulda G. Bouton, Amelia Runyon, Mary L. Runyon and Lucia Vail, of Plainfield.

It is a circumstantial fact that people are no longer safe in their person or property, from violation at the hands of fellow-beings. Scarcely a day passes by but that we hear of crime in some, or many, of its numerous phases right in our midst. The sun had barely set in the evening of January 29th when an unsuspecting married lady, the mother of two beautiful children, was walking along one of the most public streets of New York and was seized by a gang of villians in human form, dragged into a by-place, and the most heinous crime on record committed by a dozen of them, and a few days ago Mr. Isaac Crane, of New Providence, while on his way from Scotch Plains, about six o'clock in the evening, was seized upon by a villian, "armed to the teeth," knocked off his wagon, shot at, robbed, and left lying on the ground in the middle of the road insensible. These are only specimens of daily occurrence around and about us. Oh, that an outraged law and humanity might be vindicated.

We are happy to learn that the protracted meetings at Scotch Plains which we reported in our last issue, are yet continued, and are increasing in numbers and in interest.

It is said that the enterprising company, at the head of which is John Taylor Johnston, Esq., who have undertaken to lay out and beautify Fanwood Park and other portions of the surrounding country, are making great preparations for an early and vigorous commencement and speedy completion of their work. This, when done, will be one of the greatest improvements that ever has been made in this part of the State. We learn that they intend setting out shade and ornamental trees, at short intervals, on either side of all their numerous walks and avenues, the coming Spring.—Then how are you Scotch Plains?

Snow and Railroads—The Unfortunate experience of last year has caused the New Jersey Railroad company to make full preparations for the contingencies of the season. Their snow plows have been stationed at convenient points on the road, ready for active service. This side of New Brunswick, a mile or more of board fence has been erected, at great expense, on the west side of the railroad, in order to prevent the drifting of snow on the track.

Robbery at New Providence—On Sunday night, February 2d, 1868, the residence of Mr. John A. McEachron, collector of the township of New Providence, was broken into and robbed of money belonging to that township, to the amount of $5,000. Mr. N. Bonnell, ex-Sheriff of this county, is one of his sureties. No clues to the robber has yet been discovered.

BOY HURT BY AUTO.

Thrown from One Machine in a Crash With Another.

Morristown, July 25.—Norman Hink, six years old, is lying in Memorial Hospital with a fractured thigh and internal injuries, and Isaiah Green, a negro, is charged with violating the auto laws and with assault and battery as the result of an automobile accident yesterday morning.

Green was driving his machine down Speedwell Hill, when it was caught between two wagons. The machine struck one driven by Spencer Hink, on which Hink's son was riding. The impact threw the lad to the ground.

Green stopped his machine, picked up the boy and hurried with him to Memorial Hospital. Hink, senior, was not injured. He made charges against the chauffeur, and Green was arrested and later released on bail. Green is employed by F. H. Lovell, of Madison.

Cart-tail Campaign in Hoboken.

Hoboken, July 25.—The cart-tail compaign by the supporters of the "new idea" started here last night by a meeting at Eleventh and Washington streets, at which prominent local speakers made addresses. William C. Daviett, president of the Second ward Republican Club, last night called a meeting to order in the rooms of the club, at 611 Washington street, at which about fifteen were present. Assemblymen Berg and Bierck each related his experience in Trenton, and told of the power of the corporations against an honest man. The efforts of Mayor Fagan to have the West Hudson water bill passed, and what befell them weer gone into at greath length, and E. R. Force, secretary of the club, took occasion to make an impassioned speech against bosses in political parties, at the same time describing efforts made to coerce members of the Republican county committee.

of the commissioners seemed to be that something be done about borough disposals beds and that it be done at once. New cess pools are constantly being dug in North Plainfield, and instances were cited where well water had become contaminated. It is expected that this committee of seven will get to work soon after their appointment and the long period of inaction will be concluded. The sub-committee is to report to the council, and the Mayor's committee is privileged to be present at the meeting when this report is made.

WIFE DESERTS HIM.

Leaves Farmer Husband and Takes Their Three Children.

Farm life had no charms for Mrs. Mary Apfel, the young wife of Chas. Apfel, of Clinton, two miles from Caldwell. The woman packed up yesterday the belongings of herself and three children when the husband was gathering corn and disappeared for parts unknown. Apfel was much surprised when he found his dinner was not ready at noon, but when he could not find his wife or children in the neighborhood he concluded something was radically wrong.

A search revealed the truth. The angry husband started at once for New York to intercept the woman. He believes she intends to start for Holland where she has relatives.

Hurls Dog On To a Roof.

Garwood, July 25.—Late Monday afternoon an express train from New York, speeding along at a mile a minute clip, struck a dog. The canine was lifted off the track and hurled a distance of forty feet in the air, landing on the roof of A. J. Beckley & Co.'s factory. The dog apparently was unhurt, as it picked itself up, leaped from the roof and ran away.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, July 5, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholder Gruener—1.

The minutes of the previous meeting (bills being omitted) were, on motion, approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From Loyd Thompson, Clerk of the Town of Westfield, N. J., as follows:

June 19, 1906.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—I inclose you herewith a certified copy of a resolution of the Council of the Town of Westfield, passed at a meeting held June 18, 1906, appointing Joseph Perry in the place and stead of Mulford M. Scudder, resigned, as a member of the Board of Freeholders of the County of Union.

Yours truly,
(Signed) Lloyd Thompson,
Town Clerk.

The resolution referred to was as follows:

"Resolved, That Joseph Perry, of Westfield, Union County, New Jersey, be and he is hereby appointed freeholder of the County of Union in place and stead of Mulford M. Scudder, resigned."

I, Lloyd Thompson, Clerk of the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, do hereby certify that the above is a true copy of a resolution passed by the Council of the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, at a meeting held the 18th day of June, 1906.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the said Town of Westfield, the 19th day of June, 1906.

(Signed) Lloyd Thompson,
[SEAL.] Town Clerk.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, the foregoing communication and resolution were received and placed on file.

The director stated that Mr. Perry had been duly sworn, and that his oath of office had been filed in the county clerk's office as required by law, he would therefore entertain a motion that Mr. Perry be permitted to take his seat as a member of the board.

On Freeholder Woodruff's motion, Mr. Perry thereupon took his seat.

From Louis Keller calling attention of the board to what he claimed was "the dangerous condition of Morris avenue where the trolley track has been laid through and near Springfield." After being read in full, it was ordered on motion of Freeholder Chandler that it be referred to the County Road Committee.

From County Attorney W. R. Codington, as follows:

Plainfield, N. J., June 29, 1906.

Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—The long pending claim of Charles Simpson against the respective Boards of Chosen Freeholders of Union and Morris counties has been adjusted on the basis of $100, one-half of which is to be paid by each county. I have a release in by possession signed by said Simpson and would recommend that warrant be drawn to Reed & Salmon, attorneys for Charles Simpson for $50 in full settlement of said claim.

(Signed) Respectfully yours, W. R. Codington.

County Attorney Codington briefly explained that Mr. Simpson had met with an accident on a line bridge near Chatham, N. J., between Morris and Union counties, and the above settlement was recommended to settle his claim for damages.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff, it was unanimously order on roll call that the matter be referred to the Committee on Legal Questions and the County Attorney with power.

From "Taxpayers Association" of Garwood Borough, N. J., by S. Cartorius, president, as follows:

Whereas, The wooden bridge crossing the creek on Centre street, in the Borough of Garwood, is in dire need of repair, equal to reconstruction, and, in its present condition, weak and a source of danger to all who are obliged to cross it; and

Whereas, The honorable County Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County have jurisdiction over bridges constructed across natural waterways, to which the matter should be referred for prompt and effective action; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Taxpayers' Association, in regular meeting assembled, do hereby request the said Board to replace this old and simple structure by one which will be durable and ornamental. And be it further

Resolved, That we send a copy of this preamble and resolution to the Hon. Emmor K. Adams, member of the Board representing the district, praying him to use his good offices to secure the same for our borough.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek, received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the Committe on Centre street bridge, Garwood, N. J.:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your Committee, appointed to investigate the advisability of rebuilding the old wooden bridge at Centre street, Garwood, would respectfully report that they have examined the same, together with Engineer Bauer, and would recommend that a new brick arch and steel beam bridge, with iron railings, be built, at a cost not to exceed $1,750. The Public Service Corporation of N. J. to pay their proportion, or about one-fifth of the total cost.

(Signed) E. K. Adams, Elston Darby, George B. Cladek, Committee.

Freeholder Darby moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered, on roll call, by an unanimous vote.

YOUR HAT
May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.
A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.
When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

This speech, delivered rapidly, dramatically, was not without its rousing effect. Winslow carefully transferred the letters to an inside pocket of his waistcoat, and said, cordially, "These are safe with me. And now one question—if it so chance that Col. Wilkinson is not in St. Louis, or from any cause, I find it impossible to deliver them in person, am I to intrust them to anybody else?"

"Under no circumstances, sir." Burr instantly replied, and looked with strange meaning straight into the eyes of his messenger.

Winslow returned the gaze for a moment in silence; then, with flattering assurances of esteem and gratitude, Col. Burr dismissed him, and the interview as over.

Alone, Winslow felt a strange sinking of the heart; it was as though the door were shut upon all his hopes, leaving the future a blank. Then swept over him a feeling, half pity, half affection, for the lonely women thrown thus upon his care. The girlish beauty of the one, and the restful, spiritual charm of the other pleaded bravely against present hopes. Besides, there came the soothing thought that whatever befell, whatever he missed, this was none of his choice; no alternative had been given him; in decency he could not have refused the trust.

"So, after all, I am to be a chevalier! A Don Quixote reincarnate in a nineteenth century domine! My shield, a windmill above a schoolhouse on a field argent!"

He strolled on deck, his spirits almost buoyant. In his philosophy regret had no place—nor, indeed, had enthusiasm. To whichever side the doubtful scale turned he bent purpose and energy. "After all," he thought, "the thing we do is seldom our affair—it is the doing that rests with us."

Before the departure of the boats next day, Aaron Burr lined his followers up on the bank and addressed them in his most eloquent fashion. He admitted that his policy had not been fully outlined to them, but he enjoined patience and hope. The uncertainty of affairs in the south, he declared, final arrangements impossible. Alluding to his arrest on Blennerhasset island, he said:

"Events have transpired which make caution doubly needful. Above all, I urge you to trust me—to have faith in the ultimate success of the expedition. Ours is a high emprise, worthy the souls that follow it. Forward, and may the fortune that favors the brave be ours."

Magnetized by the force of Burr's presence, and alive to the futility of objection at this late day, no opposition was raised, no demand made for more explicit information. Three cheers were given for their leader—less, however, from enthusiasm than in the effort to fan their waning ardor. For the scene was cold and bleak and dreary enough, and as Lavender laughingly said, "everybody whistled to keep up his courage."

When the flotilla reached Fort Massac there was no trouble from the militia stationed there. No message had been received of their expected arrival, no orders to detain them. On the contrary, Aaron Burr was greeted with marked attention, which was extended to all of his party. Before leaving the fort, he had an interview with the commander, from whom he won promises of hospitality for those left under his protection.

"I shall esteem it a personal favor, Col. Mitchell, if you will treat the ladies and their escort as your guests for a few weeks—or until such time as they see fit to continue the way."

Under the spell of the speaker's voice and eyes, the commander did not inquire—even of himself—the reasons for complying, nor the possible advantage there might be in conferring the "personal favor." He promised, and the two men took snuff together, the one amiable, condescending—the other admiring, reverent.

Late in the day the boats, with Burr and the Blennerhassets in the lead, proceeded down the river, leaving a forlorn little group to wave farewells from the wharf.

Winslow stood apart; his own disappointment was swallowed up in sympathy for the helpless loneliness of the women at his side. He looked at Lavender as she stood—one arm about her mother's waist, the white face peering from its scarlet hood, and his heart was curiously lightened. After all, he could join the expedition later, and—and, he was not alone.

Soon the boats were lost to view—not a ribbon of foam on the fickle water marked their course—the river was shrouded in a mist that seemed to rise from the under-world.

They turned to seek shelter within doors, when suddenly Lavender asked: "Who is that sitting over there?" and she pointed to where, on a fallen tree, by the river's brink, sat a woman—her back toward them. Angular shoulders enveloped in a blanket shawl and a head swathed in a red bandana kerchief, like a bloody bandage, were outlined against the gray walls of the fort.

The head turned at Lavender's exclamation, and white eyeballs, and frame, as the woman rose and approached slowly. "Good ebenin' t' y'all," America said calmly, and in reply to their startled questioning she explained:

"Yo see, it wuz dis a-way. Missy 'lowed she warn't gwine ter had y'll a-toilin' and a-moilin' 'thout no woman ter he'p."

"Yes, but why did you surprise us? Why slip away so mysteriously?"

"La, chile, massa wouldn't a' giben me up, so at de las' minute missy done sen' me. She say she'll fin' plenty niggahs whar she's gwine."

"How could you slip off without being seen?"

America gave an unctuous chuckle. "'Fore God, I done kunj'd dat no-count niggah on de gang plank. 'Fo' he h'ist it, I up 'n shuk a rabbit foot in he face, and kin' o' mum'led some hoodoo talk. He teef rattle like bones, and I run by 'thouten a word. Dat's me—g'long!"

And thus, a second time, America had her way.

CHAPTER V.

A few weeks passed in monotony at the fort—a monotony wherein was much time for futile planning and idle speculation.

The novelty of the situation and the natural effervescence of her spirits made Lavender gay and light-hearted, in spite of the anxious waiting. But to her mother it was irksome; a period of unrest, and carking care. Her health, too, showed signs of decline, and she felt already the unwholesome breath of the swamp land.

For Winslow, the days dragged in a way that required all his philosophy to bear. Ordinarily, quiet, even dullness, appealed to his student nature. But for this Burr expedition he had nerved himself to a point of unwonted energy; had summoned all his forces against the time for telling work—for endurance. And all for what? For a time of idle waiting—of inaction by the chimney corner of a stranger! He was thrown little in Lavender's society; the officers of the garrison showed her much attention, and in their favor he obscured himself. His attitude was that of the guide, the elder brother, and bore no trace of the warmer admiration openly avowed by the others. The maid herself had no part in this arrangement, and if in her heart she wished it otherwise, she acknowledged the weakness to none.

Early in February there came unpleasant news to the fort. The Burr expedition was not a success—something had happened, but definite facts could not be ascertained.

Winslow was in a fever of anxiety and suspense. Ugly rumors were circulated; there was talk of treachery to the government. "Traitor" and "conspiracy" reached his ears from time to time. To Winslow's inquiries the commander responded that he had received no positive information, but believed the boats, with their men, and even the chief himself, had been detained in the south. "Probably but a temporary check," he concluded, suavely. For Winslow's connection with the affair was well known, and the colonel's words were meant to spare his feelings. But Winslow left his presence with a sting of anxiety all the sharper that his fears were half formed. He could only console himself with the reflection that, whatever had occurred was doubtless such an ordeal as had confronted Burr at Nashville, and his own party on Blennerhasset island. In either case, he could not press his inquiries upon the people about him—they had no sympathies in common with the expedition. On the contrary, if aught, however imaginary, threatened the government, theirs was the first duty to protest; they could not be expected to countenance anything which gave the slightest room for suspicion. And he, and the ladies with him, were guests—bound to respect feeling or prejudice on the part of those whose hospitality they shared.

Matters developed, and were brought to a crisis on the occasion of a ball in the commander's quarters.

A raw, blustering day had settled into a foggy, starless night, when the little company assembled for the frolic. The low-celled dining-room was thrown open and decorated with holly and mistletoe. About every pillar and from the rough rafter hung festoons of evergreen jeweled with berries, red and white.

"TAINTED MONEY" TALK LED TO PASTOR QUITTING.

Dancing at Oyster Supper Caused Split Over Acceptance By Church of Proceeds.

Califon, July 25.—"That 'tainted money' report and a disagreement in which the pastor, congregation and a few of the trustees participated has practically depleted the congregation of the Pleasant Grove Presbyterian church, and it will be some time before the breach is closed," said a trustee of the congregation to a reporter.

All of this had its origin in an oyster supper held at the home of Mrs. Susan A. Apgar, near Anthony, last winter. For several years, it is said, Mrs. Apgar, who is a member of the congregation and a church worker, held annual oyster suppers at her home, from which the church treasury was enriched from $100 to $150.

She was also considered a good adjunct to the church and raised considerable money by popular subscription. At the late events the oyster supper and games did not prove a drawing card, so dancing was allowed. A violinist from the neighborhood, accompanied by a mouth-organ, furnished music for the dancers, while a farmhand who was versed in rudimentary dancing volunteered his services as "caller-off."

Following the last event, dancing coupled with religion became the talk of the neighborhood, and when Mrs. Apgar tendered the proceeds of the event to the trustees of the church a heated discussion, it is said, resulted between the pastor, Rev. J. W. Lowden, and the members of the board as to receiving the amount. The board was about evenly divided on the reception and rejection of the money. It was finally rejected. Friction between the pastor and a member of the board resulted, and finally Mr. Lowden resigned. The congregation is now hearing candidates for the vacancy.

Several members of the congregation object to the recent report, which they say emanated from the former pastor, to the effect that the improved financial condition and prosperity of the church under him during his five years' pastorate surpassed all former pastors since the pastorate of the late Rev. Dr. Magee, many years ago. They claim that honor belongs to Mrs. Marshall Shergeant, through whose efforts the choir was furnished, and the other church improvements, etc., to Mrs. Susan Apgar, while the beautiful stained glass windows were donated by old members.

The "tainted money" was accepted by the trustees of the Pleasant Grove Union Cemetery and will be used for cemetery improvements.

Needed to Be Reminded.

A celebrated belle whose attractions invited such marked attentions from scores of men that the prefix of "Mrs." seemed a dead letter, was "receiving" with another fashionable woman. While chatting she inadvertently drew out her handkerchief, and observing a knot in the corner of it, stopped, hesitated, and said: "I've a knot in the corner of my handkerchief. I must have put it there to remind me of something." Said the hostess: "Probably to remind you that you are married."

The Newark News nine has been shaped up for the championship game against the local newspaper combination tomorrow. State Editor Dunphy is manager of the team, and has begun to demand "three-column hits" from every one of his vets. The following batting order was sent in from the News office last night: "Freshie" Fiarity, ss; "Horrible" Hughes, lf; "Nagger" Norton, 1b; "Grinning" Gunn, 2b; "Hefty" Higgins, c; "Floydie" Firstbrook, 3b; "Allie" Allen, rf; "Mugsy" McGee, cf; "Rioting" Reeves, p; "Duty" cf; "Rioting" Reeves, p. All the players are writers. The composing room clamored for representation on the nine, but the editorial offices insisted on hogging all the lemons the home team thinks it is going to hand out.

MUFF MAD BASEBALL TEAM TO MEET THE BLUECOATS.

"Bill" Counihan's Aggregation Believes It Can Put the Kibosh on the Coppers.

While still in the first flush of victory over their defeat of the newspapermen's baseball team, the police aggregation yesterday received a challenge from Manager "Bill" Counihan, owner and manager of the "Muff Mad Baseball Club." It is composed mostly of employees at the New Plainfield theatre, all of whom feel that they can make the Bluecoats look like thirty cents half spent when it comes to playing the national game. The defi was accepted and the two aggregations will line up on Crescent Oval this afternoon. The curtain rises at 3:30, Jerome Leary will be stage manager and umpire and the Muff Mads cast of characters is as follows:

Marcus Hoyt, 2b; Charles Woolston, 1b; Bill Counihan, p; Sam Cunningham, c; Jack Rafferty, 3b; Jack Dunn, ss; George Voehl, lf; Jim Cochran, cf; Mike Shannon, rf.

Whether they win or lose, the Muff Mads will pit themselves against the newspapermen's team next week.

—Louis A. Clement, lawyer, has moved his office from 211 North avenue to the Babcock building.

—John P. Hall, of Timbo's restaurant, is confined to his home on East Front street, by an illness bordering on pneumonia.

SEEK THIRD TERM FOR ASSEMBLYMAN BARBER.

Mercer G. O. P. Leaders, Ignoring Precedent, Desire Him for Speaker or Leader.

Trenton, July 25.—The Republican leaders of Mercer county have agreed to work for the renomination of Assemblyman Alfred N. Barber for a third term. This is contrary to a party precedent of many years standing in the county, it having been the custom to give each Assemblyman two terms and no more.

The determination to do otherwise has probably a political significance. Last year Mr. Barber was for a time quite frequently mentioned in connection with both the Speakership and majority leadership of the House. On the floor Mr. Barber demonstrated that he was well versed in parliamentary rules, and in the spirited tilts between regulars and reformers which were characteristic of the session he so frequently came to the assistance of Leader Robbins that he became known as "lieutenant leader."

In the event of his being turned to the Legislature, it is more than probable that Mr. Marber will be put forth as an organization candidate for either the speakership or leadership. In fact, it can be said positively that this is the intention, unless the result of the election shall necessitate a change of plans. Mr. Barber himself would probably prefer to be an aspirant for the Speakership, but it may be decided that this sphere of usefulness would be greater on the floor, and then, too, there is a possibility that the organization will not be selecting Speaker next year.

PRAYED FOR MEN DELIVERING ICE CREAM.

East Orange Pastor Gave Congregation a Surprise Sunday Morning.

The congregation of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian church of East Orange at the service Sunday morning listened to a somewhat unusual prayer from their pastor, Rev. John M. Thomas. The clergyman was attracted by the sight through the open church windows of caterers' wagons delivering cooling refreshments for Sunday dinners. The prayer included a petition not to be found in Dr. Van Dyke's new prayer-book, and was as follows:

"O God, the Father of all men, we pray for those who are compelled to labor on this day of rest and refreshment; for men on trains and those serving on street railways; for servants in hotels and small boys on golf courses; especially are we minded at the present to pray for the poor fellows now engaged in delivering ices and ice cream to our homes, for our enjoyment of the Sabbath. Incline their hearts to believe in the mercy of God, even though they cannot believe in the mercy of their fellowmen, and minister to them, together with a Christian scorn of hypocrites, an equally Christian patience and a belief in the eventual justice of Almighty God."

In the church vestibule after service several members of the congregation were heard to say that they were afraid they would not enjoy their pineapple ice and peach cream so much as they had expected.

Kelsey Out for Record.

Orange, July 25.—Frederick W. Kelsey, of Orange, prominent as a leader in the reform movement in New Jersey, yesterday afternoon announced his indorsement of the canvass of George L. Record, of Jersey City, for the United States Senate, to succeed John F. Dryden. Mr. Kelsey said he considered Mr. Record the logical candidate of the movement for the reason that he had been steadfast in efforts to secure reform in the municipal and State conditions since the inception of the "new idea."

Same Old Story.

Mrs. W. B. Noble, of Scotch Plains, lost a package on the street while out shopping, and being up to the times knew that there was only one sure way of recovering it. Straightway she came to The Daily Press office and had an advertisement inserted. Miss Ella Serrell, of Plainfield avenue, found the package on the street and naturally looked at the "lost and found" column of The Daily Press. Mrs. Noble has her package back.

Clear Day Tomorrow.

Looks like a beautiful day for the Methodist excursion tomorrow, doesn't it? Five churches are going, the First Methodist Church, Grace M. E. church, the Monroe Avenue church and the Dunellen M. E. church. There will be special accommodation for lunch baskets and baby carriages in the baggage car. Train leaves Ocean Grove for the return at 7:10.

MERRY-GO-ROUND DANGER.

S. P. C. C. Says Children's Health Is Injured by the Whirling.

Elizabeth, July 25.—Moved by the serious illness of a child, an effort will be made by the S. P. C. C. and Dr. John Youngiove to induce Prosecutor English to take steps designed to prohibit the operation of portable merry-go- rounds in this city. It is agreed that if the question of toleration or prohibition were submitted to the juvenile population, which has been delighting in one-cent rides on the merry-go-rounds, toleration would win by an overwhelming majority. But physicians and others who have watched the operations of the little merry-go-rounds on wagons, which are moved from block to block as rapidly as the supply of cents is exhausted in one place, say the machines are dangerous. It is contended the riders travel in such a small circle that a surfeit of blood is thrown to the brain and illness results.

One of the victims is Roy Upson, who lives in No. 414 Magnolia avenue. Monday he rode two or three times on one of the machines and soon afterward sank into a condition of coma. Dr. Youngiove was summoned. He previously had treated children for headache and illness resulting from such recreation. When he discovered the serious condition of the Upson boy he decided the time had arrived for action. Going to Mrs. Williamson, head of the S. . C. C., he lodged a complaint and it was agreed the prosecutor should be requested to take action.

STRIKE ON STATE HOUSE.

Contractors Claim Masons Have Violated Their Own Rules.

Trenton, July 25.—The arbitration board of the stonemasons' and stonecutters' unions met Monday evening and decided that the stone masons who went on strike last week should return to work at the State house. The stonemasons struck last week because of a difference of opinion as to whether the stonemasons should cut the stone used for the foundation walls or whether it should be done at the quarries at Stockton. The arbitration board ruled that the stone should be cut at the quarries, but that in the wuture the stonemasons should do the work. Upon this decision the men returned to work, but Saturday noon they struck for the second time, claiming the union ordered them to do so.

Contractors Lewis Lawton & Son, who are erecting the wing, claim that the masons' union has violated its own regulations in two particulars in its decision to continue the strike. It is claimed that the rules of the union require it to abide by the decisions of its arbitration board for one year from the date the rule was made; also that in case of strike trouble there shall be no suspension of work pending the consideration of the matter by the arbitration board.

LOST HER LIFE BY ERROR.

Mrs. Laura Vanderveer, of Highland Park, Drank Poison.

New Brunswick, July 25.—Mrs. Laura Vanderveer, thirty years old, of Raritan avenue, Highland Park, died early yesterday morning from the effects of a does of carbolic acid taken by mistake for a tonic she used for sleeplessness.

Mrs. Vanderveer lived with the family of her brother, George Venable. She had been in poor health for some time and under a doctor's care. Early yesterday morning she arose, and in groping about on the shelf of the closet for the tonic got hold of the bottle containing carbolic acid, a very powerful solution of the posion.

It is supposed she took a large swallow from the bottle. It was found uncorked on the floor of her room. Her screams brought the other members of the family, and Dr. Guttman was hastily summoned. She die dwhile he was administering antidotes and using the stomach pump.

Can't Race in Jersey.

Trenton, July 25.—J. B. R. Smith, State commissioner of motor vehicles, having just learned of a challenge recently issued by Miss Annie Johnstone, a Newark young woman, to any other woman autoist in the State for a silver cup and $50, from Lake Hopatcong to Long Branch, yesterday wrote a letter to the young woman's father, who agreed to provide the cup and purse, stating emphatically that he would revoke the young women's license if the contemplated race were run. Mr. Smith, in his letter, says in part: "Of course you must be aware that the race suggested is entirely beyond both the spirit and the letter of our motor vehicle law. I trust that if such a race has been contemplated it was done in ignorance of the law and will be abandoned."

Postponement May Cost $8,000.

Atlantic City, July 25.—In an indefinite postponement Monday of the case against Robert E. Delaney, hotel proprietor and politician, because he failed to produce in court Robert Barber and Albert Allen, alleged crooks, for whom he became bondsman and with whom he was jointly indicted for having conspired to fleece Chas. Leichman out of $4,200, the political boss stands a good show of escaping trial, through the statute of limitations. The postponement of the case may, however, cost Delaney $8,000, as Supreme Court Justice Trenchard has ordered the institution of a suit to collect that amount of bail forfeited bby Delaney.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary C. Nash, of Prospect avenue, is summering at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Wilder Rowley, of Linden avenue, is confined to her home with inflammatory rheumatism.

Rev. C. O. Moffett, of Middleburg, N. Y., is visiting his father, Charles L. Moffett, and other relatives in this city.

Former Mayor and Mrs. L. V. E. Randolph, who are spending the summer abroad, are now at Oxford, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Homan, of 35 Somerset street, are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter. She joined the family circle Sunday.

Mrs. D. S. Alpaugh and daughters, of East Sixth street, will spend the next two or three weesk at Mt. Pocono, Pa., where they will be registered at the Montanesca Hotel. Mr. Alpaugh will spend Saturdays and Sundays at the same place.

—Miss Lizzie Stafford, of Grove street, who has been stenographer and typewriter at the office of A. M. Runyon & Son, has resigned her position to accept one at Providence, R. I. She will leave on her vacation August 1 and will assume her new duties two weeks later.

LITERARY.

"A Gas Tale of Two Cities," by Sherman Morse in the American Magazine for August, is an illuminating account of the gas situation in New York and Indianapolis. It shows in a curiously interesting manner how far apart two cities can be. Another important contribution to this number is a collection of opinions on "The Single Woman's Problem." Those who give their ideas are Dorothy Canfield, Mrs. L. H. Harris, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, and Mary Scheck Woolman, William McMahon writes his second "Confession of a Life Insurance Solicitor." Julian A. Dimock contributes a remarkable series of photographs illustrating canoeing in the North. Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams continue their exciting serial, "The Mystery." L. Frank Tooker writes a story of the sea, "The Derelicts." Harrison Jewell Holt writes of "Stoveheter and the Birds of Paradise." Harriet Gaylord tells a most entertaining story of a minister who, through plagiarism, secured good sermons. "Ivanhoe and the German Measles" is a charming child story by Dorothy Canfield. Henry Milner Rideout writes of a young English engineer, who, under a misreprehension of what he was getting into, contracted to go into a fever stricken part of India to report of India to report on some property. Mr. Rideout relates, with singular skill, the strange experiences the engineer had. J. George Frederick tells a story entitled "The Tie That Binds." Verse and a short sketch by Arnold M. Anderson make up the number.

DRUGGISTS FOR BLUE LAWS.

South Orange, July 25.—Sunday closing will be observed in South Orange by all the local druggists, who will hereafter sell only drugs and other articles which are absolutely needed in case of sickness. Soda water, cigars, confectionery and other such stuff will not be sold during the entire day, and only two hours in the morning, from 8 until 10 o'clock, and two hours in the evening, from 5 until 7 o'clock, will be given for the public to purchase such articles as are needed in case of sickness.

The Bishops' law, together with the requests of the United Liquor Dealers' Association has brought this about. The druggists seem to be in favor of equal rights for all, holding that if certain men are deprived of beer on the Sabbath others should likewise go without soda water. It is said that many other pharmacists of the Oranges will join the movement.

Will Demolish All Government.

Asbury Park, July 25.—At the watch tower Bible students' convention in this place Monday, John Edgar, of Glasgow, Scotland, said: "In September of the year 1911 the people will rise up against the government. In the year 1913 the people will see they have made a grave mistake, and between 1913 and 1914 they will leave the government alone. At the end of 1914 the State, church and people will be at war with one another. In 1915 the greatest thing will come to pass. The people will rise up against the authorities and the government, and this time they will demolish all forms of government."

Observe Her Birthday.

Flanders, July 25.—The birthday anniversary of Miss Eliza Platt Stoddard, or "Linnet," daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Elijah W. Stoddard, of the manse of the Presbyterian church in Succasunna, was again observed this year for the twentieth time since her death in 1886. The birthday gathering has become one of the most prominent of the social functions of the church, and despite the stormy weather on Saturday afternoon about 200 guests were present. Services were held in the Presbyterian church, Succasunna.

In accordance with an annual custom, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at Trinity Reformed church Sunday evening, just previous to Dr. Schenck's departure on his summer vacation.

PULLIAM WARNS PLAYERS.

Must Not Play Ball for Independent Clubs on Sunday.

New York, July 25.—Harry Pulliam, president of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, Monday made public an official bulletin to all club presidents, in which he calls attention to reports that certain National League players whom he does not name, are participating in Sunday games with independent clubs. He says:

"This is a violation of the rules laid down by the National Commission, and connot be permitted. If it comes to my knowledge that a player under contract to the National League violates this rule I will fine him $50 for each offense. Should the player participate in such games with the consent of the club owner, an additional penalty will be imposed by a suspension of five days."

President Pulliam announces that he has approved of the following contracts: J. B. Seymour and W. P. Shannon with New York, and S. B. Mertes with St. Louis.

The following releases are approved: By St. Louis, Chas. Adams (unconditionally), and Homer Smoot, to Cincinnati.

MASTER BUILDERS MEET

Thirteenth Quarterly Convention of the State Association Held in This City Yesterday.

100 DELEGATES PRESENT

Strike Troubles in Two Counties Among the Questions Discussed—Dinner in Conclusion.

With 100 delegates in attendance, representing eight counties in the State, the Master Builders' Association of New Jersey held its thirteenth quarterly convention at the Casino, this city, yesterday afternoon. From a business standpoint, it was an important session while the entertainment features provided by the local committee was in every way satisfactory. The meeting ended at 6 o'clock and after an hour's intermission, the delegates reassembled for dinner, the excellent menu and addresses occupying their attention for three hours.

President Hugh D. King, of Bloomfield, was in the chair when the convention was called to order at 2 o'clock for roll call by Secretary Alex. E. Pearson, of Orange. On the platform were the eight vice presidents, as follows: Henry W. Egner, Newark; L. B. Woolston, Plainfield; Emil Koyen, Perth Amboy; John M. Lathrop, Jersey City; George A. Mills, Morristown; R. H. Hughes, Long Branch; A. Dickinson, Paterson, and Andrew D. Bogert, Englewood.

Each of these officials rendered a report, showing the building and trades conditions in the various counties which they represented. In nearly every instance, they were declared to be satisfactory, excepting Hudson and Middlesex. In the former there is strike troubles at Jersey City and Hoboken and in the latter at Perth Amboy.

During the general discussion which followed the reports, there were charges made by the Perth Amboy delegates that members of the association in Elizabeth were hiring their strikers, thus making it harder for the masters to win in the struggle. The same charge was preferred by Jersey City against Newark and the matter was aired in breezy terms, several of the speakers at times getting a trifle personal. No formal action followed the discussion but a much better understanding of the condition of affairs existed.

It was reported by one of the delegates that masters in Jersey City had been greatly bothered by union workmen, who were out on strike, harassing the non-union men who had taken their places. He asked if something could not be done in the matter and it was decided to apply to the courts for an injunction to restrain labor unions from any interference.

A proposition to have an assembly bill passed requiring master builders to have a license, entitling them to perform certain classes of finer work, was discussed, and on motion of a delegate from Elizabeth, it was voted to recommend a member of the association for appointment to the State Tenement House Commission, a vacancy existing. Before adjourning, Elizabeth was designated as the next place of meeting.

The dinner was served in the Casino auditorium and was personally supervised by Manager Maze Edwards. While the delegates were at the tables, Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished a musical programme and the Minion Brothers, of Newark, rendered vocal numbers with mandolin and guitar accompanicemtn. A number of speeches were given, the speakers being designated by President King.

Among the Plainfielders who were invited guests and who spoke briefly were Mayor James F. Buckle, Fire Chief T. O. Doane, Health Inspector William Addis, Architect C. Powell Karr and Architect A. L. C. Marsh.

The committee of Plainfield members that arranged for the convention consisted of L. B. Woolston, chairman; J. H. Cose, William H. Pope and Philip Jahn.

At Round Valley.

Among the Plainfielders registered at "Felmly Farm," Round Valley, are Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Budlong and daughter, Miss Lucie Budlong, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Randolph and son, Alan, Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Runyon and son, Kenneth Runyon, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. D. HETFIELD AND KIRKLAND NOT NAMED BY STOKES.

Hitch Over Their Appointment on Union County Election Board.

Walter L. Hetfield, 2d., of this city, and Robert Kirkland, of Elizabeth, the Republican county committee's choice for Republican membership on the Union County Board of Elections were not appointed by Governor Stokes yesterday as expected. The Governor filled all the vacancies excepting those in Union and Somerset counties, explaining that the selections in those two counties had not been recommended by the regular committees to the State committee.

It was stated by County Chairman Frank H. Smith this morning that the Governor was mistaken for both Hetfield and Kirkland had been recommended by the Union county committee.

MUSIC AND FIREWORKS TOMORROW NIGHT'S BILL.

Director LaVere Declares Program Will Be the Best of Recent Seasons.

The usual band concert to be given in Concert park by Ben LaVere's harmonists tomorrow night will be interspersed with fireworks, the first time this year a double program has been planned. The "always working" Ben has arranged with a New York company to look after the pyrotechnics and he declares the display will equal, if not surpass, any that has been presented the local public in recent years. There will be all sorts of set pieces, sky scrapers, whirligigs and what-nots between the instrumental numbers so that it will be a continuous performance in every sense of the word. If hard luck comes in the form of rain, the exhibition will take place the next clear night.

For the musical end of the evening another good program has been arranged. It will include three vocalists, Nick Parker, who will sing Vesta Tilley's famous song, "Waiting at the Church," Jack Elliott and Eddie Weston. One of Weston's numbers will be "Bill Simmons," the song with which Maude Raymond gets five and six encores nightly in "The Social Whirl" at the New York Casino. The program in detail follows:

"Star Spangled Banner;" march, "The Grand Old Flag," Cohan; overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balf; intermezzo, "Moon Dear," Klein; vocal solo (a) "Waiting at the Church," Pether, (b) "Coming Through the Rye, Jennie Mine," Nick Parker; Mills' Melodies No. 7, Mills; vocal solo, (a) "While the Old Mill Wheel Is Turning," Mills, (a) "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," Shields, Jack Elliott; march, "Characteristic," Noisy Bill; medley overture, "The Monarch," Witmark; vocal solo, (a) "Bill Simmons," (from Social Whirl) Spink, (b) "Will You Love Me in December As You Do In May?" Ball, Eddie Weston; march, "The Courier," Jones.

The program is to commence promptly at 8 o'clock and because of the expense incurred in providing fireworks, the admission fee to the grandstand will be increased to twenty-five cents.

LOOPED IN FAST TIME.

Woodhull & Martin Company Employes Enjoy Fast Trolley Outing.

In record-breaking time, the employes of the Woodhull & Martin Company took their outing around the trolley loop last night. They made the trip thirty-five strong, in a special car.

The start was made from Watchung avenue at 6:45 and the circuit was completed in four and one-half hours. This is said to be the fastest time ever made on the trip.

Roy Woodhull arranged the trip. He led the singing on the way.

For the Netherwood Home.

A special service for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held at the First Baptist church Sunday evening, and will be in charge of the members of the committee from the camp. There will be addresses by Rev. Dr. Woods, who is acting as supply for Dr. Chambliss while he is away on his vacation; Dean Erskine M. Rodman, rector-eneritus of Grace church; George Taylor, superintendent of the Green Avenue Sunday-school, of Brooklyn, and Miss Sara Curry. A delegation of twenty-five children from the Netherwood Home will be at the church, where they will render a program of song and recitation. Singing will be a feature of the service, and the proceeds of the collection will be devoted to the work at the camp.

Joseph Harrigan, of East Fourth street, has returned home after a week's visit with friends at Saratoga and Coxsackie, N. Y.

The Misses Lillian and Esther Kennedy, of Hackettstown, are visiting at the home of their uncle, J. S. Johnson, of Summit avenue.

CONCERNING MAYORALTY MR. FISK SAYS NOTHING

CHOICE OF ORGANIZATION EVADES QUESTION AS TO CANDIDACY.

When Health Board President Charles J. Fisk was asked by a reporter for the Daily Press yesterday whether he intends to allow his name to be used at the primaries as a candidate for mayor, he turned the conversation on the subject of yachting. "If you want to know where I stand," he said humorously, "just keep your eye on the schooner-yacht 'Julia.'"

Pressed to give a definite reply to the interrogation whether he looked favorably upon the boom sprung by his friends, the former mayor remarked: "Like Frank Smith, I have nothing to say; I refuse to be quoted." He declared that he had been aboard hasyacht for the last few weeks and during that time had not seen a Plainfield paper. "I didn't know until today that Mayor Buckle had suggested my name. When told that every man in the regular organization had directly or indirectly come out in his favor, Mr. Fisk smiled and said, "In the newspapers?"

Mr. Fisk remarked that he had heard of a boom for E. T. Barrows and that in his opinion the former councilman would be an ideal man for the place. "It's up to the new advisory committee," he concluded, "to pick the man for mayor."

FIGHT FOR CLOSED DRAWS SAID TO BE SUCCESSFUL.

Unofficial Advices Declare War Department Has Granted Railroad's Petition.

While official advices are not immediately obtainable, it is said that despite the strenuous opposition of the Newark Board of Trade and other New Jersey commercial bodies, backed by the owners of vessels and the interests lying along Newark Bay, the Passaic and Hackensack Rivers, the railroads have won their fight to keep the draws on their bridges spanning those streams closed during the "rush" hours morning and evening when the tide commuters' travel respectively to and from New York is at its height.

Commuters from Elizabeth and Plainfield petitioned the War Department to allow the Central Railroad to keep the bridge from Elizabethport to Bayonne closed in rush hours, but the Newark Board of Trade was against the scheme from the start, and at hearings before the board of engineers of the United States army, having the matter in charge, presented statistics showing the vast amount of commerce.

SWITCHMAN'S PROMPT ACTION SAVES L. V. EXPRESS.

Aged Railroad Employe Flags Train Just In Time—Big Purse Made Up By Passengers.

But for the prompt action of an old railroad employe at the West Dunellen crossing on the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks, a couple of derailed coal cars would have caused a most disastrous wreck when the morning east-bound express came through on Saturday. The old man, who is nearly seventy years of ago, saw that the express track was blocked just in the nick of time, and seizing a red signal flag, ran at top speed toward the express, flagging it to a stand still not six rails' length from the derailed coal cars.

A heavy west-bound coal train broke in two near the West Dunellen crossing in the morning, and two of the cars were derailed and their contents spilled on the east-bound tracks. The switchman, apprehending the danger and seeing the express approaching, flagged the train to a stand about 200 feet from the wrecked car. The passengers, jarred and shaken by the sudden stop of the expresss, quickly poured out of the train. Seeing the old man standing there with the red flag in his hand and realizing what their danger had been upon looking down the track, somebody took the old switchman's hat and passed it around among the passengers. When the hat was returned, it was piled high with bills and silver. Among the passengers on the train was the assistant superintendent and the general traffic manager. One of the train hands was heard to remark that he would like to be in the old man's shoes when the end of the month came. The collection amounted to nearly $100.

Small Boys Steal Milk.

Complaints of small boys who have been stealing milk at the freight depot, Richmond street, has been filed at police headquarters by the Central Railroad. Two of the gang that has been stealing the bottles for weeks past were captured yesterday, and Chief Kiely's men will watch the depot until all of them are captured or the raids cease.

RIALTO PETS WALLOPED

Cops Trimmed Counihan's Cast-Offs Without Giving Them Chloroform.

BILL'S CURVES BANGED

Managerial Twirler Chased from the Box By Bluecoat Binglesmiths—Theatrical Favorites Who Didn't Do Things.

Cheered by their victory over the cocky Newspaper Men the day before, Cap. Payne's bluecoat combination clung to their winning gait yesterday and trampled all over Manager Bill Counihan's theatrical troupe. What the cops did to those suffering habitues of the Rialto was plenty and a lot more. The scorer says the record was 19 to 8, but there is persistent rumor that he lopped a nought from the rear of the cops' figures.

Bill's stock as an organizer of ball teams slumped fearfully as a result of the game. He came back from Atlantic City Monday with a bundle of hot tales touching on and appertaining to the tremendous things he and Treasurer Sam Cunningham did in the ball yard by the sea. He hurled challenges right and left, and a few in the air, and issued a signed statement in which he declared his undoubted ability to get nine theatre attaches, de jure or de facto, together who could trim anything that sprang from police headquarters, the newspaper offices or Harry De Meza's Dry Goods League. In the limelight that beats on the ball works Bill was shown up as a combination of exploded rumor and unconfirmed report.

Bill didn't know he was a busted bubble until the cops got at him. He insisted on going into the box, and despite warnings from Chief Johnny Hoyt, who wanted to loose some kinks himself, he went blindly to his fate. His pipe blew out in the first inning. The cops cruelly banged his shoots all around, and the men behind him kicked and threw the leather thing where it never was kicked or thrown before. Jim Cochran danced between short and centerfield, Harry De Meza waved his arms wildly in the vica versa run, Props Rafferty did an eccentric buck-and-wing at third. Johnny Hoyt posed a few at second and Adonis Woolston made huge and fearsome tracks at first. Jack Dunn made a pretty moveless picture in right field. In the sixth, Bill ducked from before the deadly hail of hits, and George Elljott, a junior hit-killer used for ballast, took up the burden. George suffered only three runs worth. Sam Cunningham abandoned the chief porthole in favor of "Iky" Elliott, who catches "Bill" Jaeger back of fire headquarters.

Nobody knows how the runs were scored. Jack McIntyre, the scorer, tried to follow the men around, but his eyes became crossed from shooting all over the diamond at once, and he lost track. He won't be able to see straight in one direction for a week.

The batting order:

Funeral of Mrs. Jane Smith.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Smith, widow of William D. Smith, was held Tuesday night at th home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Ball, of Sycamore avenue. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. Schenck and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends from this city, Somerville, North Branch and other places. Two hymns were sung, "Lead Kindly Light" and "The Homeland." Interment was made yesterday at Somerville.

Camp Plainfield at Lake Hopatcong.

Among the many camps scattered about the shores of Lake Hopatcong is one known as "Camp Plainfield," conducted by Plainfielders. In the party are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Shirley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shirley and family, Miss Cavanagh, Robert Reed and William Kenyon. Next week they will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, Mrs. William Winn and Miss Winn.

Mrs. Catherine Gill.

Mrs. Catherine Gill, widow of Michael Gill, died at her home on St. Mary's avenue, this morning. She was in her seventy-fourth year and leaves several children, among them Michael and John Gill. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mrs. Albert Lunn and brother, John Reitzel, of Maspeth, L. I., are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. J. Angerbauer, Sr., of East Third street.

ELKS STALK HOME FROM THE ROCKIES

PLAINFIELD DELEGATION HAD A GOOD TIME IN THE WEST.

Plainfield's representatives at the convention of the Elks at Denver, reached home over the Lehigh Valley railroad last night at 8 o'clock, three hours behind schedule time. The party included A. D. Findlay, Walter Apgar, Louis VanAlstyne, E. M. VanBuren and E. A. Laing. On the way back East, the Plainfielders stopped off at Colorado Springs, spending a night at the magnificent Antlers hotel in that place; Cripple Creek, Victor, Salida, Pueblo, Kansas City and St. Louis.

All of the party were highly delighted with the trip and they speak in glowing terms of the treatment accorded them by the Denver people. The Elks were welcomed everywhere and they were continually reminded that their money was no good. Fully 25,000 of the "Best People on Earth" attended the convention and it remains as one of the greatest in the history of the order.

"Philadelphia has the reunion next year," said one of the Plainfielders today, "but it will have to exert itself in order to beat the record established by Denver. The city has score of natural advantages and coupled with the open-heartedness of the people, the visitors had the time of their lives. For my part I never expect to have another such as it was."

BARRETT GETS COMMISSION.

Wins His Case Against Mrs. Linke on Appeal in Elizabeth.

Ernest Barrett, a real estate agent, secured a verdict against Mrs. Hannah Finke from Judge Atwater on appeal yesterday. The court ruled that Barrett was entitled to $112.50 commission on a sale that Mrs. Linke contended she had made herself.

The case was originally tried before Justice Hand last spring. Barrett proved that he brought the buyer and Mrs. Linke together, and claimed the commission under his contract. Justice Hand thought he wasn't entitled to it and so ruled, but S. S. Swackhamer, counsel for Barrett, carried the case up. Judge Atwater decided that Barrett was entitled to commission, both because his work had led to the sale and under the contract.

Mrs. Linke was ordered to pay interest on the commission from August 1, 1905.

Joseph A. Winn.

Joseph A. Winn, the one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winn, of East Seventh street, died yesterday after a brief illness. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Mr. Winn has been working in Trenton and was summoned home when the child's illness became serious but he reached Plainfield two hours after death had ensued.

125 Children End Summer Vacation.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, will take a party of 125 children from the New York tenement house district back to the city with her tomorrow morning. The little people have been at the camp for the past two weeks, and go back to the city well, strong and brown. About an equal number will be brought out in the afternoon.

Represented Large District.

At the Master Mechanics' convention in this city, yesterday, the district embraced by Westfield, Cranford, Roselle and Scotch Plains was represented by W. D. Johnston, of Scotch Plains. Mr. Johnston is a fathful member of the association and takes great interest in all the proceedings. He was accompanied by J. N. Meeker, John M. Ledy and Alfred Tussey.

Announcement Surprises Friends.

Miss May Hurst, of Netherwood avenue, and Harry Stewart, of East Sixth street, surprised their friends today by announcing that they had been married. The ceremony was performed at Atlantic City two weeks ago and was witnessed only by two friends. The young woman has been one of the "hello" girls at the local telephone exchange.

Colored People's Outing.

Union Lodge, No. 4026, G. U. O. of O. F., will run the second annual excursion of the colored lodge men to Lake Hopatcong. There will be a big time at the lake all day, including a baseball game between the Elizabeth lodgemen and the locals for lodge championship. Are you going?

Just Wait Till August 2.

Another excursion next Thursday, in case you couldn't manage to make the trip to the shore today. Trinity Reformed church and Marconnier chapel have their outing at the shore August 2. Bear it in mind.

TRIED TO OUST FELLOW TENANT TO GET POSSESSION.

Landlord and Tenant Case at Cranford Yesterday Tried by Jury and Plaintiff Was Loser.

William G. DeMeza, Esq., was the attorney for Samuel Colwell in the landlord and tenant case of David Lent and Samuel Catano vs. Samuel Colwell tried before a jury at Justice W. W. Wendell's court in Cranford yesterday afternoon. Robert Eaton, of Elizabeth, was the plaintiff's attorney. The jury brought in a decision for Colwell.

The case proved to be a cleverly worked up attempt to defraud Colwell of his possession of part of a house at Garwood, which he had leased from Lent. After the lessee had taken possession, Lent re-leased the entire building to Catano. Anxious to get possession of the entire building Catano served summonses upon Colwell on July 2, backed up by Lent in the statement that he was in arrears in his rent. In the development of the case yesterday, it was proved that rent was not yet due, and that Colwell's claim to the premises was good.

1,300 WENT WITH METHODISTS ON OUTING TO ASBURY PARK.

Biggest Excursion of the Year Left for the Beach This Morning.

Making the trip in two special trains, each of eleven cars, about 1,300 excursionists from this city and Dunellen are spending the day at Asbury Park. The occasion is the annual outing of the Methodist churches, the First Methodist church, Grace M. E. church, Monroe Avenue church and the Dunellen M. E. church.

The first section came to the North Avenue station at about 8 o'clock. It consisted of eleven cars, and a party of 450 excursionists from Dunellen, Grant Avenue and Clinton Avenue were on board. Conductor Newton Ammerman was in charge of the train, with Will Dunham as engineer. The second section was also made up of eleven cars, and was well filled by Plainfielders. It pulled out at about 8:15 with Conductor Frank O. Webster in charge, and Bert Ayers in the cab. The general committee was under the direction of Samuel Bingaman, and included Thomas McDonald, Charles Harden, Benjamin Schuck, Raymond Miller, J. Edmund Skiff, and Thomas H. Stafford. The excursionists will leave Ocean Grove for the return trip at 7:10 and will arrive in this city at about 8:30 this evening.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR.

South Plainfield Christian Endeavorers Greet Rev. Attley and Wife.

A reception in honor of their new pastor, Rev. Mr. Attley, was held by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the South Plainfield Baptist church last night. The affair was held in the church, and proved a delightful success. The guests numbered 150.

Miss Marion Rigley delivered the address of welcome to which Mr. Attley responded in pleasant vein.

Miss Grace Norman sang two solos in excellent voice. Mr. and Mrs. Attley were introduced to the assemblage by the reception committee, after which refreshments were served.

Hearing for Life Guard.

"Cap" Charles Clark, the life guard at Atlantic City, who is charged with incompetence as a result of the tragic drowning of R. L. Thomae and his daughter at the shore city Saturday, was given a hearing before Mayor Stoy last night. The result of the probing has not been made public.

Completing Leland Avenue Bridge.

Contractor John C. Cooper has finished the mason work of the Leland avenue bridge and the concrete abutments are now ready for the structural iron. The latter has been taken from the old West End avenue bridge and has been found to be satisfactory in every way.

Stable Saved $50.

The quick recovery of its stolen horse in Bound Brook yesterday saved the Central Livery Stable $50. The police were authorized to offer that amount, but the horse was discovered before the cards were distributed and the offer was never made officially.

Building a Commodious Barn.

A. G. Hooley is having a substantial stone barn constructed on his property on Rockview Terrace. When finished it will compare favorably with any similar structure in the borough for completeness. Contractor John C. Cooper is doing the work.

Melvin F. Danziger.

Melvin F. Danziger, the six-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Danziger, of East Third street, died yesterday. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Walter C. Dobbins, of West End terrace, is at Asbury Park.

FARM BUILDINGS BURNED

Barn, Granery and Wind Mill of Chas. Brickoff Near New Market Destroyed.

THE TOTAL LOSS $3,000

Insurance Was $1,200—Fire Discovered By Passerby—Valuable Horse Burned.

A fire, the cause of which has not yet been learned, destroyed the barn and outbuildings, including a cow shed and windmill, at the farm of Charles Brickoff, a farmer living near New Market, last night. No organized fire assistance could be secured in time, so the efforts made to save the buildings were to no avail, and the destruction was total. The buildings were valued at colse to $3,000, and were insured for $1,200.

The fire was discovered by William Smalley, a neighbor. Brickoff had left home early in the evening to carry a crate of eggs to a nearby farm where they were to be taken to market today. The farm was left alone in charge of Brickoff's aged mother, who is quite deaf. Smalley and a neighbor were driving past when a burr on their wagon axle dropped off and they were forced to stop for repairs. Smalley went up to the Brickoff farm for help, but was unable to discover that anyone was at home. He returned to the wagon and was working there when his comrade suddenly called his attention to the barn, which was blazing fiercely in the upper part, flames bursting from the roof.

Smalley ran to the burning building and bursting open the door led out one of Brickoff's horse and succeeded in saving quite a little of the farm machinery stored in the barn. At about that time Brickoff himself arrived, and the three men, with the aid of some neighbors, who had by that time seen the flames, worked hard to rescue the other horse and the remainder of the machinery. The animal could not be saved, and was burned, together with much farm machinery and tools. Brickoff's crops, which he had just finished storing in the barn and an adjoining outbuilding, were entirely destroyed. The windmill attached to the barn soon caught fire and was totally destroyed, as were the cow shed and granery near by.

Brickoff communicated his losses to W. A. Woodruff, local agent for the Phoenix Insurance Company this morning. The barn, which was new and cost $2,000, was insured for $9.50, the farm machinery was insured for $200, and the horse that was burned for $50.

FIFTY YEARS A PASTOR.

The Rev. Dr. Doolittle Tells What He Has Done in Half a Century.

The Rev. Dr. Philip M. Doolittle, who has finished his fiftieth year as pastor of the Reformed church at North Branch, told his parishoners yesterday at an interesting celebration of the anniversary what he has accomplished during his long pastorate.

He told them he had preached 5,399 times at home and abroad for his pastorate, solemnized 234 marriages, baptized 423 infants and adults, and officiated at 513 funerals. He said he had baptized the grandchildren of some persons he had married and had seen one of these grandchildren grown up and marry, and had finally preached his funeral sermon.

He also said he had ministered to five generations of several families and personally knew six generations of one family.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

A little black and tan dog belonging to Frank Johnson was killed by a big automobile at the Washington avenue railroad crossing Tuesday afternoon. The dog, which was a great pet, was with Johnson's team, which was unloading a load of crushed stone for resurfacing the street. While the work of unloading was going on, the animal went to sleep in the roadway. The machine came across the tracks at a good clip and struck the dog as it lay asleep in the road, breaking its back. Death was instantaneous. No one saw the number on the machine.

The condition of Mrs. Eugene Runyon, who was hurt while attempting to alight from a trolley car near Hillside cemetery Tuesday afternoon, is quite serious. Examination by a physician revealed the fact that her left collarbone was broken, the left shoulder fractured and the upper arm broken in three places. She was also quite severely bruised about the body in falling. The accident happened as she was alighting from the car, which had not quite come to a stand still. She is confined to her home on Main street, and a physician is in attendance.

The work of moving the telegraph poles along the Lehigh Valley Railroad at New Market to make room for the two extra tracks to be laid, has been completed. Two extra tracks are to be laid, and an interlocking switch tower is to be built, thus making a four track road from Newark to New Market. The work of laying the tracks has been begun.

More than two hundred people took advantage of the pleasant day to take the outing to Asbury Park with the Methodist Sunday-school excursion today. The special train at 7:35, stopped at Clinton Avenue and Grant Avenue and Plainfield. The return trip will be made this evening, leaving the shore at 7:10, and arriving at Dunellen at 9 o'clock.

The work on the Methodist parsonage is now well under way, and is being carried on rapidly by F. S. Gise. The ladies of the church have planned a reception and dinner to be held in the fall to raise funds for the completion of the building.

The borough tax rate will be fixed at a meeting of the board of taxation on August 6. Assessor John H. L. Peters has about completed the inventory of property, and it is thought that the rate will be about $1.94.

The annual reunion of the Merrell-Dayton families will be held this year at Chimney Rock August 11. Plans are already being made to make this year's reunion an elaborate affair.

Ernest Peters, who cut his hand severely on a barrel rim two weeks ago, is able to use the member now. The rusty nail, which made the wound, had no serious results.

The township roads over in Piscataway township have about been completed. The road gang is finishing up the work of construction by top surfacing the roads now.

The regular weekly prayer meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market will be conducted by Rev. Henry N. Jordan tomorrow evening.

The house on Lincoln avenue owned by the Kuldoshes brothers is being raised twenty-two inches on its foundation. John Mobus is the contractor.

George Schenck's grocery store, in the Runyon building on North avenue, is being repainted. John Kenney is doing the work.

The new benches voted by the Borough Council for the park have been placed in position in the park.

Mrs. W. R. Hetfield and Miss Nettie Baldwin spent yesterday in New York city.

Mrs. Alvah Gray, of Washington avenue, spent Tuesday in Newark.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The local ball team will present its strongest lineup against the Riversides, of Rahway, in Saturday afternoon's game as they want the game, so as to play the deciding game of the series. The Riversides won the first game early in the season by a close margin.

Tired but happy after an ideal day at the shore, the local excursionists returned home last night about 8 o'clock. Not an accident happened to mar the pleasure of the day for anyone.

Are you reading Life in Plainfield Thirty-eight Years Ago, now running in this paper? Many interesting events of the past are chronicled, which are of interest to Plains residents.

As an added attraction, Band Leader Benjamin La Vere has promised a display of fireworks with tomorrow night's band concert.

George Baldwin, who has been visiting friends in town, has returned to his home in Rahway.

Miss Daisy Wade is visiting relatives and friends in Pennsylvania for two weeks.

Mary Jahn is sojourning at Asbury Park for a week.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weed, of West Sixth street, have gone to the Thousand Islands for a sojourn.

Mrs. J. K. Van Arsdale, of New York, has been visiting at the home of her sisters, the Misses Elliot, of Madison avenue.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

There is surely no need to patronize one of the so-called "rubber neck" seeing New York automobiles when a visit to "Chinatown Charlie," the melodrama to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre by A. H. Woods next Saturday afternoon and night insures such sights as are usually included in a half dozen trips aboard one of those monstrous perambulators. No matter how many excursions are made in charge of a guide whose stock in trade consists chiefly in an assortment of megaphone stunts, the visitor to the theatre where "Chinatown Charlie" is being offered, guarantees a far better and much more vivid conception regarding the haunts of the white light districts, as not only are the scenes faithfully portrayed on canvas, but the actual occurrences are so graphically exposed by actors who have made a careful study of the characters who infest the wicked part of the city, that nothing remains to impress the enormities of the situation more clearly upon the minds of those who are interested in the dark side of gay metropolitan life.

There is an old saying that "A fool and his money are soon parted." In A. H. Woods' melodrama, "Queen of the Highbinders," booked to appear at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, August 4, the old adage is clearly exemplified. Charles Webster, a gilded youth with more money than brains is one of the characters in this entirely new thriller. Like many youths of his ilk he is ensnared by the treacherous beauty and alluring wiles of a woman who is an outcast of society and a female of the worst type. She is Bettima Otis, known as the "Queen of the Highbinders"—after utilizing the young man's infatuation to accomplish his complete ruin, financially and morally, she aids in encompassing his death. All told "Queen of the Highbinders" is one of those plays that grips you and holds your interest. Those who have a penchant for comedy served in small doses between thrills and surprises, will be highly amused and edified with this robust melodrama. No lack of action here, nor stagnation of interest from start to finish.

Mrs. John D. Runyon, of Park avenue, has gone to Mount Pocono, where she will spend the summer.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

New York, July 26.—Just because everybody seems to be champagne ceazy these days—not real champagne, understands' but "Mamzelle Champagne" on the Madison Square Garden Roof—the good citizens of little old New York were treated to to a rather unusual sight Wednesday, July 18. It was that of a big musical organization, with a complete equipment of scenery, orchestra, etc., doing a "one night stand" act in the metropolis. It is true, however, that the quick jump was made in a thoroughly up-to-date manner—with everybody and everything loaded into big automobiles, and it made a parade that probably would have caused the late P. T. Barnum turn green with envy had he been "among those present" on the sidewalks. And a couple of thousand motherless and fatherless children were the cause of it all. The little ones who received one of the treats of their lives were the little inmates of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum at Amsterdam avenue and 137th street. For several years past it has been the custom of Henry Pincus, the manager of "Mamzelle Champagne," to give entertainments of various kinds to the little orphans in the large auditorium of the asylum. This time, however, he decided to outdo all past performances; and take the little ones to a real musical comedy, and at that the one the grown-ups are packing Madison Square Garden Roof nightly to see. When the subject was broached to the members of the company, they entered into it with that enthusiasm so general throughout the theatrical profession when there is a matter of charity under consideration. Then came an offer from Richard W. Meade, president of the Metropolitan Transportation Company, to furnish automobiles for the company and the orchestra. And that is how it all happened. To say that the little ones were pleased would be a weak way of expressing their delight, and it will be a long, long time before they forget "Mamzelle Champagne," or part with the souvenirs of the event which Mr. Pincus distributed among them.

Miss Eula Hedden, of Phillipsburg, and Miss Emma Gable, of Hopewell, returned home today after a visit at the home of the latter's brother, Charles Gable, of Somerset street.

LIFETIME FURNITURE.
MUCH OF IT IN OUR JULY SALE.

Furniture may be everlasting if it is chosen carefully from a carefully selected stock. Full dependability may be placed in the furniture sold in this store, for in no other establishment in America will you find a stock that has been picked with greater care and judgment than the one that crowds our great two-acre department. It is the sort of furniture that becomes heirlooms, and may be handed down from one generation to another. We bar from this stock unworthy, trashy stuff, so that you can pick at almost any price and be sure, not only of best style and finish, but of stability as well.

Look out for the furniture that will soon be offered by some concerns in August sales—the kind of stuff specially made by manufacturers who care more for trade than they do reputation, and who are willing to lessen quality for the sake of lowering prices to many of the dealers who operate August sales.

The furniture offered in our July Sale is strictly regular stock, up to the high standard long since set by the store and faithfully maintained. It is in every way worthy and dependable.

Plainfield, N. J., July 26, 1906.

We believe that if Roosevelt were invited to make some speeches in New Jersey, as the Jersey City Evening Journal suggests, he would quickly take one side or the other in the warfare within the Republican party. He certainly would not be as silly as John F. Dryden who evades the question by declaring that he does not know that his office should permit him to declare himself.

One blow upon another has been dealt the captains of finance who elected the Republican Presidential candidates during the last eight years, but to them the "most unkindest cut of all" is the way William Jennings Bryan has been allowed to capture the British.

An exchange takes the Newark News to task for exposing the police conditions in its own city. Its country critic might read the opinion of Judge Sulzberger on the function of a newspaper before over-heating his brainery again.

Mr. Martine "points with pride" to the letter issued by the Democratic State Committee and admits the public to his confidence in the prediction that his party will win at the next election.

His mayoralty boom is being studiously avoided by C. J. Fisk. The Health Board's President is another man who does not intend "to sit on a stool and look pretty" for any length of time.

Figuratively speaking Russell Sage may "turn over in his grave" if some of his kin get a slice of those millions, but there is no fear of his pulling that burglar alarm on the coffin.

For North Plainfield to try to settle its sewer system question, before deciding the subject of annexation is like the old story of putting the cart before the horse.

It was a Colbyite who was cruel enough to remark that he never heard of a funeral with 125 pall bearers.

The Elizabeth Times is authority for the announcement that "machine rule is doomed." That settles it.

Some enterprising manager ought to be able to secure Record and Nash as "a summer attraction."

Although it is a case of Thaw, Mr. Olcott considers it a clean freeze-out.

It was not inappropriate to place Russell Sage in an "air-tight" coffin.

It does not appear that Mr. Bryan is in "the enemy's country" just now.

Mrs. Chester Dennis and daughter, Miss Ada Dennis, of East Second street, are spending a week at Naugatuck, Conn., as the guests of Mrs. Dennis' sister, Mrs. Roy Bolls.

SECRETLY OBEYED SLY GOD OF LOVE.

Angry Parents of Two Belleville Girls Won Over by the Runaway Brides.

Two secret marriages in which well-known residents of Belleville, are concerned were made known yesterday.

Miss Elizabeth Price, eighteen years old, daughter of John S. Price, of No. 43 Stephen street, announced to her father that she had been since last Thursday night the bride of James Hozack. Mr. Price at first was inclined to be angry, but he finally gave the couple his blessing. Mrs. Hozack is now in Buffalo visiting her brother.

A year ago the father of the bride took Miss Lillian Douglass, a Belleville school teacher, as his second wife.

The other marriage was that of Miss Elizabeth Malcolm, of No. 12 Bloomfield avenue, to Harry Tracy, a cowboy conected with a "Wild West" show at Hillside park, Belleville. The ceremony took place in Jersey City on July 9 and the witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. William McDonald, who are known in professional life as "Nebraska Bill" and "Bounding Fawn."

The bride often visited Hillside Park and admired the way Tracy sat in the saddle and dealt death to a band of Indians twice a day. A friendship sprang up between them.

When the bride announced her marriage to her parents they at first declined to forgive her. She finally won them over. The couple are living at Greylock Manor, Belleville.

PRAISE FROM STOKES.

Compliments for Gen. Gilmore and Col. Collins.

Governor Stokes has complimented both General Gillmore and Colonel Collins on the work of the Second Regiment while in camp at Sea Girt.

The following letter has been forwarded by Governor Stokes to Col. Dennis F. Collins, commander of the regiment:

"My Dear Colonel Collins—I deeply regret the departure of the Second Regiment from camp. During the week just closing the regiment has maintained its reputation for discipline and efficiency, and the good spirit shown by the officers and men under your command is the highest testimony of their soldierly qualities and to your capacity as commanding officer.

"I trust you have enjoyed your encampment, and that next year we shall meet again in camp.

"With best wishes for yourself and your command, I am

"Very sincerely yours,

"E. C. STOKES."

The letter to General Gillmore was as follows:

"Brigadier-General Quincy O'M. Gillmore:

"My Dear General Gillmore—The closing day of the Second Brigade encampment causes us all to regret that it marks your departure from camp.

"The discipline maintained under your command and the issuance of field orders to all the military departments represented at camp raises a standard that stimulates the guard and that will be difficult to surpass.

"You have brought not only to the camp but to the guard of the State a soldiery spirit that has been of untold benefit and that will cause you long to be remembered among your friends and well-wishers.

"I trust that we shall long continue to have the benefit of your knowledge of military affairs.

"With best wishes, I am

"Very sincerely yours,

"E. C. STOKES."

Lieutenant Preniss, of the regular army, is at Sea Girt, instructing Battery A, of East Orange, in the handling of the new guns. There are four new three-inch guns, and they have only been placed in use for the first time at the Sea Girt camp.

EXPRESS CLERK IN PRISON.

Charged With the Larceny of $275 from Adams Company.

Charged technically with the theft of $275 Webster Depuy, 35 years old, of Red Bank, agent in the money order department of the Adams Express Company's office, in New Yor, was arraigned before Magistrate Mayor in the Tombs Court yesterday afternoon and remanded, in the custody of his counsel for examination on July 30.

Amador Andrews, general agent of the company, who appeared against Depuy, stated that an examination of Depuy's books showed a shortage of something like $2,500.

According to an official of the company Depuy refused to make any statement as to the missing money. He was an exemplary employee until suspicion was aroused a week or ten days ago.

Cook to Try Again.

George Cook, of this city, who recently applied to the borough council for a permit to erect a skating rink on Chatham street, and was refused, is about to make a similar application to Building Inspector Doane. He intends to put up a structure for this purpose on East Fourth street, opposite Church, the dimensions of which he gives as sixty by one hundred feet.

Mrs. C. M. Zabriskie, of East Sixth street, is spending sometime at Sound Beach, Conn.

Miss Margaret Haberman, of South Second street, has gone to Albany to spend her summer vacation.

CONNECTICUT MURDERER ARRESTED AT ELIZABETH.

Alleged That He Killed a Man at Bridgeport on July 4.

Elizabeth, July 26.—Alexander Herman, twenty-eight years old, a native of Russian Poland, was arrested here last night at the Jersey Central transfer station by Detective-Sergeant Frank McGrail, of this city, assisted by Detective Patrick Brogan. The prisoner, who offered no resistance, is a fugitive from justice and is wanted at Bridgeport, Conn., on a charge of murder. On the night of July 4 last, it is alleged, Herman shot Martin Korzinske, aged thirty-four, at the latter's home, 19 Clinton avenue, Bridgeport. Korzinske was dead when picked up.

Herman left Bridgeport and was traced to Maspeth, Long Island, by Detective-Sergeant Edward Cronin and Policeman George F. Simon, of Bridgeport. They learned at Maspeth that Herman had said there he was working in a Jersey freight-house. Then they visited all the freight-houses along the North river, but without getting any clue to the murderer. A leter which he wrote from Elizabeth to the wife of the slain man furnished the information that led to his capture.

The cause of the tragedy was an infatuation which, it is said, Herman had for Mrs. Korzinske, whom he knew in Poland. She is twenty-seven years old, quite good-looking and had been married seven years. She has no children. A year and a half ago she and her husband left Springfield, Mass., and went to Bridgeport to live. Herman accompanied the couple when they came to America, and also went to Springfield. While there the woman disappeared and was gone several days. Her husband finally learned where she was and induced her to return home. The police say that Herman enticed her to run away. When the Korzinskes removed to Bridgeport, Herman followed them and became installed as a boarder to their home. Another boarder told Korzinske that Herman was paying attention to his wife, and the husband ordered Herman to leave the house. Herman did so, but swore, it is alleged, he would have revenge. A few days later the shooting occurred. Herman after leaving Bridgeport came to Elizabeth, where he obtained a job as a night laborer in the freight yard conected with the Central's transfer station. He was boarding at 137 Bond street, Elizabethport. He will be taken back to Bridgeport as soon as the necessary requisition papers can be obtained by Police Superintendent Eugene Bermingham, of that city.

An automobiling party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Budd, of Pemberton, came to Plainfield yesterday afternoon and remained over night as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Buchanan, of Duer street.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

Leading editorial in the issue of February 13, 1868:

The Danger and Duty.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate at Washington for the establishment of a National bureau of insurance that affords additional evidence of the design to concentrate unlimited and unconstitutional powers in the lands of Congress, a body possessing no more legitimate authority over the business of insurance, than it does over schools, factories and taverns in New Jersey. It is usurpation, and that heralds the downfall of popular rights. With the same propriety Congress might ordain a National religion, and unless the people arouse and scatter those wanton violators of the Constitution and assassins of the judiciary, abolishment of liberty of conscience will be the next move. The Puritanical spirit lives, prompts the arbitrary and law-defying actions of such men as Stevens, Sumner and Phillips, and they sway the Radical party.

The bitterness and hate meted out to the vanquished white men, women and children of the South, in unadulterated Puritanism, and it would now hand Quakers, whip Baptists, ostracise Episcopalians and burn Catholic convents with as much gusto as in any former day. The disposition exists—the opportunity is alone wanting. Permit Congress to rear the deathly shadow of Military Despotism over any portion of the American Republic, and the door swings wide open for the iron-heeled and bloody-handed tyranny to enter and desecrate the Temple of Liberty. Such profanation is the danger; to prevent it, peaceably, if possible—forcibly if necessary, is the duty of the hour.

We learn that when Spring opens it is intended to make extensive repairs to the Friends' Meeting House on Peace street, by newly roofing and painting the venerable structure. The old horse sheds are to be removed and new ones built, and a substantial fence, with locust posts, erected around the entire lot, including the graveyard. That is as it should be, for the old meeting house was for a long time the only place of public worship in Plainfield, and within its burial ground repose the remains of many whose memories are treasured legacies.

There has been a perfect carnival of sleigh-goers at Laing's Hotel the past week. From morning till night and onward to the morning's dawn has the voice of merriment resounded. Parties from afar have come, for where does not the well-earned fame of John W. Laing extend?

The recent variable weather reminded one of the machine poetry:

First it snew,
Then it blew,
Then it friz,
Then it thew.
Whew!

The Union Sunday School, Institute of Plainfield, will give a series of entertainments in the 2nd Presbyterian church, commencing on March 2d, and continuing until Friday, March 7, which will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Vincent, assisted by Ralph Wells and R. G. Pardee, of New York, Mr. Alfred Taylor, of Philadelphia, and others. These entertainments will consist of lectures, singing, class exercises, etc., and are highly instructive to children. We hope they will be well attended.

Meteors and Showers—Many of our readers set up all night and some two successive nights to see the great meteoric shower expected last fall, but were disappointed. Not so those, however, who were in attendance at Laing's hall, last Thursday and Friday evenings, to see the brightest meteors in their line of the present day. We refer to Sam Collyer and his juvenile pupils, Sam and Eddie.

Sam Collyer has now gone and an opportunity lost by many of being agreeably entertained by his performance, but "Haselmeyer" is here and promises three nights of unsurpassing attraction by his necromantics illusions, etc., at Laing's hall, the 13th, 14th and 15th. Don't have it to say after he has gone that you wish you had went. Read the advertisement.

We were somewhat astonished the other day to see our friend John C. Smith (Democratic Smith) walk into our office and deliberately pull from under his coat a huge bottle, containing a black-looking liquid. We supposed he was going to present us with a bottle of ink, to write out bills for some of our delinquents, but after examining the said bottle we found it to contain some of the best elderberry wine we ever tasted—manufactured by himself. We return him our thanks for the same and hope he will remember us again sometime.

The last of the Young Men's Christian Association lectures was delivered on Monday evening by Rev. J. Hyatt Smith. Laing's hall was filled and the audience laughed as they would have done in the presence of bones and burnt cork. The reverend gentleman undertook to travel from New York to Jerusalem, but exhausted himself and listeners about 10 o'clock, in Naples, over the question of macaroni. The proclaimed subject of the lecture was sight-seeing, its general topic was not what he saw, but what he said, and much of that savored strongly of exaggeration and bombast. From following the scarred veterans of the Old Guard through the streets of Paris, with a bound he sprang from travelling toward the Holy Land, and alighting across the Atlantic went off into a paroxysm of delight before a regiment of negro braves. We know not who employed him for the service, but among other incidents of travel, he availed of the opportunity to nominate General Grant for the Presidency. If the reverend gentleman wished to talk about politics, and had openly announced that as his intention, it would have been all right and honest, but to smuggle in his partisanship under cover of a tour to Jerusalem was doing something very near akin to false pretenses. We hope the skirts of the Christian Association are clear; it is no more Christianity to obtain funds through such a known agency than it is Temperance to eulogize another individual!

We understand from a reliable source that the Linbargers are in town.

Are There Any Christians in Plainfield?—This question suggested itself to us as we were perambulating our streets this morning (the thermometer being below zero). We were hastily surveying our rapidly improving town when as quick as the lightning flashed on Franklin's key up went our heels and down went our cane. Our cranium was pretty hard, so was the ice on the sidewalk, but the ice cracked and we came off with only a severe headache. After a brief rubbing of our temples, and gathering of our scattered thoughts, we remembered an anecdote we had heard of Benjamin Franklin. He was walking one frosty, icy slippery morning with his friend and they had locked arms and had had considerable difficulty in helping one another maintain their equilibrium, when they came to a sidewalk that had coal ashes liberally sprinkled before the door. "Ah," said Franklin," a Christian lives there." "Why?" said his friend. "Because he subscribes to the safety, comfort and pleasure of his neighbors by sprinkling coal ashes on his sidewalk." We again ask, "How many Christians are there in Plainfield." Our mutual friend, Mr. F. TenEyck, a few days since, accidentally slipped on the ice and we understand dislocated or broke the bone of his leg. Let this be a warning to Christians—as the society of such enterprising and good social citizens, as many of our friends like Mr. TenEyck are, cannot be spared.

BOND IS REQUIRED FOR FAITHFUL SERVICE.

State Military Board Issues New Order for Naval and National Guard Officers.

Officers of the national guard throughout the State have received orders from the adjutant general's office announcing that the State Military Board, at a recent session, fixed the amount of bond to be given by collecting and disbursing officers of the various departments of the State militia, as required by paragraph 68 of the "act concerning the militia of the State," approved May 16, 1906. The order reads:

"It is hereby ordered that all officers acting as collecting and disbursing officers of the national guard and naval reserve organizations shall be required to give a bond, with sufficient security, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of their respective offices, etc. Upon receipt of the order they shall, without delay, execute a bond to State of New Jersey in the full amount of all State moneys appropriated for the support of the commands to which they are attached. The bond shall be a corporation bond, and when properly executed shall be forwarded, through military channel, to the paymaster general, who will file the same with the comptroller of the State treasury.

"The bond of collecting and disbursing officers of a regiment shall be for $6,500, troop of cavalry $2,000, battery of field artillery $2,000, signal and telegraph corps $2,000, battalion of naval reserve $1,800."

Officers and enlisted men of the national guard who report at the State range at Sea Girt at their own expense will be permitted to shoot in the classes in which they belong on the following dates: July 28, August 4, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. The men who have not been able to report for practice on the dates assigned to their respective organizations, and who have not practiced before, will be furnished ammunition without cost. This, however, will not apply until after the dates fixed for the practice of the organizations. Upon arriving at the range the men will report to the inspector general of rifle practice or to the officer in command, and will be subject to his orders until excused or dismissed. Transportation at State rate, good on the above dates, may be procured by addressing the inspector general of rifle practice at Sea Girt, and by sending cash money order for the amount of transportation desired.

COW CAUSED OWN DEATH, MOTORMAN NEARLY SLAIN.

Trolley Lantern Smashed by Killing of Animal—Car Employee Stunned.

Mt. Holly, N. J., July 26.—After having been thrown ten feet, through his car striking a cow, Edward Bean, a motorman, received an electric shock that nearly caused his death.

Bean was running his car from Burlington late last night when it hit the cow, which had stepped on the track. The front of the car tilted upward and Bean was sent flying over the dashboard. The sudden jar frightened the passengers and threw some of them from their seats, but no one was hurt.

When Bean picked himself up he set about adjusting the headlight of the car, which had been broken in the collision. He forgot to remove the plug and received an electric shock that stretched him on the ground.

For a time the passengers thought he was dead, but he finally revived and was able to proceed on his trip. The cow was killed.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, have returned from Ocean Grove.

NEW YORK PAYS HEED TO JERSEY'S PROTEST.

Will Hereafter Have All Garbage Carried Fifteen Miles Out To Sea.

With further reference to the complaints resulting from the dumping of garbage from the city of New York along the New Jersey coast, which Senators Dryden and Kean brought to the attention of the War Department, urging a remedy therefor, Senator Dryden this morning received another communication from the War Department showing that the protests have been effective. The War Department transmitted to Senator Dryden a copy of the report from the Supervisor of the Harbor of New York as follows:

"After another consultation with officials of the Street Cleaning Department, the following plan for the disposal of the city's garbage was adopted: 'That the city's garbage be taken to Barren Island the same as before the plant was destroyed and and on the ordinary scows, there transferred to the sea-going scows and towed fifteen miles to sea from entrance to Gedney Channel. A schooner has just been anchored at this point to mark the dumping place for garbage scows.

"This plan prevents the smaller scows going to sea with the chance of their not reaching the dumping ground, places the sea towing under a better and more responsible personnel and should insure the tows always reaching the dumping grounds.

"Since the above plan has been in operation this office has received no complaints of garbage floating ashore. The Street Cleaning Department states that they have received one complaint of some material coming ashore last Sunday, but the city officials maintain that no material of that kind could have come from their scows. The Street Cleaning Department has now a patrol inspection of the beaches, and the officials report to me that the above plan seems to be working satisfactorily."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 29: "How the Church Can Help the World"—Matt. v. 13-16; Luke xi, 34-36; I John i, 5-7; Rom. xii, 21; Rev. xii, 1; Matt. xiii, 33; Jer. xxxi, 34.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

There must be first a clear conviction that the world needs help, then a definite realization that the church has the help which the world needs and then the earnest impulse to give to the world that help in the best possible manner.

Without question, the church does possess light, the only adequate light of life. She did not make it; she does not own it, but is intrusted with it by the Lightmaker in order that she may light the darkness of the world. As custodian she is called "the light of the world," but all the power is from above with the Father of Lights and not in her own nature. She should just shine out as He shines within her.

Nowhere but in the Christian Scriptures and by the authors of them has God been conceived as a loving Father to men and all mankind as a brotherhood to be united in love in the development of human destiny. This unique conception of the nature of men and their relation to each other and to God is the truth which is revolutionizing society wherever it is proclaimed. Its worth is of the highest to men both for time and eternity. Nothing else can be conceived of so great helpfulness to them as this.

Couple with it the promise of divine power to put this truth into operation in the individual life as well as in the community, and you have given all the power needed to recover a world from sin to righteousness, especially when we have the Christ life as model and incentive and the living Christ as ever present Saviour and Friend.

The church can best help the world by proclaiming the full gospel message. There should be the plain preaching of God's law that men may be convinced of their sin and need of salvation. Then the message of redemption in Christ and the love of the Infinite Father with the power of the Holy Spirit to renew and purify and sanctify and afterward to glorify the soul of man.

The church must go beyond this. She must preserve the sacred records and her members must so live as to present living, incontestible proof to the world of the truth of the message she proclaims.

She must maintain the ordinances of Christian worship. The sacraments are of inestimable value and must be maintained in their purity to be transmitted to all future generations as testimony of the Christ and His message until He come again.

These are the great helps the church has for the world. Beyond these, as incidental to her mission, are care of the poor, the sick, the sinful. Sympathy and assistance for all reform efforts and social uplifting of the people should have her sympathetic assistance.

But the proclamation of salvation, transmission of the inspired record and maintenance of worship with teaching the way of eternal life are the great things from the pursuit of which the church of Christ should never swerve for any other matters.

Hiding the Light.

Peace and joy are essential characteristics of the light that should shine from every Christian's lamp. But how many people cover this white, pure light with the habit of discontent and complaining! How many of us have allowed the spirit of worry to creep into our life! How many of us permit ourselves to murmur and find fault with almost everything in our lot! How many of us live in a perpetual fever of discontent! Such habits dim the shining of the light that should ray out from our life. Fretfulness spoils spiritual beauty. A habit of anxiety hides the light of peace and joy. If only we would strip off these unfit coverings and let the light of Christ in us shine out it would add tenfold to our influence and power as Christians. Even in life's sorest trials and deepest griefs the light of the lamp burning within should shine out undimmed. Indeed, in sorrow the inner light should be even clearer than in joy.

Grief is a tattered tent
Where through God's light doth shine;
Who glances up at every rent
May catch a ray divine.

—J. R. Miller in Forward.

Character.

The "processes of character" have been thus analyzed: First thought, then feeling, then purpose, then will, then character in act and being. A good thought is a beginning of right character, but only a beginning. There is a big interval during which the thinker has to work hard and become a doer.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY
Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.
The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week, Beginning July 29.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Divided lives.—Matt. vi. 24; II Kings xvii, 33-41.

There are three classes of people in the world relative to God. (1) There are those who serve God and God alone. Of such we have an example in Elijah and the 7,000 in Israel who had never bowed the knee to Baal. (2) There are those who absolutely refuse to serve God at all. They leave Him entirely out of calculation in the formation of their lives, in their aims and hopes and ambitions. (3) Between these two classes there is one composed of those who try to serve both God and Baal, to belong at the same time to the kingdom of Christ and the kingdom of the world. Of this class we have frequent illustrations in the history of the ancient people of God. They claimed to be God's people. They doubtless wore the distinctive dress of the Israelites, they were inhabitants of the land of Canaan, they probably adhered to some of the rites and customs of their religion, yet at the same time they worshiped strange gods and sought the debauching pleasures which such worship held out to them. They tried to do two things, but they failed, for the moment they bowed the knee to idols they ceased to be the children of God and were no longer the children of His covenant promises. This attempted divided religious life of ancient Israel is a sad story, a story of shame, dishonor and disaster and one that should be a warning to every one who has the faintest desire to be a child of God.

History is a plain teacher, yet how often its lessons are disregarded. The failure of the Jews to live a satisfactory divided religious life has been no deterrent in the lives of many Christians to undertake the same thing. They attempted it in Christ's day, and thousands are vainly attempting the same thing today. They want to be in the kingdom of Christ and at the same time in the kingdom of the world. But it cannot be done. Such professing Christians are in the world and not in the kingdom of Christ, though they may deceive themselves into thinking that they are. "But God is not mocked." He knows where they belong. The folly of such an attempt should be self evident. If we truly love God we will find joy and peace in our religion. But what worldly, half hearted Christian ever found happiness in serving God? Their church work is a drudgery; their worship in the house of the Lord is irksome and burdensome; their songs of praise have the flavor of a dirge; their private devotions are dull and lifeless. And many wonder why. The answer is simple. It is because their whole hearts are not in what they are doing; their thoughts are divided, and, worse than all, their lives are divided. If they would give up the world and throw their whole souls into the service of God they would experience a wonderful change. And until they do religion will always be nothing but a lifeless drudgery, a form with no power. Christian Endeavorers, be Christians or give up Christianity. Take your place where you really belong. If you in heart belong to the world, go to it, but remember the consequences. If you belong to Christ, give Him all, and your religion will mean something to you and to those about you.

Christ warns us against the attempt at a divided life. "No man can serve two masters." Some men think they can, but Christ says, "No man." There is not so much as a single exception to this law. Experience and common sense corroborate Christ's statements. Two ruling passions in the same life are impossible. One must in the end gain absolute supremacy. Two gods are just as impossible. Which will you take—the God of heaven and of earth, the God, your Father, or the gods of greed, of pleasure, of false ambition? You have a choice, but you can only choose one. Make no mistake, for eternal interests depend upon your decision.

Japan's New Secretary.

Christian Endeavor has a firm foothold in Japan and has been making very remarkable gains there during the past year. Mr. T. Sawaya has recently been chosen secretary of the Japan union and in the first months of his administration succeeded in adding more than twenty new societies to the membership. Mr. Sawaya was born in 1877 in Tsuyama, a town two hours' train ride north of Yokohama. He was educated in one of the mission schools. He has given up business to devote himself enthusiastically to this definite Christian work.

T. SAWAYA.

Next Summer in Switzerland.

Geneva, Switzerland, will be the seat of the second world's Christian Endeavor convention, the dates being July 28 to Aug. 1. Geneva promises to be another notable landmark in the history of Christian Endeavor, and it is reasonable to suppose that a large number of American Endeavorers will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit Europe under the favorable auspices afforded by this convention.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

In gratification of Lavender's whim, Mrs. Creighton had allowed her to wear the gown in which she, a belle of Philadelphia, had danced at the Meschianza. The once stately folds were limp, and the white silk was a faded yellow, but it would ever be treasured in memory of an event which, but to recall, made her heart throb with pride. She was a girl again—tasted again the triumphs of that night, when Lavender courtesied before her.

"I LEAVE THE TIME AND PLACE TO YOU, SIR," HE SAID.

"Behold the Blended Rose," she said, with mock dignity, strutting about in the fanciful costume. The loose polonaise and long flowing sash gave an added queenliness to her slender figure, and beneath the queer head dress of lace and feathers her eyes beguiled attention. Her beauty and striking attire won instant homage, and she was surrounded by a bevy of admirers.

Mrs. Creighton was gallantly escorted to the head of the old-fashioned reel by the commander himself.

Winslow, alone, felt neglected—ill-at-ease. Foreboding was beginning to cloud every hour. Solicitude for his chief, anxiety for his own fortunes, and that of the ladies committed to his charge, occupied his mind to the exclusion of such trivial affairs as a dance, a sprig of mistletoe, or even the smiles of a maid. Once, as he stood aloof from the crowd, Lavender passed in the whirls of the dance. Her eyes as they met his for an instant held a challenge, and her feet in the spangled shoes, twinkling under the short petticoat, seemed daring him to follow. He watched her every motion with engrossing interest, even while her beauty, her imperious, care-free manner, angered him. What right had she to be gay and happy when there was so much to dread in the uncertain future?

Early in the evening he had danced with her—a slow, and stately measure, as was his fashion. He had not asked her again, but—well, he would do so, he thought, as in a whirl of lace and feathers she swept past him, leaving a faint breath of the ghost of roses, crushed years ago, in the folds of that soft, old gown.

Just then, from the embrasure of a nearby window, he heard a voice saying, "I guess they are none too ardent partiots; the father lost everything in Virginia, and I heard it was because of some personal animosity begotten as long ago as '76. It seems he came of an unpopular family—all strong tories. The enemies made then have followed him all these years, and finally accomplished his ruin. He had to get out of the state. His wife and daughter are following."

Another voice added, "From what I can learn, the girl and her mother are just as bad; rank tories, yet, I'll be sworn."

The first speaker laughed. "It isn't likely the girl was born until long after the war."

"Maybe not, but if she has any sympathies they're mixed, to say the least. Why, she, herself, told me that the dress she has on is one her mother wore at the Meschianza. And she added that Mrs. Creighton danced with Andre. How's that for effrontery? Andre!"

At this moment Winslow let his presence be known, and one of the soldiers exclaimed haughtily: "A listener, sir?"

There was insult in his manner, but Winslow held himself in check. "An unwilling listener, I assure you," he said, and would have passed on, but the soldier—an aide on the commander's staff, barred his way. "Unwilling to be caught, you mean. No, sir; this is all of a piece; your tory friends parading in the clothes which were worn in insult to the flag—"

Winslow interrupted him with a scornful laugh. "Are you not unrolling a long-buried past, sir? What possible excuse can there be for the use of the word tory, now? It ceased to have meaning when the king ceased to be."

"Indeed!" sneered the other, "but the sentiment still lives in some hearts, and fostered it will be so long as there breathes an Aaron Burr, or one of his spies!"

Winslow's impulse was to dash his glove in the speaker's face, but the dramatic effect was with him, subservient to the proprieties, and he was opposed to a scene. Instead, therefore, he quietly dropped the glove, as if by accident at his opponent's feet. The look in his eyes admitted of no mistake as to his meaning.

"I leave time and place to you, sir," he said, and left the group.

When he had gone, the soldiers exchanged glances, partly of amusement, but more of chagrin. There was a strict rule in the camp against duelling, so that if a combatant escaped the sword or bullet of his antagonist, the guardhouse or loss of rank awaited him. Neither was a pleasing prospect, and the soldier had much ado to hide his fear under a cloak of bravado. Worse still, the very name of Aaron Burr struck terror to the heart of a duellist, and this man he had provoked was connected with him—perhaps shared his prowess. The thought made him wince. His companion read his fright under the assumption of indifference. "Cheer up, old man, if your sword is rusty be careful how you insult Aaron Burr or one of his followers. This man may be a spy—"

"'May be?' I tell you he is! Sent here ostensibly on the fool's errand to protect these women, but in reality to look the ground over and lay plans for the capture of the fort. It's all as plain as a pikestaff. I won't take back my word. My sword isn't rusty, and danged if I don't prove it to-morrow."

Winslow left the two men with eyes ablaze. His mouth, usually curved in a ready showing of the white teeth, was set now, and hard. Near the door Mrs. Creighton stopped him: "Whither bound, my friend?" she said lightly. Then, as she scrutinized his face: "Why, how solemn you look. Has anything happened?"

Winslow's brow cleared in an attempted smile. "I am only grieving that I am not that lucky cavalier on Miss Lavender's right. Will you ask her to save the last minuet for me? Command her by your maternal authority or I shall never get it."

With this subterfuge he excused himself and went on to the verandah, glad to be alone.

Mrs. Creighton slipped along the edge of the circle of dancers until she found a convenient chair in the embrasure where Winslow had encountered the soldiers. She was in time to hear most of the conversation that followed his departure, and her quick wit divined its meaning. A duel! Then Charles had given or received a challenge. No matter which were the aggressor, there was not time for blame of argument. A duel! She grasped the arm of the chair for support. Then as the men walked away, she sank to the seat with the final words ringing in her ears, "My sword isn't rusty, and danged if I don't prove it to-morrow."

"To-morrow!" Then she had a few hours in which to act. But it might be at sunrise. "They usually select the rise or set of sun for such unholy rites," she thought, with a shiver of disdain. Her first impulse was to go to Winslow, but that she discarded; he would think her selfishly fearful lest they lose a protector; would believe she was without zeal for his honor. To him, then, she dared not appeal. To his antagonist? Her own spirit rose against the thought. The commander—Col. Mitchell, himself! To him she must present the case, that he might stop the dreadful hazard.

In the pause between dances she went up to Lavender.

"Save the last minuet for Mr. Winslow, daughter," she commanded.

"But, mother, he did not ask me for it in time; I am engaged to Lieut. Crosby."

"Never mind, break the promise, and when Mr. Winslow returns to the room remind him of his dance with you."

Then, as the girl drew herself up in haughty astonishment, "I have an especial reason, dear, for wishing that he remain in the ballroom through the rest of the evening. Detain him if you can."

She ended with a look of meaning which puzzled Lavender, and made her nervous and preoccupied for the remainder of the dance.

Mrs. Creighton at once sought out the commander, whom she found enjoying a quiet bottle with some chosen friends. The latter were, however, not a whit disturbed at his departure, since he left the decanters behind.

Excusing himself, he joined Mrs. Creighton in the anteroom.

STATE IS TO TEACH SCIENTIFIC FARMING.

Farmers to be Given Chance to See Methods of Instruction for Their Boys.

Judging from the interest which is being shown throughout the State, there will be a large attendance of young farmers at the opening of the winter courses in agriculture, which will be commenced at the State Agricultural college January 2. Work on the new building at the college farm is being rushed throughout and the building will be in readness for the opening.

In order that the farmers of the State may learn by personal experience of some of the things that will be caught to their sons, Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, the director of the college farm and State experimental station, has issued a general invitation to the farmers of the State to visit the farm on August 17, inspect the place and listen to lectures. At this time the short courses in agriculture will be fully explained.

The courses are to be for twelve weeks. At the start there will be three separate courses offered, one for those who desire knowledge of general agriculture, one for those who desire to become particularly acquainted with dairy farming and one dealing with fruit growing and gardening. In each course instruction will be given by lectures, recitations and laboratory work. The students will be given practice in testing soils, spraying, pruning, sodding and grafting, stock judging, milk testing, butter making. The class room instruction will be followed by actural practice, the aim being to teach the students the principles and applications of science which will enable them to carry on farm work more efficiently and profitably. The students will not only have the use of the new building, which will be well equipped with laboratories, but all of the college farm buildings will be at their disposal, as well as the orchards, live stock and its equipment located there.

In the course arranged for those who want to engage in general farming the subjects to be studied will be soils, manures and fertilizers, farm crops, composition of seeds, the making of rations, breeds of animals, stock judging, farm buildings, insects and diseases of farm animals, and of crops, etc. A special feature will be the study of methods of soil improvement by natural means.

In the course to be devoted to dairy farming instruction will be given in the composition of soils, manures and fertilizers, construction of dairy buildings, the growth of forage crops, composition of seeds and the making of rations, breeding and care of animals, insects and disease of farm animals and crops, stock judging, butter making, testing, separating and handling milk. Special attention will be given to the production and handling of sanitary milk and cream for the city markets.

For fruit growers and market gardeners the studies will be the composition of soils, manures and fertilizers, propagation and breeding of plants, insects and diseases of fruit and vegetables, planting and pruning trees, packing and marketing fruit and vegetables, spraying machinery (many forms of which will be on hand), the preparation and application of sprays, farm buildings and farm machinery. Throughout the course students will be given practical work in the different operations.

And That's All.

"Yes," said the wise bachelor, "woman's just a creature of impulse. When she will she will and that's all there is about it."

"That may be true," replied the young man who had hoped to be married, "but sometimes she merely says she will."

A Word of Warning.

Skorcher—O, yes, I'm quite expert with my auto now. What I know about roadracing would fill an interesting book.

Kandor—And what you don't know about it may fill a grave for your soon.

The Elizabeth Times nine has called off Saturday's games with the Newspaper Men. "Doc" Anderson, the captain-manager, says the combination can't get together before August and the contest will have to go over until then.

William Frey, formerly of North Plainfield, is in charge of the soda water and ginger pop concession on the Jersey City ball grounds.

The Daabsters will play the Jersey City Eastern League team in Hoboken on Saturday, September 29.

Willie Deegan is aggrieved because the newspapers on Monday didn't elucidate the fact that he pitched practically the whole fifteen innings against the Cuban X Giants in the nerve-racking tie battle, and that Dwyer only twirled a part of the first stanza. The papers just said "Dwyer and Deegan, p," and some people had an idea that Willie was pried from the box to save the day, while folks with the opposite notion couldn't be sure of it. Willie pitched as he never pitched before, and he was a stone wall in the path of the Giants all the way, and as much in the fifteenth inning as in the second. The Jersey City Journal declared the game to be the greatest ever played in Hudson county.

Rev. John McMurray, formerly of the Monroe Avenue church, now in charge of a Jersey City church, is as much a baseball fan nowadays as when he was in this city. Mr. McMurray never missed a game in the old City League, and he has only let two games go by in all the time the Jersey Citys have played at home since going to his charge there. A Plainfielder met him at the game in West Side Park yesterday, and he talked with all his old-time enthusiasm of the sport. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, is as much of an enthusiast as Mr. McMurray, but he never goes to a game. He loves the sport so that whenever game, but he doesn't dare go to one. He loves the sport so that whenever he sees it he is seized with the fever to play, and the memory of the clerical proprieties that make it impossible to dig up diamond dust in fast company gives him the fidgets and spoils his sport. In his salad days Mr. McKelvey was a fast ballist. He played with the Orange team in its palmiest days, when Orange was the pick of the independent nines in the metropolitan district, and he was rated as one of their most valuable men.

GODDARD AND CARTER LOSE IN SEMI-FINALS AT WESTFIELD.

Country Club Team Forced Out of Tennis Tournament by Pair from Crescent A. C.—Finals Saturday.

Fred W. Goddard and Harry Carter, of the Plainfield Country Club, went down to defeat before the fast pair from the Crescent A. C. in the semi-final round of the open championship tennis tournament at the Westfield Club yesterday afternoon. Theirs was the only match of the day. Their win in the match against the Ferriss Brothers, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, last Saturday, put them against Morris W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder, of the Crescent A. C. The Plainfield pair were outplayed, for they went down by scores of 6-2 and 6-4 for the two sets of the match.

The title in the tournament will be decided Saturday afternoon at Westfield, when C. Miller and B. Berry, of the Ilderan Outing Club, will play Miles S. Charlock and Harry McK. Glazebrook, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, in the semi-finals and will then meet Morris W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder in contest for the title. The finals will be best out of five sets. A title cup has been offered by the Westfield Club to the winning pair, and the runner-up team will also receive cups.

"MARTY" O'LOUGHLIN IN FORM FOR NEXT WEEK'S TOURNEY.

Country Club "Pro" Playing First Rate Golf, and Should Make Good Showing.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional golfer of the Country Club, went to New York this morning with C. B. Morgan to play around the Van Cortlandt Park links before the big "pro" tournament, in which he is entered, comes off. Match play will be begun Monday at the Van Cortlandt Park course, and a big field of professionals entered will make it necessary for the play to run over to Tuesday.

"Marty" is playing in top form this year, and has been on the local course regularly for the past week, working up his game for this match and a try at the Metropolitan Championship at Hollywood. In foursome play at the club course Monday, C. B. Morgan and "Marty" won from Robert Abbott and Dudley Barrows one up on 19 holes, and Tuesday, the same pairs started out on an eighteen hole match, which took twenty-four holes of play to decide. "Marty" won the match by making the last hole, 330 yards, in a three, putting him one up on the 24 holes.

RARE ANTIQUES MISSING.

Countess Castelmenado, of Teaneck, who is a niece of the late William Walter Phelps and a direct descendant of President Martin Van Buren, has instructed her attorneys to investigate the loss of $15,000 worth of antiques, which she says were stolen during a fire on June 25 in a storage house in Hackensack, wher the articles were stored. She says the intrinsic value of the antiques amounts to many thousands of dollars, to say nothing of the added worth which attaches to most of the articles because of the associations. It was reported that some of the volunteer firemen had carried away valuable articles as souvenirs.

Countess Castelmenado declares she is certain the firemen carried away some of her property because she personally recovered a silver teapot from a company foreman. It is also said that a valuable pair of opera glasses and a Japanese album were restored in like manner by firemen.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS ELECTION OFFICERS.

Completes Nearly All County Boards By Naming Republican Members.

Trenton, July 26.—Governor Stokes yesterday appointed the Republican members of the County Boards of Election. He named the Democratic members a few weeks ago.

No appointments were made yesterday for the counties of Somerset and Union, because the leaders have failed to make the necessary recommendations to Frank O. Briggs, chairman of the Republican State Committee. In many cases the election officers are the same as last year.

Henry F. Dougherty succeeds Thomas G. Hoffman in Cape May county, and Furman H. Lloyd succeeds D. Harris Smith, the Salem county members of the board, who resigned.

The appointments in full are as follows: Atlantic, Frank E. Adams; Pleasantville; Bergen, Abraham C. Holrum, Riverside; Burlington, Walter E. Borden, Jacobstown; Camden, Edwin L. Wilcox, Blackwood; Cape May, Henry F. Dougherty, Cape May Court House; Cumberland, John R. Radcliffe, Millville; Essex, Samuel C. Martin, Belleville; Gloucester, George E. Pierson, Woodbury; Hudson, Harry F. Thompson, Hoboken; Hunterdon, John T. Force, Glen Gardner; Mercer, Holmes E. La Rue, Trenton; Middlesex, James H. Suydam, Jamesburg; Monmouth, John C. Patterson, Ocean Grove; Morris, Sydney Collins, Rockaway; Ocean, Mark Bailey, Toms River; Passaic, Stephen Dawson, Paterson; Salem, Henry Coombs, Elmer; Sussex, Albert D. Cornell, Stillwater; Warren, William M. Evert, Hackettstown.

NOT THE ROBBERS OF PAYMASTERS.

Men Accused of Hold-Ups and of Taking $5,000 Are Acquitted by the Court.

After a two days' trial, Antonio Cafarro and Cosimo Sciortino were acquitted yesterday at New Brunswick of the charge of holding up and robbing last December 29 Paymaster Schieck and Foreman Harkins, of the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company, in Highland Park.

Schieck and Harkins were held up by masked men and robbed of $5,000, designed to pay the construction gang engaged in laying telephone conduits for the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. Pinkerton detectives "fastened the crime" upon Sciortino and Cafarro, and they had been in jail since early in February.

The case against them was so purely circumstantial that Judge Booraem refused to let it go to the jury, directing a verdict of acquittal.

The men have also been indicted for conspiracy to rob the paymaster. The bail in that case was reduced by Judge Booraem from $2,000 to $1,000, and trial was set down for next Wednesday.

The detectives built up the case against the men upon the finding of a gun in the canal which was said to belong to a brother of Cafarro.

THINKS PRAYERS CURED HIM.

Davis Declares Five Doctors Said He Would Die of Consumption.

Morristown, July 26.—Believing that he has been cured of consumption by prayer after several local physicians, backed by specialists, had given him up, Charles H. Davis, of 35 Water street, is telling this story of his recovery. He is a member of a Morristown faith cure band and is employed at mason work. He said last night:

'Last fall I was taken sick with pneumonia which was followed by hasty consumption. Five doctors said I had it. For five months I was under the doctors' care, but every day I grew worse. Finally a member of the Apostolic Church asked that they might hold a prayer meeting in my house. I consented. They came and prayed with me. The second time they came they laid hands on me. That night the fever left me and I slept better than I had for months before. Next morning when the doctor came he could not understand why my fever had left so suddenly, and said it was a miracle. Instead of giving God the glory I praised the doctor and my fever returned. Then one of the brethren told my family that he felt that God was going to bring me down to where the doctors would have to give me up. From that day I grew worse. One day the doctor told my family I was dying. God's people had not given me up and God heard them. The doctor said that one lung had been destroyed and that the other was greatly affected. Two or three days after that he said he did not understand why I was not dead. A few days later a Government doctor came from Newark to examine me for a pension. He said I had consumption and that I would never be able to get up. About a week from that time I was able to walk out and eat with my family. I was hurt in the shoulder about twenty years ago. The arm became paralyzed and four doctors said I would never have the use of it. At prayer meeting one Friday night I asked prayers for my arm and on Sunday morning I was able to swing it all around my head. This I had not been able to do for years."

Miss Ethelwyn Hoyt, of West Seventh street, and her father, Dr. E. F. Hoyt, New York City, will sail on La Provence today for a six weeks' stay in Paris.

LITERARY.

The August Lippincott's has made "diversion" its standard, strictly excluding anything heavy or likely to contain a sleeping-potion. The result is a well rounded number of infinite variety. There is the complete novelette, "An Adventure in Arcady," by Ralph Henry Barbour, which is an ideal summer love-story. That Mr. Barbour is past-master in the art of love-making has been proven in his charming novels, "Kitty of the Roses" and "An Orchard Princess." Whether this perfection has been attained through practice or is the outcome of an imaginative mind aided by an acute observation—is the autnor's secret. In bright dialogue and clever situation he also excels; while the ending never disappoints—beyond the fact that the story is finished. Carolyn Wells contributes "The Mystery of the Jade Buddha, which is the story of a house-party at which one of the guests does some pretty detective work; "Born to be Hanged" is a farcical Western sketch by Caroline Lockhart; pathos, which narrowly escapes tragedy, as well as a strongly humorous side, are evident in Mary Moss' admirable tale called "Shore Leave;" the "Miss Lucy" humorous sketches which appear at intervals in Lippincott's have won many friends. The latest in this series is "Miss Lucy and the Simple Life."

Ten short stories, all of the first quality, are included in that remarkable "fiction number," the August Everybody's. Some readers want a love story; others prefer one with adventure, excitement, danger. Lloyd Osbourne has combined both elements in his "automobile love story," "Three Speeds Forward," a masterpiece of humor, vivacity, and adroit incident. This might be called the best story of the month, if it were not for O. Henry's "A Ruler of Men," which is as good a thing as this famous short-story writer has ever done. There is a surprise and a sparkle in every sentence. Nor is it merely a magazine "feature;" it will live in literature. Then there is Jack London's true-to-life story, "Brown Wolf." If you have a dog, or ever knew a dog, or merely wish you had, you will like this story. It's delightfully full of real dog nature—and human nature, too. Everybody knows, however, that the world is full of facts almost more interesting than any the story-writers can advise. In this month's instalment of "Soldiers of the Common Good," for instance, Charles Edward Russell continues his searching studies of foreign nations and institutions with a second article of apan. It is worth while— it is even imperative, if you are concerned with statesmanship, commerce, or any phase of sociology —to read this narrative of a little nation's economic foresight, sound statecraft, and commercial initiative. There are matters in which ours is a sleepy nation compared with this infant rival.

WHY HE DROWNED.

While bathing one day, Henry Vawter
Went farther from land than he oughter;
He drowned right away.

He couldn't drink all of the water.

Unread Service.

All bachelors and spinsters in our parish seem to have come to the conclusion that the Latin poet was right in saying that no life is equal to that of the unmarried, for there has been no wedding in our church since last July, and it is 20 years since the marriage service was for so long unread.—Border Churchman.

Mrs. Ann Field.

Mrs. Ann Field, colored, a former resident of Plainfield, died last night at her home in Westfield. She lived for many years on West Second street near Plainfield avenue and moved away but a short time ago. The funeral will be held at Runyon & Son's parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—A big trolley party from Newark is expected at Tier's Lake House tomorrow night. The committee has asked for arrangements for 120.

Seely Edsall will conduct a praise and testimony meeting at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Agnes Bailey will be the soloist.

W. J. KEYS HEARD FROM

Somerset County Democratic Chairman Lets His Plans Be Known.

HARMONY HIS TUNE

Would Add to County Committee Ten Advisers From Each District—Stevens for Congress.

William J. Keys, chairman of the Somerset County Democratic Committee, is determined to abolish all factional fights in the party this fall and will in the near future assemble the county committee and endeavor to have that body adopt a resolution empowering him to appoint ten men from each polling district in the county to act as an advisory committee in connection with the regular county body in making up the party's ticket.

The only county office to be filled in Somerset next fall is that of Assemblyman, but as a Congressman will also be elected from this district, Mr. Keys wants the party to present a solid front and nominate candidates who can win.

The recent declaration of principles which the State committee published, Mr. Keys thinks, indicates just where the party stands on all questions of interest to the people and, he says, he sees no reason why the Democrats cannot elect their Assembly candidates in Somerset and give the Congressional candidate a good majority at the next election.

When seen by a reporter, Mr. Keys said:

"The Democratic party may have done wrong in the past, and even though it has, that is no reason why its motives should be questioned now. The advocates of what is styled as the 'new idea' frankly admit that they have been identified with the Republican bosses, that they have participated in everything that their party has done against the people, but say they have seen the error of their way and have reformed, and now ask the citizens of every county to place them in office in order that they might end what they in co-operation with the bosses of their party are responsible for.

"No one questions their motives, at least so they think. Personally I do not question the motive that impels any man to reform, no matter what his sins may be, but these very people criticize the Democratic party and say we are trying to deceive the people by publishing alluring platforms and a declaration of principles better than their own.

"I am for good government, first, last and all the time. No man is my boss and I feel that my record in the Senate, 1890-93, will bear out this statement.

"The Democratic party has not been in power for over twelve years. So far as the party in this county is concerned, it cannot be criticized, and if we have done wrong in State politics we, too, should be given a chance to show that a reformation has taken place.

"As chairman of the county committee I am anxious that all factional difference be wiped out. There is absolutely nothing to be gained by wrangling, and in looking over the situation in the county I find there is a lot of petty strife. The only way to overcome this is to take every section of the county right into the confidence of your committee and by appointing ten men from every polling place in the county I am sure a better ticket will be made up and better results attained. The choosing of candidates for public office cannot be regarded in the light of a star-chamber proceeding. There should be no secrets about the selection made. It is the business of every voter to have a hand in the nominating of all candidates."

"Whom do you regard as a possible Congressional candidate?" Mr. Keys was asked.

"Robert Stevens," he said, "will no doubt be the choice of Somerset county, provided he will accept the nomination. Mr. Stevens made an excellent run in 1904. Hunterdon and Mercer counties may have some other candidate with strength enough to secure the nomination. I can only speak for Somerset county."

She Is Not Married.

Miss May Hurst, of Netherwood avenue, whose alleged marriage to Harry Stewart, at Atlantic City two weeks ago, was announced yesterday, has emphatically denied the report. She says there are no grounds for friends spreading such a statement. Friends of the alleged groom, however, say that he made the announcement himself.

—Colonel Hacquer is planning to deliver his series of lectures to the Newspaper Men's team on baseball "As I Play It."

Mrs. Albert Darby, of Grove street, is spending a part of the summer out of town.

FIRST CHINAMAN TO BE SUED IN PLAINFIELD

DAMAGE SUIT SCARES CHARLEY HAM WITH VISIONS OF TORTURE CHAMBER.

For the first time in the history of the civil courts of Plainfield, a Chinaman has been sued for damages. The case is Max Leitner, of the Plainfield Cleaning and Press Company, against Charley Ham, who has a laundry on Somerset street.

Leitner has sued Charley in the District Court for $50. He claims damages for three pairs of trousers which the laundryman is alleged to have ruined in attempting to wash them. The case will be heard next Tuesday. F. J. Huff is the plaintiff's lawyer.

Charley was much flustered when Court Officer Hand served the papers in the suit on him. He thinks the torture chamber awaits him, and is getting deeper in a blue funk every day.

"Mandarin velly much powerful," he sighed to a reporter this morning. "He is first chop and havee tellible pinchee-pinchee machine. Maybe Charley losee allee money if no makee whattee cleanee man say, and cleanee man sure say allee samee give everything." Charley sank his voice. "Say, you know mandarin? Can fix up for Charley so no pinchee-pinchee machine? Give much cash."

The reporter promised Charley to have the pinchee-pinchee cut out for nothing, and the agitated Chinaman called him his father and his mother and sixteen generations of ancestors.

"Charley burn joss-stick for leporter every day he born and makee feast," he said gratefully.

YOUNG SECTION HAND MEETS A TERRIBLE DEATH

STEPPED IN FRONT OF AN EXPRESS TRAVELING SIXTY MILES AN HOUR.

John Maldo, a young section hand employed in the gang supervised by Section Boss Mann, of this city, was struck and instantly killed by a Blue Line Flyer at Terrill road, yesterday afternoon. He waited for a freight train to pass and not noticing the approach of the express, stepped directly in front of the locomotive. It was traveling at a speed of sixty miles an hour and Maldo's body was hurled high in the air and then dropped to one side of the track. The head was crushed in and there were other injuries that would have caused death in a few minutes.

The victim was twenty-three years old and lived in Jersey City where he leaves a number of relatives. They were informed of the accident but had not claimed the body up to noon today. It was brought to this city and is still at Cole's undertaking rooms.

NEW COLBY CLUB.

Pat Kane Organizes One at His Peanut Parlor On North Avenue.

Pat Kane, who runs a peanut bank on North avenue, has organized a Colby Club. Pat is the whole club so far, but he has seven other members in sight.

"I am for reform," said Pat this morning. "Sure, I got a letter from what's-his-name himself. A fine letter. He says its a good move, and to keep it agoin'. He's a fine man, this here—what-d'yer-call him? Collboy? Oh, yes, Colby—Colby. Well this here Colby is right, I'm telling you, and what he believes is my sentiments."

The meetings of the club will be held in the peanut bank.

A Patriotic Service.

A service of special interest is to be held at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will be the speaker. Arrangements have been made for an orchestra and a chorus choir. National hymns are to be sung, and extensive decorations of national colors have been arranged for. The entire service is to be of a patriotic nature, and promises to be one of the most interesting in the series. A general invitation to Plainfield people to participate in this service is given. A national souvenir arranged for the occasion is to be distributed.

Last Bit of Tarvia.

The left-over tarvia has been spread on West Ninth street, between Arlington avenue and College place. Commissioner Gavett will now watch results.

Democratic City Committee Meeting.

The Democratic City Committee will hold a meeting in the parlors at the Hotel Kensington tonight. All members of the party are invited to attend.

TO SIZE UP 'NEW IDEA'

Senator Frelinghuysen Calls Meeting of Somerset Co. Republican Committee.

PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

Session to Be Held at Cawley's Hotel, Somerville, on Saturday, Aug. 11—Topic for the Session.

Although it anticipates that the "new idea" movement will cut little figure in the coming campaign, the Somerset County Republican Committee is astir at this early stage of the game. Senator Joseph H. Frelinghuysen, of Raritan, the county chairman, has issued a call for a meeting to be held on Saturday afternoon, August 11. Every member has been urged to be present at the session, which will be held at Cawley's hotel, Somerville.

One of the principal matters, it is said, to come before the committee, will be the usual election and board appointments. Another topic will be an informal discussion of probable candidates for the Assembly. An assemblymanship is the only nomination to be made this fall in Somerset and the regular organization is anxious to secure as strong a candidate as possible in order to defeat any aims of the Colbyites.

Reports will be received from every member of the committee concerning the situation in his district particularly as respects the strength of the Colbyites. It is said that the only place where the "new idea" has made any headway is in North Plainfield, although it has some followers in Somerville.

The county chairman's lieutenants will keep their eye on the Colby meeting to be held in Somerset hall, Somerville, on Monday night. They believe that the attendance and a parent enthusiasm will furnish some indication of how strong the movement has become within the confines of Somerset county. Each member of the regular committee will be informed at the meeting on August 11 who from his district were at the Colbyites gathering. In this way it is expected that some of the converts, at least, may be reclaimed.

The North Plainfield committeemen are Edwin S. Hooley, of the Second district, and William G. Debele, of the First.

A DAIRYMAN WHO HAS MILK OF HUMAN KINDNESS.

Stewart Tompkins Paid Woman's Fine For Her Child's Sake.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goff, thirty-six years old, of 515 West Fourth street, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, for stealing a bottle of milk from in front of C. O. Smith's grocery store, Fourth and Liberty streets, early this morning. Mr. Smith has been missing a bottle of milk a day for about a month, and when he complained to the police yesterday, Officer Vanderweg was instructed to watch the corner in the dawn hours. His vigil resulted in the discovery of Mrs. Goff redhanded.

She is supposed to have taken all the milk, but she swore earnestly to the magistrate that this morning was the first time she had taken a bottle. Appearances were against her, and the court refused to believe her protestations.

"This might easily be a serious matter for you," said the judge, "but I will let you off if you pay Mr. Smith for his milk and the dairyman for his bottles."

Mrs. Goff agreed, and sent her son home for $2.60, the amount that covered the loss. Sentence had hardly been passed when the dairyman, Stewart Tompkins, walked to the desk and pulled the $2.60 from his pocket.

"I can't stand to see her punished," he said compassionately. "She's got a little baby, and for the child's sake I want to pay this myself."

Mrs. Goff was released.

Outing to South Beach.

In two special cars, 150 members of the church and Sunday-school of the A. M. E. Zion church, had an outing to South Beach, Staten Island, yesterday. The start was made from the trolley station at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the excursionists arrived in this city after spending the entire day at the beach, at shortly after 9 o'clock in the evening. The outing was in charge of a committee of the church people, and was a financial success. Rev. Miles Warwick, acting pastor of the church during the absence of Rev. Henry C. Ashley, the pastor, who is recuperating at Atlantic City, made the trip with the excursionists.

Pat's Sunday Business.

Pat Kane denies the report that he has changed his religion. He says his Seventh-day ideas are confined solely to his business.

BEGIN WORK ON FACTORY

Vacuum Cleaner Company's Plant to be Completed By September.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Main Building to Be 200 Feet Long —Located Opposite Netherwood Avenue Station.

Ground was broken today for the erection of a large factory for the Vacuum Cleaner Company, of New York, of which David T. Kenney, of North Plainfield, is president. The plant will be located on North avenue, almost opposite the Netherwood avenue station and just west of the William H. Rogers Silverware Company's plant. It wil be two stories in height and will be thoroughly modern in construction and appointments.

The contract for the main factory and the brass foundry and power house has been awarded. John Abbott & Sons will be the carpenters and Tallamy Brothers the masons. The building will be of brick and mill construction and will be substantial throughout. No information could be gained as to the contract price.

The main building will be two hundred feet long and sixty feet wide and the brass foundry and power house forty feet long and eighty feet wide. It is announced that the buildings will be finished on or before September 1.

Two hundred men will be employed in the factory, where the vacuum cleaner machinery will be manufactured. The company will retain its offices on Fifth avenue and in Trinity place, New York. While President Kenney, the inventor of the cleaner device, will have supervision of the plant here, he will be personally represented by a superintendent on the ground.

OPPOSING THE WATER CO.

South Plainfielders Against Middlesex Water Co.'s Plan to Lead Mains to Pond.

SAY WATER IS IMPURE

Sentiment at New Market Meeting Last Night Opposed to Company.

In accordance with notices sent out by Dr. M. J. Whitford, secretary of the Piscataway Township Board of Health, a public meeting was held at New Market last evening to discuss the recent action of the Middlesex Water Company, which desires to connect its mains with the South Plainfield mill pond in order to be sure of a reserve supply of water. About fifteen members of the South Plainfield Good Government Club were present at the meeting, which was held at Thornton's Hotel, and the general sentiment was against any such action of the company. The reason for this is that the South Plainfielders believe that the water is impure and that it would not be safe to use it for drinking purposes. No definite action was taken against the company, but it was decided to refer the matter to the State Board of Health and to insist upon an analysis of the water before anything is done by the company.

The reason for the company's action is merely a safe guard for the water supply. The main supply is taken from wells, and is known to be pure, but there is a possibility that this supply will not always be constant, for it has failed during dry spells. Addresses were made on the matter by John I. Holly, chairman of the committee composed of William E. Smith, Samuel R. Manning, J. Adams, Peter J. McDonough, B. Horn and William Hamilton, of the South Plainfield Good Government Club, and by other members of the committee. Charles Kellogg, the representative of the State Board of Health, also spoke, and there was a long general discussion.

The Middlesex Water Company is at present engaged in building a filtration plant on the shore of the pond, and the work is well under way. A gang of men are employed in the construction, which is being put through as rapidly as possible. No mains have as yet been laid.

RUNYON ON THE STUMP

Colbyite Assembly Candidate Carries Campaign into Perkins' District.

ALSO INTO CRANFORD

Proclaims His Regularity as a Republican—Will Support Perkins If He Wins Battle at the Primaries.

Judge Runyon carried the war into Assemblyman Perkins' country last night. With Record and other leaders in the reform fight, he spoke at meetings in Westfield and Cranford.

Small crowds came out. There were only about fifty people at Westfield, and while the attendance at Cranford was better, the effect of summer somnolence was very much in evidence. To the warmth of the weather at Westfield was added the absence of advertisement. The meeting was decided upon only three days ago, and not many more people than the number that turned out had heard of it.

Judge Runyon spoke first at Cranford. In both places his speech was much the same. He spoke with the earnestness that is characteristic of him, and an added forcibility marked his speeches through a steady adherence to simplicity and a total lack of oratorical fights.

He told the Westfield audience, which gathered in the Westfield Club hall, that he did not feel like one coming to the enemy's country. He was a Republican, and intended to remain one. If Mr. Perkins won at the primaries, he would support him loyally.

But there were things that moved him to battle for the defeat of the Westfielder, continued the Judge. He recounted the history, in outline, of the growth of the machine system and of the alleged domination of the bosses. Things had come to a pass, he said, where men were no longer chosen for offices of dignity and importance on the score of worth and fitness. John Kean had been sent to the Senate simply because his money bags had been emptied into the party treasury, and for some reason, in the course of time, Dryden had been given the prize for the same reason, instead of ex-Governor Griggs.

The new idea was designed to make such misuse of the people's possessions impossible. The new idea itself was really not new at all. It was the same thing that had been enunciated in the Declaration of Independence.

The Judge told of his awakening after years of service with the machine here, in the Second ward. He had suspected that things were not properly conducted, and in time he had learned that the practices of the machine men were so bad that men who desired to be honest in their politics could not countenance them. He had seen the colored vote purchased and the electorate corrupted. Just about the time he had made up his mind to clear himself of his besmirching associations Colby had come to him and made it plain that his duty in supporting the reform movement.

He was not advocating factionalism or party splits, the speaker said in conclusion. He simply spoke and worked to bring about independent thinking in the party. Party loyalty did not demand unswerving obedience to the dictates of a few self-constituted "leaders." Voters could think for themselves, and work to bring about within the party those conditions that they desired, no matter what the so-called leaders wanted, without losing one iota of regularity or loyalty to party.

Corporation Counsel George L. Record and Assemblyman Theodore L. Bierck, of Hudson, spoke in both places. Mr. Record told his hearers the story with which the people of Newark, Jersey City and Plainfield have become familiar. Mr. Bierck recounted experiences in the Legislature similar to those that made Colby a reformer. James W. McCarthy, president of the Jersey City Board of Aldermen, spoke at Cranford.

Professor A. R. Merriam to Preach.

REUNION OF ZEPHYR BOYS ON AUGUST 5

CLAM BAKE TO BRING TOGETHER THE OLD VOLUNTEER FIREMEN.

At a meeting held in Blimm's hotel on Somerset street, last night, the members of the old Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company decided to hold a reunion. It will take place on Sunday, August 5, and will be in the nature of a clam bake only for the members and a few invited friends. When the matter was first projected it was thought the affair could be conducted on a large scale, with a parade and dinner, but the smallness of the company at present made this impossible.

The bake will take place in the grove at the foot of Jefferson avenue, where the Hooligan Association has held its gatherings. It is a pleasant spot, almost an ideal one for a gathering of this kind, and the Zephyr boys are sure to find the surroundings congenial. If the affair proves successful, more extensive plans will be made for a second reunion when other companies may be induced to join in the movement.

The following committee was appointed last night to complete all arrangements for the bake: Jacob Blimm, Sr., president; George Mehl, John Ammon, George Studer and Thomas Hughes.

"MARTY" O'LOUGHLIN BROKE COURSE RECORD

MAKES SEASON'S BEST SCORE AT VAN-COURTLAND PARK.

In playing around the Van Courtlandt Park golf course "just practising" yesterday, "Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional of the Country Club, made the lowest qualified score for the eighteen hole course this season. He went in to New York yesterday with C. B. Morgan, of the Country Club, to play around the course where the big professional tournament is to be held next week. His card showed a 73.

"Marty" was in fine form, and although he had never played on the Van Courtlandt links before, he used good judgment on his shots and got off some first class drives in the play around yesterday afternoon. Morgan, who played around with him, made an 82, several strokes better than Col. Bogel. With "Marty" breaking the season's record for the course as a stranger on the links, it looks good for a first class showing by the Plainfield boy among the "pros."

FELL SEVEN STEPS DESCENDING STAIRS WITH CHILD IN ARMS.

Mrs. James Blair Painfully Injured In Accident at Sister-In-Law's Home.

Losing her footing while descending the staircase at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Adam Blair, of Park avenue, Mrs. James R. Blair, of Duer street, fell down seven steps with her baby in her arms last evening. Her efforts to save the child from injury were successful, but, while the baby was unhurt, Mrs. Blair was badly bruised about the face and side by the falll.

The accident was due to the fact that Mrs. Blair slipped on the polished hardwood step, losing her balance when the baby became restless in her arms as she was carrying it down.

T. A. B. Society Dance.

The T. A. B. Society of St. Mary's church, had a big dance at T. A. B. Hall last evening for the benefit of the fund for the erection of a new convent in connection with St. Mary's church. The affair was attended by about 300 dancers, and proved a great success. Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished the music. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of M. D. O'Keefe, chairman; Edward G. Lynch, David Doyle, Thomas Caulfield, Miles Wilson and John Kyle.

Cows In the Corn.

Hearing in the action brought by William Uhrhahan, of Regent street, against Charles Wyckoff, of Stone street, for alleged damages to Uhrhahan's crop of corn by his cows, will come up before Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy at the session of court in the borough today. Uhrhahan is suing for the loss of his crop, which was trampled and eaten by Wyckoff's cows, it is alleged.

Funeral of Stephen Davis.

The funeral of Stephen Davis, the former well known Plainfielder, was held at his late home on Plane street, Newark, yesterday. It was attended by a large gathering including many friends from this city. Interment was made at Newark.

ANOTHER DEEP SECRET

Fire Committee Busy For Three Hours But No One Knows About What.

MEMBERS' LIPS SEALED

Testimony Taken From Outsiders, But They Are Also Silent—Truck Accident Probably Discussed.

The fire committee of the City Council held a conference in the Council Chambers, last night. It lasted until after 10 o'clock and to the observer on the outside seemed to be an interesting session, but why it was called and what was done are matters that those not present have been left to decide for themselves. Chairman Mellick declared to a Daily Press reported over the 'phone from New York today, that he had gotten the members together and that his purpose was to "discuss several matters concerning the department before he went away." The other members of the Council in attendance, Messrs. Tolles, Gloak, Buxton and Montgomery, stated that their lips were sealed and if it was all the same to the newspapermen that they look elsewhere for information.

In view of the fact that there are several matters concerning the department that the public is very much interested in at present the conference has excited a lot of talk and as a result rumors are as plentiful as seekers for free tickets on the Union County Republican outing. Whatever the matters were that engaged the attention of the committee, the fact remains that they needed witnesses to enlighten them as there were several called to give testimony. One of them was seen leaving the Council Chamber and when questioned admitted that he had been asked to tell what he knew about a "certain matter" but after that his memory left him and he failed to recall anything more.

An impression prevails that the recent accident to No. 1 truck took up the greater part of the time and this probably is correct. At the conference held last week, this was touched upon but after getting a statement from Chief Doane, it was decided to let the investigations go over until Driver Harry Bush was in a condition to appear before the committee. Several stories about the affair have since cropped up, however.

The recent order passed out, transferring all the captains, is another matter that is still being discussed on the outside and it may have been that the committee did not pass it over last night. Beside these there are some other matters that have leaked out that might be included in Mr. Mellick's category and all in all it must have been an interesting session.

Little Daughter Buried.

The funeral of Caroline L. Hewitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hewitt, was conducted at the home of her parents on Fritz place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The service was in charge of Rev. J. O. McKelvey and were impressively simple. The Misses Alice and Jennie DeMott sang two vocal duets, "Face to Face" and "Sleep On, Beloved." Four uncles of the little girl acted as pall bearers. The interment was in the Methodist cemetery.

Miss Glaentzer Entertains.

Miss Edith Glaentzer, of New street, acted as hostess for a dozen young friends from this city and Trenton at her home, last night. Several hours were passed delightfully with music, games and dancing. The gathering also enjoyed vocal selections given by Miss Effie Bailey and Miss Amy Moore. Refreshments were served at the close.

Placing Wires Underground.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The town fire bell was pealed for the Brickoff fire at New Market Wednesday night, and many of the engine company went to the house and took the truck out. The flames from the burning hay illuminated the sky so that it was thought that the fire was in West Dunellen. The truck was brought back, however, when it was seen how far the fire was away. There is quite a little indignation among the firemen against certain small boys who pulled the bell ropes, summoning the company, and there is talk of bringing the matter up before the Borough Council.

A movement is on foot among the employes of Levering & Garrigues' shops to form a gymnastic club for the use of the men employed. It is planned to rent a hall in the vicinity of the shops and fit it up as a gymnasium, where the men can spend their time during noon hours and, if they wish to, of an evening. Nothing definite has been done about the matter as yet, but many are interested in the plan, and it may lead to the shopmen becoming active in the fall and winter sports, for it is planned to have a football team and a basketball five.

Issue No. 1 of Volume XV of the Dunellen Call appeared yesterday. With the beginning of the new volume, the paper has been enlarged to a four page 18 by 24 inch sheet, with the usual fiction supplement of four pages. Proprietor George W. Day has received many congratulations upon the more metropolitan appearance of the sheet.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will meet Charles Bender, of Plainfield, in a match of tennis on the local courts this afternoon. Bender was formerly singles champion of Indiana, while the dominie has won considerable repute with the racket in the borough.

About 300 Dunellenites attended the outing of the Methodists at Asbury Park yesterday. The day was a most enjoyable one at the shore, and without accident. The special arrived in town at about 9:20 on the return trip, making the run up in two hours and a quarter.

Mrs. Catherine Maier, Miss Catherine Maier, Joseph Maier, Mrs. Terrance Ronayne and Miss Agnes Ronayne spent Wednesday at Somerville as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoch.

Ex-Councilman Louis Synder, who for a long time has been suffering with intermittent malaria, is planning a recuperation trip for a part of next month.

Mrs. Annie Runyon, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her father, Recorder David Campbell, for a few days.

Charles Clark, who has been on the sick list for the past few days, is able to be about again.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The Riverside-local ball game tomorrow afternoon on the home grounds should be one of the best games of the season. The visitors are one of Rahway's fastest teams, and defeated the locals early in the season by a close score.

Edward L. Hand's two houses on Westfield avenue are about completed, and will be ready for occupancy about the first of the month.

There will be fireworks as an additional attraction at the weekly band concert at Concert Park tonight.

John Kyte, of the borough, is taking a summer course of study at Columbia College, N. Y.

Rev. T. Moore-Smith will lead the prayer and praise meeting tonight at the Baptist church.

The Daabsters play a return game with the Invaders at Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a regular meeting last night in the library rooms.

Charles Elliott has taken a position with F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, of Plainfield.

Harry Goodwin is enjoying a ten days' vacation.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The committee appointed by the Good Government Club went to New Market last evening to protest against a complaint against the Middlesex Water Company using the lake water for drinking purposes until they really had used it and it was found detrimenal to health.

David Bigley enjoyed a ride with some friends in his new steam paddle-wheel boat on the lake last evening.

L. L. Ong will move into "Edgebrook" cottage the beginning of the week.

NOT A CASE OF ABDUCTION.

Young Man Who Ran Off With Girl Wedded Her in Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, July 27.—Duncan Cameron, twenty-two years old, who was arrested here yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Frank E. Burrill, of Quincy, Mass., charging him with abducting Margaret Smith, fifteen years old, of that place, was released from custody yesterday afternoon, as he proved to the satisfaction of Police Chief Tenney, of this city, that he and the girl had been married on Monday night here by Rev. Dr. Henry Hale Sleeper, rector of Grace Episcopal Church. The couple declared they had simply eloped in order to get married. The bridegroom has relatives at Elizabethport, with whom his bride is stopping. He is employed in the Fork River Company's shipyard at Quincy. Chief Tenney received a telegram from Chief Burrill stating that a warrant had been issued against Cameron for alleged abduction, but under the circumstances Elizabeth's chief had no alternative but to let the prisoner go.

Found With His Leg Broken.

Elizabeth, July 27.—Joshua Conover, who says he belongs to Jamesburg, was brought to the Pennsylvania Railroad station here yesterday on a freight train. He had sustained a bad compound fracture of the leg. Policeman Moser summoned the ambulance and the man was removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital. The authorities there have been unable as yet to learn anything of his history. It is thought he may have escaped from the Jamesburg Reformatory.

Semi-Centennial and Old Home Week at Hazelton.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad will sell tickets at low fares July 29th to August 5th, inclusive. Fare from South Plainfield, $3.60. Tickets good going and returning on all regular trains except the Black Diamond Express. Limited for return until August 6th, inclusive. AUTOISTS ALLEGE THEY'RE "HELD UP"

It Is Said that Rural Constables Impose On Drivers and Get Much Coin.

Elizabeth, July 27.—The most disgusted class of travelers these days through Union county, and the ones who are not slow in voicing their injured feelings, are the large and growing army of autoists who are now rushing across central New Jersey on their summer vacation runs. No class of citizens have been subject to more "hold ups" than these same enthusiasts. They invest a few hundreds or thousands of dollars in an automobile and when they venture out on a good stretch of road, and are beginning to let the breezy zephyrs fill their lungs, out from the waving pines dashes a pesky country constable or a State license sleuth, seeking to convict the innocent autoist of speeding to beat the Royal Blue express or being shy of a regulation certificate. From Union county to Cape May various attempts have been made to tie knots in the success and poularity of driving automobiles. Many of the schemes of the village constable show that their childhood perusals of the Jesse James, "Daring Ike" series, have begun to bear fruit. Ropes have been stretched across roads to intercept the gushing bride and bridegroom, who in the joyfulness of their honeymoon trip in hubby's new outo, have exceeded the speed limit, and watches, decorated with the traces of many haying times and clover harvests are used in timing the unsuspecting drivers. Others have dropped the plow, or forsaken the cabbage patch, unhooked the old musket from its accustomed hook in the attice spare room, and have stationed themselves along the taxable highways ready to earn an easy strip of their Uncle Sam's legal tender. They figure it out that as the old mortgage still warps the shingles on the gabled roof of the farmhouse, and as the fellow who can afford to ride in an auto should be "ready money" these country shylocks make a plungge for his wallet, and usually win out. The autoists claim that every piece of legislation passed relating to automobiles has been against their interests and they are beginning to wonder when this alleged imposition is going to be stopped.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

To what extremities an "opium fiend" will yield his pride, honor and manhood in order to find solace in his favorite stimulant, is astonishingly told in A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie," the melodramatic sensation which invites patronage at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. This play of scenic importance and manifold thrilling episodes, likewise shows how an insatisable craving for the life destroying drug can be checked through the medium of love bestowed upon the victim by a pure, unselfish girl, who goes through the fires of heart rending sufferings so as to keep the object of her affections out of temptation's way. A play that can shed so much gospel light and wholesome sentiment, while presenting a series of sensational stage pictures and affording novel as well as amusing entertainment to suit the popular fancy, must indeed be accepted as a welcome stranger by all who are devoted to the theatre's best offerings. This is A. H. Woods' biggest production and must be seen to be appreciated.

The New Plainfield theatre will have for its offering next Thursday night a new A. H. Woods' production entitled "Bertha, The Sewing Machine Girl," and will without doubt attract a large attendance. "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," it is understood, has received nothing but praise wherever it has been presented, and has, in fact, achieved a splendid success of the most flattering kind both artistically and financially. This is said to be due mainly to the fact of the absorbing interest of the story, which is said to be among the most powerful ever presented upon the dramatic stage in many years. "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl" is, moreover, an unusually elaborate scenic production, as in its four acts there are contained twelve complete and telling scenic sets, which are said to compare favorably with the best products of the studio. There is something of the same sort of magnetic charm about "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl" that made "The Two Orphans" such a lasting success; for Bertha too has a young sister who is blind, and depends upon her for food and guidance.

The frolics of boyhood are vividly brought back to us in A. H. Woods' sensational melodrama, "Queen of the Highbinders," which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, August 4. In the third scene of the second act of this strong and absorbing play, there is an exact reproduction of the Pleasure Pier at 129th street and Hudson River, New York—a tank of real water running across the stage. At the end of the pier is a floating raft with a little steam launch tied to it. Ikey and Sarah, the two good friends of Alice Stuart, the heroine, are seen sitting on the edge of the pier, their feet almost touching the water. Ikey is fast sleep, but still holds his rod. Kai Tong, leader of the Highbinders, who wishes to make Alice has slave, has learned the whereabouts of the poor girl and with Bettina, queen of the band, come to the pier in search of her. To escape her persecutors Alice rushes along the pier, her babe in her arms, the villains in full pursuit. As she nears the river she tells some boys, who are enjoying an invigorating bath, of her plight, and pleads with them to save her. Alice wants to reach the launch feeling if she can do so she and the little one will be safe for awhile at least. The boys agree to help her and form a sort of human bridge, and by stepping from shoulder to shoulder, Alice reaches the launch just as Tong and his accomplices arrive.

Boat Left Excursionists.

Elizabeth, July 27.—The annual excursion of Grace Episcopal church and Sunday-school took place Wednesday to North Beach, Long Island. There was a large attendance of pleasure seekers and the outing was a big success. The excursion boats started away from the wharf so promptly at the time specified that Rector Sleeper and half a dozen of his flock were left behind and had to come back to Elizabeth by way of New York. A similar thing happened at the outing of the police department of Elizabeth to North Beach in 1904.

James R. Joy and family, of Myrtle avenue, are planning to spend their summer vacation at Mouse Island, Maine.

MOTHER NEGLECTS CHILDREN.

Hoboken Woman Is Therefore Haled to Court.

Hoboken, July 27.—For the first time since the passage of the act under which the mother may be punished for the neglect of her children, a case of this kind was heard in Hoboken yesterday. About fifteen women in the neighborhood of 614 Grand street, visited Acting Recorder Laverty and complained that Mrs. Mary Tonneson, of that address, continually neglected her children and allowed them to be alone all day with nothing to eat. Mrs. Tonneson was haled to court and admitted having left her children alone and ascribed the cause to bad companions, who, she said, had induced her to drink. She stated that her husband, John Tonneson, was at present in the county jail, where he had been sent to await the action of the grand jury on a charge made by her that he had assaulted her. Mrs. Michael Higgins, of the same address as the Tonneson woman, testified that on more than one occasion the Tonneson children had appealed to her for food, and that she had fed and washed them.

C. W. Taylor, a shipbuilder, who had employed Tonneson, appeared in court and stated that Tonneson was a sober, industrious man and that had he (Taylor) known of his (Tonneson's) having been sent to jail he would have had him released long ago. Taylor then went on Tonneson's bonds and, on the promise that the family would move out of Hoboken, probably back to New Brunswick, whence it came, Acting Recorder Laverty allowed the woman to go free on parole. Taylor promised to see that Tonneson secured work wherever he decided to move to.

Former Gambling Den Sold.

Long Branch, July 27.—The Lovell property in Brighton avenue, this city, consisting of two houses and a sixty-four-foot lot, was sold Wednesday to Charles Higgins, a butcher, for $12,000. One of the buildings was formerly used as a clubhouse. It was run under the name of the Melbourne Club and was one of the little gambling dens which Justice Fort closed a few years ago. Mr. Higgins will make improvements to his new property.

Falls Down Stairs While on Visit.

Hoboken, July 27.—While visiting a friend at 209 Washington street, Wednesday night, Lawrence Spegecke, sixty-eight years old, stepped off a landing on the second floor of the house and fell down the entire flight. He was picked up unconscious and taken to St. Mary's Hospital. It was at first thought that his skull was fractured, but an examination proved that he sustained but a severe scalp wound.

COAL CASE IS RESTED.

Testimony Will Be Heard Next Tuesday at Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, July 27.—Counsel for the prosecutors in the certiorari proceedings before Supreme Court Commissioner Foster M. Voorhees, in the matter of reviewing the acts of the Board of Education in throwing out the bids of B. Jacobson & Son, for supplying the city schools with coal, although that firm's bids were the lowest, upon the ground that the firm was not responsible, rested yesterday afternoon, and City Attorney James C. Connolly will, on next Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, take testimony.

The grounds upon which Commissioner William F. Groves made the charges of irresponsibility at the open meeting of the Board of Education and which had, up to yesterday, been concealed by the counsel for the defense, City Attorney James C. Connolly, were brought forth in the form of four affidavits duly sworn and subscribed to by Janitor of School No. 2, C. C. Denton and John Abel and John R. Wheeler, assistant janitor of Battin High School. All the affidavits showed that a shortage in weight of coal had been reported in schools where the firm of B. Jacobson had supplied coal.

Justice Swayze, before whom this case will be argued, has agreed to listen to the arguments on the first Saturday in August in the county courthouse here. Mr. Connolly stated yesterday that he could not have his evidence all in and his briefs all ready by that time, as his testimony would be exhaustive. An effort will be made to have the justice set aside a special day to hear the arguments. Unless the suit is settled quickly, according to the counsel for the prosecution, there will be grave danger of the schools not being supplied with coal by the time the cold weather sets in because the writs act as a stay until the case has been decided or until the stay is released.

ALLEGE INFRINGEMENT OF PATENT RIGHTS.

Detroit Concern Brings Action Against Pike Adding Machine Company, of Orange.

Trenton, July 27.—The Pike Adding Machine Company, William H. Pike, Jr., Edmund G. Langhorne, John T. Langhorne and Walter B. Mauney, of Orange, have been made defendants in a suit for infringement of patent rights instituted in the United States Circuit Court by the Burroughs Adding Machine Company, of Detroit, Mich. The bill alleges that the defendant corporation is making adding machines which contain patented improvements legally and fully controlled by the complainant.

It is set forth in the bill that all of the defendants were at one time in the employ of the American Arithometer Company, which was the predecessor of the Burroughs company, and that the patents upon which infringement is alleged are on inventions by William H. Pike, Jr., and that these inventions were sold exclusively by Pike to the Burroughs company for $3,000.

No restraining order has been issued and no date has been set for argument.

Tug Used to Save Man's Life.

Hoboken, July 27.—In order to prevent his bleeding to death, the tug Empire was pressed into service Wednesday afternoon to carry Anthony Romo, twenty-one years old, of Grantwood, to this city, where he could receive medical aid. Romo had had his right foot torn off by a West Shore Railroad train at Edgewater, and was bleeding to death when the tug came to his assistance. After reaching here he was rushed to St. Mary's Hospital and the physicians at that institution have hopes of his recovery.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of West Seventh street, has joined his family at Squirrel Island, Maine, where they will spend the summer.

Yes, Congressman Fowler's banking bill is still pending.

Haven't heard of any sea serpents lately. Wish they'd repeal that Bishops' bill.

It will be conceded that the Democratic party is about as badly in need of some good stimulus as the State is of a new constitution.

The Newark Advertiser in commenting on former Governor Murphy's endorsement of United States Senator Dryden intimates that his opinion is valuable because he is a manufacturer. It can be easily seen that he truly is a manufacturer when he declares that Mr. Dryden is the "logical candiate."

DEAN FAVORS SUNDAY SALOON.

Would Permit Poor Man to Get a Pint of Beer at Noon.

Dean McNully, of Paterson, known throughout New Jersey as the "Apostle of Temperance" and hitherto the only man whom saloon keepers in Paterson feared, is in favor of a law permitting the opening of saloons from noon until 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoons.

"This new excise law is not well constructed," said the Dean yesterday. "Saloons remained closed until midnight Sundays and then disorder and drunkenness begin. We should permit the saloons to keep open between noon and 2 o'clock. That would give the poor man who wants his pail of beer on Sunday a chance to get it without evading the law. The trouble with some persons is that they want to regulate such things as the sale of liquor withouting facing the actual facts."

CHALLENGES "BISHOPS' LAW."

Lawyer Gets Order Testing Appointment of Board.

Judge Fort, of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, has granted a writ of certiorari for the review by a special branch of the court of the action of Judge Blaid, of the Court of Common Pleas, in Hudson county, in appointing four excise commissioners for Jersey City, under the new excise law, commonly called the Bishops' law.

J. Merritt Lane, who made the application in the interests of Mayor Fagan and his administration, challenged the law as unconstitutional. The writ will be argued before Judges Fort, Reed and Trenchard, in Jersey City, on July 30.

Miss Gill's Burial.

The burial of Miss Catharine Gill, who died at her home on Crescent avenue, yesterday morning, will be made from the parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Friends wishing to see the body can do so at that time. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery, New York.

BAYONNE HAS NOVELTY IN SHAPE OF GIRL DELIVERING TELEGRAMS

Bayonne, July 27.—Women doing policemen's duty is one of the many things that have been agitated here during the past year, but have not as yet been realized, and now there is little hope of ever seeing the fair sex patrolling the city streets in a uniform of blue. This city, however, boasts of a novelty that no other city in the country can claim, and that is a girl messenger, who works ten hours every day at the West Eighth street office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and with six messenger boys delivers telegrams to the company's patrons in all parts of the city. The messenger girl is Hilda Reise. She is fifteen years old and has been working as a messenger at the Eighth street office for the last year. Manager Titus, of the telegraph office, says Hilda delivers more telegrams every day than any one of the other six messenger boys he has. She is a bright and studious girl and when not engaged in the delivering of telegrams she studies telegraphy and has become quite expert at the key. Mr. Titus declared to a reporter last night, that Miss Reise was perhaps one girl of a hundred that woud accept such a position with boys and put her time to such good use when not engaged in her daily toil. Her presence in the telegraph office has had a tendency to elevate the moral standard of the boys, whom she frequently advises against smoking cigarettes, reading dime novels and using bad language. Hilda rides a wheel when delivering her messages. She thinks no more of going with a telegram to a boat anchored at the Constable Hook coal docks at 8 o'clock at night and passing through a section of the city inhabited by a rough element than she does about going to a fashionable residence on Trask avenue. Hilda Reise was obliged at an early age to earn her own living, her mother being a widow with two children much younger than Hilda. Mrs. Reise is at present employed as matron at the Central Railroad Station at West Eighth street. Manager Titus said that Hilda is the only girl messenger in regular service anywhere in the United States. Several times during messenger boy strikes in Chicago, he said, an effort was made to deliver telegrams by girl messengers. The scheme, however, was never a success. Miss Reise will soon be competent enough to take charge of a small telegraph office, and as soon as she is able to do so a place will be provided for her. She wears a uniform composed of a blue skirt, a blue flannel shirtwaist and an ordinary blue yachting cap with the telegraph company's badge fastened above the peak. When she first took the position as messenger she was the subject of considerable ridicule among the girls of her acquaintance, but unmindful of their taunts she has persevered. The newspaper man tried to interview Hilda yesterday afternoon, but she was uncommunicative, refusing to say much in reply to questions concerning her experience as a messenger girl. Asked for her photograph, she said: "I have never had time to have one taken."

W. C. T. U. TO HOLD MEETING.

Members of State Organization Will Hold Three Sessions.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey will hold a meeting at Mt. Tabor, Tuesday, August 7. It is expected that the State officers, president, Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. H. Demarest, of Closter; recording secretary, Eva M. Lake, M. Three-Legged Terrier.

H. B. Zimmerman, of New Brunswick, has a little fox terrier which has taken the liberty of adding six little terriers to his establishment. The striking feature of the family is that one of the pups has only three legs. The three appendages are in their proper places, with nothing at all where one forepaw aught to be. Mr. Zimmerman expects to have the dog in some circus or museum when it arrives at weeks of discretion.

Former Justice Sues Neighbors.

Justice Kitchen's court at Somerville was occupied yesterday by the suit of John B. Dunster, of Bernardsville, against Paul and Susan Jacobs for trespass. Mr. Dunster, who is a former justice of the peace of Bernardsville, charges the Jacobs with pasturing their cows on his land after repeatedly warning them to desist. There was a big array of witnesses present. Clarence E. Case appeared for the defendant and William E. Prout represented the plaintiff. There was an effort on the part of the defense to prove that the plaintiff did not own the land the cows were pastured on. Justice Kitchen reserved his decision.

Leaving the Old Court House.

Final preparations have been made to vacate the old court house at Somerville. Sheriff Cooper is having offices fitted up in the old store building at the corner of Grove and Main streets, to which he will move in a few days. The interior of the old First Reformed church building, formerly used as a tenement, has been remodeled and furnished for witness and jury rooms. A large room formerly used as a chapel on the second floor has been fitted up in good shape, and will be used for Friday court sessions, a Grand Jury room and as a meeting place for the Freeholders.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

The leading editorial for the week ending February 20, 1868:

To Whom It May Concern.

Freedom of the Press is the bulwark of free government. Abolish it and the shadow of civic death at once ensues. While it exists, the duty is commensurate with the privilege of criticising boldly and freely what is addressed to the public, whether by word or mouth or the pen. The editor who recoils from uttering what he believes to be just and true, deserves the shackles of a slave rather than a freeman's badge. He is a slave.

In this country, happily as yet, there is no ordained marriage between church and State, and here, assumed sanctity. "I am more holy than thou," whether on an individual or an association of men, cannot wear a cloak invulnerable to public opinion.

Christianity is a hallowed term. We honor it, totally regardless of denomination or name. To be genuine, however, it must be constantly associated with consistent action. A sinner may profess to be a saint. Such profession only makes him the more a sinner. To avow allegiance to Christianity and at the same time preach hate and vengeance, or practice deception, is vainly endeavor to gather figs from thistles. It is hypocrisy.

We stand for honesty in all things, by all men and everywhere:—

Our flag is there—our flag is there—
In the sunlit glare of truth unrolled,
Let foeman dare, let foeman dare,
Attempt to lower that sacred fold.

Another editorial:

All About a Negro.

On Wednesday of last week the Senate of the United States spent almost an entire sitting industriously engaged, and what do you suppose, white men of New Jersey, those Radicalist statesmen were about?

Was it to orndicate the rights of American citizens abroad, and to repel with becoming dignity and force British insolence?

No!

Was it to devise means for the alleviation of those tens of thousands of unemployed and suffering men, women and children of pure American blood, whose cries of distress come up from every section of the land?

No! No!

Was it to restore harmony between States and people, perpetuate devotion to constitutional law, to do justly and love mercy?

Not at all.

Was it to encourage industry, foster enterprise, develop resources, reduce taxation, guarantee national faith, and provide a stable currency.

Not a bit of it.

But it was to seriously ponder, elaborately debate and concoct punishment for the unpardonable offence of ejecting a negro woman from one of the street cars in Washington.

Shades of Cass and Clay, Douglass and Webster!

Had the subject been a white woman, Messrs. Sumner, Drake and Yates would have sat as insensible to the "outrage" as Walrussian icebergs, but it being a negress they poured forth eloquence fervent as the tropic sun.

All for the black, nothing for the white.

That is Radicalism.

Down with it, deeper than plummet ever sounded!

News of the week:

The township collector of New Providence who alleged that he was robbed of several thousand dollars, confessed that he did not lose anything, and has paid over the whole amount.

The Democratic Association of Plainfield have rented from the 1st of April next the large and eligible room now occupied by the Masonic fraternity. It will be fitted up as a reading room, and opened nightly for the free admission of those who oppose the revolutionary and white-man-degrading measures of Radicalism. Prior to April 1 all such gentlemen will be cordially welcomed at the present room of the association.

We understand a movement is on foot to invite ex-Governor Parker to deliver a lecture in Plainfield, for the benefit of the poor. That is laudable and we hope it will be crowned with abundant success. Gov. Parker is one of the most talented and worthy citizens of New Jersey, and to hear him will be an intellectual repast, garnished with the joyous thought, that in so doing we may be aiding to drive gloom from the mind of more than one poor creature. Let such good work go on.

We hear great complaints made regarding the management of the public school in this village. We shall be pleased to receive communications touching that subject. If evils do exist, they should be exposed and remedies applied.

We saw pass by our office on Friday last two large beeves, whose aggregate weight was 4,160 pounds, destined for Mr. Israel Lewis, butcher, in Cherry street. They were raised by T. B. Guetrie, Esq., of Liberty Corner.

At a special term of the Union County Court, to be held at Elizabeth on Thursday, the persons accused of robbing Mr. Jacob Miller's house at Westfield of $7,000 in government bonds, are to be tried.

MURPHY CALLS DRYDEN LOGICAL CANDIDATE

FORMER GOVERNOR SAYS HE HAS DEMONSTRATED HIS ABILITY.

"Unless I misjudge the political situation, Senator Dryden will be his own successor."

Thus confidently and emphatically prophesied former Governor Murphy in Newark yesterday during an interview on the general political situation, with special reference to the United States Senatorship.

By reason of his well known political sagacity, borne of wide experience in national and State politics, Mr. Murphy's views are particularly interesting and valuable at this time.

Governor Murphy will sail in a few days for a brief European trip.

Taking a bird's-eye view of the situation on the eve of his departure, he summed up his conclusions in the above words, and gave in concise form these reasons therefor:

First—He is the only logical candidate of the regular Republicans of the State, the party now in full control.

Second—A man who faithfully and ably represents the State during a first term is entitled to a second.

Third—The importance to the State of representation in the Senate by one whose effective championship of the protective tariff system and devotion to all the other Republican principles, to which the great majority of New Jersey citizens have declared allegiance, is unquestioned.

Fourth—Mr. Dryden not only dignifies the great office, but by virtue of his experience and broad grasp of affairs he has demonstrated his ability to successfully deal with the great questions of the nation.

Fifth—The fact that Senator Dryden is the president of a great insurance company at a time when officials of other great insurance companies have fallen by the wayside under investigation is no reason he should be asked to step aside, unless his management of his company is criminal or incompetent. Two public and thorough investigations of the company have failed to disclose anything worthy of serious criticism, and his personal career is eminently successful and creditable.

Mr. Murphy said:

"There are other reasons that could easily be cited, and those already given amplified, to establish the importance of Senator Dryden's re-election as a logical conclusion of the existing situation. Personally, I have great confidence in that great subtle power, the sober second thought of our people, and I cannot, therefore, conceive that these so-called whirlwind campaigns, under high sounding titles, can make any serious inroads into the ranks of the regulars. The crux of the situation, all State leaders, I believe agree, is in Essex county. If the regulars win at the primaries here, all agree that Mr. Dryden's re-election is a foregone conclusion."

NEW YORK PEDDLERS OF BOTTLED BEER IN HOBOKEN TODAY FINED $50 EACH

Hoboken, July 27.—Unacquainted with the fact that residents of this place were able to get all the drinkables they desired last Sunday, a New York dealer sent two wagons loads of bottled beer here Wednesday, in order to prevent any drought on the coming Sunday. The wagons were in charge of David Pelyger, of 1697 Lexington avenue, and Andrew Graffner, of 53 East Thirteenth street, New York, and with them were four boys, who solicited orders from house to house. The orders not coming fast enough, the two drivers raised their voices with the cry of "Here's your fine bottled beer. Eighty cents per case."

This cry so startled Patrolman McKenna that for a moment he lost his wits, but soon found them and in time to arrest both drivers and charge them with violating the ordinance which provides that all bottlers or distributors of beer must have a license. Each was fined $50, which their employer said, over the telephone, he would pay. The proverbial woman was in the case, for when asked what made him select Hoboken as a market for his wares, Pelyger blushed and said that the young woman with whom he was keeping company knew all about Hoboken and had told him there was a fine field for bottled beer in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shattle, of West Fourth street, are the parents of a young son who came to their home yesterday.

Typothetae Behind School to Turn Out New Printers.

Stamford, Conn., July 27—A three hundred thousand dollar mortgage on property of the American Machine Typesetting Company was filed here yesterday. It is held by the Knickerbocker Trust Company, of New York, to secure a bond issue.

John Macintre is president of the Typesetting company, which will conduct a technical school to teach typesetting and the general business of typesetting machine. Its office is at No. 320 Broadway, New York. The Typothatae is said to be backing it.

No Sunday Baseball.

New Brunswick, July 27.—Sunday baseball at Milltown near this city has been knocked out. The manager of the Brunswicks made a proposition to the Public Service Corporation asking them to fix up the grounds there which are along the trolley line so that games could be played there regularly by first class teams. This would provide more business for the trolley company, there being 1,800 people at the grounds last week. The company said similar propositions had been made by nines in Jersey City and other places and they had turned them all down. The same action would have to be taken in this case.

Trees for Northern New Jersey.

Lacy, July 27.—Fifty thousand or more trees from two to four years' growth were shipped recently from the estate of Rutherford Stuyvestant here to his North Jersey farm at Allamuchy, Warren county, where they will be transplanted to the wooded portions. The varieties embrace Scotch pine, fustian pine, cottonwood, silver fir and catalpa. An extensive nursery is conducted here under the direction of State Forester F. R. Meier, of Mohawk. The Stuyvestant tract here embraces 1,400 acres, mainly pine forest and cedar swamps, of which the latter are being cut and turned into marketable lumber.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY HAS LONG LIST OF CRIMES.

Frequency of Murders Causes the Court to Act Vigorously—Judge Booraem's Plans.

Perth Amboy, July 27.—The conviction of Fred Lang by the jury at New Brunswick of murder in the first degree for the killing of Katie Gordon, his niece, proves to be the first case since that of Michael Sullivan, who was executed on April 9, 1875, thirty-one years ago, in which a capital degree verdict has been renedered. Not that the county has not had an unusual record of similar crimes, during the past few years, but the pleas of the defendants have invariably been for a second degree offense, or manslaughter. These crimes have become entirely too frequent of late, and it has given the county a most disparaging reputation. The murders have been committed in nearly every instance by a Pole, Hungarian or an Italian, which demonstrates that they are slowin learning the law-abiding lesson that should be impressed upon them, with a little more pudicial force. Prosecutor George Berdine, who has proven a surprise to those who were strenuously opposed to his appointment, has done his utmost to stamp out the crimes.

He succeeded John S. Voorhees, who was suddenly stricken with a fatal attack of apoplexy on March 2, 1904. Mr. Berdine was appointed to teh office thirteen days later. Nevertheless, despite the efforts of the Prosecutor, the average juryman has disregarded the prime elements of the case, and invariably brought in a verdict entirely inconsistent with the case. As, for instance, Kalman Kosa and Daniel Kirolly, Hungarians, who plead guilty to murdering Frank Varge, a fellow-countryman, on June 10, 1903, were convicted of murder in the second degree, on March 27, and were sentenced on April 7 by Judge Woodbridge Strong to fifteen years in State prison.

On December 4, 1903, Andrew Rosko, of this city, was indicted for manslaughter and finally, at the trial, convicted of assault and battery.

Another peculiar case was that of Paul Matos, who murdered Sigmund Nagy at Keasbey, on March 20, 1904. He plead guilty of manslaughter, was convicted of the crime on Aug. 2 and given by the court a sentence of ten years.

On March 7, 1905, Joe Longo was indicted for murder in the first degree for the killing of a fellow Hungarian by the Grand Jury. On April 6, a month later, a jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter, and he, also, was sentenced to ten years in State prison. Henry Holmes, negro, of South River, in a jealous rage, on July 26, 1904, shot his mother, attempted to kill his sister and, in turn, blew out his own brains, thereby saving the county probably another manslaughter case.

Alfred Mitchell, negro, who was shot by Schuyler Voorhees, also a negro, at New Brunswick on March 15, 1904, died in Wells Memorial Hospital. Voorhees also escaped with a light sentence.

There have been several later murders in the county, but none of the defendants have been convicted in the first degree, with the exception of Fred Lang, whose crime was most deliberate. The last attempted murder was that committed by James Bartello, an Italian, in New Brunswick on July 19. He stabbed Carmine Ferraro, a baker, repeatedly with a stiletto, but the chances are favorable for the latter's recovery. The Rooster Inn and Old Bridge murders have still remained unsolved. despite the most persistent efforts made to apprehend the murderers. Judge Strong, who has retired from the bench, was inclined to be too lenient and dealt out a too liberal share of humaneness in dealing with the offender.

Judge Theodore Booraem, his successor, seeing the fruitlessness of the former method, has decided to make the punishment fit the crime in every instance, deeming this the only means by which crime can be discouraged. He is going to follow the same course that former Judge Chas. T. Cowenhoven used to pursue. He was known as one of the severest judges that ever presided over the Middlesex Common Pleas Court. Few criminals came back for a second dose and murders were a scarce article during his reign. As felonious and murderous crimes must be suppressed, the most energetic efforts of the Middlesex County Court will be expended and the most rigorous measures taken to discourage their frequency.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER
Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.
Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?
If you did what would you say of him?
It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.
Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.
It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

"Pardon the interruption, Col. Mitchell; I want to consult you on an important matter. I have just learned that one of your officers—an aid, I believe—is to fight a duel to-morrow."

"A duel? The devil!" roared the colonel. Then, "I beg pardon, ma'am, but what in—I mean what on earth are they going to do that for? And who are the fools that fight?"

"The name of the officer I do not know, but he is the one I see frequently riding with you in the morning; he seems a favorite of yours," she added, wisely.

"West, I'll be bound. Why, d—n the rascal, he's the only man on the staff who can mix a toddy. Egad, I can't part with West. And who's the other d— fool? Er, I beg pardon, who is to be his opponent?"

"My friend, Mr. Winslow."

The colonel gave a low whistle. "The deuce you say! Is he a good shot? Or will they use swords?" he asked, carried away, in spite of discipline, by the soldier's lust for fighting.

With a shiver of disgust, Mrs. Creighton replied, quickly:

"With neither, I hope. I rely upon you for the honor of the garrison, no less than for the sake of humanity, to stop this miserable affair."

"Yes, oh, yes—of course; it must not be permitted; it shall not proceed," he declared, pompously, warming to a sense of his own threatened dignity.

Mrs. Creighton told all she knew, adding: "I heard no particulars, and am only sure of the one fact, that Mr. Winslow was the challenger, and that the soldier—Mr. West, as you say, called him a spy. There was, probably, too, some allusion to Aaron Burr, which my friend construed as an insult. I glean, further, that this Mr. West is suspicious of our presence here at the fort. This idea, groundless as it is, we must take swift pains to remedy."

The last sentence, with its slight touch of hauteur, failed to impress the commander, who, fussing and fuming, gave a few sharp orders to subordinates. Then he turned to her:

"I am much obliged to you, Mrs. Creighton, for this information. The ball is nearly over. I have given orders for the appearance in this room, at its close, of the parties concerned. Do you care to wait here and see the result?"

Mrs. Creighton kept her seat, awaiting developments.

The colonel excused himself, and for a few moments she sat alone, watching the door. It was suddenly opened—the man whom she heard denouncing Winslow entered, and after him his companion. The former, unaware of her presence, gave vent to a volley of conjectures as to the cause of the summons.

Upon a discovery of the lady's presence he flung himself down, muttering low.

Shortly after, Winslow appeared in the doorway, with Lavender on his arm. "Why, mother," the latter said, gayly, "how solemn you look! And Lieut. West? Ah, then, perhaps we are called as witnesses in a court-martial?"

But, subdued by the tense, expectant air of the others, she took a seat in wondering silence.

Frowning, he seated himself in the largest chair, and twisting his undisciplined mustache, proceeded at once to the subject. He told how information of the proposed duel had come to him, and concluded by pounding emphatically on the arm of his chair.

"But, thank God, I know my business, and can stop this disgraceful affair. The guardhouse and reduction for you, lieutenant; as for you, sir—" and he turned sharply to Winslow, "I am only sorry that you are not under my authority. Though you have forgotten the duty you owe your host, I will try to remember that you are my guest." The commander collapsed in his seat, his flabby frame exhausted by the effort to keep his rage within bounds. For now fairly warmed to the subject, and in sight of the culprits, he was as eager to administer punishment as he had at first been willing to condone.

There was a pause, then Winslow spoke: "To you, Col. Mitchell, I wish to apologize, if I have trespassed upon your kindness. But, pardon me, there are things to which one cannot submit tamely. As an officer and a gentleman, you will understand, and give warrant for my conduct. I am grieved, however, for the annoyance to you and the ladies," and with a bow, at once proud and deferential, he took his seat.

Lavender listened, pale and trembling. What had happened? She looked from one serious face to another, her own clouded with alarm. Mrs. Creighton fastened grave eyes upon the colonel.

Lieut. West toyed with his scabbard belt in gloomy attention: his friend whispered: "See how the old man turns from red to redder yet. His moods are more kaleidoscopic than usual. 'Tis the shifting of many glasses, eh?" and he nudged the other playfully. But the presiding officer turned upon him with a sudden sternness. "Silence! Now, then, Lieut. West, have you any excuse—any reason to give why I should not summon a court-martial to inquire into your [illegible]?"

Rising, the soldier saluted. "When a glove is thrown at my feet, sir, I pick it up, and the consequences be—I mean, I do not take time to consider the consequences," he saluted again, and dropped to his chair.

A flash of approval crossed the superior's officer's face at the bold reply, but he quickly changed it into a frown, and clearing his throat with a sudden "ahem!" that startled everybody, addressed Winslow.

"Pray explain, sir, your provocation for the challenge."

Winslow was on his feet in an instant. "The title of spy is one at which the tamest blood must revolt. The least heroic one of us must give the lie to that word."

He paused, but remained standing, glaring, white and furious, at the swaggering subordinate.

"He called you a spy?" the colonel asked. Then as Winslow merely bowed, he demanded: "By what authority, West, do you make that statement?"

But Winslow interposed hotly: "I beg your pardon, but inquiry into his reason seems to temporarily justify the odious term. It is but right that you demand retraction without further discussion, which I, on my part, decline."

"It does not argue well, sir, that you resent an investigation." Then he addressed Mrs. Creighton: "You brought news of this, madam, be good enough to tell all you know."

The lady rose, and going a step nearer Winslow, answered: "This gentleman is above suspicion, and I quite agree with him that his motives should also be beyond discussion. If you will grant me a private talk later, Col. Mitchell, I can show why he is here, and can prove to you who and what he is. In the meantime will you do me the personal favor to believe in him, and stop this most unnecessary investigation?"

Lavender had risen, and took a step forward, eagerly seconding her mother by look and gesture.

The colonel laughed, distinctly mollified by so much gracious pleading femininity.

"This is a thoroughly woman-like appeal," he said, mildly. "A very different logic from anything these old barrack walls have ever echoed. It is, in fact, no logic at all, but it will serve. I had the highest words of Mr. Winslow from my friend—" he interrupted himself with a loud cough, and changed the expression, "the good opinion of him given me by Aaron Burr I shall retain until further proof to the contrary. Meanwhile, to avoid a more businesslike, but troublesome proceeding, you will retract, lieutenant."

The soldier was consumed with impotent rage, but no signs were visible except his bloodless face and tightly clenched fingers.

He rose, and looking straight at Winslow, bowed without a word.

"You are satisfied, Mr. Winslow?" demanded the colonel. And sharply for he felt some personal irritation at the chagrin of a favorite member of his staff.

"Satisfied as regards myself, colonel, but deeply wounded for another; outraged by the insult which your lieutenant was pleased to fling at a gentleman and a patriot who has served his country well, but who is now hounded at every turn by those hirelings of faction who would cloud with treason his fair name. I cannot learn the full charges against Aaron Burr, but whatever they are, I declare them to be false, and am ready, if need be, to support that declaration with the sword."

He took his seat in a silence which nobody seemed willing to break. His words were the more convincing in the absence of all vaunting.

The colonel sat in study for a moment, the thought wrinkling its way to the surface of his unyielding skin.

"As you are a guest of the fort, Mr. Winslow, I am sorry that one of us should have given you a cause for anger. At the same time, you must admit that greater minds than my lieutenant, here, are doubtful of Aaron Burr, and until all are satisfied, we cannot ask of West a full retraction. Your own honor, however, is vindicated—it is enough for the present; leave Aaron Burr to the courts."

Bidding them all a curt good night the officer dismissed the meeting.

NEWARK NEWS MEN WON

Local Newspaper Ball Tossers Lose Again, By Score of 11 to 8.

SUPPER FOLLOWS GAME

James E. Martine Makes a Speech to the Athletic Scribes, And Hands Out Taffy.

Purely in a spirit of kindness, the Newark News ball tossers came up from the city yesterday and spanked the humble Newspaper Men. They just wanted to show the Plainfield brethren that it was presumptuous to dally with a great game in a gay and irresponsible spirit. The showing measured only two runs, but it was a sufficiency. The score was 11 to 9.

Both teams had something the matter with them, and each threw a heart-rending spasm in one inning. Newark won because the something wasn't so acute in their case as in Plainfield's.

"Bob" Hoffman pitched for the locals, and pitched well. Some thumps came his way, but unstreaked support would have won the game for him. Hughes, the News twirler, was some to the good, but his support kept a lot of things from falling on his neck.

The spectators are still wondering who told "Col." Hacquer, the third bag Adonis, that he could play ball.

The invaders got a strangle hold on the game in the second, when they scored six runs, on top of one tally left from the first. Some feelings would suffer if a full and true report of that inning came out. Plainfield scored two in the second, and kept at the foe until the score was tied 9 to 9, in the seventh. The fourth was their Mardi Gras and they grabbed five marks while picking was good. It was not until the ninth that Newark served up the game with two tallies.

Fielding honors go to Vail and Dunn at second and short for the locals, to Reeves at short and Norton on first for the visitors. Norton made a bundle of hot grabs, and went up fifteen feet after one that looked good for a sail to the apple orchard.

After the game, the teams had supper in the summer garden of the Hotel Waldorf. It helped to smooth the feelings of the vanquished, and didn't make the victors feel worse. James E. Martine came to the supper, and threw big chunks of taffy at the newspapers. When he wasn't busy at other things he framed up Democratic dope with Joe Gunn, who was once elected to the Assembly by Republicans.

The teams lined up as follows: Newark—Flarity, lf; Hughes, p; Norton, 1b; Gunn, 2b; Higgins, c; Allen, cf; Firstbrook, 3b; Fenney, rf; Reeves, ss. Plainfield—Scott, c; Colthar, 1b; Dunn, ss; Hoffman, p; Hacquer, 3b; Vail, 2b; Banghart, Stout, lf; Sullivan, cf; Waters, rf.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Stirling and Gillette teams have combined for the rest of the season. Renz, of Stirling, is captain of the remade team.

It is said now that Manager Neubeck, of the Invaders, will put in a league pitcher against the Plainfields tomorrow. Nobody down here can swear to that, however.

—All persons having bills against the borough are requested to have them in the hands of Clerk Frank Rowley by tonight.

George Mehl, tillerman of the hook and ladder truck at fire headquarters, began his annual vacation yesterday. It will be spent at various points of interest in this vicinity. William Ross, Chief Doane's driver, will return from his outing tomorrow.

RACES AT DRIVING PARK

Card For Tomorrow Afternoon Includes Four Races and Pony Trotting.

A FREE MATINEE

Out of Town Horees Entered With Well Known Local Speeders — The Programme.

Four good trotting races and a pony running race to harness will form the card of matinee races to be held at the Driving Park tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The events will be the day's programme for a free matinee, and Somerville, Westfield and Philadelphia horse owners will enter horses in the trotting.

The feature of the card will be the running race of the ponies, animals owned by Howard Woolston and George Conover. They will be driven to harness and the running will be for a purse of $100. Local track men are taking considerable interest in the outcome of this event, for the ponies are evenly matched and it ought to be some good driving.

The entries in the four other races, with the names of the horse owners, follow:

Class A.—J. W. Johnson's "Hartwood Belle," B. R. Waldron's "John Wilson;" "Fred V," owned by J. S. Irving, of Westfield; "Harry Dayton, Jr.," owned by Charles Garrison & Co., of Philadelphia.

Class B.—"Florence D," owned by C. M. Sterling, of Somerville; A. I. Smalley's "Belle;" George Conover's "Roan View."

Class C.—G. H. Greene's "Chelsea Boy;" "The Kid," owned by H. Evans, of Westfield; Thomas Egany's bay mare, and Stonewall Jackson's bay mare.

Class D.—"Frank Dale," owned by Charles Garrison & Co., of Philadelphia; "Jack Dine," owned by C. Smith, of Westfield; and "Florence Downey," owned by J. S. Irving, of Westfield.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Bridgewater Township Clubs Have Arranged a Schedule.

The tennis clubs of Bridgewater township, Somerset county, have arranged a tournament to decide the club championship of the township, and three clubs, namely, Bound Brook, Hillside, of Somerville, and Raritan, have entered. It is one of the chief aims of the tournament to arouse an interest in tennis in the neighborhood, and a series of six matches has been scheduled, two matches to be played in each town.

August 4, at Somerville—Singles, Hillside vs. Bound Brook; doubles, Hillside vs. Raritan.

August 11, at Bound Brook—Singles, Bound Brook vs. Raritan; doubles, Bound Brook vs. Hillside.

LIPTON WILL NOT SEE CUP RACES.

All hope of Sir Thomas Lipton being in Newport for the King's Cup race on August 8 has been dispelled by a cable from him stating that he will not visit this country this summer. Sir Thomas had accepted an invitation to act as one of the judges at the Lipton Cup races, which will be sailed at Chicago on August 18, and it was reported that he contemplated an early start to witness the contest at Newport for King Edward's trophy, but the Chicago Yacht Club has received a message from him stating that his business interests prevent his leaving England.

The Shamrock III. will, in all probability, have another long winter's rest undisturbed in South Brooklyn, where she was taken out of the water after her futile attempt to beat the Reliance.

COPS WELL WALLOPED

Theatre Men Got Back at Captain Payne's Athletes Yesterday.

PILED UP 13 RUNS TO 8

Bluecoat Combination Went All To Pieces Under Manager Bill Counihan's Second Assault, With Revamped Team.

Manager Bill Counihan's light comedy troupe made a hit yesterday afternoon in a cute little performance of "Coming Back; or Toying With Some Cops." They trampled all over Cap Payne's combination, and the bluecoats helped them win as hard as if they had been paid for it. The score was 13 to 8.

Bill was mad over the way his team succumbed Tuesday afternoon, and valiantly demanded another go. He plugged up a hole or two in the nine and announced that the cops were licked. He said all a team needed to climb all over Cap Payne and his mates was a little get-up-and-go-at-'emishness. "If you slap them on the shin once they get cold chills," said Bill. His followers were skeptical, but Bill's dope worked out all right yesterday afternoon. One little sting threw the cops into such a panic that the ball gave them the shakes every time it came near them.

The Theatre Men were not padded. Connolly, at short, was the best thing they had in the fielding exhibit, but he wasn't any better than Bill Mullen. Bert Moore, once the sunny-haired favorite of the grandstands in the City League days, went back to the glories that lie behind the mask, but he hadn't looked at shoots for so long that he let a hurried ball go by every once in a while without recognizing it in time to give it the grip and ask it to stay awhile.

George Elliott, leading juvenile of the troupe, twirled against the Cops. George held them to thirteen hits, and wasn't yanked from the box. Ed Schoeller started to pitch for the Cops, but Cap Payne got nervous when the score was 10 to 5 against him in the sixth and put in Taylor Mehaffey, the High School twirler. Bill thought the scoring of his troupe would end then, but he discovered after a bit that the Cops couldn't tighten up even with a real twirler in the box. The troupe didn't get any hits off Mehaffey and there was some energetic whiffing, but the Cops went dotty over every tap that came into the infield. Their nerves became sore after a bit, and an insurrection buzzed about the intrepid Cap through three innings. Some real rude remarks were exchanged between the bumped and battle-scarred players.

The troupe played a good game. The infield was a good imitation of a stone wall and Sam Cunningham actually froze to one of his two flies. Taylor in right made a grandstand catch. Bill played in left field and didn't make any wonderful catches because the cops meanly refused to hit the ball in his direction.

NETHERWOOD CAMP CHILDREN GO HOME AND OTHERS COME.

Sixty Go In With Miss Curry and 75 Come Out—More To Come Monday.

Miss Sara Curry, manager of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, took a party of seventy-five children from the camp back to their homes in New York city yesterday morning and in the evening brought sixty others to Netherwood. The new comers will spend two weeks at the camp, and a party of about fifty more will come out Monday for the same length of time.

Through the kindness of W. W. Warnock, the confectioner, the children at the home enjoyed an ice cream eat at Netherwood Thursday evening. Forty quarts of mixed cream and an abundant supply of fancy cakes were donated by Mr. Warnock.

Theatre Opening Today.

With A. H. Wood's big scenic production of "Chinatown Charlie" as the offering, the New Plainfield theatre will open the season of 1906-7 today. There will be matinee and night performances and from the advance sales, large audiences will attend. For the succeeding two weeks, melodramatic productions will prevail but after that the best in the musical, farce comedy and dramatic line will hold the boards at the house. The theatre has been entirely renovated, redecorated and improved and will present a pleasing appearance to patrons.

MUSIC AND FIREWORKS ENJOYED BY BIG CROWD

RAIN OBLIGINGLY HOLDS OFF UNTIL ALL BUT TWO NUMBERS ARE GIVEN.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed Ben LaVere's double programme of music and pyrotechnics at Concert Park last night. In numbers it was well over 3,000 and with nearly a third of that number on the grandstand at a quarter a head the bill can safely be called a success from every standpoint. The rain condescendingly held off until all but two musical numbers had been given and then a healthy shower made everybody think they didn't care to hear them.

The concert end of the evening was up to the usual mark of excellence, the programme having a pleasing variety of selections. Nick Parker and Jack Elliott were the vocalists and Eddie Weston was also to have warbled but the rain and he made their appearance at the same time. Of the instrumental numbers, "Noisy Bill" was easily the best and made the biggest hit. It is a characteristic piece and the engine of a merry-go-round anchored just back of the band stand, obligingly helped out the musicians by blowing off steam at the psychological moment.

The fireworks display seemed to please the crowd but it was not exceptionally good. It comprised a half dozen set pieces mostly pinwheels and a series of aerial bombs that dynamited the atmosphere. They were given between the musical numbers in a sort of "to be continued in our next" fashion.

Leader LaVere was well pleased with the patronage accorded his undertaking and says that he will have others before the katydids begin chirping.

SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST FOR NETHERWOOD HOME.

Miss Sara Curry and Children from the Home to Attend—The Speakers.

A special service in the interests of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Sara Curry, manager of the Home, will be present, with a delegation of twenty-five children from the tenement districts of New York city. She will address the meeting, and the children are to render a programme of song and recitation. Other speakers will include Rev. E. A. Woods, of Somerville; Dean Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church; George B. Hall and George A. Chapman, members of the advisory committee of the Home, and Geo. V. Taylor, superintendent of the Green Avenue Sunday-school, in Brooklyn. Music will be a feature of the services, and a collection will be taken for the benefit of the work Miss Curry is carrying on at the Home.

Miss Hawxhurst Dead.

Word has been received in this city of the death of Miss Marion G. Hawxhurst, a former local resident. She was the daughter of Thomas G. and the late Eliza Hawxhurst, who lived on East Front street at one time and who moved to New York soon after their daughter engaged in missionary work. The young woman had many local friends.

Blue Ribbon for Plainfield Horses.

W. J. Buttfield's team of bay mares, "Miss Hanahan" and "Miss Westcott," were awarded a blue ribbon in the roadsters' class at the Long Branch horse show Thursday. There was strong competition between these two and H. S. Ladew's "Sadie McGregor" and "Enid," but the Plainfield team was finally selected.

Special Music Tomorrow.

Special music will be a feature at the services in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow, Organist Clifford Braider having arranged a vocal and instrumental programme. During Mr. Braider's absence in August, his place will be taken alternately by Stephen Haff, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Francis, of Westfield.

A Church Rally.

A rally of the Willing Workers and the Missionary Society will be held at the evening service of the Ebenezer church congregation tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The pastor will preach a special sermon; subject, "The Word." Regular preaching service at 11 a. m. and Sabbath school at 3 in the afternoon.

Scrapper Was Whipped.

Upon complaint made by Mike Conrad, John Kennedy was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning for fighting. Mike told the court he received a terrible beating for nothing, but Kennedy's testimony brought out the fact tha Make had tried to lick the defendant. Sentence was suspended.

JUVENILE HORSE THIEF

Colored Boy Who Can't Break Himself of a Rustler's Habits.

HAS STOLEN THREE RIGS

Will Be Arraigned Monday For Breaking Into West Fourth Street Barn and Taking Rig.

Apparently unable to resist a penchant for using other people's horses, Ernest Waldron, thirteen years old, black and very small, was arrested this morning for the third time within three months as a result of decamping with a horse.

Ernest was first brought to the attention of the police in the role of horse thief about three months ago, when he ran off with Mrs. Caroline Ohl's pony cart from in front of a circus. He was captured on West Front street, driving about in lordly fashion with an admiring vassal. He was released with a reprimand when arraigned in the city court for that offense, but less than a month later he took a neighbor's horse from the barn, drove with it to Somerville with small boys and girls, and returned nonchalently at 2 o'clock in the morning. He was held for the Juvenile Court for that episode, but the court took no action on his case.

Ernest felt like owning a horse again yesterday morning, so he broke into a barn on West Fourth street, took out a peddler's horse and rig and drove to Somerville. He came back at 2 o'clock this morning, with the horse in pretty bad shape.

He was held again this morning for the Juvenile Court. Action this time will probably be taken. Ernest's father wants him taken care of, and he is likely to go to reform school.

INCENDIARY FIRES "COUNT" VON NESS' HAY

HE MAY HAVE TROUBLE IN PREFERRING COMPLAINT TO THE POLICE.

Someone who evidently bears "Count" J. K. VanNess a large sized grudge, set fire to a big hay stack on his premises at 1,331 East Front street, shortly after 11 o'clock last night. There were about ten tons of the dried grass piled up and it made a blaze that threatened the "count's" barn and other adjacent buildings. An alarm was turned in from box 18 at 11:25 and it was nearly two hours later before the firemen were able to pack up and start for home.

The "count" places the loss at $125 and as the hay stacks are not in the insurance clauses there is no one to help him stand it. He declared to Chief Doane, last night, that he knew who had applied the incendiary match and that he would have him or them arrested today.

According to the last bulletin issued from police headquarters, the "count" does not dare enter its precints. He was arrested some time ago on a trifling charge but when interviewed at the station he applied a lot of cuss words to Chief Kiely and that official preferred a further charge against him but when the trial was called, the "count's" attorney pleaded an adjournment because of illness on the part of the defendant. Evidently he was never cured as the charge still holds against him and it became understood not long since that it would be allowed to remain dormant if the "count" remained away.

It is now a matter of concern to Mr. VanNess's friends to know how he can go down to headquarters and ask the police to nab the people who fired the stack.

GRIEF INSTEAD OF JOY.

Young Man Killed On Railroad Was To Have Been Married Tomorrow.

The body of Michael Hartri, the young section hand wh owas killed by a Blue Line train at Terrill road, Thursday afternoon, was sent to his home at 148 Pine street, Jersey City, this noon. The victim was but twenty-one years old and was to have been married tomorrow. In place of the nuptial ceremony, the funeral service will be held.

The interment will be in All Saints' cemetery, Jersey City.

In Justice Von Minden's Court.

Judgment for the plaintiff was rendered by Justice of the Peace R. V. Von Minden at the Dunellen court yesterday in the case of James C. Storm against William H. Ball, on contract. The contract case of E. M. Laing against Samuel Johnson was settled out of court.

SOUTH PLAINFIELDERS FIGHTING WATER CO.

PLAN OF MIDDLESEX WATER CO. TO LAY MAINS TO POND CAUSE OPPOSITION

Residents of South Plainfield are active in their opposition to the plan of the Middlesex Water Co. to use water from the South Plainfield pond in their drinking water mains. While no health analysis of the water has yet been made, it is positively alleged by many residents in the vicinity of the pond that it is impure, and merely standing water. The company plans to use the water in its mains for the South Plainfield supply in case of shortage in the supply in the wells—something which happened but last summer.

The following letter has been received from Stanley M. Day, of New Market. Mr. Day is a large property owner in the town, and expresses himself on the water question quite emphatically in the following letter:

Editor, The Daily Press:

At a meeting of the Pitscatway Board of Health respecting the use of the water from the South Plainfield pond a representative of the Middlesex Water Co. criticized the newspaper press for creating an alarm upon the subject of its use at the same time admitting that they had used the water from this stream. It is surely the province of the press to expose and condemn the use of water from a polluted stream which is claimed to be unfit to water cattle!

It becomes the duty of the Board of Health to see to it that its use is prohibited until it has been proven by analysis that it is safe for domestic purposes after going through a filtration plant.

Mr. Holly made the pertinent inquiry as to what right the Middlesex Water Co. had to take this water?

To whom does it belong?

Would it not be well to look up the State character conveying the absolute right to the use of this water for a specific purpose and is it not the duty of the State to see to it that its provisions are not violated by a corporation whose proposed action would render this original grant valueless?

It is another case of appropriating public property for private gain without consideration, consent or remuneration.

Yours truly,
STANLEY DAY.

MYSTERY OF A PISTOL SHOT IN EARLY MORNING.

Officer Nick Myers Worried by Odd Occurrence on West End Beat.

The mystery of an untraced pistol shot at two o'clock in the morning had Officer Nick Myers worried through the tail-end of his nightly drill through the West End yesterday.

The shot sounded on Spooner avenue. Myers ran up to investigate, and two men pointed out a house as the place from where the pistol sounded. One of the men said there had been a light in the upper front room when the shot came, and that it went out immediately afterwards.

Myers roused the people in the house and threw some rapid-fire questions at them. They denied that a shot came from the house, said no light had been lit since bedtime and that they hadn't so much as heard a shot.

The witnesses were positive that the shot came from the house they pointed out, and Myers was worried all night and the best part of the next day for fear something big had been hidden from him. Nothing more has been heard of the occurence, however, and Nick has ceased worrying.

STRUCK BY PASSENGER TRAIN, JOHN FILLMORE BADLY HURT.

Netherwood Resident Injured at Grade Crossing at New Berlin Thursday Afternoon.

Struck by a passenger train late Thursday afternoon while crossing the tracks at a grade crossing at West Berlin, John Fillmore, of North avenue, Netherwood, lies seriously injured at the Cooper Hospital, Camden. Fillmore did not see the train approaching and was struck and thrown several feet. He was picked up by railroad employees near the station and an examination showed that his head was badly cut and he was severely bruised. Further examinations at the hospital, to which he was immediately removed, showed that he was internally injured, to what extent cannot yet be determined. His condition is serious.

Fillmore is forty years of age and has lived in Netherwood for some time. He is related to Frank Haulenbeck, of North avenue.

Mulford Estil sailed yesterday for home on the Celtic from Liverpool.

PERKINS MAKES CHARGE

Says Geo. L. Record Is Campaigning For the Railroad Interests.

A RAILROAD PLATFORM

That Is How Assembly Leader Describes Colbyite Demands—Says Record Has Sought Railroad Support.

Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, Republican leader of the Assembly, declared yesterday in an interview with a Daily Press correspondent that George L. Record, the Colbyite candidate for United States Senator, was playing a game for the railroads. He charged him with actively campaigning in the interest of railroad men.

"The Colbyite platform is strictly a railroad platform," declared Mr. Perkins. "Mr. Record himself has pointed that out in private conversation with railroad men, in an endeavor to enlist their support.

"Mr. Record is ostensibly making a campaign against the railroads, but he is actually campaigning in their interests."

Mr. Perkins earnestly defended his equal taxation measure, which was passed by the last Legislature. It was a good statute, he said, and benefitted the taxpayers. The Record-Colby followers, he declared, were trying to undo the good that had been done, at the expense of the taxpayers.

GLAZER'S FACTORY ANNOYS ALTON FOLKS

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE TO PREFER A FORMAL COMPLAINT.

Because of complaints made by nearby residents that odors emanating from the place are a menace to health, the Fanwood township committee held a meeting last night to take some action in regard to Theodore Glazer's fat rending factory near Alton.

Affidavits were made by Fred Masker, Thomas Mair and Miles Rouch, adjoining property owners, before Acting Township Attorney Swackhamer that the plant is a nuisance, and the committee was notified in turn. Glazer learned of the intended investigation and with his counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., appeared at the meeting, last night. Attorney Hetfield insisted that if the committee was to take any action in the mater, a formal complaint should be preferred before some justice or magistrate, so that Glazer could present his side.

The officials consulted with Counsellor Swackenhamer and it was agreed that this course should be taken. Accordingly a resolution to this effect was passed and the necessary complaint will be made as soon as possible.

Rusticate at Driftwood Cottage.

A party of boroughites comprising Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Slater, F. Mortimer Slater, Miss Clyde Slater, Miss Rachel Daudt, Harry Messersmith, Mrs. Frank Webster, Miss Ethel Webster and George Webster, left today for Lake Hopatcong where they will spend several weeks at Driftwood Cottage, Nolan's, Point. They will be joined there by John Sartoris and Halsey Stafford, of New York, and Mr. and Miss Brown, of Newark.

Call Man Asked to Resign.

At its star chamber session, Thursday night, the Fire Committee of the Common Council requested Call Man David Dunavan to resign because, it is alleged, he fed his horse with hay taken from No. 1 engine house. The complaint was preferred by Captain James Daley and it is said that Driver Harry Bush, now in the hospital, was implicated in the act.

Mrs. Aletta S. Moore.

Mrs. Aletta S. Moore, widow of George W. Moore, who conducted a tobacco business on East Front street for many years, died yesterday at her home in Westfield. The funeral will be held at the home of William Winkler, of Prospect street, Westfield, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and interment will be in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Collector Brown Better.

Borough Tax Collector George F. Brown, who has been confined to his home on Grove street, with an attack of neuralgia and rheumatism, is greatly improved. He expects to be able to return to his office Monday.

EXPECT BIG CROWD TO LISTEN TO "NEW IDEA"

COLBYITES MASS MEETING IN GERMANIA HALL, SOMERVILLE, MONDAY.

Leaders in the "new idea" movement in Somerset county, expect a large attendance at the Colbyite mass meeting to be held in Somerville Monday night. Germania hall has been secured for the purpose and the managers look for an over-flow audience. As already announced the speakers will be State Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county, and Corporation Counsel George L. Record and Mayor Mark Fagan, both of Jersey City.

The League's temporary chairman William Wallace Howland, of North Plainfield, will preside. Between the speeches membership blanks will be distributed among the audience and a request will be made for those in sympathy with the "new idea" to join the league. The North Plainfield delegation will leave here on the 7:12 train.

The meeting, which will be held under auspices of the Somerset County Republican League for Popular Government, will be followed in a short time by a mass meeting in North Plainfield. It is intended to secure Saengerbund hall for the occasion. An effort will be made to have Senator Colby, Judge Runyon and John L. Gibson address the voters. No date has been set for the meeting as yet.

YES, THEY'RE MARRIED DESPITE THEIR DENIALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Were Hopping Mad Over the Announcement However.

Despite her denial, Miss May Hurst is now Mrs. Harry Stewart and her cheerful voice is missed by subscribers of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. Miss Hurst, or rather Mrs. Stewart, was "hopping mad" when she read the announcement of her wedding in The Daily Press on Thursday. So was Harry Stewart and neither one lost any time in ringing up the newspaper office to tell all what they were going to do to the paper for publishing the announcement.

"No, that story isn't true; I'm not married," gurgled Mrs. Stewart over the 'phone to a reporter. "I'd like to know what business you had to put that in your paper. No, Harry Stewart didn't tell his intimate friends about it at all. I don't believe you. 'Taint so, and you can just put it in that it ain't so." That's what the bride said Thursday afternoon. The following day she resigned her position in the telephone office, telling the other girls that she had been married.

Harry Stewart was also real angry when he read the marriage announcement. No, he had not told anybody, he said, and really he couldn't imagine how such a story could have originated. That it was not so, he was sure—at least on Thursday afternoon.

DEMOCRATS MEET TO FILL VACANCIES.

Minority Party City Committee Gets Ready for the Coming Campaign.

To arrange for filling vacancies in the election board, the left-over Democratic city committee held a meeting last night. The session was attended by only seven committeemen, and the conference was brief.

The committee didn't know just where the vacancies were, and a committee of three was appointed to learn what jobs were to be filled and to pick the filling. The committee is made up of W. L. Hetfield, Sr., Stephen Schlief and J. V. F. Dilts. They will meet next Friday.

"Did you do anything at the meeting besides talk over the election board appointments?" a member was asked after the session.

"Do? What can we do?" he asked disguestedly. "What do you think the Down and Out Club does at its meetings except wonder if it will ever get away?"

Besides the committee named, the members present were P. J. Reville, who is chairman; Joseph Harrigan, Charles Sturtevant and V. L. Frazee.

'CAP' CLARK IS CLEARED

Beach Guard Vindicated of Charge Growing From Thomae Drowning.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Witness Says Thomaes Were In the Most Dangerous Place In the Surf and Couldn't Be Saved.

"Cap" Clark, the Atlantic City beach guard who was charged with cowardice in connection with the drowning of Robert L. Thomae and his daughter last Saturday, has been vindicated by Mayor Stoy, of that place. He was allowed to resign last night, without blame for the accident.

Mayor Stoy issued an official statement after the investigation in which he declared that Captain Clark is not a coward. The statement was as follows:

"After a thorough investigation and hearing eye witnesses, I have discovered that the tragedy in which Robert Thomae and his daughter lost their lives in the surf on Saturday was due to unusual combination of dangerous winds and currents at the point at which they were bathing; that the attempt at rescue of Life Guard Wills was worthy of high commendation, that no blame can be attached to Life Guard Clark, according to witnesses, who from the statement of Mr. Hines, made an attempt to reach the imperilled ones.

"However there is no doubt that a more active man than Clark could have done better work. Under the trying curcumstances and for the good of the service, I shall accept Clark's resignation from the life guard force, which has been voluntarily offered.

"It has been testified that the girl was bathing in a dangerous spot when she was first thrown off her feet and would not have been allowed to remain there had not Life Guard Clark been away from his regular post engaged in taking others out of danger. In view of this I would advise that life guards take every precaution to warn bathers against entering the ocean at places unprotected by life guards and to use every reasonable effort to persuade bathers to congregate in the protected districts. I would also earnestly request the bathers to pay special heed to the warnings of the guards whose only object is to protect life."

At the hearing yesterday Captain Clark told fully of what had occurred on the beach. After the hearing was over, Mayor Stoy was apprised that John Hines, a man employed by Councilman Riddle, had seen the whole occurrence on the beach. The Mayor secured Hines' testimony which in brief is as follows, and which corroborates Captain Clark's statement that rescue was well nigh impossible.

Said Mr. Hines:

"I was at Albany avenue and the beach. I was standing at the back end of the house when I heard cries and went up in the top of the stable inside of Mr. Riddle's grounds to look. Very few people were there, not more than three.

"I saw Capt. Clark. He was at the avenue below Albany avenue with a bunch of bathers. He ran to his station. He went out in the surf the best he could.

"If it had not been for Capt. Clark the man (the hero-cook Lux) who went out, would have lost his life. Not a guard on the beach could have saved the people who were drowned.

"There was an awful undertow. Capt. Clark tried to swim. No one could swim in such a furious current.

"The child was in a dangerous place and should not have been left there. It was further out in the surf than I dared go myself."

Captain Clark, before the Mayor, said in brief, that he was near Albany avenue watching half a dozen bathers, who were going out too far when a lad told him Thomae and his daughter were in danger a square away; that he ran to the spot and attempted to get into the surf when Lux came along, took the life buoy and started in.

"I shoved the buoy to Lux," said Clark, "after he had got into the surf, or he, too, would have been lost.

"When the word came to me that Thomae was in danger and I reached the spot I could see no one and did not go out because I could not see in what direction I was needed.

"Neither myself or Life Guard Wills had any opportunity to do anything because the people had gone down out of sight. I went into the water over my head, swimming around to be near them in case they came up and to save the other man."

Captain Clark took a good deal of pride in exhibiting, yesterday, a letter from the United States Volunteer

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The local ball tossers have a game scheduled with the Bayonne A. C. for this afternoon, on the Washington avenue diamond. Nobody seems to have ever heard anything about this bay side aggregation of horse hide chasers but the general opinion seems to be that they haven't any bells on them, for they are not an old organization. Ed Randolph is on the firing line for Dunellen, and Giles is to gather them in behind the plate. So many of the regular players are away on their vacation that there will be a big change in the line-up. F. Woods is giving the decisions.

The three iron doors for the cells in the borough lockup arrived from the W. T. Kirk Co., of Plainfield, yesterday, and are being put in place. There has been a notable decrease in crime in town for the past week, even the "skates" are now few and far between, since the Mayor is lighting upon drinkers with such heavy fines. But the jug is ready for any and all now.

There will be no services at Holy Innocents' church tomorrow, nor for the two following weeks. The pastor, Rev. A. S. Phelps, is away on his vacation, and is spending the time at Jewett, N. Y.

Percival M. Ising, Jr., has returned after a three weeks' trip in the west. He went as far as Spokane, Washington, spending most of the time with relatives living near that city.

Rev. E. C. Dutcher, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the fourth of his "God In Nature" sermons tomorrow evening. His topic will be "The Corn."

Oscar Runyon, of Philadelphia, came today to spend Sunday with his wife, daughter of Recorder David S. Campbell, who is sojourning with her father.

"Jehovah Returned" will be the topic of the weekly prayer meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, New Market, this evening.

Rev. Henry M. Jordan, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New Market, will preach at the First Baptist church tomorrow.

Jacob Smith, of Belvidere, has returned home after spending several days as the guest of William Gane.

Mrs. Charles Dodwell, who has been ill for several days past, is able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Van Ardsdale are the guests of out of town friends this week.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

Take in the ball game this afternoon. The local team is putting up a good game of baseball and you should help support it as it all helps to make the town. The Riversides, of Rahway, will keep the home team hustling to win, as they are considered Rahway's strongest amateur team.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be at the usual hours: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching by pastor, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15 p. m.; evening sermon, 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hand and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henry are spending a week at Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Chautauqua Lake, N. Y.

Rev. Mr. Graves, who occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church last Sunday, will preach again tomorrow.

Many local faces were noticed among the crowd at the fireworks and band concert last night.

The Plainfield theatre opens its season tonight, the attraction being "Chinatown Charlie."

John Wade will lead the Saturday night prayer meeting at the Methodist church tonight.

Mrs. John Robison has returned from a visit with relatives and friends at Camden.

The gas company has started the work of laying the gas mains on the side streets.

The Saturday night dance at "Willie" Deegan's will be held as usual tonight.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

A. H. Woods' big scenic production of "Chinatown Charlie" will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight, marking the regular opening of the 1906-7 season.

An unusually pretentious offering at the New Plainfield theatre next Thursday is the new A. H. Woods production, "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," which has already scored a great success. The play contains four acts and twelve scenes and its action is laid in New York city. Its story is said to be one of great interest, having for its heroine a beautiful young girl who works in a "sweat shop" in order to earn bread for herself and her blind younger sister. A villainous muti-millionaire pursues the sisters with relentless malice and cruelty, actuated by a cowardly fear that they may discover that his wealth belongs, by rights, to them. After encountering incredible hardships and dangers the devoted girls are enabled to triumph over their enemy, and come into their own. "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl" will be presented by a first-class company of players.

At the New Plainfield theatre on August 9, will be presented by A. H. Woods, the latest melo-dramatic success, "Secrets of the Police," described as a sensational modern production of uncommon worth and cleverness. To the man of ideas and intelligence of a superior order, there is no more satisfactory way of passing an evening than in witnessing a meritorious dramatic entertainment, amid whose scenes and life-pictures his attention is held captive and his own petty trials and daily vexations are forgotten. In "Secrets of the Police" there is a continuous succession of intensely interesting incidents and unusually vivid pictures that excite, amuse and startle alternately to an incredible degree. Its hero, Nick Chambers, is a young New York Central office man of unusual expertness and courage, whose efforts are directed towards the destruction of a gang of thugs" who call themselves "The Red Ring" and are believed to be a branch of the Nihilists of Russia. There are four acts and fourteen scenes, covering America, England, France and Russia. A capable company is promised by the management.

PRISONER HITS KEEPER.

Hudson County Inmate of State Prison Again in an Ugly Mood.

Trenton, July 28.—John O'Brien, of Hudson county, a convict of the State prison, went on the warpath at the prison yesterday, and while in an ugly mood because of dissatisfaction with his general lot he assaulted Albert Leslie, who is one of the keepers in the mat shop in which department O'Brien was at work. O'Brien stepped up behind Leslie and delivered to him a glancing blow on the right eye which felled the keeper and raised a lump the size of an egg.

O'Brien was inclined to continue his onslaught when he was caught by two other keepers and subdued by force. He continued ugly and was sent to the dungeon for six days. After he is released from the dungeon he will be put in ball and chains until such time as Principal Keeper Osborne sees fit to release him. O'Brien has a bad record in prison and this is the sixth time it has been necessary to punish him for misbehavior. His time is nearly up, but he would have been released some time ago had it not been for the fact that all of his time off has been forfeited by his bad conduct.

WARNING TO SALOON OBJECTOR

Rahway Woman Threatened Because of Her Opposition.

Rahway, July 28.—Miss Mary Macann is a property owner and resides on Irving street. Next door to her residence there has been a saloon. The proprietor is anxious to renew the license and Miss Macann has opposed it vigorously.

Last week she received a letter, unsigned, but with a card enclosed, the letter stating: "The party referred to in a published letter a few days ago, written by yourself, is not the owner of the saloon but the one named on the card is. I warn you not to interfere any more in this. It wont do you any good to do anything. You can save yourself a whole lot of trouble. I might as well tell you to be careful."

Miss Macann has reported the matter to the authorities and turned the letter over to them.

Shipyards to Be Opened.

Elizabeth, July 28.—Operations have been resumed at the shipyard on Shooter Island, where the yacht Meteor was built for the German Emperor. The plant was run up to about two years ago, when it was closed down, by the firm of Townsend & Downey. It is now in control of the Shooter Island Shipyard Company, with W. G. Dickey, until recently with the John G. Robins Company at Erie Basin, at its head. About two hundred men have been put to work and the number will be increased soon. Labor troubles and the disclosures in connection with the investigation into the affairs of the United States Shipbuilding Company were given as the reasons for the passing of the plant into the hands of a receiver.

To the Adirondacks by D. and H. R.

Of course you are going to the Adirondacks this summer, and of course you want to go the best way, that is by the picturesque Delaware and Hudson R. R. Its train service is the highest type of excellence and the most convenient that can be arranged. Through Pullmans to Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, etc., dining, cafe and observation cars, magnificent natural panorama constantly unrolling as the train speeds along. In addition to the through Pullman service from New York, a new sleeping car train has been established via Wilkes Barre to Albany, leaving Wilkes Barre, Pa., 9:30 p. m. (Sundays 10:45), making immediate connection with fast express trains to the Adirondack resorts, Saratoga Springs, Lake George, etc. D. and H. tickets will be honored on steamers Lake Champlain the magnificent, if you should wish to go by boat part way. You also have the privilege of stopping off and seeing Saratoga Springs, Lake George, AuSable Chasm, Hotel Champlain and other famous resorts en route. If you would like to know all about these places sent four cents postage for free copy of "A Summer Paradise," illustrated, with maps, hotel and boarding house list, rates, etc.; or two cents postage for a unique and beautiful folder, "The Adirondacks," to A. Ants Got Into His Ear.

Trenton, July 28.—Striving to escape the heat of the city, Michael Tracey, 155 Conover's alley, last Sunday afternoon took a trip to Morrisville, picked out a nice shady nook, doffed his hat and coat and proceeded to take a nap. When he awoke he felt a funny buzzing in his head, but thought is was due to a headache. Monday and Tuesday the wheel-like noise continued, and Tuesday night Tracey went to consult Dr. Shepherd. The result was that when the doctor finished his operation he had extracted fifty-two ants from the man's ear. Tracey made another visit to the physician Wednesday night and had a few lingering little ones removed, and now the wheels have stopped buzzing.

Woman Bitten By a Snake.

High Bridge, July 28.—Suffering from a snake bite Mrs. Bishoff, wife of James Bishoff, east of this place, came to the office of Dr. William C. Alpaugh Tuesday afternoon for treatment. Dr. Alpaugh cauterized the wound and she returned home. Mrs. Bishoff was picking blackberries on the mountain, near her home, when the reptile sprang at her and inflicted the injury just below her left eye. While she could not distinctly see the variety she believed it belonged to the blacksnake family. It was about three feet long, and hastily retreated. Mrs. Bishoff's face was badly swollen and she suffered considerable pain.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

H. B. Irving, the young English actor, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, will open his American tour at the New Amsterdam theatre October 8, in Stephen Phillips' "Paulo and Francesca." He will be supported by Miss Dorothy Baird and an English company. He will also play "The Lyons Mail," "Charles I," "Louis XI," "Maurecette," "Hamlet" and Iago in "Othello."

John Drew returns from abroad early next month to begin rehearsals in "His House In Order," by Arthur W. Pinero. Mr. Drew is now in London though a greater part of his vacation has been spent on the continent. His season opens at the Empire theatre, New York, in September.

Dear, delightful "Peter Pan" returns to the "never, never, never Land" in September when Maude Adams begins her season in the charming and wonderfully successful J. M. Barrie play. Miss Adams will make a short tour afterwards returning to New York, where she appeared all last season in "Peter Pan."

Ethel Barrymore is resting in Maine. She will be seen during the early part of the season in "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire," the play by J. M. Barrie in which she made so great a success in New York.

Edna May has again taken her position as the idol of all London. Her success in the "Belle of Mayfair" is the greatest she has ever known in England, and the cozy little vaudeville theatre is crowded at every performance. The American visitor to London is greatly in evidence in Miss May's applauding audiences.

William Gillette, who is now cruising in his house boat the "Aunt Polly," goes on tour this fall in his own play, "Clarice," in which he scored so marked a triumph last season. His leading woman will be Marie Doro.

In the latter part of August at Wallack's theatre, New York, Charles Frohman will produce the American play, "The Judge and the Jury." It was written by Oliver Morosco and Harry D. Cottrell and is described as being unusually strong and picturesque.

REGISTRATION DAYS.

Attorney-General Makes Statement on New Primary Laws.

There seems to have been a misunderstanding in some quarters regarding the force of the opinion recently rendered by the Attorney-General regarding the time of holding the registration days, as well as the primary election, in those municipalities of the State having a population of less than 30,000. The amendments of last winter to the primary law provided that the primary election shall be held on the fourth Tuesday of September of each year, except those on which a Governor is to be elected.

The question arose whether this law repealed provisions of the previous acts, which provide for a registration day on the second Tuesday in September in municipalities of less than 30,000 inhabitants, and it was upon this point that the Attorney-General wrote his opinion deciding that it did not, but that in municipalities of this size registration days must be held on the second Tuesday in September, as provided in previous legislation, but that the primary election must be held in all municipalities as stated on the fourth Tuesday in September.

The Attorney-General believes that this construction of the act must be made, among other reasons because of the peculiar wording of the statute of this year, which provides that the boards shall meet on the fourth Tuesday in September, for the purpose of conducting primary elections only, and that no registration can be had on that day in the municipalities below 30,000 inhabitants.

It is probably that the Attorney-General will give a further opinion to clear the matter up.

Mystery In His Death.

Trenton, July 28.—With his throat cut from the jugular vein to the right ear, Joseph Hickman, a Trenton business man, was found dead yesterday in St. John's cemetery, this city. Whether he committed suicide or was murdered, the police are endeavoring to ascertain. No blood was found near the body, although the man had bled to death. His bloody pocketknife was discovered some distance away. Because of failing health he is said to have threatened to take his life, although he was in a cheerful mood when he left home Wednesday, telling his wife he was going to take a walk. That was the last seen of him alive.

Gridiron Hero Would Make Laws.

Asbury Park, July 28.—William H. Bannard, the famous Princeton coach and football player, and a prominent business man of this place, is a candidate for Assembly on the Colby platform. Mr. Bannard had been urged by the Colby contingent to run this fall, and being one of the leaders of the Colby movement in Monmouth, he has finally consented to stand.

AMUSEMENTS.

It seems as though New York has become roof garden crazy, if one can judge from the patronage being extended the real roof gardens of the town. Those so-called roof gardens, which in reality merely are theatres far removed from the street, have not been oppressed by capacity business, no matter what is the attraction. On the other hand, the "really truly" roof gardens, with the moon and the stars above them, are crowded nightly. It does not matter what sort of a roof garden it is, the people go there. On top of all the big hotels there are roof garden dining rooms, where the demand for seats far exceeds the supply. And on the roof gardens presenting amusements the same conditions prevail. When one sums up the entertainments offered, especially if one has the roof garden habit, the choice naturally falls to the roof garden of the Madison Square Garden where "Mamzelle Champagne" is entering upon her sixth week as the entertaining young person present. It is a case of capacity nightly, and the bubbling, sparkling wit of "Mamzelle Champagne" seems to have caught the town.

VICTIM OF BENDS BURIED BY WEIGHT.

Man Who Lost Use of Legs in Tunnel Hurt Watching Air Guage of Caisson.

Pat Kelly, aged fifty, of No. 590 Third avenue, New York, a "sand hog" of many years experience, was seriously injured yesterday by a lot of pig iron falling on him at a new building under erection at Broadway and Cedar street in that city.

Kelly is employed to sit outside the base of one of the big caissons being sunk in the excavations and watch the air guage to insure the safety of the men working inside. He works at night and is crippled, having almost entirely lost the use of his legs by the "bends" while working in the Belmont tunnel, at Forty-second street and East River, some time ago.

The top of the caisson is steadied by about ten tons of pig iron, and in some way yesterday the caisson shifted and some of the iron fell into the excavation, striking Kelly and burying his lower limbs.

He was taken to Hudson Street Hospital after being extricated. Owing to a report that fifteen men had been buried under the avalanche of iron four ambulances were ralled to the scene.

OHIO ICE MAN GET TRAPPED BY JUDGE.

Court Takes Them at Their Word and Hastens Hearing of Charges.

Toledo, July 27.—A hearing which will decide whether Judge Reynolds R. Kinkade is a scoundrel, and through misconduct and corruption trapped the ice men into a plea of guilty on the promise of leniency, has been set for next Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Reed, of Sandusky, presiding in this district.

The Ice Trust attorneys filed affidavits of prejudice against Kinkade with Judge Reed and asked him to set a date and name another judge than Kinkade to hear them. When Judge Reed did this, the Ice Trust attorneys contended that Judge Reed had no jurisdiction and the hearing would have to wait until the fall. Judge Reed said he was surprised that these attorneys who had evidenced every desire at first to have a speedy hearing, should now seek to delay such hearing. They would have to take what they asked for first.

SHIP'S CAPTAIN MADE PRISONER BY HIS CREW.

While He Was Held Arms Were Taken Ashore in Finland by Russian Revolutionists.

Copenhagen, July 28.—Capt. Albertsen, master of the schooner Peter, who has docked his ship here, reveals a daring plot by which he was made an agent of the Russian revolutionary party in landing arms in Finland.

At Lubeck he shipped a cargo for Lulea, alleged to consist of cases of hardware. When off the Aland Islands on July 8 his crew mutined and imprisoned him in his cabin. Through a crack in the woodwork he saw the crew take out the cargo. Some of the cases were broken open and revealed arms. The goods were landed on the coast of Finland. Six days later he was released and found a new crew aboard, consisting of Finnish fishermen. They told him they had been forced aboard by armed men.

A Great Novel.

"'Doc' Gordon," by Mary E. Wilkins-Freeman, begins in the New York Sunday World August 5. The fame of this author is too widespread to need more than mention here. The story will be complete in four heavy instalments, each presented in neat pamphlet form, printed in colors and handsomely illustrated.

Very Likely.

"You seemed to size that man up pretty well," remarked the talkative patron.

"Sure," replied the waiter, "it's easy for us waiters to take a man's measure."

"Yes? I suppose you measure him from tip to tip."

Does Not Want Questionable Coin Used for Reception.

William Jennings Bryan is getting particular these days about money. There was a time when the sage of free silver didn't care what kind of coin courted him, but now! Just read what he says in a letter to Alexander Troup, of Connecticut, treasurer of the committee in charge of the reception to be tendered him on his return to America:

"There will be some expense, and the committee must see to it that no money is accepted from the questionable sources; in fact, I think it will be well to announce that the expense would be borne by popular subscription—dollar subscriptions being preferred, but that large subscriptions would be received up to $50, none being received over that.

"Also, announce that subscriptions of $5, or more than $5, would be entered in a book, and the names given to any one desiring them. Subscriptions of less than $5 would not be made known without the expressed consent of the subscriber.

"Say that the reception will be made as inexpensive as possible, and that any surplus over and above the expenses of the reception will be used to print and circulate the speeches delivered at the reception.

"I think the publication of the subscriptions is an important thing. The Republicans have failed to pass any effective law in regard to campaign contributions, and this will be a good rebuke to them and will foreshadow the adoption of such a policy by our next campaign committee.

"You acn say, if you like, that I asked to have this plan adopted."

Treasurer Troup gave out Mr. Bryan's letter yesterday at a meeting held at the Hotel Victoria, at which Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, and ex-Gov. David R. Francis, of Missouri, were elected members of the reception committee.

Why Plainfield People Should Follow This Valuable Advice.

Because the proof is in Plainfield,
You can easily investigate it.
Not necessary to experiment
With some untried remedy.
Profit by the experience of a citizen.

A. C. Lazzi, stone-cutter and carver, of 244 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For several years I was troubled with a distressing backache and with pains in the region of the kidneys. My head also ached severely and the secretions from the kidneys were not at all natural. I tried several doctors and some so-called kidney remedies, but none gave me any relief, and as my case became more and more persistent, I became somewhat discouraged because I could find no relief. I saw an advertisement regarding Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Randolph's pharmacy. Soon after taking them my troubles vanished like the mist and since then I have felt stronger and better in every way."

INSURANCE CO.'S LOSE BUSINESS.

Number of Life Policies and Total Volume Fell Sharply in New York.

Albany, N. J., July 28.—The disastrous effects upon the life insurance business of the sensational disclosures made during the investigation of that business last fall by the special legislative committee is shown in the annual report of the State insurance department on life, casualty, credit and mortgage guarantee insurance, made public last night by Superintendent Otto Kelsey, of that department. Mr. Kelsey last spring succeeded Francis Hendricks as State superintendent of insurance.

According to the report, the companies doing business in this State issued 83,396 less policies in 1905 than in 1904, the amount of insurance written last year showing a decrease of $151,724,854.

Moreover, 76,934 more policies terminated in 1905 than in 1904, and $98,548,766 more insurance. The policies terminated in 1905 are scheduled as follows:

Deaths....	50,290	$123,952,831
Maturity ..	12,269	28,201,579
Expiry	94,203	171,800,963
Surrender ..	82,636	191,416,929
Lapse	315,854	452,759,491
Change	4,926	57,538,123
Not taken..	96,987	170,831,828
Total ...	657,159	$1,196,501,744

Superintendent Kelsey states the figures without comment or explanation of supposed causes.

"The New York State companies," he says, "issued 597,379 polices, insuring $966,848,898, and terminated 430,250 policies, insuring $785,982,331. The companies of other States issued 420,338 policies, insuring $410,519,413. The aggregate of the above is 1,017,717 policies issued, insuring $1,733,101,511, and 657,159 policies terminated, insuring $1,196,501,744."

The assets of the New York State life companies show an increase of $104,505,100; of companies of other States, $1,000,326,507, an increase of $92,142,127. The aggregate of premium notes and loans shows an increase of $1,065,934 during 1905, while deferred and uncollected premiums have increased $1,850,700.

Total life policies in force are reported as $4,949,722 for 1904, 5,306,101 for 1905. Total insurance in force, $10,028,090,981 for 1904; $10,553,839,955 for 1905.

PILGRIMAGE OF ST. ANNE.

Several New Yorkers Among Those Who Start for the Shrine.

Cliff Haven, N. Y., July 28.—More than seventy-five persons left the Catholic Summer School of America at Cliff Haven, N. Y., Thursday for a pilgrimage to the shrine of Saint Anne de Beaupre, whose feast day was celebrated yesterday by Roman Catholic persons. The shrine is outside Quebec and several days will be spent in making the pilgrimage. The faithful believe that by making a novena or nine days' prayer to Saint Anne many cures can be effected. It is with this purpose in view that many of the people of this place left here. Among the New Yorkers in the pilgrimage are Frank Keenan, the New York actor, his wife and two daughters; Charles Carroll, John Grace, Edmund Hall, Police Captain Handy, Joseph Terhune, James Gilmore and the Misses Sadie Creamer, Belle McGuire, Jeanette R. Connors, May Howe, Jessie O'Connor and Edna Webb.

"DIVINE HEALER" COMES OUT OF RETIREMENT.

Schlatter Makes His Appearance at an Indians Spiritualists' Meeting and Wants to Get Busy.

Anderson, Ind., July 27.—Francis Schlatter, the "divine healer," who first came into prominence several years ago, but has been in seclusion somewhere for the past eighteen months, is among the new arrivals at the Chesterfield camp of the Indiana Association of Spiritualists. Schlatter's appearance in camp was unexpected. He said he had stopped at the camp for a rest while passing through Indiana.

The "divine healer" said he had been in retirement, but had now decided to renew his practice of healing. He offered to give a demonstration of his alleged healing powers in camp, and he may be permitted to do so next Sunday.

Hen in Jersey City Cell.

Jersey City, July 28.—Policeman Flicken walked into the Fourth Precinct Station in this city yesterday with a Plymouth Rock hen in his arms. "I found her laying on the sidewalk at the corner of Clinton avenue and Grand street," he explained to Roundsman Leonard, "and I brought her here for safe keeping." You did eggs-actly right," said the roundsman. "Lock her in cell 10." The hen was still a prisoner last night.

Sisters Meet After Forty-three Years.

Paterson, July 28.—At 29 Main street last evening there was a meeting between two sisters who had not seen each other in forty-three years. The address given is the home of Mrs. Margaret McFayden. Mrs. Mary Bristol came here a few days ago on a visit to old friends. She did not know that her sister was living here, and the meeting between the two was a chance one. Each believed the other to be dead.

A BRIGHT COMMITTEE.

Just what real good the fire committee imagines can be accomplished by suppressing matters pertaining to the city's business is hard to see. Offended no doubt because the taxpayers learned through the newspapers that it had ordered a transfer of captains, for reasons not given, without first obtaining the advice of the chief, the committee solemnly agreed at its next meeting to keep the newspapers in ignorance of what had been done.

Notwithstanding the statement of the chairman that the meeting Thursday night was only called to clear up some matters before he took a vacation, it develops that the commitee ordered the suspension of a member of the department. Of course the taxpayers are not supposed to know about this. It may be let in on it when the Common Council meets in August. Until then the public must abide by the decision of the committee to "keep it out of the newspapers." But what folly!

AN "AIR TIGHT" CROWD.

There was certainly a liberal crowd at the weekly band concert and fireworks display last night. Excluding those who paid for the privilege of sitting on the grandstand, more than 2,000 people listened to the music. When the hat was passed around, this generous assemblage contributed the magnificent total of $7.24. It is safe to say that proportionately there were fifty chronic kickers among the grafters to one in the crowd that willingly paid a nominal fee to hear the music.

"Theres a silver lining to every cloud" for William Jennings Bryan.

"CAP" CLARK IS CLEARED

Life-saving Corps, of which he is a member, which he had received on July 19, only a day or two before his appointment to the beach guards this season.

The letter is as follows:

"United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps. July 19th.

"Dear Sir:

"We are about to act upon the rescue of George R. Stearn made by you on August 28th, 1905: Kindly send us your name correctly spelled and also your present address.

"Yours truly,

"EDWARD C. BRENNAN."

Stern is a Philadelphia visitor, whom Captain Clark pulled out of the surf with buoy and line after a hard struggle, in which both bather and guard were greatly exhausted. The facts of the rescue were reported to the Volunteer Association's attention and it is likely that Captain Clark will receive a medal or other reward.

Mrs. O. H. Albrecht and children, Richard and Dorothy, of Philadelphia, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hubbard, of 171 Duer street.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

Editorial leader for February 27, 1868:

It is nearly three years since armed war between the men of the North and South ceased. Nearly three years ago every vestige of opposition to the constitution and the Union expired with the surrender of Lee Johnston, and not a hostile gun has been fired since. Yet the Union is wider apart and the Constitution more lacerated now than then.

Why is it so?

The answer can be readily and truthfully given.

It is because victory has been changed by the Radical rulers in Congress from patriotism into partisanship, honor sacrificed to perfidy, and for the base end of striving to retain political ascendancy regardless of means.

The war waged for a specified object, and the faith of the nation solemnly linked thereto, as the following official declaration attests:

"Resolved, that this war is not waged on our part in any spirit of oppression or for any purpose of conquest or for interfering with any rights and established institutions of these States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity and rights of the several States unimpaired."

That was the purpose of the war and none other, and that pledge, sacred in the sight of heaven and before men, has been wantonly violated by Radicalism.

"The war was not waged in any spirit of oppression."

Does victory conform to that?

The trampling beneath a military despotism, as heinous as ever absolute Russia ever inflicted upon prostrate Poland, of the entire white population of the South, after honorably surrendering, the withholding from them of even a chance to recuperate fallen fortunes, the mocking with fiendish glee their privations and sufferings, and the heaping of insult upon injury, send forth an indignant NO!

"The war was not for any purpose of conquest."

Has that been fulfilled?

The passage of laws by Congress decreeing ten States of the South extinguished, transforming them into vassal provinces, subject to the unrestrained will of a conquerer, thunders back an angry NO!

"The war was not to interfere with the rights or established institutions of States."

Has that been redeemed?

The murdered right of representation, as witnessed by the array of vacant chairs in both houses of Congress, and the disgusting spectacle of semi-barbarian negroes lording it at bayonet — upheld conventions over intelligent, but disfranchised, white men, protestingly answers NO!

We hereby assert that the sweet fruits of victory have been by Radicalism ruthlessly filched from the people of this country, both North and South, and that the annals of the world fail to show an example of greater turpitude.

Heaven is just, and retribution will overtake and overwhelm the guilty.

News Items:

Hon. Joel Parker, ex-Governor of New Jersey, has generously volunteered to deliver a lecture for the poor of Plainfield at Laing's Hall, on Thursday evening, March 19th, at 7½ o'clock. Subject, "Success in Life." Addressed particularly to young men. The entire proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the above-named purpose, Mr. Laing having generously given the use of his hall free of all charge, under the direction of the following gentlemen: James Clark, George E. Hoadley, Warren Green, C. Coggeshall, A. C. Goodman, P. M. French, Barzillia Randolph, Nathan Harper, W. R. Clarkson, S. S. Miles, John H. Evans, James Verdon, A. Wattles, Alex. Titsworth, John M. Schorb, Jeremiah Van Winkle, William Rockwell, John M. Gilligan.

The anniversary supper of the Washington Monument Association at Laing's hotel on Saturday night last was one of the happiest events that ever came off in this or any other place. It was a feast of patriotism worthy of the honored day, and the monument of good things such as "Laing's" is wont to build. The members present enjoyed themselves, one and all, and nought occurred to mar the pleasant reunion. During the banquet, appropriate remarks were made by Messrs. E. W. Runyon, Harper and Dunham; songs sung by Messrs. Miles, Gillies and Verdon, and patriotic toasts offered by Messrs. Clark, Berry, Laing, Case, Bailey and others. Wit sparkled like wine, and jokes cracked on every side, yet over all, the memory of the illustrious Washington shed hallowed radiance. The colloquy between those two personifications of wit and joviality, the well-known and respected "Uncle" and "Squire," brought down the assembly, and caused some to declare "They would not go home until morning." When our reporter left several were holding, and it is needless to add, that morning then was not afar off. We like to chronicle such affairs. Success to the Monument Association.

About three o'clock on Thursday morning last burglars entered the dwelling of Mr. Harper, corner Second and Cherry streets, through the kitchen window. Being heard and the family aroused, the thieves escaped with but slight booty.

More snow, more sleighing. The man who says this is not a winter as is a winter, should at once charter our amiable friend Wattles' "White Fawn" and make tracks for Alaska.

We learn from the Rahway Democrat that Frank McIntyre intends starting on his tramp from Jersey City to Philadelphia, about the 1st of March. Twenty-six hours is the time allowed for the accomplishment of the feat, and the amount at stake is $2,500 a side. Is that our friend "Frank" of Plainfield?

The ninth annual promenade concert of Gazelle Engine Company No. 1, of Plainfield, took place in Laing's hall on the evening of the 20th instant, and as upon all former occasions of the kind, the management of this proved a decided success. The hall was brilliantly lighted, and tastefully and appropriately decorated with flags, fire caps, and other emblems of the fire department. About nine o'clock a fine band of music, consisting of eight pieces brass and stringed instruments, opened with a soul-stirring march, and promenading commenced. Beauty and fashion, arm and arm, marched a few times around the room, when A. Titsworth, foreman of Gazelle, offered a few pertinent remarks to those honoring Gazelle with their presence, and extending to them, in his own gentlemanly manner, a hearty welcome. Expressing a hope that the efforts made for their enjoyment by the committee of arrangements might not be spent in vain. The band then continued playing as per programme, and promenading was the order until eleven o'clock, at which time supper being in readiness all mached to the dining room and sat down to such a table as is always found at J. W. Laing's on occasions of this kind, loaded with all the delicacies of the season. When all were seated, by request, O. Runyon, Esq., president of the fire board, asked God's blessing, after which the foreman of Gazelle, A. Titsworth, made a few very appropriate remarks, and tendered to O. Runyon the honors of the table. Soon after could be heard the rattling of plates, knives and forks, mingled with merry voices; which was first silenced for a moment to listen to the first toast of the evening, by Foreman of Gazelle. To the Fire Department of Plainfield, which was duly received and responded to by the president of the fire board, in a neat and complimentary speech. Many other toasts were given, and duly acknowledged, but time and space will not allow mentioning all. I therefore mention only a few of the most prominent: Toast by William H. Voorhees to Chief—Responded to (in his every-ready and witty style) by John Roselle. Toast by Thad Doane to Steamer Plainfield No. 2—Acknowledged with appropriate remarks by D. D. Vermeule. Toast by A. Titsworth to Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company No. 1—Responded to by a neat little speech from D. S. Pope. Toast by W. L. Force to "Eagle Hose" of Rahway—which was acknowledged by T. Van Horn. Toast by A. Titsworth—"The Day We Celebrate, &c.," which was responded to by C. H. Andrews in a neat and spicy speech. Toasts, speeches and supper being over, all returned to the hall, when Quadrille No. 1 was announced, and all joined in the merry dance while the band played "Welcome All," the dance continued (I have since been informed as I could not remain to see it out) until the variety laid down by the programme was exhausted and daylight not far off. In brief, all apparently enjoyed themselves "hugely" and it will be a night long remembered with pleasure and satisfaction by all who were present.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Plainfield team will play the Elizabeth Invaders on their grounds at Elizabeth this afternoon at 3:30. Phil. Smith will be the slab artist for our home team, and it will be remembered the Invaders got a trouncing here two weeks ago. Let a number of rooters go with them to encourage our team, as the Elizabeth manager, who is a great rooter himself, says he will give the Daubsters a goose egg.

The beautiful Plateau, known as the Field Farm and which has been laid out in macadamed streets, has been spoiled by the erection of an unsightly shack in the centre of the 80 acres. It is thought this will be detrimental to parties who would purchase a lot, and build upon it a beautiful home.

Services will be held in the South Plainfield Baptist church at 10:30 a. m., 7:30 p. m.; morning subject, "Lydia, Whose Heart the Lord Opened;" evening subject, "Into the Ark;" Young People's meeting before the evening service.

An inexpensive and delightful Sunday outing is a trip to Bellewood, a mountain resort on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. You can get an old-fashioned dinner at the farm house for 25 cents and they will give you all you can eat.

The big bump on the bridge is there still, and no one knows which is worse for poor horses, the hole or the bump, for a horse fell the other day and with great difficulty was able to rise.

Several young couples journeyed from here on their wheels to the band concert in Plainfield to listen to Ben LaVere's charming selections last evening.

The Dayton families in this vicinity, and they are quite numerous, will attend a reunion to be held at Bound Brook August 11.

Miss Mabelle Cubberley is visiting friends in New York State.

Miss Laura Ray Warnock, of Craig place, has returned home from a visit with relatives at Englewood.

Miss Fannie Rafferty, of Sandford avenue, is home from White Plains, N. Y., for her summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Lempner, of Allentown, Pa., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses G. Shackleford, of South avenue.

TO HANG MONICH AUGUST 10.

Man Who Killed a Woman at Montville Resentenced at Morristown.

Morristown, July 28.—In the absence of Justice Abram Q. Garretson, who is in Europe, Justice Mahlon Pitney yesterday resentenced Samuel Monich, who killed Mrs. Hattie C. Decker, of Montville, on January 17 last, fixing the date of execution for August 10. An appeal had been taken by Monich's lawyer, Reed & Salmon, to the Court of Errors and Appeals, on the ground that Mrs. Decker's evidence given several hours after the shooting and just before her death, was not competent, but the decision was against them.

Monich is a Hungarian, who speaks very little English, and he had in some way become impressed with the idea that the decision of the court was in his favor, and during the term of imprisonment has not exhibited such an active interest in his surroundings as he did just previous to being taken before the court yesterday. When informed of the true conditions, however, he broke down and wept.

When asked by the court if he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be passed upon him, he pleaded with the court and said: "You let me go and I be good man." Justice Pitney replied that he had no authority in that matter and that his plea would have to be made before another tribunal, and sentence was again passed upon him.

Monich has thus far had no spiritual adviser. He declined to have one at first and has not expressed a wish at any time for the ministrations of a divine.

Miss Fannie Easton, of Morristown, is the guest of Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

FADS AND FANCIES IN SUMMER GOWNS.

The woman who is slender accentuates the fact. The woman who is not slender makes herself as slender as possible. Herein is the whole story of today's fashions, for everything tends to length of line. Length of skirt it is now, although within a few years it has been the waist line that could not be too long.

The white lingerie frock with little taffeta jacket, hat and sunshade all of the same color is one of the nattiest afternoon costumes at fashionable summer resorts.

Linen suits, of which every girl has a plentiful supply this year, are the triggest get-ups that one sees mornings on fashionable beaches or other out-of-town places. Early in the season, a famous French dressmaker launched black and white striped linen costumes with her usual success. Since then, striped linens have been gradually creeping into favor.

White gowns with touches of black, and gray gowns brightened by touches of gray color, are among the fads of the season.

A big black picture hat with two long, sweeping white plumes accompanied a stunning all white costume worn by a tall beauty the other day at the beach.

The majority of fashionable belts and girdles fasten at the back.

A tiny band of colored velvet encircling the middle or the buttom of the stock is a pretty finish for a small neck.

The little jacket which has developed so many phases since early spring was reduced to the minimum in a white linen gown seen recently. The skirt was box-pleated into a hip yoke, which rounded low at the front. With it was worn a handsome Irish lace blouse and over it a sleeveless, armholeless, in fact, little jacket shape of white linen, which was scarcely more than an abbreviated pair of bretelles widened into waistcoat shape at the bust and finished there with a single row of buttons. The jacket was outlined with green velvet.

A correspondent on the other side predicts a strenuous run for Second Empire styles before their vogue ceases, and recalls that the coal-scuttle bonnet is one of the possibilities, along with shawls, tiny sunshades, flounces and the like, which are already with us.

ENGLISH PROVERBS CONCERNING WOMEN.

Woman's jars are men's wars.

A change of wives makes men bald.

A woman's tears are a fountain of craft.

He that hath a scold hath sorrow to his sops.

The cunning wife makes her husband her apron.

Every dog has his day; every woman has her way.

Every one can tame a shrew but him that hath her.

Women are wise on a sudden and foolish on reflection.

Women laugh when they can and weep when they please.

It is a pity to see a woman weep or a goose go barefoot.

Take a wife's first advice, but not her second thought.

A widow is as dangerous as a horse that has cast his rider.

Where women and geese are there is no lack of noise.

Maids want nothing but husbands, then want everything.

There is only one shrew in the world, and every husband thinks he has her.

Women must have their wills while alive, for they make none when they die.

He who marries a widow will often have a dead man's head thrown in his dish.

FOR THE WOMAN TRAVELER.

It seems almost incredible that apy woman with spirit enough to make a journey should not know of the many little toilet conveniences which help to make dressing away from home easy.

One does not need to buy an expensive fitted traveling kit.

For twenty-five cents anybody can get a pretty little wash-cloth case, lined with rubber, so that the wet cloth which has just been used can be put into the satchel without damaging other contents.

For a quarter, too, one can get a covered bottle that will convey the wet tooth brush and nail brush, and for the same price there are little cream jars and powder boxes innumerable.

Yet, in spite of this, you may still see women wrapping a wet wash-cloth in a night-dress, or omitting its use altogether in order to keep it dry; tying up a tooth brush in a towel, and wrapping soap in newspaper!

It is just the feminine neglect to avail itself of conveniences, or is it because they don't know?

Take Along With You.

A knit golf jacket.

A box of neck ruches.

A book of powder leaves.

A dozen or more handkerchiefs.

A cake of fine coap and a jar of cold cream.

A tiny alcohol stove for heating curling irons.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.
Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.
Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LITERARY.

The August Burr McIntosh Monthly, which is now on all news-stands, will delight lovers of the beautiful in pictorial art. It is considered a foregone conclusion that summer numbers of magazines are not equal to those issued at other seasons of the year, but those who have seen The Burr McIntosh Monthly claim it to be better than any number which has preceded it. In the gallery of celebrities are superb portraits of such people as Miss Ellen Terry, Lillian Russell, Roselle Knott, Carlotta Nillsen, Julia Marlowe, J. P. Morgan, J. D. Rockefeller, H. Rider Haggard and others. A special feature of this issue is a number of drawings including portraits of President Roosevelt, Mary Anderson, Jos. H. Choate and Sir Frederick Leighton made in the now almost unused Silver Point. A caricature of E. H. Sothern as Malvolle in Twelfth Night is presented in colors. The panoramic form covers many attractive summer scenes throughout the country, and altogether the issue is unsually pleasing. Burr Publishing Company, New York.

Readers of Success Magazine, for August, are introduced to the unexplored regions of Northwestern Canada, where the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad is surveying for a route to Port Simpson, and eventually, perhaps, to Dawson City. Much of the engineer's work is now being done in a region that has never heard the sound of a white man's footstep. Samuel Merwin was sent out to this Western country early in the spring, and he presents his account of conditions there in an article which he very aptly terms "Conquering the Last Frontier." This is an absorbing story of an undertaking of prodigious moment in the development of the great Northwest. Remsen Crawford's stories of clever reporters, "Facing Danger to Get News," detail the thrilling adventures that have befallen some American newspaper reporters, who, as a class, are the most daring and fearless of men. "The Army of France," by Vance Thompson, treats of the efforts of this idealistic republic to reconcile its growing militarism with the spirit of its somewhat theatrical democracy. David Graham Phillips' great story, "The Second Generation," is continued, and Paul Latzke brings his striking history of the telephone trust to a close in this number.

One of the most interesting articles of the month is "Aeronautics in America," by Capt. Homer W. Hedge, founder and president of the Aero Club of America, in this magazine. It reveals a surprising thing, in that ballooning has now a considerable vogue among the rich in this country as a recreation, and the conclusions of the author concerning the future of aeronautics carry certainly more significance than recent articles on the same subject by popular magazine contributors. There are illustrations of dirigible balloons and aeroplanes, from photographs. "Battling the Wilderness," by Ernest Russell, is another excellent illustrated article in the same magazine. It tells where and how the settler's battle with the wilderness is still going on on this continent, and graphically delineates the primitive life of a real pioneer family in the bush beyond the frontier. In his article "Gen. Zebulon Pike, Explorer," Eugene Parsons makes an admirable plea for more general recognition of the many valuables services rendered his country by the young discoverer of Pike's Peak. He shows that Pike was more than a mere soldier of fortune, and the finding of the mountain which bears his name but one of the least of his achievements. The article is illustrated with a portrait of the explorer and a view of the famous peak.

The August Metropolitan Magazine is unusually strong in seasonable fiction. Open it at almost any page and you will find a story that will charm you from the first page to the last. As befits the month, it is a number to carry to a hammock under the trees or to a shawl spread on the seashore. Yet, entertaining as it is, it contains many valuable articles which will interest almost any American. Julian Hawthrone's "Men of the Dark," an unusual story of mystery and adventure in the Andean Mountains, leads the fivtion. Wallace Irwin's "Pelican Smith and Smuggler King" is just about the best humorous story at the Pacific Coast that has ever appeared. "A Little Wooden Tiger," by Mayne Lindsay, recounts the strange adventures of a hunter in India, following his encounter with an ancient native. In style and action this story suggests Rudyard Kipling, but it has a strong individuality of its own. "Dead Violets," by Leonard Merrick, is a love story teaching a bitterly true lesson. "The Ball and the Bracelet," by Homer Saint-Gaudens, is a charming, seasonable comedy of the golf links. "The Romance of State Lotteries," by William G. FitzGerald, describes in detail this fascinating game which has ruined many and made a few rich.

A Second Thief.

"Some mean thief ran off with the umbrella I had today," began Pincher, "and —"

"Say!" exclaimed Knox, "don't you know it's a sign of approaching mental trouble to leave out words that way?"

"What word did I leave out?"

"The word 'other' before 'mean.'"

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

CHAPTER VI.

Next morning Lavender strolled idly into the woods back of the fort. Familiarity with the forest had softened its terrors, and she welcomed its solitude now in relief from the curious eyes and wagging tongues of all in the garrison. For news of the averted duel had spread through the camp, and she was tired of questions, of whispers and looks askance.

The woods were more friendly; silent, save the sighing of leafless branches in restless wooing of the spring. Already, promise of her coming lay in the tiny brown buds of yellow-green shoots that peeped bravely out beneath the sheltering heaps of moldering leaves.

Occasionally Lavender stopped to pick a twig that the frost had gilded, or a bit of sumach to which he had spared the scarlet.

On a sudden, the whizz of an arrow rang in her ears, and she felt its wind on her face. At the moment, an Indian staggered through the underbrush. He turned upon her the beseeching look of a wounded stag, then with a guttural moan, fell as if lifeless at her feet.

Her impulse was to run, leaving the wounded man to his fate. For might not another arrow follow—herself its mark?

But after a moment's hesitation, she knelt at the Indian's side, and lifted the unconscious head to her lap.

The ghastly bunch of feathers protruded from the buckskin coat; one instant's shuddering pause, then with a quick jerk she wrenched the arrow from its yet pulsing sheath. Warm, gushing, the blood followed. Untying her kerchief, she stanched its flow.

In the wounded man's belt was a flask of brandy with which she moistened his lips, and rubbed his great, limp hands and slanting forehead.

Slowly his eyes opened, and met her gaze, wide with pity.

"All right?" she murmured.

He nodded, keeping his gaze on her; then with an "Ugh!" of relief, closed his eyes again.

Afraid to call, the girl sat motionless. Shouts might bring another arrow, and surely help would come soon!

There was a rustle in a tangle of evergreen near; the bushes were parted, and a head, surmounted by a towering circle of gaudy feathers, peeped cautiously forth.

Lavender's heart almost stopped beating, but she gave no sign. The Indian advanced, his gigantic, plumed head brushing the trees. He stooped over the two figures on the ground, and without touching the girl, raised the arm of the unconscious one. Pushing back the sleeve, he examined the strange tattoo marks which defaced the dark skin. Apparently the scrutiny satisfied him—he rose, and, picking up the arrow, calmly wiped the blood from it and replaced it in his own quiver. Then without word or sign, he departed as silently as he had come.

In a stupor of fright, Lavender sat mechanically stanching the blood, her eyes upon the bushes whence the savage had intruded.

There were few hostile Indians about, and the settlers had grown bold. Lavender was as much surprised as alarmed at this sudden apparition. Familiar with all the friendly Indians about the fort, she knew the wounded man to be a stranger, and wondered at his presence in the neighborhood.

Suddenly her eyes alighted upon a packet that had fallen from a small knapsack he carried. This, with his travel-worn clothes, proclaimed him a runner—a bearer of messages from camp to camp.

For the second Indian she could not account, but this one was evidently come with news for Col. Mitchell.

In her haste to get the brandy, she had disturbed the dispatches, and a few blood spots dabbled the writing. Carefully she wiped away the stains, intending to replace them in the knapsack, when a name caught her eye—a name which made her turn from red to white with alarm—Charles Winslow, and closely following it the words, "spy" and "traitorous designs."

The writing fascinated her; the characters burnt deep into her memory, and she kept her gaze upon them as if to assure herself that she read aright—that the words "spy" and "traitor" did, indeed, stand close to the name of Winslow.

At the moment she heard footsteps—not stealthy. Firm and sure they crunched the dead leaves, and the noise was inspiring after the awful calm of the forest and its savage tenants.

She had only time to hide the packet of dispatches in the folds of her gown, when a familiar voice called her name, and Winslow's face, his eyes shining and mirthful, peered across the intervening thicket. "I've caught you, runaway," he was beginning, but the words froze on his lips. "God in Heaven, what has happened?"

She lifted a warning finger, and tried to speak lightly, though her voice trembled. "Be careful; there are Indians about. This one was hurt by a random arrow; there may be others."

Winslow sprang to her side. "Shall I take your place; or would you rather wait a minute while I go for help?"

To his surprise, Lavender replied: "Neither—yet."

Then, with a gesture that enjoined silence, she handed him the dispatches. On the bosom of her gown they had left a tiny red stain. "Read those," she commmanded.

He hesitated. "You must be my first care; let the papers wait."

But she insisted: "Read!"

Indifferently he opened the papers, but at the first sentence started with an exclamation of indignant astonishment.

Rapidly his eyes scanned the page, but without waiting to finish it, he stooped to raise her. "Come." But she pushed him aside.

"What is in the paper? What does it mean?"

"It is a lie, and it means a prison," he replied, tersely. Then, bending over the wounded man: "He must be brought to camp," he said; "and you—you are wretchedly uncomfortable; come, let us—"

But she interrupted him. "I will not stir, or rouse this man until I know the contents of those dispatches; they fell from his knapsack, and I was about to put them back when I saw—" she hesitated, and looked around cautiously. "I saw your name, and another word. 'spy.' That was enough for me. I appropriated the dispatches. Now tell me the rest."

Bending low he whispered: "Burr is a prisoner. I am to be held here pending his trial. They have orders to arrest me."

A mischievous smile dimpled the corners of her mouth, and a little color crept into her pale cheeks.

"Pardon me. I have the orders to arrest you;" and she slipped the dispatches into their hiding place, and over the tell-tale spots of blood arranged anew the folds of her scanty gown.

Winslow was about to remonstrate, but she shook her head in warning as the Indian stirred restlessly and opened his eyes. He tried to rise, but sank back helpless.

"The wound is slight," Winslow said, after a hasty examination; "but he is faint from loss of blood. I will have a litter brought here as quickly as possible."

Lavender put out her hand, and, grasping his sleeve, pulled him toward her, until her lips were very near his ear. "First you must promise me to say nothing of the dispatches—let us talk it over. Do nothing rash."

He pressed her hand in both of his, and, with a significant smile, hurried to the fort.

Soon the Indian rallied a little, and struggled to a sitting posture.

"Prince of India" at Broadway.

Klaw &Erlanger's wonderful production of "The Prince of India" will be presented for the first time in New York at the Broadway theatre Monday evening, Sept. 24th, instead of October 1st,as previously announced. This is the companion drama to "Ben-Hur," and is a stage version of Gen. Lew Wallace's romantic novel involving the war between the Greeks and the Turks, the Fall of Constantinople and the woirdfamous love romance of Sultan Mahammed, the conquerer, and Princess Irene of the Greeks. "The Prince of India" is the greatest dramatic production ever made in this country and represents an outlay of over $100,000 in scenery and costumes alone. This great play is staged in a prologue and six acts, with thirteen scenes. These massive stage pictures represent the rock-tomb of Hiram, King of Tyre; Constantinople and the Golden Horn from Galatea; the home of the Prince of India in Constantinople; the gate of Blacherne on the Golden Horn and panarama of the Bosphorus to the white castle during the storm which leads the prince and the princess Irene to take refuge in the stronghold of the Turks; the Palace of Therapia on the Bospherne; the tent of Mahommed before Constantinople; the palace of the Princess Irene in Constantinople; within the walls of Constantinople during the siege; without the walls durink the assault by the Turks; night on the broken wall, where the Prince of India, really the Great Wanderer, hears again the voice "Tarry Thou Till I Come," and finally, under the dome of Sancta Sophia, where Mahommed and Irene meet, acknowledge their love and the conqueror promises religious freedom to all her race under the Moslem flag. The scenes of the great storm on the Bosphorus, the assault on the walls of Constantinople and the interior of the church of Sancta Sophia will prove revelations in stagecraft, even to the most blase New York theatregoers. In the battle and church scenes over 600 people will appear.

Thompson & Dundy have succumbed to the roller-skating craze, and opened to the public in Luna Park what they declare is the coolest, most commodious and inviting rink in Greater New York. The floor space embraces nearly fifty thousand square feet, and experts worked for days to make its surface a perfect area for the sport. The ring became instantly a popular feature among the myraid attractions of Luna Park. "The Great Train Robbery" continues a great public favorite. New action provides added realism each week. "The Mountain Torrent," an aquatic ride of picturesque novelty and beauty, supplies diversion to thousands by day and by night, and crowds throng in ceaseless procession to the "Chutes," "The Dragon's Gorge," the "Scenic Railway," "The Old Mill," "The Laughing Show," and the other big and little entertainments. A complete new programme of twenty acts each week composes the free open-air circus and vaudeville show over the lagoon. A most remarkable performing leopard is Pasha, of Mme. Morelli's group of leopards and jaguars that is astonishing visitors to Mundy's animal show at Luna Park. He walks a tight rope twice across the arena, starts a third time, suspends by his fore paws from the middle of the rope, dangles there for a few seconds and then drops to the floor, alighting on his feet like any well balanced cat. He has earned the title of "the Blondin of the animal kingdom."

Scene from "San Francisco," One of the Marvellous Spectacular Productions at Dreamland, Coney Island's White City.

A GOOD ILLUSTRATION OF INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE.

A NEWARK storekeeper took out an Industrial policy in The Prudential about three and a half years ago, on which he paid 10 cents a week. He died this June, after paying in only $18.40, but The Prudential paid his beneficiary $178.-10. This shows the great value of Indus-trial insurance.

HOLY CROSS CAMPERS ACTIVE ON DIAMOND

BASEBALL TEAM PLAYING FARMER TEAMS IN SHUSHANE.

Correspondent's reports from "Camp Comfort," N. Y., where the Holy Cross choir boys are having their summer outing in a tenting party, tell of numerous victory scalps which the baseball nine of young singers have added to their belts on the western trip. The local ball tossers are making havoc with the horsehide chasers up the State and the season's thirteenth victory Wednesday by a score of 22 to 8.

The game was with a team of grown men from Shushane, a town near the camp, and the choir boys had everything their own way, even to the umpire, though the game was too one sided to allow for any mistakes in decision. A delegation of twenty-eight campers, including the team and a big cheering section, drove over to Shushane in a big hay wagon for the game. Vail, who was on the slab for the choirboys, was a nine inning puzzle to the farmers, who couldn't seem to bat consistently or consecutively. The "Camp Comfort" nine, on the other hand, broke loose periodically with a collection of bastes and bingles which netted a total of twenty-two runs, estimated at 9,000 yards of base running. The team lined up the same as in the home games, with the exception of Bill Taylor, whose place in centre field was taken by Paul Brakeley, the Dunellen mezzo-soprano. When the campers came back to tent, a big feed was served on the shore of the lake, and the spoils of the victors included ice cream, raspberries and watermelon—everything pink.

After a jolly two weeks stay on the lake shores, the campers will strike their tents Tuesday and return to this city, more songful than ever. There are now forty-eight accommodated at teh tents, and Rev. George A. Warner, the camp majordomo, has had his hands full systematizing the daily programme. Grotesquely disguised as beasts of the field and fowls of the air—with one or two suckers of the sea, the choir boys had a camp managerie early in the week. Many of the animals were so natural as to cause fright.

Swimming is a regular number on the daily programme and the boys are in the water about all the time. Mr. Warner has found it necessary to appoint an assistant cook, for the bona-fide biscuit shover went on a strike because he couldn't get enough time off for swimming. Paul Brakeley is now swimming master and life guard for the camp bathers, and is daily awaiting opportunity to win medals.

Arthur Stout, of Washington Valley, left yesterday for Canada, where he will spend his vacation.

UP GO LICENSES OF NEWARK SALOONS.

New Excise Board Under the Bishops' Bill Fixes Fee at $500 a Year.

Immediately after its organization yesterday the new Board of Excise of Newark, appointed by Judge Ten Eyck, of the Essex County Court of Common Pleas, under the Bishops' law, fixed the fee for all classes of licenses at $500 a year. The law prescribes a minimum fee of $300 for cities of Newark's class. This action places beer-bottlers on the same plane as wholesale and retail liquor dealers.

Heretofore the fee for both wholesale and retail licenses has been $250. The beer-bottlers have paid only $75.

Saloon men assert the $500 fee will drive fully 50 per cent. of the small liquor dealers out of business, including a large number of owners of small homes in part of which they conduct their business. There are more than 1,500 wholesale and retail dealers and bottlers now operating under local licenses, and it was estimated yesterday by Thomas C. Hayes, State President of the Liquor Dealers' Protective League, that nearly 50 per cent. of the retail men and a majority of the bottlers will be forced out of business.

The board now is composed of Richard C. Jenkinson, president; Eugene Ward, Edward Zusi and Gen. Edward A. Campbell. On its organization it reappointed Inspector William B. Tompkins and the other employes of the retiring board. It was decided in addition to increasing the license fee to also raise the fee for transfer of licenses. For a single transfer the charge will hereafter be $10 instead of $5, while for a double transfer the charge will be from $10 to $20.

It was decided that all licenses granted between now and July 1, 1907, shall be on a pro rato basis, to expire on that date. This is for the purpose of having all licenses expire at the same time. All licensees will be required in future to display their certificates in their front windows. This is to make it difficult for holders to surreptitiously dispose of their licenses and to make it easy for the police to ascertain the exact character of the license.

The board agreed to adopt a drastic course in the cases of licensees who violate the Sunday-closing provisions of the new law. Conviction for that violation, it is understood, will be inevitably followed by revocation of the license, with an added penalty that the offender cannot apply for another license for at least one year.

FEARS FOR CONTRACTOR NOW MISSING A WEEK.

He Started for a Distance to Pay Workmen, and Has Not Been Heard From Since.

Frank L. Hopkins, thirty-two years old, of No. 27 Green street, Newark, member of the contracting firm of Apgar & Hopkins, is missing. He started to go to Montclair last Saturday to pay off workmen employed there on a building for which the firm has the contract. He did not reach Montclair, and his partner telegraphed to Junction to Mrs. Hopkins, who was on a visit there, asking if her husband had joined her.

In response Mrs. Hopkins hastened home and joined in the search for the missing man. When Hopkins went away he did not have a large sum of money. He would have to pass woods of considerable size and density to get to the place where his workmen were awaiting him. It is feared he may have encountered tramps, been drawn into the woods, beaten and robbed.

HAUL OF PICKPOCKETS.

New York Detective Descends on Crooks at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, July 28.—The local police, aided by Detective Humble, of New York, who had come here for the purpose, made nine arrests of pickpockets on the boardwalk here yesterday. In every instance the prisoner was recognized by the New York man.

Some days ago the New York police sent word that a number of pickpockets were thought to be operating here, but the local police had great difficulty in catching them, and asked the New York authorities to send a man to aid them. Detective Humble was sent.

The prisoners arrested are Max Weingert, Joseph Cohen, alias Strauss; Paul Smith, Harry Connor, Clarence Snook, Albert Brooks, Lewis Roth, Richard Foster and John Barnett. All of the prisoners except Weingert are well known to the New York police.

Detective Humble caught Weingert in the act of taking a pocketbook from a young woman, and seized him just as he took the purse. He was held in default of $1,000 bail. The others were held as suspicious persons.

Organ Recital Programme.

The organ recitals at Grace P. E. church will be discontinued after tomorrow until September. Tomorrow's programme will be as follows: the recital will begin at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Chant Pastorable, Dubois; Ases Toa, Greig; Prelude, Rachmaninon.

Miss Laura Lee, of New York city, is spending several days with Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cose, of Spooner avenue, are entertaining relatives from Lebanon.

Howard Selter, of Rockview avenue, has gone to the Adirondacks for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignace J. Swaboda, of Cottage place, are the parents of twin sons who came to their home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Korff and family, of Watchung avenue, have returned home after a two weeks' stay at Asbury Park.

Mrs. J. T. Runybn and daughters, Margaretta and Anna, of East Sixth street, have gone to Northern New Jersey for an outing.

Among the automobile tourists stopping at Nassau Inn, Princeton, on Thursday, were A. C. Bechstein and family, of this city.

Miss Irene Irving and Mrs. Mehsia Cook and daughter, Mabel, of Fifth street, are at "Holley Terrace," Asbury Park, for an indefinite stay.

Registered at Somerset Inn, Bernardsville, on Thursday was a merry driving party from our neighboring borough, Fanwood, including Mr. and Mrs. Kingsland, Mr. and Mrs. Arkman, Miss Kingsland and Mrs. Marshall.

GUARD OFFICERS HARD HIT.

Enlisted Man Has Best End of Financial Question.

It has long been a source of wonder why the State should seemingly set a higher valuation upon the services of the enlisted man than upon those of a commissioned officer. This idea has been accentuated in the past week to the officers of the Second regiment, of Trenton, and the Third, of Camden, and especially the mounted officers, by the receipt from their quartermasters of bills for horse hire.

Before the Dick bill was adopted the State was in the habit of allowing the mounted officers $2 a day for horses for six days, although the officers usually had to pay for eight days, the time actually in camp. Now, however, the allowance is only $3 for the entire week. With the enlisted man, however, the State pays him the difference between the regular army pay and $1.50 a day. There is a seeming discrimination in favor of the enlisted man throughout. The State furnishes him with a uniform, equipment and arms, and feeds him. The commissioned officer is obliged to buy his uniform and his sabre, and pay for his own food. If a mounted officer he is obliged to pay for his horse. Under the present system it often happens that a mounted officer not only has nothing for his week's work, but he is out of pocket from $6 to $10.

HURT AS HORSE IS SCARED.

Becoming frightened at an automobile in Branchport avenue, Long Branch, on Thursday night, a horse driven by a Mr. Winters ran away, throwing him and his wife out, seriously injuring the latter, and afterward dashed into a picket fence and was strangled to death.

The horse belonged to John H. McCarthy, a United States marshal from New York, who has a summer home in Oceanic, near Sea Bright. Mrs. Winters is a sister of Mr. McCarthy, and she and her husband were returning from the horse show when the accident happened.

Mrs. Winters was removed to the Monmouth Memorial Hospital, where her injuries were dressed. It was said at the hospital today that she would recover.

Careless Iceman Kills a Boy.

Utica, N. Y., July 28.—One of the ice handlers unloading ice from a wagon in the Italian quarter in this city yesterday afternoon threw the tongs which he was using to the sidewalk. At that instant two small Italian lads ran past the wagon. The tongs struck one of them in the head and killed him instantly. The ice handler was quarreling with another man on the wagon at the time and did not look in the direction in which he threw the tongs.

Driver Bush's Condition.

Inquiry at the hospital each day elicits the information that Driver Harry Bush is "resting comfortably" or "doing as well as can be expected." Relatives of the injured man who visit him regularly State that his condition is still precarious and that his chances of recovery are not much better than when he was first taken to Muhlenberg.

Planning To Go Thursday?

Uncertain weather on a Saturday always makes a long trip impossible. If you weren't able to have an outing today, wait until Thursday and go with the big excursion of Trinity Reformed church and Marconnier chapel to Asbury Park. Nine hours at the shore.

Home from Germany.

Former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell and Henry Liefke returned home from Germany last night. Both are in excellent health and both report a very enjoyable trip. C. W. Krausse, who went abroad with them, reached home several days ago having been compelled to take another boat.

Go To Lake Hopatcong.

Thelocal lodge of colored Odd Fellows are going to have their annual outing to Lake Hopatcong this year. The committee in charge has made plans for a big time at the lake all day.

Much "Chamois Skin" a Sham.

Washington, July 28.—After all these years American women are now to learn that what they have supposed to be chamois skin with which they smoothe out the wrinkles on their faces is, in reality, unromantic, common sheep's skin. According to a report printed by the Department of Commerce and Labor today, not enough chamois skins are obtained throughout the world to supply the United States for more than a single day. The substitute referred to by the department as "oil-tanned sheep or lamb skin lining" is lighter and finer than chamois skin. For strength and durability the chamois is preferable.

TRAGEDIAN'S STEPSON HELD.

Accused of Pawning for $650 Earrings Valued at $1,200.

Max Heine, twenty-two, of No. 63 East 106th street, said to be a stepson of Jacob Adler, a tragedian, was arraigned before Magistrate Barlow in the Jefferson Market Police Court, New York, yesterday on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by Julius Boasberg, of No. 1,358 Broadway. Heine was held in $1,000 bail to await a hearing next Tuesday.

Moses A. Sachs, counsel for Boasberg, said Heine had bought a pair of earrings, valued at $1,200, on memorandum, and some time later pawned the earrings for $650.

STRENUOUS GRATITUDE

Fresh Air Home Matron's Rib Broken By an Overjoyous Mother.

HUGGED MISS CURRY

Too Sincere Expression of Thanks for Care of Sick Children Caused the Matron's Injury.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, who has been suffering with a broken rib for the past two weeks, is practically recovered from the injury now. Few of the mothers or children at the home knew just what was the matter with "Mother" Curry, for the accident happened in a peculiar way, which was made public for the first today. The injury was caused by an embrace, given in a full feeling of gratitude by one of the mothers at the home. Miss Curry has been under the care of a local physician since the accident, but the bone is mending nicely and she should be quite herself again within a few days.

Miss Curry had brought out to Netherwood from New York city the children of one of the mothers living near St. Mark's nursery. The little ones were sick when they came away from the tenement district, but improved and grew strong while at Netherwood. When Miss Curry met the mother, who came to Netherwood two weeks ago to see the children, the woman was filled with gratitude for what she had done for the children. She came up to Miss Curry with words of graitude and embraced her affectionately. The matron felt a sharp pain in her side as the woman was embracing her, but thought nothing of it. Later her side pained so that a physician was called in and an examination revealed that a rib had been broken.

The broken bone was especially painful yesterday, so that today Miss Curry was unable to go to New York as she had planned to bring out another delegation of children for the camp. The children, about thirty in number, will come to Netherwood this afternoon in charge of one of Miss Curry's woman helpers from the city. This will swell the number at the camp to nearly 300 again.

Despite the injury, Miss Curry has been active in her work in connection with the Home since the accident happened. Yesterday morning she went to the Scotch Plains Baptist church with a party of twenty-five of the children and made an address at the special service conducted there for the benefit of the work. The service was in charge of Rev. T. Moore-Smith, pastor of the church, who spoke enthusiastically of the work Miss Curry was carrying on among the poor in the metropolitan tenement districts and of the good being done by the short vacations from city heat and humidity at the Netherwood Home. Through the instrumentality of Rev. Moore-Smith, great enthusiasm has been aroused at Scotch Plains for the Home. Thirty dollars, the amount of last Sunday evening's collection, was donated to the work at the home and the Sunday-school gave an additional trenty dollars to the work. Last night's collection will also be forwarded to Miss Curry.

Miss Margaret Hayes, of Oak Tree, will be at the Netherwood Home this evening to entertain the children with selections on her phonograph.

Naturalization Investigated.

Judge Edward S. Atwater and Prosecutor N. C. J. English are now investigating a rumor that certain Italians in Elizabeth have been engaged in the illegal practice of securing naturalization papers for foreigners. The report has it that these Italians collect from $10 to $25 for securing the first papers for Italians who have not been in this country the required length of time, three years. The new law, which goes into effect September 25, makes the cost of naturalization $5. Originally the cost was fifty cents for the first papers and $1 for the final papers. No political party has been accused of having anything to do with the alleged fraudulent work.

Assistant Manager's Hospitality.

In celebration of his success as an assistant manager, B. C. Firstbrook will entertain Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe at a chicken dinner tonight. The affair will be given at Maul's hotel at Watchung and covers will be laid for twenty-five. Following the dinner, plans for the reorganization of the company will be talked over. It is probable that after enjoying his hospitality, the members will re-elect Firstbrook.

MYSTERY OF COP AND A SUNDAY PISTOL SHOT

GUNPLAY AT FLEEING BOYS THAT HEADQUARTERS DIDN'T KNOW OF.

An officer in pursuit of two small boys stirred up East Front street between Washington street and Westervelt avenue, yesterday afternoon. Porch-sitters who were watching the rain pelt down saw the officer running after the boys from the direction of Watchung avenue, at about 3:30 o'clock. The boys did not appear to be running very hard, but the policeman seemed unable to cut down their lead.

Opposite S. S. Scheuer & Company's barn the boys shot across the street and ran down the alley there toward the brook. As the cop turned with them a pistol shot sounded. Nobody could be found afterwards who had seen the policeman fire and the shot was something of a mystery. It drew a score of people out of the houses, and led to more excitement than East Front street has experienced in a long time. A few minutes afterwards the cop was seen coming down Water street, without his fugitives. None of those who saw the officer recognized him.

It was said in the neighborhood that the boys were being chased for stealing candy. Chief Kiely knew nothing of the occurrence when a reporter asked him about it this morning. There was no report on the book, he said, and doubted that there was "anything in it." The reporter was pretty sure there was, and the chief said he would investigate.

Three minutes' investigation disclosed the fact that there was a good deal in the story. Officer Stillwell, one of the new cops, was in headquarters, and Chief Kiely called him over. Stillwell was the man.

He said a telephone message had apprised headquarters yesterday afternoon that some boys were playing cards and cutting up in a vacant house on East Front street, near Church street, and he went up after them. They ran, with him after them, and he had shot in the air to frighten them. They didn't frighten and escaped after a fox-like run through the narrow streets along the brook. He hadn't thought to report the occurrence.

"You had no right to shoot in that manner," said the chief sharply. "A man who fires his revolver in that way is unfit to be an officer. It was a fool trick. I don't want to hear of a thing like that again."

Stillwell was jacked up for not reporting, also.

YOUNG HORSE THIEF HELD FOR THE JUVENILE COURT.

Ernest Waldron Gets Short Shrift When Arraigned Before City Magistrate.

Ernest Waldron, the 13-year-old colored horse thief, was committed to await the action of the Children's Court, this morning, by Judge Runyon. His hearing was very brief.

"You're a horse thief," said Judge Runyon curtly, "aren't you?" he went on sharply.

Ernest stammered assent. "Take him back to a cell," thundered the magistrate, and Ernest went trembligly into his coop.

Three small boys who had been with Ernest in the ride behind the stolen horse were arraigned with him. They exonerated themselves of evil intent between sniffs and sobs, and were released. They promised never to go riding with a horse thief again.

Ernest will be sent to Jamesburg. He is rated as incorrigible.

Pulpit Supplies First M. E. Church.

The officers of the First M. E. church have arranged for the following pulpit supplies during August, when the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, will be on his vacation: August 5, Rev. Dr. John W. Hancher, president of Ohio Wesleyan University; August 12, Rev. Dr. George V. Morris, of the First M. E. church, Lexington, Ky.; August 19, Rev. Dr. H. R. Robinson, Trinity M. E. church, Millville; August 26, Rev. Dr. John Handley, St. Luke's M. E. church, Long Branch.

Camping Party Returns.

The Misses Eldora and Bertha Beekman, Miss Nettie Weiss and Leonce and Edmund Texier, returned Saturday from a two weeks' camping trip at Etons Neck, Northport, L. I. They were accompanied on the outing by Mr. and Mrs. Holt, of New York. The camp was located on Long Island Sound and the party had an enjoyable time in boating and fishing and also driving about the surrounding country.

Another Storm Sewer.

After the new West End avenue bridge is completed another storm sewer will be installed on the city side of West End avenue from the bridge to Front street to help carry off the surface water in heavy rains. There is now a storm sewer on the north side of the avenue, but this is not sufficient to do the work.

COUNTRY CLUB PLAYERS AFTER TENNIS TITLES

MEMBERS OF OTHER CLUB'S DEFEATED IN OPENING ROUNDS OF TOUANAMENT.

Matches in the first two rounds of tournament play in the Plainfield championship singles tournament were played Saturday afternoon at the Country Club courts. The tournament was open to all local aspirants to tthe title in city and borough, but only Country Club players are in line for the matches in the semi-final round, none of the outsiders winning their matches Saturday. Despite the shower which threatened to interrupt the play early in the afternoon, the courts were in good condition, and the play was fast and interesting.

In a bye match in the preliminary round, Fred W. Goddard defeated George S. Ring in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2. In the first round play, Harry J. Cochran won from W. L. Glenney, 6-3, 6-2. Wylie Brown had to fight through three sets to take his match from Edwin M. Daniel, who made the best showing of any of those entered outside the Country Club. Brown took the first set, 6-2, but Daniel won the next, 6-4. The third set ran up to 7 all, Brown then taking two games from the set, 9-7. Harry Carter also had a three set match with Monroe H. Long, finally winning an uphill match, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2. Fred Goddard won from T. M. Day, 6-4, 7-5 and R. S. Gough defeated H. B Lovell, 6-4, 6-3. W. T. Glenney put out T. H. Schauffer in straight sets, 6-1, 8-6, and A. D. Beers took straight sets from Vincent B. Miner, of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, 6-0, 6-3. William Barlow, of the Park Club, was the only player not of the Country Club who won his match in the first round. He defeated C. B. Tyler, 6-2, 6-3.

Three matches were played in the next round, Harry J. Cochran winning from Wylie Brown, 6-3, 3-6 and default, and W. T. Glenney taking straight sets from R. S. Gough, 6-3, 6-1. Albert D. Beers put William Barlow, of the Park Club, out of the run for the title, 6-4, 6-2, leaving only Country Club players to contest for the championship. The match between Harry Carter and Fred Goddard is still to be played in this round, while Glenney and Beers will play off the other match in this round. The match play for the title will be completed next Saturday afternoon, though it is possible that some of the matches will be played off during the week. The winner will receive the title cup of tennis champion of this city, which is offered by T. M. Day. The runner-up will also receive a cup.

WOMAN'S PLUCKY ACTION.

By Throwing Out Blazing Lamp, She Prevented a Serious Fire.

Mrs. Alfred Seidel, of the borough, who is spending the summer at Camp Berkeley Heights, proved herself a heroine Saturday, by preventing a fire in one of the large tents. A lighted lamp was accidentally overturned and a good-sized blaze was in progress in the space of a few seconds. Mrs. Seidel realized the danger and without the least hesitancy, caught hold of the lamp and threw it outside. She then smothered the flames on the floor, putting out the last vestige of fire.

Mrs. Seidel's own clothing was blazing before she finished and she might have sustained severe burns but for the arrival of other camp guests. As it was she was scorched about the hands and arms.

KNIGHTS OF GOLDEN EAGLE TO EXEMPLIFY THIRD DEGREE.

Local Lodgemen To Exhibit To Eagles of New Brunswick and Somerville Here.

Members of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, No. 42, will give an exhibition of the working of the third degree at the district meeting of the Eagle lodges to be held in this city tomorrow evening. The Eagles from New Brunswick and Somerville will attend, and lodge leaders from the district will make addresses.

At the district meetings, it was recently stated, each lodge is to exemplify the working of a degree, and the Plainfielders are to do the third degree, which has fallen to their lot, tomorrow evening.

Pastor Schenck's Vacation.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck and family, of West Front street, leave town tomorrow for Keeseville in the Adirondack Mountains, Essex county, N. Y., where they will spend the month of August. During Dr. Schenck's absence the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church will be supplied Sunday mornings by Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, pastor of Marconnier chapel. The evening services during August will be omitted.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD MAY HAVE FIRE BRIGADE

GOOD GOVERNMENT CLUB TO TALK ORGANIZATION THIS WEEK.

Having been successful in its attempt to benefit the village in other ways, the Good Government Club, of South Plainfield, has determined to try its hand at organizing a fire brigade. The place recently had aspirations to be a borough, considering itself large enough, but the citizens have never had fire protection of any sort and the fact has frequently been commented upon. The Good Government Club has talked the matter over in an informal way and the members have reached the decision that if South Plainfield is to have any standing with its neighbors it must have a volunteer department, no matter how limited its membership or apparatus may be.

William Hamilton, the president of the club, has issued a call and a meeting will be held this week to devise ways and means of formally organizing and securing equipment. The mains of the Middlesex Water Company are in the village and there are numerous taps. The Lehigh Valley Railroad has considerable property near the residential district and it is thought the officials will readily lend their efforts in the club's attempt.

DISAPPEARANCE OF PAINT BOTHERS CONSTABLE.

Manley Had It Attached but Some One Took It Just the Same.

A quantity of paint which was taken from the barn of Mrs. Samuel Sandford, of New Market, as she alleges, without her consent, has brought the matter into Justice Hand's court and is giving Constable John Manley a chance to distinguish himself as a sleuth. The decorating material is at present among the missing and all manner of official machinery has been set in motion to locate it.

According to the complainant, Samuel Sandford, of New Market, owned a residence in West Fifth street. He sold it a few weeks ago and part of the contract of the sale was that Sandford was to furnish paint with which to paint the house. In the meantime the new owner sold the property to a Paterson man. Sandford, who, it is said, had separated from his wife, sent to her barn at New Market and got a quantity of paint and had it removed to a hotel at New Market. The next day enough of the mixture to cover the house was brought to Plainfield and put in the cellar of the West Fifth street house, which is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baker.

Mrs. Sandford, discoveirng that the paint had been taken away, appeared before former Justice Hezekiah Hand and had a search warrant issued for its return. The warrant was given to Constable Manley and he went to the house to put an attachment on the paint, with the intention of returning the next morning at 9:30 o'clock and removing it. That was on Friday. Saturday morning Constable Manley went to the house with a horse and wagon. Mrs. Baker was not there and the house was locked up. He effected an entrance to the cellar through a basement door, but to his surprise he learned that the paint has been taken away and despite a vigilant search he has not been able to locate it as yet.

Mrs. Sandford, it is said, threatens to have the Bakers arrested, holding them responsible for the disappearance of her property, which Manley declares it is up to him to locate it.

Three Were Drowned.

Miss Mary Klemmer, of No. 1380 Gates avenue, Brooklin; Miss Bertha Smith, who lived on New Lots avenue, near Pennsylvania avenue, East New York, and George Lapp, of No. 150 Sumner avenue, Williamsburg, were drowned in Lake Hopatcong, N. ., yesterday afternoon by the capsizing of a rowboat off Halsey Island.

Mrs. Katherine M. Carey.

Mrs. Katherine M. Carey, for many years a resident of Dunellen, died yesterday at her home after an illness of some months. She was sixty-nine years of age. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rowland G. Bush.

Daniel O'Connor Arrested.

Daniel O'Connor, of Harrison street, was arrested last evening by Roundsman Peter Dooley, of the borough police, for disorderly conduct on Somerset street early in the evening. He is spending the day in a borough cell, waiting for a hearing before Mayor Smalley this evening.

LIGHTNING AND RAIN STORM SWEEPS OVER CITY

HEAVY AT DUNELLEN, LIGHTNING STRIKES HOUSE.

The wide spreading area of low pressure was to some extent relieved Saturday afternoon and yesterday by heavy thunder showers, accompanied by sharp lightning and downpours of rain. The principal damage done was to the roads in the city and borough. Rain fell with violence like a cloud burst in a heavy shower Saturday evening, and also yesterday afternoon. The top surfacing of the streets was in many cases guttered and storm sewers were charged to their utmost.

The heavy wind and the lightning did considerable damage to the trees in city and borough, many heavy limbs being torn off and wires broken. The street lights were crippled in the east end by lightning or broken trees and a section on Putnam avenue above Richmond street was in darkness Saturday and Sunday. There was similar trouble in the borough. At Dunellen several sturdy shade trees were destroyed and big branches were torn off by the wind and scattered in the street. One of the main line trolley cars narrowly escaped being crushed during the storm yesterday afternoon. A heavy tree at Jefferson avenue and West Front street was broken off near the ground and fell directly upon the car, which was passing at the time. The feed wire and guy wires were broken and the passengers thrown into a panic, thinking that the big tree had crashed through the roof. No one was injured, though the motorman was slightly shocked. Traffic was delayed for three-quarters of an hour.

An unusually sharp flash of lightning struck the house of Jacob Fisher, on Washington avenue, Dunellen, splintering the corner post and tearing off clapboards and shingles on its way to the ground. None of the family, who were all at home, were injured, though stupified by the shock. There was no fire.

Lightning splintered the twenty-five foot flag pole on the top of the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Company at the Netherwood wells. The bolt smashed the pole to bits, and burned the ivy vine on the walls of the building in its descent to the ground. The men at work inside felt the shock, but no one was injured.

In the borough several large branches were blown off trees through the Park and trees were shattered by the lightning. The trolley cars ran on fair schedule time during the bad weather.

MRS. MARY L. BENNETT.

Widow of Joseph R. Bennett Passes Away After Several Weeks' Illness.

Mary L. Bennett, widow of Joseph R. Bennett, died at her home on Fairview avenue, yesterday morning, following an illness of several weeks. She was born in Rahway sixty-five years ago but had resided in the borough for a long time. She was of a most pleasing disposition and was greatly liked for her many estimable traits. There are surviving eight children: Mrs. Edgar Milligan, Mrs. John Dixon, Miss Mary Bennett, Walter, Fred, Harry B., Louis and Charles Bennett, all of whom are local residents. Fred Bennett is a marine attached to the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, now stationed at Brooklyn, but was not home at the time his mother passed away.

The funeral will be held at her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be at Rahway.

Back From Camp Nirvana.

Theodore Gavett, of Third place, returned yesterday from a several weeks' camping tour at Indian Lake, Hamilton Co. He was at "Camp Nirvana," which is in charge of Lindsey Best, of the High School faculty. There are now about 40 at the camp, including many Plainfielders. Fishing and boating on Indian Lake form the principal pastimes of the campers.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT NETHERWOOD HOME

NATIONAL ANTHEMS SUNG AND ADDRESS BY REV. A. E. FINN.

Despite the stormy weather yesterday afternoon, enthusiastic patriotic services were conducted at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home yesterday afternoon by Rev. Arthur E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church. It had been planned to hold the service on the lawns, but the storm made it necessary to have the meeting indoors. The children at the Home, more than 250 in number, gathered in the dining roo,m while the choir and few visitors who braved the storm had seats on the piazza.

George E. Hall, of the home committee, was in charge of the service and Rev. E. M. Rodman, president of the committee, read a selection from the scriptures and offered prayer. The address of the afternoon was made by Rev. Arthur E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church and was patriotic in nature. He spoke to the children of the national responsibility resting upon them, exhorting them to be good Christian citizens of the United States.

Music was a feature of the service and patriotic anthems were rendered during the service by a chorus choir from the Park Avenue Baptist church and by the children. The national music rendered included "America," "The Red, White and Blue," "Beautiful Flag," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Mary Miller, one of the children at the Home, sang the gospel hymn, "Christ Arose," as a solo, and Nellie and Elsie Tudor sang a duet, "Joyously Sing." The hymn, "My Father Knows," was sung by Miss Florence Hawkins and Miss Cora Brokaw. George V. Taylor, superintendent of the Green Avenue Baptist church, of Brooklyn, was in charge of the singing. Miss Mary Clark was at the organ and George W. V. Moy accompanied the singing with violin obligato.

During the service, each member of the camp and the others present were given small fans, of red, white and blue paper. On the fans was printed "Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, Sunday, July 29, 1906. Special Flag Day Service. Address by Rev. A. E. Finn." The words of "The Star Spangled Banner" were also printed on the fans, and the National anthem was sung by the congregation immediately after the fans were distributed.

J. C. ACKERMAN MUST SUPPORT HIS WIFE.

City Court Judge Blocks His Scheme to Drop Off the Earth.

John Clayton Ackerman, a loose-jointed, nervous young man, was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning, on a charge of deserting his wife and three children, preferred by Overseer of the Poor Aleck Ayres.

Letters written by Ackerman in which he told his wife that he hated her, that he was about to "drop from the earth," and that she could marry again without fear of interference from him were produced against the prisoner. He said his wife was a nagger. "But I'm willing to provide for her," he declared. "Don't I say in those letters that I worry about the boys?"

"Worry!" snapped the Judge, "You're the yellow sort that doesn't know how to worry about anybody but yourself," and Ackerman gasped nervously.

He was ordered to provide $6 a week for his wife, and he will have to get a bondsman for $200.

Supplies at Crescent Ave. Church.

The pulpit supplies at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, in Europe, will be as follows: August 5, 12, 19 and 26, Rev. Dr. Henry Elliott Mott, Westminster Presbyterian church, Elizabeth; September 2, Rev. Dr. Robert Mackenzie, Rutgers Presbyterian church, New York; September 9, Rev. Edward M. Chapman, formerly of St. Johnsbury, Vermont; September 16, communion service, Rev. J. O. McKelvey in charge; evening service, Rev. L. R. Howard. The pastor's address during his vacation will be of Parr's Bank, Ltd., Bartholmew Lane, London, E. C. During August the evening services at the church will be omitted.

Plan Entertainments.

The members of Grace M. E. church are preparing to give several high class entertainments the coming fall and winter. One will be given in October, one in December and one in January.

Mrs. VanBuren's Thoughtfulness.

Mrs. D. T. VanBuren has sent $5 to The Daily Press for the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain. The contribution has been transmitted to the treasurer of the fund.

CHAS. M. BURT RESIGNS

General Passenger Agent of Jersey Central Quits For $10,000 Position.

TAKES A SIMILAR JOB

North Plainfielder to Return to Boston and Maine—Has Lived Here For Five Years.

Charles M. Burt, of Washington avenue, who for the past five years has been the general passenger agent for the New Jersey Central, has tendered his resignation to take effect September 1, at which time he will become general passenger agent of the Boston and Maine Railroad. Announcement of the change was made on Saturday. Mr. Burt's successor with the New Jersey Central has not been decided upon as yet, but there is a rumor that a man from the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy will be chosen.

The announcement of Mr. Burt's resignation comes as a surprise to railroad officials on the New Jersey Central, as well as his many friends in Plainfield. He came to Plainfield from the Boston and Maine Railroad at the time W. G. Besler succeeded Vice President Warren. At the time he was assistant general passenger agent of the Boston and Maine, having held the position for one year.

During his stay with the New Jersey Central, it is said, he has greatly improved the passenger service. When he took the position the road had a bad reputation so far as the passenger department was concerned. It is known that the Boston and Maine has been after Mr. Burt for some time, but he was rather reluctant to leave Plainfield and the New Jersey Central. His new position in size of importance is about four times larger than the one he now holds. The Boston and Maine has about 2,500 miles of trackage and the position of general passsenger agent, it is said, is worth about $10,000 a year.

When Mr. Burt was asked to confirm the rumor concerning his resignation, he said: "Yes, it is true. For a great many reasons I do not like to leave Plainfield or the New Jersey Central. My relations both with the New Jersey Central and the people along its lines have been very pleasant and for these and other reasons I shall regret to leave here."

JEALOUS OF GARDEN.

Mary Mazatacci Lost Her Sass, So She Destroyed Tony Maluppi's.

For destroying a neighbor's garden, Mrs. Mary Mazatacci, of North avenue, was arraigned in the city court this morning. The charge was made by Tony Maluppi, whose cabbages, corn, tomatoes and other treasures of garden sass she uprooted or cut down.

Mary descended on Tony's preserve in a fit of jealousy. She had a garden on ground belonging to one of the factories near her house, and the owner tore up the plants to use the lot. Mary was mad because her sass went and Tony's didn't, and she set out to equalize conditions.

Judge Runyon gave jealous Mary a scolding, and ordered her to pay Tony, who is a hard-working, peaceable little man, $20 for the damage she had done by Wednesday. She will be arraigned again and punished if the money isn't paid.

Death of Mrs. Scott Foster.

Many friends in this city have learned with deep regret of the sudden death of Emeline Hegeman, wife of Scott Foster, of New York, at her summer home, Englewood, on July 27, 1906. Mrs. Foster was a woman of rare worth, possessing superior mental abilities and attaining a very high spiritual plane. Full of generous impulses, appreciative of the best in others, and heroic in endurance, the natural graces of a truly womanly character were crowned with the faith and trust that mark the highest Christian womanhood. Mrs. Foster was a graduate of Ophelston Seminary, now the Plainfield Seminary, on West Seventh street, and since her marriage has spent many summers with her family in this city. She is survived by her husband, Scott Foster, one daughter, three sons, a sister, Mrs. D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue, and a brother, Mr. Hegeman, of New Germantown. Her funeral services were held this morning at her late home, Englewood, N. J., and interment was made at Newburg, N. Y.

Foot Bridge Washed Away.

During the heavy shower Saturday night, a portion of the foot bridge alongside the new West End avenue bridge was washed away and thrown up against the big structure. This was the only damage at that point and the construction work already done did not suffer by the high water.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ada Decker, of West End avenue, spent Sunday with relatives on Staten Island.

Miss Harriet Dorsey will leave today for Saratoga Springs, to spend a few weeks with friends.

Miss Emily Duvier, of West Fifth street, has returned from a two weeks' stay in Brooklyn.

John Linbarger, Jr., of Brooklyn, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. P. A. McVoy, of East Front street.

Bernard Forsman, of Camden, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fritts, of West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morrison, of this city, are registered at the St. George, Quonochontang, R. I.

Francis K. Anderson, of East Second street, leaves tomorrow for Liberty, N. Y., to remain two weeks.

Miss Eva Doeringer, of Vine street, has returned from Asbury Park, where she spent two weeks.

Miss Mary Jahn, of Scotch Plains, who has been spending a week of her vacation at Asbury Park, returned home yesterday. The coming week will be enjoyed at various points of interest.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's German Lutheran church will meet at the parsonage, 2 Stone street, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Woods, of the Baptist church, Somerville, preached morning and evening at the First Baptist church, yesterday, and his sermons were much enjoyed.

The Epworth League leaders for August at the First M. E. church will be as follows: August 5, Kenneth Robbie; August 12, Harry Gee; August 19, J. W. Gavett; August 26, Nelson A. Miller.

The regular covenant meeting of the First Baptist church will be held on Wednesday night in connection with the mid-week meeting and the Lord's Supper will be observed on Sunday morning.

Miss Lizzie W. Stafford, who is soon to leave for Providence, R. I., led the Epworth League meeting at the First M. E. church last night. The topic was "How the Church Can Help the World." It was in the nature of a prayer and praise service.

Frog Was Chicken Thief.

Flemington, July 30.—William Lennard, a farmer living near Flemington, has just solved the mysterious disappearance of eighteen of his chickens, and as a result a large pet bullfrog has been banished from his premises. For three years the frog has been permitted to live in his garden, but yesterday his frogship was discovered attacking a chicken. When the frog was placed in a pen with another small chicken it leaped quickly, captured the chicken, and devoured it before Lennard could avert it.

Shot a Boxed Dog.

A water spaniel belonging to Mrs. Grace Embly, of Farragut road, threw a fit yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Embly threw a box over the dog, sat on it, and called for help. A neighbor telephoned to police headquarters, and Officer McDonald was sent up with his little gun. He emptied the revolver into the box, and the dog was permanently cured of fits when the fusillade ceased.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The work of laying extra tracks at the New Market railroad station has now been completed and trains were run over the east-bound freight track for the first time Friday. There is now a complete four-track line from Newark to South Plainfield, both freight and passenger. Two extra tracks, an east and a west-bound have been laid and the freights which had been accustomed to switch at Bridge 28 now take the direct tracks at New Market. The work on the new interlocking switch tower has been begun and is now well underway, so that it will be possible to control the entire switching system of the yards from the tower within a few weeks. Workmen have recently completed the ballasting of the road with crushed stone.

A meeting of those interested in the formation of a degree team for Friendship Lodge will be held at the lodgemen's hall at New Market this evening. There is much enthusiasm among the lodgemen regarding the formation of such a team, and in all probability the fall will see the lodge with a regular team of its members to officiate at the degree raisings.

Mrs. Sarah G. Davis is a guest of Mrs. Henry N. Jordan, of New Market. Mrs. Davis is a missionary at Shanghai, China, and is on her furlough from active duties in the East. She will remain in this country until September 1, when she will resume her religious duties in the East.

The annual summer outing of the Sunday-schools of the First Baptist church will be held at Bellewood Tuesday, August 7. The South Plainfield Baptist church and the Woodbridge church will have their annual excursion there the same day.

Work on the new addition to the Methodist parsonage is now well underway and the carpenters are now at work on the extension. The contractor for the carpenter work is Joseph Apgar.

Walter S. Hazelton and D. W. Lapham, Jr., are spending a few weeks camping in the Adirondack Mountains.

Mrs. Mary A. Martin, of Centreville, Hunterdon Co., is spending several days as the guest of local relatives.

The Misses Jennie and Almeda Mohl, of Millville, are the guests of Charles Dayton, of New Market.

Lewis Whitney, of New Market, has secured a position as driver for George Schenck, the ice man.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Little and C. L. Guyre are sojourning at Lake Placid, N. Y.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The local ball team redeemed itself Saturday afternoon from the defeat administered to them early in the season by the Riversides, of Rahway, by sending the Rahwegians home with the small end of a 6-5 score. The game itself might have been improved upon as both sides played loosely at times. Saturday afternoon of next week the Clinton Avenues play the second of the series of games. The management of the Plainfield team wants Manager Frentz to play the game at Crescent Oval, as an appetizer for the Daabster's game, making a double header for the Plainfield fans to enjoy. Manager Frentz will hardly do this for the amount of guarantee now in sight, as the local fans are just beginning to support the game here again and to hold this the home team has promised to book all games for Saturday afternoon on the local diamond.

The residents of Alton are certainly persistent. For four years they have been endeavoring to have Glazer's fat rendering factory declared a nuisance and menace to public health without success, but this has not discouraged them as they have renewed the fight again. The State Board of Health as well as the local board have passed upon the thing in the past, but outside of making certain recommendations and placing restrictions, have failed to have the factory condemned. The Alton residents claim they are out with a determination to win. Time alone will tell.

The worst electrical and wind storm here of the summer was the heavy showers of Saturday night. The heavy wind blew down corn, broke a number of limbs from the trees and did considerable other damage. The lightning played pranks overhead until the more timid ones were driven nearly frantic. Fortunately the electrical display was confined to the heavens and no damage was done. The downfall of rain soon filled the gutters and the sidewalks were flooded in a number of places.

Would you believe it. The Bishops' law is still holding good. Don't you miss some of those old familiar faces you are in the habit of seeing in town just once a week—on Sunday?

Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, of Troy, are spending a few weeks with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Corey, of Park avenue, Scotch Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Muir, of Newark, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Muir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Meyer.

"Jimmy" Montross, who formerly pitched for the local ball team, is now doing the box work for the Berkeley Heights team.

The Epworth League held its regular weekly gathering last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

An interesting weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the church parlors.

Owing to the heavy shower of Saturday night no dance was held at Deegan's pavilion.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Several parties now using the water from the Middlesex Water Co. will, in the near future, make an analysis of the water in Spring Lake after it has been filtered, so that in case it is driven through the company's mains for their use they will know the exact quality of the water being served. If the tests do not reach a healthful standard, it is understood that several windmills will be erected by these individuals, thus obtaining not only good water but also power.

Mr. and Mrs. Winship, of Staten Island, have been visiting relatives in town. Mr. Winship is interested in the extermination of the much-dreaded mosquito and great results are being felt all over the surrounding country and particularly the far-famed mosquito State—New Jersey.

The children of Nelson Faulks, who have been visiting their grandparents on Maple avenue for the past two weeks, have returned to their home in Elizabeth.

Mrs. Brigg still continues in a critical state, and it is now feared she is suffering from tuberculosis.

Hollis Cubberley is making a protracted visit with his grandmother at Trenton.

DID NOT BELIEVE HIM DEAD.

Relatives of Henry Koch, Deceived Once, Discredit Real News.

Henry Koch, fifty-four years old, of Union Hill, N. J., dropped from a scaffold on which he was at work Friday afternoon to the ground a distance of about six feet. He was picked up apparently unconscious and hurried to a hospital, where it was found he had died of apoplexy.

Recently a man answering Koch's description died on a trolley car and it was reported that Koch was the victim. Saturday his relatives were loath to believe the report that he was dead until tney saw the body.

SINCLAIR FOR CONGRESS.

Nominated by the Socialists of the Fourth District of New Jersey.

Trenton, July 30.—Upton Sinclair, of Princeton, author of "The Jungle," was nominated Friday night by the socialists of Mercer, Hunterdon and Somerset counties for Representative from the Fourth district.

Although not present, Mr. Sinclair has consented to stand for the nomination, and it is understood he will make a thorough canvass of the district in the hope of winning. The district is normally Republican.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

HAHNE & Co

Newark's Store Beautiful

BROAD NEW & HALSEY STREETS

LAST CALL TO YOU

TO COME TO THE JULY SALE OF FURNITURE.

ONLY ONE DAY LEFT.

Tomorrow, Tuesday, we close the most successful sale of Furniture this store has ever conducted. No previous July selling has matched that of the month just closing. Hundreds of people have profited immensely by picking Furniture at the reduced prices placed upon it during this sale. We have saved our patrons thousands of dollars, and there is one day more of this generous profit-sharing before the curtain falls.

10 TO 50 PER CENT MAY BE SAVED.

Extraordinary doings will mark the last day's selling. Decisive cuts will be made on many pieces to insure their immediate departure. We cannot begin to advertise all the exceptional things, but will cite as instances Mission Furniture and Gold Chairs, which will be sold at half price.

Don't fail to select tomorrow such furniture as you may need now or are likely to need a little later on. This opportunity will not come soon again.

Mission Furniture at Half Price.

We are going to celebrate the closing days of the great July Sale by a sale of Mission Furniture at just half the usual selling prices. This sale is made up of splendid sample pieces of the well-known Stickley Bros. Co., of Grand Rapids. There is only one piece of a kind and, of course, cannot be duplicated at these prices. The construction is of the best, many of the pieces having solid copper and solid bronze trimmings, such as handles, hinges and knobs. Some are finely inlaid in neat and unique designs. We will not atempt to describe the pieces in detail except to say that they are in fumed oak finish.

MILKING MACHINE INVENTED AT LAST.

Skeptics May Be Converted by Following the Experiments of An Automatic Suction Process.

Burlington, July 30.—Farmers and dairymen who have experienced difficulty of late in securing men to do their milking, are watching with interest a new system of milking cows by machinery, now being tried at the big Green Hill Dairy, three miles from this city.

For nearly two weeks plumbers have been engaged in installing the new milking apparatus and the machines are said to be working successfully. The machine is worked on the suction principle and the power is secured from a vacuum engine. Connecting with this is a pipe which passes in front of the cow stalls and at every other stall there is a tap in the pipe.

The milking machines, themselves, are portable and consist of a fifteen or twenty quart metal can fitted at the top with a lid. Two rubber tubes, four feet in length, connect with the lid, and at the end of each tube are four cups which are fitted over the teats of the cow. When the operator desires to start milking, he simply picks up the machine, connects it by a short rubber hose to the suction pipe, places the cups in position on the teats and the machine does the rest. An automatic system causes alternate suction and release, inducing a gentle and natural flow of the milk.

There are more than a hundred cows at the Green Hill Dairy, and these will all be milked by machinery when the new system is complete, which will possibly be less than a week. Henry H. Albertson, of Taughannock Falls, N. Y., proprietor of Green Hill, is superintending the placing of the milking plant. One of the advantages claimed for the machine is its labor-saving possibilities, as one man can operate three machines and each machine will milk two cows at a time. Another feature is that the covered tops of the machines protect the milk from contamination.

WIFE SEARCHES TWO YEARS FOR HUSBAND.

He Went West to Make a New Home and Never Has Written.

Millville, July 28.—Every effort is being made by Mrs. S. C. Powell to locate her husband, who went away two years ago. At the time of Powell's strange disappearance his wife accompanied him to Philadelphia, where he boarded a train for the West, stating that as soon as he found a suitable place to locate he would send for his family. Since he left, his family has not heard from him, and all efforts to learn his whereabouts have proved futile.

Mrs. Powell has appealed to the Millville Lodge of Elks, of which her husband was a member, to assist her in finding him. She cannot account for his strange absence, as they never had a quarrel.

When the Philadelphia delegation of Elks returned from the Grand Lodge of Denver, Mrs. Powell was at the entrance of the home, and eagerly scanned the faces of the gay travelers, hoping that her husband might have returned East with them.

Not seeing him, she inquired if any one knew anything concerning him, but failed to learn any tidings of him.

His friends believe that he has met with foul play, as they state that nothing else could keep him so long separated from his wife and family.

ARNOLD OUT OF JAIL.

Lawyer Pays Fine and Costs for Imprisoned Westfield Man.

Elizabeth, July 30.—Max Arnold, the Westfield restaurant proprietor, who on Wednesday was fined $200 and costs by Judge Atwater, in the Union County Court, for serving beer without a license, was released late yesterday afternoon from jail.

Frank M. McDermit, of Newark, accompanied by former Prosecutor William R. Wilson, of Elizabeth, and the prisoner's wife, went to the jail, where Mr. McDermit paid Arnold's fine and costs, amounting in all to $235.

Mr. McDermit reiterated that he had not known of the case, personally, until his attention was called to it day before yesterday. He added that his brother, to whom the case had been given by Mrs. Arnold, had made every effort to secure a bondsman for Arnold, but failed. Then the latetr, at the suggestion of his wife, and without the knowledge of his counsel, had changed his mind about standing trial and had pleaded guilty, which accounted for the lawyer not having been in court.

While his firm was not to blame, Frank McDermit said, he secured the man's release rather than have it appear that Arnold's interests were not taken care of.

Purse for North Branch Pastor.

Whitehouse, July 30.—As the services commemorative of the semi-centennial of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Philip M. Doolittle, were drawing to a close, late Wednesday afternoon, in the Reformed church at North Branch, Rev. Bergen B. Staats, of Long Branch, who was making the congratulatory address for the congregation, presented the aged pastor with a purse of $50, being $1 for each year of his service. The money was contributed by the members of the church and their friends. Dr. Doolittle was much surprised, but responded.

Plainfield, N. J., July 30, 1906.

It is quite likely that in a very short time the politicians of Essex will be asking: "Who was Carl Lentz?"

The Philadelphia North American says New York is suffering from a shortage of chorus girls. Just wait until the Thaw trial is on.

Democratic National Chairman Tom Taggart, gambler, etc., vows he will quit Indiana. The State ought to be glad to pay his fare.

One Perkins, of Westfield, fires a shot at one George L. Record, of Jersey City. If the said Perkins has any more ammunition he had better save it, for one Runyon is said to be gunning for him.

The Rev. Henry Elliott Mott, of Elizabeth' wants the city's new excise board to fix the retail liquor license fees at $1,000, instead of $500. He thinks high license the most practical method of regulating the liquor traffic, but that the Bishops' law rates are not high enough. It isn't likely that the Elizabeth board will agree with the reverend gentleman. —Trenton True American.

If high license with the other provisions of the Bishops' bill which have been in force here before that measure was even thought of, works well in Plainfield, why should it not equally be good for Elizabeth?

EIGHT ARE DROWNED NEAR WEST WILDWOOD.

Sevel Lost from Sloop Yacht and One from Yacht Yesterday.

North Wildwood, N. J., July 30.—Eight men, all but two of them Philadelphians, were drowned by the capsizing of two boats within a half hour of one another in the rough sea off Hereford Inlet Bar here yesterday afternoon.

Seven lost their lives from the sloop yacht Nora, which was overturned as she was coming in from the fishing grounds with thirty-two passengers, all me, aboard. Thirty minutes later the yacht Alva B. went over a few hundred yards north of the wreck of the Nora, throwing her twelve passengers into the surf. Eleven of these were saved.

Only six of the bodies were recovered up to a late hour to-night. The list of identified dead is: Fred Fisher, 339 Lamont street, Manayunk; John Fogerty, Haverford, Pa.; Herbert Hammel, Lansdale, Pa.; Edward Snyder, 15 South Salford street, Philadelphia; J. Starkey, 2346 North Twenty-sixth street, Philadelphia; Griffith Williams, 1240 Point Breeze avenue, Philadelphia.

Meeting Sunday, August 19.

On account of the heavy storm last evening, it was not deemed advisable to take the children from the Netherwood Fresh Air Home to the First Baptist church, so the special meeting for the benefit of Miss Curry's work has been postponed until the third Sunday in August, at the same church.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE BEGINS 2D SEASON

"CHINATOWN CHARLIE" THE INITIAL OFFERING AT LOCAL PLAYHOUSE.

Resplendent in new decorations and spick and span in every part, the New Plainfield theatre opened the season of 1906-7, Saturday, with A. H. Woods' big scenic production of "Chinatown Charlie" as the offering. Large and enthusiastic audiences were present at afternoon and night performances and between the acts manx in the orchestra and balcony took the opportunity to view the improvements at close range. All met with hearty approval and Manager Counihan was frequently complimented on his good taste in the color effects and the progressiveness displayed in providing for the comfort and safety of patrons.

Of the improvements made to the house, one of the most noticeable is a large curtain directly in the center back of the orchestra chairs. It is used to prevent the noise of latecomers disturbing those already seated and also to shut off light from the lobby during dark scenes. The tile floor between the entrance and orchestra proper has been carpeted and this reduces noise from feet to a minimum. The ventilator installed above the auditorium kept a steady circulation of air and the fact was doubly appreciated by the gallery patrons. The lowering of the orchestra floor, the added exits and the draperies and hangings all attracted attention and were the subject of favorable remarks.

In the house staff there are but few changes from last season. A new office, that of business manager and advertising agent, has been created by Manager Counihan and filled by Michael L. Shannon, who has hitherto been a factor in St. Louis amusement circles. John Fritz has been made chief usher in the place of Jos. Robinson and the orchestra is now conducted by Charles M. Suhr. It numbers five musicians and their work at Saturday's performances was in every way satisfactory.

The other members of the executive staff are as follows: Treasurer, Samuel Cunningham; assistant treasurer, Leonce L. Texier; stage manager, Fred Bennett; electrician, Charles Mumford; property master, Fred Fleming; superintendent of auditorium, David Bush; bill poster, James Corcoran.

During the coming season, the best musical and dramatic productions on the road will visit the theatre and the same courteous policy that marked its first year will be maintained.

WAIL OF THE THIRSTY.

When you wake up Sunday mornings,
And your neck feels kinder dry,
Then you wish you were in Coney,
With a schooner big and high.
'Cause the "bishops' bill" has fixed us,
For it's closed 'em good and tight.
O there is no boozing Sundays
With a bar right plain in sight.

If you knew the way to work it,
You could always find it out,
Just the place to get a high one,
Though the way was round-about.
You stumbled through the alleys
And you went through family doors,
Just to get a little bracer
In spite of yells and roars.

Then the trolley to the country
On a Sunday dry and hot
With a froth one at your elbow,
That hotel was just the spot.
But now they're selling only soda,
As they can't sell lager beer;
For this thing, this bill, won't let 'em.
O say, boys, where the cheer?

You can bet you made excuses
On this Sunday just gone past,
Of how your heart was failing
And you'd surely breathe your last
If you didn't have a hooker;
Then the druggist was to blame.
"A prescription? and what doctor?"
"Gee! I clean forgot the name."

So, I'll beat it on to Gotham
On the Sundays coming 'long,
Where the "bishops' bill" ain't pending,
There I'll celebrate in song.
Now I'll close this dirge and lament
And keep my conscience clear,
For week-days aren't Sundays—
Here goes the "duck" for beer.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

News of the week of March 5, 1868.

Relief for the Poor—Governor Parker's lecture—The following report of a sub-committee has been adopted as the basis of action: "Your committee report, that they have selected the following gentlemen, under whose direction the proceeds of the popular lecture by Governor Parker will be distributed, viz:—Messrs. Warren Green, Henry A. Martin and John Simpson.

They recommend that the following ladies be requested to form themselves into a visiting committee for the purpose of ascertaining the most needy residents of the town and vicinity, including that part known as North Plainfield, and reporting individually, or as may be convenient, to either of the above-named gentlemen, who will appropriate the funds or supplies punctually, with said funds, in proportion with the necessity of the case, to either of the ladies for distribution, viz:

"Mrs. John Simpson, Mrs. Daniel Martine, Mrs. E. Mulford, Mrs. P. M. French, Mrs. J. W. Craig, Mrs. W. H. Shotwell, Mrs. Elston Marsh, Mrs. A. Perry, Mrs. C. H. Stillman, Mrs. J. D. Titsworth, Mrs. B. J. Randolph, Mrs. David Vail, Mrs. J. Freeman, Mrs. G. D. Merrill, the Misses Kate Webster, C. E. Roome, Emma Horton, Louise Spencer, Rosa Verdon, Jennie Radford, Sarah Martin.

"Your committee recommends further that donations from the aforesaid fund be directed exclusively to residents who are known to be worthy. Respectfully submitted, James Clark, J. VanWinkle, Alex. Titsworth, B. J. Randolph, John H. Evans, committee.."

Tickets for the lecture can be had at Jeremiah VanWinkle and William L. Force, committee, or at the bookstore of J. R. Van Winkle.

Sad Accident—It is with deep regret that we are called upon to report a sad accident which happened in this town on Friday last. Leonard B. Stephenson, the youngest child of Mrs. Samuel B. Stephenson, of this place, a bright little fellow, of almost nine years, while on his way to school, when crossing Mechanic street, was struck by a passing coal train and instantly killed, his head being completely severed from his body. It is supposed from the evidence given at the coroner's inquest that he was standing on the North track, waiting for a train to pass, and did not notice the approach of the coal train from the opposite direction, his attention being attracted to the passing train. The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

"We, as coroner's jury, summoned on the inquest on the sudden death of Leonard Stephenson on the Central Railroad in Plainfield, New Jersey, on February 28, 1868, find that Leonard Stephenson came to his death by attempting to cross the track in front of an approaching train just as another passing train from the opposite direction had almost passed by. The engine that passed over his body was No. 78, and was run by Henry Schenck at that time. In view of the circumstances as shown by evidence in the case, we do not censure the engineer, but do not exonerate the Central Railroad Company from what seems to us as gross neglect of guarding crossings in our town by placing flagmen at all exposed points.

"(Signed) T. J. Gillies, Fred Cadmus, J. A. Hubbard, John Linbarger, Thomas R. Williams William D. Randolph, Henry Couch, Joseph F. Randolph, Charles B. Rogers."

The funeral, services in the R. D. church in this place, were attended by an immense concourse of sincere sympathizers with the bereaved family. An affecting sermon was preached by Rev. M. Simonson from John 2nd Epis., 4th verse.

The casket in which the body was deposited was decorated with wreathes of white roses, one of which was presented by citizens of this place. It was taken to Somerville for interment.

Robbers Around—The stores of James M. Dunn, P. C. Johnson and N. Rogers & Son were broken into Friday night and robbed of some pennies, which happened to be in the money drawers at that time. Mr. L. L. Compton's confectionery was also tried by them, but they were frightened away. It is supposed that the thieves took some tools from the carpenter shop of Messrs. Perine & Doane to effect an entrance in the above stores, as several chisels and hammers are missing from their shop.

The Scotch Plains Thief Detecting Society met in their rooms at that place on Monday evening, the 2d inst., Dr. Joseph Clark in the chair, C. M. Putnam secretary. A large number of members was present, and new ones were added to the list. The committee on getting an act passed by the legislature of this State to charter the society, granting special powers to all its members to make arrests, &c., reported progress, and after transaction of some other business of minor importance, the society adjourned to meet the first Monday evening in April, at half-past seven o'clock. We are glad to see that our Scotch Plains friends are determined to make themselves "a terror" to all thieves, their aiders and abettors.

The recent sad accident on the railroad in this village brings up the necessity of having flagmen stationed by the railroad company at the principal street crossings, say Centre, Mechanic, Cherry and Peace streets. The topic has been earnestly discussed by our citizens within the past few days, and the opinion generally passed that the company should at once put into effect such precautions for the safety of life and limb. If that is refused, then a law ought to be passed by the present legislature compelling it to be done. It would be well for the township committee to take the matter in hand and request the Central Railroad Company to adopt such a reasonable safeguard. We cannot think the enlightened management of the corporation will turn a deaf ear. If they do, then we go for appealing to a higher power. Something must be done, and that soon. Give us the flagmen.

A communication on the Fire Department:

Messrs. Editors: I am a friend of the Fire Department and sincerely desire its permanent prosperity, but I believe there is danger of going too fast. I am also the taxpayers' friend, and advocate their right to know frequently and authentically how every dollar of the public money is expended.

I learn that the Fire Department wish legislative authority to add another $1,000 to their annual taxation, and to issue bonds to the extent of $15,000.

I do not like, Messrs. Editors, the idea of manufacturing more public obligations. That, to me, demands close scrutiny and deliberate thought. There is such a thing as overdoing this bond business, and piling debt so high that it may crush some of us poor fellows who are not fortified behind greenbacks. It should be remembered that the people of Plainfield are not all rich, but that a large majority possess only moderate means, and that very many owning modest, yet to them, valued homesteads, have about as much as they can do to make both ends meet, even with stern industry and economy. Those worthy men and women have rights worthy of consideration and protection, and on their behalf I would respectfully urge prudent action and the lightest possible taxation.

I admit the necessity of an efficient fire department. Its importance comes home to every property owner, large or small, and, as an individual, I am ready and willing to pay my full share towards its support; but is it not due to the taxpayers as a body that the gentlemen constituting the Board of Managers of the Fire Department, before asking for an increase of taxation and indebtedness, should publish a detailed statement, showing how much and for what purpose the department owes money, and what it absolutely requires more to guarantee its public utility.

In that connection I would suggest the propriety of the Managers furnishing the people as follows:

The present indebtedness of the department, to whom owing and in what shape.

A complete schedule of all property belonging to the department, with its present estimated cash value.

The cost of the new steam fire engine, and how much remains unpaid thereon.

The cost of engine house and lot on Front street, and how much thereof is unpaid.

The proposed site and cost of another building, and for what purpose that is designed.

All of which is information justly due to the people of Plainfield.

I go for free ventilation and strict accountability in every branch of public affairs.

There are other points to be touched upon hereafter.

(Signed) Junius.

HOG NEARLY BURNED CITY

Set Ablaze by Falling Lamp, Animal Unconsciously Gets Even with Man That Threw It.

The entire east side of town narrowly escaped being burned at night and nothing but prompt action upon the part of those present averted it, says a dispatch from Dresden, Tenn.

Fate Perry, a clerk at Tuck's restaurant, went to his room upstairs over the restaurant about 11 o'clock to retire. He lit a lamp, which caught fire within, and Perry promptly threw it into the street. The lamp struck a town hog fairly in the middle of the back and exploded, covering the hog with burning oil. The squeals of his hogship could have been heard half a mile away as he awoke to the situation and tried to get away.

The hog took a turn around a part of the public square and returned to where he was first assaulted and ran under the restaurant from which the lamp was thrown to get release from the flames. The blaze by this time had just begun to make extra good headway and soon set the floor and rubbish under the building afire. The alarm was raised and the entire fire force called out, but for some time they could neither get the hog out or reach the fire. Finally the floor was torn up and water poured through upon the hog, who took the relief offered him without a grunt and the fire was finally put out. All losses except the hog's, were covered by insurance.

Oriental Brewery Trust.

There is a brewery trust in Japan. Once Japan imported all the beer she consumed. After a time she learned how to make her own beer, and at several places breweries were established with Japanese capital. These for a time competed—with the usual result. In 1904 the government itself conceived, planned, initiated and organized the brewery trust of Japan, and now directs the trust's operations. Under government direction the trust has thrived amazingly, and while stupid competition has been eliminated no one has been injured, no one has been garroted or robbed. Meanwhile under government control the amount of beer exported from Japan in 1905 was double the amount exported in 1904, and the amount exported in 1906 will probably double the amount exported in 1905, for under government direction Japan is beginning to seize the beer trade in China and Korea.—Everybody's Magazine.

Retainer Was Retained.

Edward M. Nason, superintendent of buildings for New Hampshire, tells the following anecdote of Daniel Webster: One day a man came to Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 to look after the matter. Upon returning to his place of business he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the matter. "Mr. Webster," said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled." "Young man," said the lawyer, "you go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."

His Knowledge of Weeds.

At a suburban residence near Philadelphia there recently appeared an unkempt-looking individual who asked for employment. It chanced that his application was made to the lady of the house herself, who was superintending the transplanting of plants in the garden.

"Are you a gardener?" asked the lady.

"Ain't had much experience at gardenin'," was the reply.

"Can you plant these bushes?"

"I'd hate to risk spoilin' em, mum."

"Then what can you do?"

"Well, mum," responded the unkempt-looking individual, "if you was to hand me one of your husband's cigars I might sit in the greenhouse an' smoke out them insects that's eatin' the leaves of them rose-bushes."—Harper's Weekly.

NEW GERMAN LEADER.

Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg May Be Made Chancellor in Von Buelow's Place.

Berlin.—The advanced age of Count Von Buelow, chancellor of the German empire, coupled with opposition in some quarters to his policy, makes it certain that before long he will retire from office, and it is probable that Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg will be his successor. The latter was until a year ago regent of the Duchy of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. He was born September 13, 1863, and 1896 married Princess Alexandra, daughter of the late Duke Alfred (Duke of Edinburgh) of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and niece of King Edward of England. In 1897 the prince was honored with the British decoration of Knight Grand Cross of the Bath. His full name and title are His Serene Highness Ernest William Frederic Charles Maxmilian. Hereditary Prince of Hohenlohe-Langenburg. The alleged diplomatic failure of Count von Buelow in the Moroccan conference and the miscarriage of colonial affairs will, it is believed, lead to his retirement.

PRINCE HOHENLOHE-LANGENBURG. (The Probable New Chancellor of the German Empire.)

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

WHY HE WAS A FAILURE AS AN IDEAL HUSBAND.

He regarded children as a nuisance.

He did all his courting before marriage.

He never had time to go anywhere with his wife.

He doled out money to his wife as if to a servant.

He looked down upon his wife as an inferior being.

He thought of his wife only as a cheap housekeeper.

He never took time to get acquainted with his family.

He never dreamed that a wife deserved praise or compliments. He had one set of manners for home and another for society.

He thought his wife should spend all her time doing housework.

He married an ideal and was disappointed to find that it had flaws.

He paid no attention to his personal appearance after marriage.

SEEN BY TRAVELERS.

Patches of blue chicory—seems only yesterday it went.

Blue sky and green meadows that make you long for your vacation.

A man and a woman at a wayside station, sitting hand in hand, obvious to all the world.

A crowded train, bubbling over with shouting children, rushing out into the country on the first Sunday school picnic.

A painfully blonde lady, a fat gentleman, three children, a French maid and uncountable trunks, waiting to start on the summer trip.

FACTS ABOUT YOURSELF.

The average number of teeth is 32.

The weight of the circulating blood is 29 pounds.

The average weight of an adult is 150 pounds 6 ounces.

The brain of a man is more than twice that of any other animal.

A man breathes about 20 times a minute, or 1,200 times an hour.

The average weight of the brain of a man is 3½ pounds; of a woman 2 pounds 11 ounces.

Over 540 pounds, or one hogshead and one and a quarter pints of blood, pass through the heart in one hour.

The average height of an American is 5 feet 9 inches; of a Frenchman 5 feet 4 inches; of a German 5 feet 7 inches.

There are 175,000,000 cells in the lungs, which would cover a surface thirty times greater than the human body.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TREE BEAUTY.

(Red Maple.)

It's an early bird.
Remember its blossoms?
They are showers of crimson.
Oh, the beauty of those rare red blooms!
In the spring it was one of the first to be "dressed."
In the autumn it will hurry into scarlet and orange splendor.
During the cold winter its twigs are of deep red shade.
It is undoubtedly one of our most beautiful forest trees.
Its hard wood is of a red-bbrown and is especially desirable when its shows the curly grain.
The dark gray bark furnishes a dye for the Indians, and also a sort of ink.
This round-topped beauty of treedom with its beautiful leaves, grows from North to South and all the way out to Dakota.

AS TO GUM CHEWING.

Don't.
Again don't.
And again don't.
It is a horrible habit.
It gives an idiotic expression.
The man who makes it says it is healthful.
The more he needs the money the more he insists.
Those who fancy gum chewing a good thing should take exercise, breathe deeply and drink plenty of water.
As a matter of fact, few sights are more suggestive of a season in an insane hospital than an average woman in a swaying rocking chair, chewing gum.

TO DARKEN RED HAIR.

To darken light red hair make a tea by pouring a pint of boiling water over an ounce of henna leaves broken. Cover and let it steep until the liquid is cold. Have the hair washed and thoroughly dried. Then apply the tea with a brush, letting it stay on for half an hour. Wash again in warm, clear water. The tint may be darkened even more by making the tea stronger and letting it stay on longer on the hair. The liquid is perfectly harmless, in fact, is a good tonic for the hair.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.
What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LITERARY.

A really notable series of articles begins in the August McClure's under the title "The Story of Montana." The history of that remarkable commonwealth, with its picturesque early mining days, when the road-agents held sway and robbed and murdered wholesale the miners and settlers, and the conflict of more recent days between the two great copper kings, William A. Clark and Marcus Daly, which was fought in business and politics, chiefly within its borders, furnish the author, C. P. Connolly, himself quite an early Montana settler, with the material for a stirring and absorbing article. This historical series represents a new departure in magazine editing, and adds one more to the important lines of thought in which McClure's has been the pioneer. Carl Schurz's reminiscences continue with a chapter on impressions of Rachel, the great French actress; Burton J. Hendrick gives a fifth instalment of "The Story of Life-Insurance" which discloses the iniquities of the Tontine policy that Henry B. Hide developed. Rudyard Kipling tells in his "Robin Goodfellow" series an interesting tale of the iron-founders in the Weald of Kent, Hal o' the Draft, Sebastian Cabot and the great priate Sir Andrew Barton.

The Fiction number of Scribner's Magazine is made notable by a complete novelette by the author of "The House of Mirth." Mrs. Wharton's story is entitled "Madame de Treymes," and the setting of it is in Paris and has to do with the wrongs of an American woman who married into the French aristocracy. The story is a most subtle presentation of the national point of view in regard to the position of the family in society. It is absorbing both as a character and radical story. Mrs. Wiggin's story, "Jack-o'-Lantern," revives her most charming creation, Rebecca, a delightful little New England girl of an adventurous disposition. This story gives some of Rebecca's original poetry, and is as amusing as any chapter in the delightful book. It will be followed by other Rebecca stories. The author of "The Turquoise Cup," Arthur Cosslett Smith, has written a story of a group of old men at the Club, and the romance in the life of the hall porter. It is a skilful piece of characterization. Other stories are: "That Russian," by Louise Betts Edwards. The amusing narrative of a young student of social conditions in this country. "Carmelina's Carabiniere," by Julian Street. A story of housekeeping in Capri. "Her Story" by Churchill Williams, The tale of a woman who wanted to write. Outside of the fiction this number contains a number of very interesting features. "The Farmer's Seasons" is four pictures by A. B. Frost, reproduced in color, accompanied with a series of pages imitating the old farmers' almanacks, in which E. S. Martin has with rare humor written advice to farmers in the old manner, with amusing verses for each season and signs and symbols for various events.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The history of Luna Park yields no record of such tremendous patronage as this season has produced. By day and by night fun-seeking crowds have filled the great, glittering area and enjoyed the delights of the multitudinous new shows and devices. "A Mountain Torrent," Frederic Thompson's latest conception, has found immediate and lasting favor, and boat loads of delighted patrons glide down the winding waterway in endless procession. Three hundred thousand gallons of sea water are pumped up the heights each minute and descend through scores of picturesque channels. "The Great Train Robbery," a thrilling spectacle of Western life, continues a great popular centre. In vivid realism it eclipses all previous Coney Island productions. New acts appear each week in the free open-air circus over the cool stretch of the lagoon, and the crowds find comfort and diversion in the shaded nooks which overlook the cintinuous show.. "Shoot the Chutes," "The Old Mill," the "Miniature Railway," "A Trip to the Moon," the "Dragon's Gorge" and the free helter-skelter are always centres of throngs, and the dance hall entertains by the thousand. Ten bands provide brazen melody throughout the Park.

LUNCHEON HAMPERS.

One is noted at $2.

It pays to invest $6, though.

The cheapest are not very roomy.

One at $10 is designed for four and boasts an alcohol stove.

These handsome hampers contain various plates and cutlery.

There's an assortment of butter, sandwich and liquid carriers.

Poetic Appreciation of Gold.

Genius scorns the power of gold; it is wrong. Gold is the war-scythe on its chariot, which mows down the millions of its foes, and gives free passage to the sun-coursers with which it leaves those heavenly fields of light for the gross battlefields of earth.—Ouida (Louise de la Ramee).

Beggar Left $185,000.

An old beggar who used to frequent the doors of one of the principal churches of Rome, died lately. He was found to be possessed of $185,000, which he had left by a properly drawn up will to his three children, who were completely ignorant of their father's wealth.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

"Be patient; one has gone for help," Lavender said.

There was blood on her dress where the dusky head had lain, and the girl, tired and weak after the cramped position, staggered to her feet and leaned against a tree with an exhausted sigh.

All this the red man noted. "White maiden tired?" Then his eyes sought the knapsack, and he made an effort to reach it. Lavender quietly handed it to him, though her heart beat violently. "See, it is empty," she said.

A strange smile crossed the man's dark face—a smile of cunning, secret intelligence. Only for an instant; it passed, and he wore again the impassive look—his savage soul once more a prisoner behind the inscrutable eyes.

"It is empty," he agreed, repeating her words and inflection; "Owatoga has lost the dispatches."

Then, stretching out his hand for the sack, he deliberately dropped it in the hollow of the tree back of him. There it lay out of sight. Satisfied that it was safely hidden, the Indian hung his head wearily, and neither moved nor spoke.

It was not long before she heard voices and the tramp of feet. Led by Winslow, a party of soldiers from the fort came to the relief. A few questions were asked, and Lavender stold her story. Her description of the second Indian who had so mysteriously come and gone, led them to believe him a wandering hunter whose arrow had flown wide of the mark. He doubtless belonged to the Osages of which tribe the wounded man was a member. Examination of the tattoo marks had satisfied him that he and his victim were akin—that they worshiped the Great Spirit and tortured their enemies after the same good way.

Probably there would have been no trouble in any event, but now they might feel doubly secure.

"And you Owatoga, you come from Washington?"

The Indian nodded, and his questioner—a corporal of the guard—persisted: "But where are the dispatches?"

In the second's pause which followed, Lavender held her breath.

"Owatoga has lost them," the Indian grunted, and, with a show of great fatigue, his head fell forward on his breast.

"Beg pardon, corporal," Lavender interfered. "You see he is so weak; cannot the questions wait?"

Obedient to her suggestion, the squad proceeded to camp, bearing the wounded man on the litter.

Winslow and the corporal walked with Lavender. The officer said: "It is curious that Owatoga should have lost those dispatches. He is frequently sent from Fort Washington here, and is usually careful. He had nothing in the way of papers when he fell, Miss Creighton?"

Lavender paused to disentangle a bit of briar from her skirt, and replied, without looking up: Indeed, you can well imagine that I was too frightened to pay much attention to particulars."

"I am sure it was a pretty hard experience," the soldier agreed. "She is plucky, isn't she?" he said to Winslow, with an admiring nod in Lavender's direction.

"Very," was the laconic response, but Winslow's manner as he took her arm implied much more.

The soldier chatted aimlessly, and in silence the two followed him back to camp. Occasionally the maid stole a glance half humble, half defiant, at Winslow. He would shake his head with a severe frown—which, however, lost effect from the smile in his eyes.

At the bastion gate they separated, and while the corporal went in advance, Lavender linger to say: "We hope to see you after supper, Mr. Winslow. Mother and I will be waiting in her room." The commonplace invitation was given strong meaning by her look—half command, half entreaty. This was emphasized, too, by a slight rustle of the papers as she clasped both hands to her bodice that rose and fell with every anxious breath.

When, an hour or two later, Winslow presented himself at Mrs. Creighton's door, it was with feelings hard to define. If the dispatch were discovered, or if it remained secret, were alternatives equally distasteful. The indignity of the guard house, the delay and ill-fame of a trial, scarcely more than balanced his horror of any underhanded proceeding.

"I will leave it to Fate," he thought, as he knocked for entrance. And then: "No, I will leave it to her," was his second resolve, as the door opened and Lavender stood before him.

For in spite of the defiant sparkle in her eyes, and the scarlet in each cheek, there was about her an atmosphere of such absolute innocence—such fearless consciousness of integrity, that Winslow was ashamed of his own scruples. They seemed pusillanimous beside her instinctive perception of the right.

"She is one of the few who can be a law unto herself, and yet walk the narrow path," he thought.

Mrs. Creighton came at once to the subject uppermost in the minds of all. "Lavender has told me everything, Mr. Winslow, and I have read the dispatch. I can scarcely contain my indignation, my sympathy for you, or my personal regret that you are brought to this trouble through care for us."

She beckoned him to a seat beside her, and her voice sank to a confidential tone; "but tell me what you think best to do."

Winslow hesitated. "There are two plans which suggest themselves. One is to go direct to the commander, explain all, and prove my innocence, if possible, relying upon his justice. The other—" he paused, meaningly, and lowered his voice. "The other—is to take French leave at our first opportunity."

Mrs. Creighton smiled as she said, sympathetically: "And you are at a loss how to act? I can well understand it."

But Lavender, who was all this time impatiently tapping her foot against the andiron, turned her back to the chimney piece, her whole figure vibrating with indignation. "You understand his hesitation, mother? Well, I confess I don't! Why should we give up these dispatches? It would do nobody any good, and would cause a great deal of harm. Mr. Winslow's conscience is clear—what is to be gained by the mockery of a trial? They would find him guilty, of course—" then as her listeners started in surprise—"He is guilty of the only thing of which he stands accused—connection with the Burr expedition. You would not deny that. So you see it was providential that we got hold of the papers first. And that reminds me—" her mood changed, and she laughed merrily, "if I am not mistaken, I got hold of the papers first."

Here Winslow reminded her: "But you have forgotten the Indian. There is every reason to fear his explanation, or, in any case, the investigation he may set on foot."

Lavender did not reply for a moment. She was thinking of the Indian's face when he said "Owatoga has lost the dispatches." Of the look in his eye when he hid the empty knapsack. She recalled his silence later when interrogated by the corporal, and her belief was strong that from Owatoga they had nothing to fear.

But ashamed lest she be thought over-confident, she said only: "Let us not worry about Owatoga; only let us go as soon as we can."

"Then you approve of the French leave?"

"Strongly, sir; don't you, mother?" and she sank to the stool at her mother's feet—all the frowning impatience gone from the beautiful face.

Mrs. Creighton spoke softly, twisting the tiny curls on the fair, bent head at her knee. "From a selfish point of view, daughter, I certainly do. If Mr. Winslow stands trial, he will be detained here indefinitely, and we with him, or adrift without him. It is characteristic of his generosity that he lets two helpless women decide to their own advantage. He may prefer the more open course, and we must insist that he alone decide. It is a choice of evils—as are most things in this complex world." She ended between a smile and a tear.

"A hard choice, truly," Lavender agreed, with a saucy tilt of her chin. "But think of the brave company you would be in. Choose at once, sir—a prisoner here, alone, or a thief in the night with mother and me, the abetting malefactors!"

All joined in the laugh, and Winslow felt his spirits rise as with a new and strange elixir. "A thief in the night be it, then!" he said, in mock heroics.

Then soberly the plan of action was agreed upon. They were to say nothing of the dispatches, but to seize the first pretext to leave the fort.

"And in order that there may be no backsliding, the bridges must be burnt," and going to the grate, Lavender dropped the dispatches on the heart of the coals. Slowly the edges uncurled in a last mischievous attempt to reveal the secret; then a greedy flame devoured the papers.

"Ashes!" Lavender exclaimed, in triumph. Then, turning to Winslow: "There is nobody now to call you spy or traitor!"

NEW BOARD OF EXCISE FAILS TO ORGANIZE.

Owing to Absence of One Elizabeth Commissioner Nothing Is Accomplished at Meeting.

Elizabeth, July 30.—The new Board of Excise for this city met Thursday night at the city hall, but failed to organize owing to the absence of Commissioner Douglass G. Moore, Democrat. The other four members were on hand, but nothing was accomplished. It developed, however, that there is a sharp fight on for the presidency of the board. Commissioner James A. Hand, who is a stalwart Republican, does not want, it is said, Commissioner Robert B. Cissell, the Colbyite member, elected president. Hand's choice, it is alleged, is Moore.

Both Moore and Hand are old schoolmates, having been educated in public school No. 1, at Elizabethport. Ever since then they have been warm personal friends.

Mr. Moore is a director in the National State Bank, which is controlled by Senator Kean, and is owner of a line of freight barges in New York harbor. He was also one of the founders of the Crescent Shipyard Company, but sold his interest in the plant for $200,000 to the Shipbuilding Trust, which afterward collapsed. He is a close friend of Senator Kean.

The board will make a second attempt to organize on next Tuesday night. Commissioner Moore, who is away from the city, will return, it is understood, on that day. Commissioner Walters, who left town yesterday for Massachusetts on his vacation, has promised to be back in time for the organization meeting.

THOUGHT HE BROKE JAIL.

Crowd Thought Fleeing Man Was a Murderer.

New Brunswick, July 30.—A false report that Fred Lang, the murderer, who was sentenced by Justice Swayze to be hanged on August 28, had escaped from jail created considerable excitement here Friday night. A man raced by the jail yard screaming, "Murder! Police! Thief!" and chasing another man much younger and of the same build as Lang. Warden Rogers heard the yells and followed in pursuit.

"What's the trouble?" he asked of the crowd which assembled.

"Lang broke jail," they told the warden, and great beads of sweat broke out on his face.

He joined the chase, but the man was lost in some of the back yards. The warden hastened back to the jail and asked the night watchman if Lang had escaped. He was overjoyed to see Lang standing in his cell door safe and sound.

The man chased had stolen two apples from the wagon of a peddler.

SCANDAL IN NEWARK BUILDING.

Mayor Orders an Investigation of the Department.

Because of the collapse of several buildings recently and friction between the inspectors and superintendent, an investigation is to be made of the building department of Newark, N. J.

Mayor Doremus made an inspection of certain localities yesterday where buildings have gone down, and after noting the nature of the material which the inspectors permitted contractors to use, he ordered the investigation. The Mayor collected samples of some of the mortar and cement used and declared that it was nothing more than mud. He described the conditions as "frightful," and said the foundations of some structures were composed of nothing but refuse stones.

LAWYER'S HOUSE BLOWN UP.

Dynamite Exploded in the Cellar of W. E. Hobbie's House.

Rochester, N. Y., July 30.—An attempt was made Friday night to blow up the home of W. E. Hobbie, a lawyer, of Holley, with dynamite. The explosive was placed in the cellar and apparently set off by a fuse connected with a wire that ran out of the window.

The explosion blew a hole in the floor of the parlor, broke nearly all the windows and destroyed much of the furniture, but did not injure the inmates. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Hobbie and Mrs. Hobbie's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbie slept in a room adjoining the parlor. The outside cellar door was open, and this is thought to have lessened the force of the explosion.

K. OF C. EMBARKATION DAY.

Members of Order Will Gather at Atlantic City August 4.

Atlantic City, July 30.—Embarkation day of the Knights of Columbus is fixed for August 4. The members of the order will be here Sunday and Monday. The headquarters will be Young's Hotel.

A reception will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the Royal Palace Casino, and at 8:30 there will be a ball for the visitors. Sunday the knights will attend Our Lady Star of the Sea church, where the Rev. Michael J. Phelan, of New York, will address them. In the afternoon there will be sailing on the yachts and trolley trips through the country and down the beach as far as Longport.

Mrs. Abbie K. Streader and her daughter, Madeline, of Madison avenue, have been spending a few days at Atlantic City.

DAAB'S TEAM AGAIN DEFEATS ELIZABETH NINE

INVADERS MADE BUT ONE HIT OFF SMITH'S DELIVERY.

Daab's Plainfield team again showed the Elizabeth Invaders how to play the National game at Elizabeth on Saturday, when it defeated the county sea aggregation by a score of 3 to 0 before a big crowd of fans. "Jimmie" Beisel occupied the box for the home team and Plainfield touched him up for eight hits, while "Phil." Smith, who twirled for Plainfield, allowed but one hit. That was made by Curley. Henriques, Goodman and Foster each made a run for Plainfield.

The Plainfield lineup was somewhat changed, Stapleton playing centre field, Reardon going on second. Heffron played left field, Foster in right and Snow covered third base in the absence of Leonard. The score:

COULDN'T HIT RANDOLPH.

The Dunellen outfield was idle Saturday afternoon, so completely did Randolph's great pitching puzzle the crack Bayonne A. C. They could not hit a fair ball outside of the diamond; the best they could get was one scratch hit. The score was 4 to 2. If Randolph had not given a base on balls in the sixth, and hit a man in the eighth and the locals had had their regular infield, Bayonne would have been shut out easily.

Demont pitched good ball for Bayonne up to the fifth, but after that he went up in the air. The feature of the game, outside of the pitching of Randolph, was the base running of Lake and Piddington, the timely hitting of Giles and Garretson, and the great work of the Bayonne outfield.

HOBOKEN DEFEATED BY THE CUBAN STARS

THIRTEEN INNING GAME WITH FINAL SCORE OF 3 TO 1.

Daab's Hobokens played another remarkable game at St. George's Cricket Grounds, yesterday, when they met the Cuban Stars. The contest went thirteen innings and the home team was defeated by a score of 3 to 1. "Willie" Deegan was touched for ten hits, while but seven hits were made off Medina. Both teams put up an errorless game and there were many brilliant plays throughout. After getting one run in the first inning the Hobokens were blanked the rest of the way. A week ago Hoboken played a fifteen inning tie game with the Cuban X Giants.

CLINTON AVENUE LOST TO FLEMINGTON, 3 TO 0.

Rattling Good Game In Which Every Inning But One Was a Blank.

In a hotly contested game, the Clinton Avenue team was defeated at Flemington on Saturday, the score being 3 to 0. The Plainfield boys were unable to secure but five hits off Weaner, while Scott allowed but three hits. However, five errors helped Plainfield to lose the contest. The score:

WON SLUGGING MATCH.

Gillette-Stirling Hammers Out Victory Over Peapack Hitters.

In a slugging match, the newly-combined Gillette-Stirling nines wrenched a victory from Peapack Saturday afternoon. Each team scored six runs in one inning. Peapack got the lead in the fifth, only to have the doubled-up aggregation hammer them back to the rear, from where they never crept up.

DIAMOND DUST.

"Phil." Smith, who is making such a fine record pitching for the local team this season, will be given a severe test of his ability on Saturday, September 29, when he will pitch for the Hobokens against the Jersey City Eastern League team. This will be after the close of the Eastern League season.

Manager Daab has scheduled the Philadelphia Quaker Giants as the attraction for next Saturday at Crescent Oval. This is the third time the famous colored players have been slated to appear here and the fans hope that nothing will interfere this week.

V. William Nash is getting the lawyers together for a game against the Newspaper Men this week.

John McGowan, of the Elizabeth Journal, has taken up the burden shifted by Doc Anderson, and will organize a team to play the local Newspaper Men.

The Newark News team wants to play the Elizabeth Newspaper Men.

ROD AND GUN.

Included in a nice lot of weakfish which Ed. Newton hauled in off Perth Amboy, Saturday, was one said to be the largest caught in that vicinity this season. It weighed a trifle less than four pounds. Mr. Newton has it at the Hotel Kensington as proof and is showing it to his friends.

ELIZABETH PAIR AGAIN WINS TITLE IN WESTFIELD TENNIS.

Charlock and Glazebrook, Elizabeth T. and C. Club Team, Won From Crescent A. C. Pair.

Miles S. Charlock and H. McK. Glazebrook, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, won the title in men's doubles in the match concluded at the Westfield Club Saturday afternoon. They were against Morris W. Ely and N. S. Schroeder, of the Crescent A. C., in the final round and disposed of them in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4, 6-1. Fred W. Goddard and Harry Carter were put out of the playing in the semi-final round by Ely and Schroeder, Wednesday afternoon, 6-2, 6-4. There were three other pairs from the Country Club entered in the match.

Charlock and Glazebrook are champions of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis League, having won the title last season. They have been paired together in the Elizabeth Town and Country Club tennis events for several years and play fast tennis together.

GEORGE F. SCHOONMAKER CAPTURES HONORS FOR GOLF COMITTEE CUP.

Notwithstanding that many of the members are away from town on their vacation, there was a good sized field of golfers at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday afternoon, to take part in the scheduled events. The weather was threatening, but this did not keep the contestants away.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, George F. Schoonmaker won the first three points with a net score of 74, Morris J. Dumont and Earl Stockton divided the remaining point, each returning a score of 75. The scores for the Golf Committee cup are as follows:

George F. Schoonmaker, 88, 14—74; Morris J. Dumont, 82, 7—75; Earl Stockton, 84, 9—75; Dudley H. Barrows, 77, plus 1—78; W. B. Tyler, 93, 15—78; W. D. Riggs, 89, 11—78; Charles A. Stover, 89, 10—79; W. Lester Glenney, 80, plus 2—82; Hugh F. Fox, 102, 18—84; Stuart H. Patterson, 96, 9—87; W. D. Boggs, 107, 17—90.

The competition for the July cup was concluded on Saturday. Robert Abbott won the cup with his low score of 69 made two weeks ago. This was the best score for the month and it is also the record for the course thus far this season. The scores returned on Saturday for the cup are as follows:

J. W. Lane, 89, 11—78; W. B. Tyler, 93, 15—78; W. D. Riggs, 89, 11—78; Charles A. Stover, 89, 10—79; Hugh F. Fox, 102, 18—84; Stuart H. Patterson, 96, 9—87; W. P. Boggs, 107, 17—90.

Morris J. Dumont also won a leg on the semi-scratch cup, returning the best score in this competition, an 82. At the end of the season those who have won a leg on the cup will compete at match play.

There were very few contestants at the Park Golf Club on Saturday and those who played did not post their scores. The shower early in the afternoon dampened the ardor of the players and had a tendency to reduce the number of contestants.

The qualifying round for the August handicap cup was played at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday. Match play will begin on Saturday. Those who qualified for future play are as follows: R. L. VanDyke, 92, 12—81; W. Howe, 95, 5—90; Dr. Atkinson, 95, 10—85; C. W. Young, 101, 13—88; C. Kirchner, 92, 6—86.

Competition for August Cup.

Competition will be started at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday for the August cup, presented by Councilman Henry D. Hibbard. Under the rules the best selected score for the month will win the trophy. The score for the whole round of the links is to be made up of the best score for each hole made in competition during the month. Half the regular handicap is to be given. In determining the handicap the half point is to count as one point. The competition is open to all classes of membership.

Origin of "Grass" Widow.

"She is a grass widow," said the professor, nodding in the direction of a woman with yellow hair. "A 'grass' widow? O, professor, I didn't think you would use slang." "'Grass widow is not slang," said the professor, stoutly. "It is, on the contrary, a very ancient and correct expression. It comes from the French 'grace.' It was originally written 'grace' widow. Its meaning is 'widow by courtesy.' There is nothing slangy or disrespectful in the term 'grace widow.' A widow may call herself that with propriety."—N. Y. Press.

SPREAD THE 'NEW IDEA'

Colby, Fagan and Record Tell Their Story in Somerset County.

DEMOCRATS ATTENTIVE

Among the 300 at Somerville Was a Goodly Number of Minority Party Men—What the Speakers Said.

The Somerset County Republican League for Popular Government, or the "new idea," in the Republican party, held a meeting in Germania Hall, Somerville, last night for the purpose of effecting permanent organization, but was not carried out to the letter, as no person has yet been decided upon for president. The chairman, W. W. Howland, of North Plainfield, said that an attempt had been made to prevent holding the meeting, but nevertheless they intended to have it.

The speakers came in an automobile from Newark, and were immediately taken to the platform. There was about 300 people in the hall, and very many well-known Democrats were noticed among the audience.

Hon. Everett Colby, Senator from Essex county, was the first speaker, and his remarks made a deep impression upon the gathering, as he related his personal experience in political life. He told the story of Carl Lentz coming to him and how he consented to run for the Assembly, and of his lack of knowledge at that time of political methods. Also of Mayor Fagan and George L. Record coming to him to interest him in legislation for the interest of Jersey City, and how, afterwards, his political doom was prophesied by the same Carl Lentz.

Mark Fagan, mayor of Jersey City, followed Mr. Colby, and his address was in a similar vein. He spoke particularly of the conditions that prevailed at the time he was elected mayor of Jersey City; that he supposed he was elected to serve the people; but that in less than six months he had his eyes opened to the condition of affairs. He was told he would ruin his party, and that he owed it a certain duty. He said he would rather be out of politics than in it, but that he did not propose to be driven out. The conditions in Hudson were such that he said he was compelled to do a drastic thing—write an open letter to the Governor, and that circumstances have since warranted him in such action.

George L. Record was the last speaker and covered the same points made by the previous speakers. He claimed that the opportunity for the people to get from under boss rule was in the new primary law, and explained in detail the way the law would work. He confined the reports that he was seeking office in announcing his candidacy for the United Staes Senate.

At the conclusion of the addresses membership cards were passed around for signatures.

F. A. Pope, of Somerville, was elected permanent secretary and Calvin D. Smith, of Bernardsville, treasurer.

W. H. Whiting, for committee of permanent organization and by-laws, and they were unanimously adopted.

An appeal was made by the chairman for funds in the way of voluntary contributions.

The North Plainfielders present were Thomas A. Armstrong, W. W. Webb, F. deL. Hyde, John Hutchinson and W. W. Howland.

HEARING IN BOROUGH CORN CROP CASE POSTPONED.

Action Brought By Uhrhahn Against Mrs. Wyckoff To Come Before Justice Mundy and Jury.

The hearing of the case of William Uhrhahn against Mary Wyckoff, which was to have been held in the borough court this evening, has been postponed until Thursday evening. Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy will be on the bench.

The action is being brought by Uhrhahn for a crop of corn alleged to be destroyed by being trampled by Mrs. Wyckoff's cows. The cattle broke into his field on Regent street several weeks ago, when the corn was just beginning to sprout, and made a meal off the choice, tender shoots, badly trampling what they could not eat, according to the complaint. The crop was ruined, and Uhrhahn will have retribution through the court. He has retained Vincent W. Nash, Jr., as his counsel for the case, and S. S. Swackhamer will represent the defendant. The decision will be rendered by a jury of boroughites.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Runyon and son, Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Budlong and daughter and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman and daughter, Miss Maude Honeyman, returned today from Felmly Farm, Lebanon, where they have been sojourning.

BOY NUISANCES FIND HOODLUMISM EXPENSIVE

NOISY TRIO FINED $8 APIECE IN THE CITY COURT.

Hoodlumism was assessed at $8 a case in the city court this morning. Willie Berkowitz, Clarence Clarkson and Neils Luthman, all about fifteen years old, were fined that amount for annoying the residents in the neighborhood of Washington, Church, and East Front streets, this morning.

The trio were arrested as the ringleders of a gang of eight or nine noisy youths, after numerous complaints had been made against them. John H. Sayres, John Underwood and W. D. Williams, representing the angry residents, appeared before the court to prosecute the boys. The gang has made life miserable for the people of the neighborhood for months, in spite of frequent protests. It was a section of the crowd that played cards in the vacant house Sunday afternoon, and drew the chase by Patrolman Stillwell in which the latter aroused the neighborhood by a pistol shot designed to scare the fleeing boys.

"This matter is serious enough to merit especial punishment," said Judge Runyon in disposing of the trio. "In no case of its kind on record have so many and such bitter complaints been made. That there is a good deal in it cannot be doubted. Men like Mr. Williams, Mr. Sayers and Mr. Underwood do not come down to court to appear against boys without very good reason. I will fine you enough to make this thing stick in your minds. I fine you $8 or 20 days in jail, apiece."

The three boys were locked in cells until their fathers sent the fines.

MODEL LAW OFFICES IN M'CUTCHEN BUILDING.

Reed and Coddington Have Handsome Suite in the New Business Block.

Reed & Coddington will move their law offices from the Woolston & Buckle building on North avenue to Charles W. McMcCutchen's new building on Park avenue, about October 1. In the construction of Mr. McCutchen's building the offices to be occupied by the firm were designed especially for it, and they are said to be as fine as any in the State.

The new suite comprises four large rooms, about half the space of the second floor, and they adjoin the new building of The Plainfield Trust Company. They are exceptionally light and well ventilated, there being four windows on the Park avenue side, for two extra large rooms. One of these will be the private office of Mr. Coddington and the other the private office of Mr. Reed. Directly back of Mr. Reed's office is another room which will be used as a library, while the one back of Mr. Coddington's office will be used by the typewriters and stenographers. The main entrance to the offices will be through this room. The offices are all finished in dark oak, and the private rooms of the firm are provided with handsome ornamental fire-places.

The remaining offices on this floor will be occupied by Reuben Knox, the lawyer, and Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson, the dentist. The top or third floor contain six bachelor apartments, each suite comprising a parlar, sitting room and bath, all containing modern improvements.

Reed & Coddington have occupied offices in the North avenue building ever since its construction by Smalley Brothers.

Playing in Historic Church.

Mrs. Louise D. Odell, formerly organist and choirmaster at the Holy Cross church, now holds a similar position in the historic Christ Episcopal church, Tarrytown, N. Y., where she is meeting with much success in her work. It was in this church that Washington Irving was a warden for many years, and where Mrs. Odell's husband's people worshipped for nearly 100 years. It is a church filled with quaint and beautiful memorials and constantly visited during the summer months by tourists and people visiting the places of historic interest in the village. Mrs. Odell will leave this week for Pocono Summit, Pa., for a month's vacation, and during her absence a brother of the rector, Mr. Spencer, will have charge of the music at the church.

Camping Party Off Tomorrow.

The Colbyite campers from this city leave on the 8:21 train for Lake Hopatcong tomorrow morning. Their tents will be pitched on Halsey Island, directly opposite Nolan's Point, and will remain up for ten days. The party will include City Judge Runyon, John H. Cose, George Cose, B. C. Firstbrook, Thomas M. Muir, Elmer D. Cutting, John P. Hall and M. D. Sweeney, the last named coming from New York. Edward Washington has been engaged as cook and in order that trips to the mainland may be made easily, a steam launch has been chartered for the entire time.

FIRE DEPT. CAPTAINS WILL MOVE TOMORROW

COMPLEMENT OF MEN AT VARIOUS HOUSES TO REMAIN THE SAME.

Chief Doane issued a general order this morning instructing the captains in the various fire houses to be in readiness to transfer tomorrow morning, according to the resolution recently passed by the Fire Committee of the Common Council. In it he stated that the complement of men at the various houses would remain the same, for the present at least. By the order, Captain Townley goes from Headquarters to No. 3 house; Captain Feiring from No. 3 to No. 1 house, aid Captain Daley from No. 1 to Headquarters.

When the matter was first discussed and decided upon by the committee it was intended to have the change last four months. If it proved unsatisfactory after that, the men were to be returned to their former stations. This was afterward changed and no time specified.

Captain Daley's shift from No. 1 house marks the first time he has moved since he has been in the department, his term of service exceeding fifteen years.

DUNELLEN MINISTERS CLOSE UP STORES OPEN SUNDAY.

Feeling Against "Seven Day Tradesmen" Strong Among Citizens of Dunellen.

The crusade being waged by Dunellen ministers against the tradesmen of the town who keep their stores open every day in the week is growing more successful every Sunday. But one store was open on North avenue Sunday—that of Molinari, the Italian confectioner and cigar man, and this is an improvement over the condition of previous weeks.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry, of the First Prebyterian church, may be said to be at the head of this movement, in which other Dunellen ministers are included. Sunday trading was quite a common practise with Dunellenites when the dominies got to work about three weeks ago, but tradesmen say that there is now but little trading done on Sunday. The practice of Sunday trading was merely a habit, and the "seven day tradesmen" will now be effectually shut up.

STAR COURSE ANNOUNCED.

The Y. M. C. A. Series for 1906-7 Embraces Well Known Artists.

The dates and attractions of the Y. M. C. A. Star course of entertainments for the season of 1906-7 was announced today as follows:

October 29, Polk Miller, the Southern story teller, and his famous Southern quartette; November 29, Frank Reynolds, entertainer, and the Heinline Banjo Quartette; December 10, Professor Ansbach, magician, and the VanEps Brothers, instrumentalists; January 1, Captain Jack Crawford, the poet-scout; January 24, The Lotus Glee Club and Mrs. Minnie Marshall Smith; February 22, the Mendelssohn Concert Company.

All the artists are well known to Plainfielders and have frequently delighted local audiences. The entertainments arranged for the holiday evenings, Thanksgiving, New Year's and Washington's Birthday, are especially good and will no doubt result in large houses.

DR. BRANDEGEE DEAD.

Surgeon Passed Away Suddenly Yesterday at His New York Home.

Dr. William P. Brandegee, a surgeon of the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, who was well known here, where he spent some time, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home, No. 40 West Forty-eighth street, New York. He was graduated from Yale and the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. Brandegee was a well-known specialist in diseases of the eye and ear, and was a member of many medical organizations especially devoted to that branch of the profession. In addition he was a member of the New York Stae and County Medical societies and of the Yale, Delta Kappa Epsilon and University Glee Clubs. The funeral will be held at the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, Fifth avenue and 48th street, New York, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Six Cows Roasted to Death.

Colored Outing Thursday.

The second annual excursion of the colored Odd Fellows will go to Lake Hopatcong Thursday. There will be boating, fishing, bathing, a ball game and a big dance. You can't afford to miss it.

RECORD MAKES ANSWER

"New Idea" Candidate Replies to Attack Made by Randolph Perkins.

DENIES ASSERTIONS

Charge That Colby Taxation Bill Was In Interest of Railroads Is Unfounded According to Record.

George L. Record, the "new idea" candidate for United States Senator, yesterday answered the attack made on him by Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, the Republican leader in the Assembly. Mr. Perkins said that the railroads were being asked to support Mr. Record's candidacy, and declared that every proposition the railroads supported before the Legislature was conceded in the Record-Colby platform.

Mr. Perkins was the author of the Equal Taxation bill passed at the last session, and he took issue with the Record-Colby declaration demanding that the main stem of the railroads be cut into sections and taxed locally in each taxing district, instead of being taxed as a whole as at present.

Mr. Record said in part:

"Mr. Perkins seems to make two points. First, that the tax law passed last winter is a better bill than that proposed by the Colby people, and second, that the bill proposed by the Colby people was put forward by the Colby people in the interest of the railroads.

"The Arrowsmith bill, upon which the Colby people made their fight, left the franchises to be assessed and taxed by the State at an average State rate instead of 35. It allowed the real estate composing the main stem and second-class property to be assessed by the local authorities in which the same was situated and taxed at the local rate.

"The Perkins bill made the franchises and real estate assessable together by a State board and taxable at an average State rate. The argument for the Arrowsmith bill was that real estate is real estate, whether it is main stem of railroads or second-class railroad property or individual property, and as such it has a value which is more likely to be fairly ascertained by local assessors than by a State board which it is difficult to hold responsible.

"Mr. Perkins says this system is illogical, but it is in vogue in many other States, and we are satisfied it is the only solution of the railroad problem in this State. As to the charge that our bill was in the interest of the railroads, or favored by them, it is entirely unfounded."

COLBY MEETING IN SOUTH PLAINFIELD

FORDYCE WILL BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT BIG RALLY TONIGHT.

Followers of Assemblyman Alexander R. Fordyce in his political fight against "Boss" Strong in Middlesex county will hold a mass meeting at Washington Hall, South Plainfield, this evening. The town is strong for Fodyce and it is expected that a big crowd will turn out at the meeting.

Local politicians in favor of the fight Fordyce has mapped out for the fall elections will speak at the meeting, of which Fordyce himself will the principal speaker. The meeting is under the auspices of the South Plainfield Good Government Club.

Fordyce is the Colbyite leader in Middlesex county. He is out to take the scalp of Boss Strong, who has ruled Middlesex county for years, hitherto undisputed.

At one time Fordyce was a protege of Strong, but his eyes were opened, as were Colby's, and when the Essex county man showed the way for independence Fordyce followed his example and set about organizing the independent-minded voters of his county. His first important move was an open letter to Boss Strong, which sounded the clarion call to which the opponents of ring rule responded. Fordyce has announced himself as a candidate for re-election, and the usual charge of office-seeking has been made against him.

Reprimanded by Mayor Smalley.

Two small boroughites, who had "retained counsel" in an action brought against them by Patrick Reagan, of Harrison street, got a strong lecture from Mayor Smalley at the borough court last evening. Though the boys, Robert Gunning and Edward Newton, pleaded not guilty, Reagan accused them of letting his cows out of pasture so that they wandered about on the highway Sunday and yesterday. N. Douglass Drake, Esq., represented the boys, who were let off with a reprimand.

TO ANNOUNCE TAX RATE A WEEK FROM TODAY

GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT RATE FOR PLAINFIELD WILL BE $1.25.

One week from today, Tuesday, August 7, the Plainfield Board of Assessors will go to Elizabeth to meet with the assessors from all parts of the county for the purpose of determining the aggregate and individual valuations and fixing the rates.

As near as can be determined at present Plainfield's tax rate for the coming year will be $1.25 per $100 or under. This estimate is made on a total personal and real valuation of about $22,000,000 in the city. This is approximately about double of last year's valuation. Then it was about $10,400,000.

According to the new law the assessors are compelled to assess as near the true value as it is possible to determine. This accounts for the big increase and the decrease in the tax rate. The rate at present is $2.50, but that was fixed on a valuation of about half. The local assessors expect to complete their work here in a few days and be in readiness for the meeting at Elizabeth a week from today.

PLAINTIFF CLAIMS DEFENDANT FOOLED HIM.

Dunham Grocery Company Wants New Trial of Case Lost This Morning.

The Dunham Grocery Company lost its suit against Paul Nachtwey, a Watchung avenue delicatessen dealer, in the District Court this morning. The action was to recover $63 on contract, alleged to be due for goods sold.

After securing an admission from Mr. Dunham that the defendant's account with him was wiped out up to December, last year, J. Henry Crane, attorney for the defendant, produced four checks that Nachtwey had paid to the plaintiff after that time. In his testimony Nachtwey charged Dunham with having come to his place drunk to collect money on one occasion, and declared the wholesaler failed to credit him with payments made. Dunham denied the allegation.

Judge Newcorn ruled that the evidence submitted showed that all but a few cents of the money alleged to be due had been paid, and he entered a verdict of no cause of action.

S. S. Swackhamer, counsel for the Dunham company, moved for a new trial on the ground that the defendant's admissions to the plaintiff had led the latter to withhold strong evidence. Briefs on the motion will be considered by the court this afternoon.

COUNCILMANIC JURYMAN.

Buxton Helps Decide Contract Case in District Court.

Before a jury of six men, the contract of the Lindsay Dairy against P. P. Bunyon was tried in the District Court this morning. Councilman Herbert Buxton was one of the jurymen. He dropped up into the court to see how it worked, and Court Constable Hand promptly snared him.

The action was to recover money due on a milk bill. The defense admitted receiving the milk, but claimed that it was to be applied on an old account the Lindsay Dairy had with Mr. Bunyon when he was in business. The plaintiff denied any such agreement, and contended that the old Lindsay debts of that kind were not to be wiped out in that manner under the new management.

The jury brought in a verdict in full, with interest and costs, against the defendant. W. S. Angleman appeared for the plaintiff and G. W. V. Moy conducted the defense.

Residence to Be Removed.

The residence at the south-east corner of West Second street and Central avenue has been purchased by Herman Weber and will be moved by him to his property at Liberty and Second streets. The work is to be started at once and the building will be in its new location by August 15. The house is one of the oldest in that section of the city and was recently occupied by Jules Boutes.

Fillmore Out of Hospital.

John Fillmore, of North avenue, Netherwood, who was struck by a train at New Berlin, last week, was discharged from the Cooper Hospital, Camden, yesterday. It was thought at first that he was internally injured but a further examination showed that his hurts were confined to several bad gashes about the head and body contusions. He returned to Plainfield today.

Mayor Will Be Judge.

From tomorrow, Mayor Buckle will preside over the city court for ten days. Judge Runyon will be in camp at Lake Hopatcong during that time. The mornings the Mayor cannot sit, President of the Council Tolles will be judge.

GOLD MEDAL TROUPE HAS A REORGANIZATION

OFFICERS ELECTED AND PLANS FOR NEXT SEASON DISCUSSED.

The members of Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe held a business session and dinner at Maul's hotel in the Notch, last night, during which reorganization for the coming season was effected. Thomas M. Muir was again elected business manager and director and Philip Jahn was made assistant manager. After a close contest between B. C. Firstbrook and Harry De Meza the former was elected stage carpenter and Harry Blimn treasurer.

The company next season will consist of thirty members, five new ones being added last night. New uniforms are toe be purchased and a local artist is to paint several drops and side wings to be used in the first part and sketch numbers. Bookings for the entire winter are to be made and the troupe will visit all the nearby places including Rahway, Westfield, Bound Brook and Somerville.

The dinner last night was styled a "Chickenfest," tender fowls from Proprieor Maul's barn yard being served in various forms known to the culinary art. Covers were laid for twenty-five, the troupe having several local officials as guests. At its conclusion vocal and instrumental music and speeches were enjoyed.

Stelitz powders were selling at the same price this morning despite the heavy demands.

FIREWORKS BOMB EXPLODED; MISS HONE'S FOOT BURNED.

Accident at Band Concert Friday Evening Resulted in Serious Injury to Spectator.

Struck on the foot by an exploding bomb at the fireworks exhibition at Concert Park Friday evening, Miss Rena Hone, of Belmont avenue, is confined to her home under the care of a physician. The foot is badly swollen, and exceedingly painful. Miss Hone, who is a saleswoman at The White Store, will doubtless sue for damages.

During the fireworks, Miss Hone stood with a group of friends outside of the enclosed portion of the park. A bomb from the display suddenly came gyrating toward her and exploded close by, tearing her left shoe almost off her foot, which was badly lacerated. A woman who stood near by had a large hole burned in her dress, which was ignited by a spark from the bomb explosion. Miss Hone was assisted to her home by the friends with her, and has been in charge of a physician since the accident. Her two weeks' vacation from work at the store began yesterday morning, and she is likely to spend it at home, for the foot is badly burned and lacerated.

TRUST CO.'S REMOVAL.

To Take Possession of Its New Building Saturday.

The board of directors of The Plainfield Trust Company met last night and decided to move from the present quarters on East Front street to the handsome new building on Park avenue, on Saturday and open for business on Monday morning. The furnishings have arrived and workmen are now busily engaged putting on the finishing touches preparatory to taking possession.

As soon as the company vacates the building it now occupies the Dime Savings Institution will take possession of it pending the extensive improvements to its own building.

Vacuum Company Busy.

The local branch of the Vaccum Cleaning Company, represented by B. A. Mumford, secured the contract to renovate the New Plainfield theatre building and a large force of men has been at work for the past week. In order to expedite matters, two of the company's power wagons have been kept in constant use under the supervision of Mr. Mumford and every part of the house interior has been gone over. The Vacuum company has also received a large number of yearly contracts from well known Plainfield residents and the efficiency of the service has been demonstrated repeatedly. Mr. Mumford now has orders enough to keep both wagons busy for a month and there is a possibility that a third one will be secured for Plainfield.

At the Shore Till 7 P. M.

The special train for the Trinity and Marconnier chapel excursions does not leave Asbury Park for the return trip until 7 o'clock in the evening. This means nine hours at the shore, and supper on the beach. Plan now to make the trip.

Mrs. M. D. Sweeney, of New York, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Squier, of Astor place.

Mrs. Adams, wife of Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, has returned home after two weeks spent at Mt. Pocono.

A THREE HOUR HEARING

DECISION OF THE JURY

Borough Courtroom Filled to Hear Outcome of Case—Swackhamer's Address to the Jury.

The borough court is winning a reputation for long winded hearings this summer, but all previous records were smashed when principals, judge, jury and lawyers in the Howard Carver cruelty to animals case were in session last evening for three hours.

In comparison to the time used in coming to a decision, the case was really of minor importance. Complaint had been made by Carver's neighbors in Prideville because of his alleged cruelty to a yellow and white cow, which he pastures in a sunny lot, without water. S. P. C. A. Officer Pangborn brought the action, retaining V. W. Nash, Jr., as counsel for the State in the case. S. S. Swackhammer was the attorney for Carver and had the case postponed from last week so as to procure a jury. Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy was on the bench. The jury was composed of A. I. Smalley, foreman; David Kane, Thomas McGann, Edward Terry, Peter Smith, Frank Hull, Edward Mundy, William Waldron, William Pickert, Theodore Stites, E. R. Hartpence and William McCullough. After being closted for twenty minutes at the conclusion of the testimony, the jury brought in the verdict of no cause for action and Justice Mundy dismissed the case.

The feature of the case was S. S. Swackhammer's appeal to the jury in summing up the case. After five witnesses had been called by the State who swore that Carver's cow had been maltreated, four of Carver's neighbors went to the stand and vouched for Carver's good character in the Prideville community. The State witnesses were Mrs. Wm. Waters, Mrs. Herman Klinsman, John Rymon, Edward Korman and James Plank, all of whom told of incidents of cruelty they had seen, of beating, kicking and punching the animal while taking it back from pasture in the evening. Carver said that the animal was unruly, and pleaded guilty to punching the cow on one occasion, when it was especially balky. Swackhammer's witnesses were Col. A. Perry, Patrick Reagan, David Allen and Thomas Smith. In his summing up appeal to the jury, Counsel Swackhammer spoke for nearly an hour. He called attention to the fact that the imposition of a fine to the man would only be a cause of hardship to his wife and five children and told the jury that the action itself had been a lesson to the man, who was naturally quick tempered.

The hearing attracted a large crowd of boroughites, which packed the court room, hot though the night was. A number of young lawyers were present, and sat through the entire case, which concluded at 11 o'clock.

PLUCKY BOY SHADOWED MAN WHO WRECKED WHEEL.

Swore Out a Warrant For Him When He Got His Address.

Charged with maliciously running down and smashing his bicycle, Oscar Green, colored, driver for a garbage collector, was arraigned in the city court this morning on complaint of John Raymond, a fifteen-year-old white boy.

According to Raymond's story, Green deliberately turned his wagon into his bicycle on Liberty street last week, throwing him into the road, and wrecking the wheel. A mason at work nearby, it is said, saw the act and ran out to capture Green. He made him give his name and address. Raymond ran after the wagon until Green put it up for the night to be sure that the address was right. Green is said to have made several attempts to shake the boy from his trail, but the lad clung pluckily to him.

The case was laid over until August 13 to enable both sides to bring their witnesses into court. Green claims that the boy got in the way of his wagon.

Repairing Park Avenue.

The work of re-surfacing Park avenue, between Front street and the railroad, was started yesterday under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett. The avenue will be covered with crushed stone and a fine top dressing and then rolled with the steam roller. Traffic through a portion of the street will be temporarily suspended in consequence.

Gold Coin For Each Employe.

New Brunswick, July 31.—In his will, Thomas R. Ferens, of Hull, England, a member of the company of Reckitt & Co., bluing manufacturers, who have a plant here, provided that $5 should be given to each of the 3,000 employes of the company at their factories in London and Hull, England; Port Elizabeth, Africa; Sydney, New South Wales, and in this city, as an expression of his appreciation of their services. Recently Mr. Ferens celebrated the thirty-eighth anniversary of his connection with the company. He has decided to make the payment now, and the employes have received the gift of a five-dollar gold piece, accompanied by a letter, in which he asks that they do not use the money to become intoxicate, as he is a firm total abstinence man.

Says Barber Cut Him With Razor.

Elizabeth, July 31.—Albert Becher, sixty-five years old, a grocer at 628 Elizabeth avenue, here, appeared in police court Sunday morning with his face frightfully disfigured. He had been assaulted, so he alleged, by Adolph Hahn, a barber, at 90 Division street, here. Becher visited Hahn's shop Sunday to collect some money he claims the barber owed him, and was attacked, as he declared, with a razor. He had to be taken to thte Alexian Hospital to get the wounds on his face fixed up. Judge Mahon issued a warrant for the arrest of Hahn, who will be arraigned in police court today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Auten, of West Fifth street, will start on their vacation on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Knox, of the borough, returned home yesterday from their outing.

George Hooley, of the borough, has returned from a pleasure trip to the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Shirley and son, of College place, are spending their vacation at Lake Hopatcong. They will return about the middle of August.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

While attempting to replace the cover on the manhole at Washington and North avenues yesterday afternoon, Edward Clarkson, a Public Service employe of the gas department, let it fall on his right hand, severely crushing the index finger. He was taken to Dr. Brakeley's drug store, where the doctor dressed the wound. It was found necessary to remove the entire nail, for the fingertip was crushed. Clarkson later went to his home in Plainfield.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry and wife left yesterday to spend the month of August in Connecticut. Pulpit supplies for the Sundays Dr. Casselberry is to be absent have been made out, and all services at the church will be run just as during his presence in town.

The work of construction of the Hutmacher house has been completed and the family, Plainfielders, have moved in, having taken possession Saturday. The new home is situated on Jackson avenue.

William Kennedy, of George Schenck's grocery store has temporarily given up his duties for his vacation, which will last a week. His place is being taken by Fred Kirchner.

The three new cell doors made by the W. T. Kirk Co. for the Dunellen lockup have been hung and prove very satisfactory. No one has been behind the new bars as yet.

Russell Garretson returned Saturday after spending several days at the home of his uncle, Richard Garretson, on the Raritan river near New Brunswick.

Bergen Merrill, of Philadelphia, who has been the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Wilson Blackford, of New Market, for the past week, has returned to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McNarama have moved to Craigsville, N. Y., where Mr. McNarama has secured a position as telegraph operator at that station.

Gas mains are being laid to the drug store of Dr. P. W. Brakeley, of North avenue, and connections will be made through the entire building.

Mrs. Alexander M. Herlich, of New Market, is sojourning with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. George Bowers, of Washington Valley.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The Cranford Gas Co., which is laying the gas mains through the town, should be made to put the streets back in as good condition as they were before they were dug up. On Front street the main was simply filled in and the stones picked up. The company should be made to roll the covering so as to make the trench conform with the roadbed.

The exoneration of Capt. Clark, the Atlantic City life saver from the charges of cowardice by the Mayor of that place, hardly meets with the approval of the residents here. If Mr. Thomae could reach the side of his drowning daughter, they fail to see how an experienced man as a life saver is supposed to be, should fail to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fancher and child, of the borough, have been visiting relatives and friends at Somerville for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orbie Price, of Plainfield, have been visiting Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, of Front street.

Miss Susan Parse returned yesterday from a visit with Mrs. John R. Cochrane, of Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn.

The merry-go-round and several other attractions at Jerseyland Park have left, owing to the poor business done.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The local church here will join with New Market and Woodbridge on the annual excursion to Bellewood Park, a beautiful resort on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, on August 7. A number of the villagers who are not members of the church will accompany the excursion.

On Thursday, Marconnier chapel and its friends, who are scattered for several miles around, will join Trinity Reformed church of Plainfield on their annual excursion to Asbury Park. A long day of nine hours will be enjoyed by those who attend.

The new minister is anxious that all the church members of his flock turn over a new leaf, and make him feel happy by their presence at the weekly prayer meetings held every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The recent hail storm did much damage to the corn and fruit in this vicinity, knocking the apples off by the thousand and laying the corn flat.

Mrs. Meeker and daughter are visiting Mrs. William Manning.

Doctor's Wife Seeks Alimony.

Trenton, July 31.—Mrs. Hettie S. Novinger, wife of Dr. Walter J. Novinger, of this city, has begun proceedings in Chancery for alimony, charging her husband with intoxication, cruelty, neglect, failure to support and wrong conduct toward their only child, a girl twelve years old.

—John DeMeza, of the local telephone exchange, has arranged to spend a week of his vacation at the Cataract House, Delaware Water Gap, Pa.

LONG BRANCH TO SEEK CONVENTIONS.

With Largest Hall on Coast, It Will Be Rival of the Other Resorts.

Long Branch, July 31.—Before this week's end this resort will have half a mile of bluff improvements completed. Before Saturday night the boardwalk will be finished as far south as Morris avenue and open to promenaders. Already two blocks of the improvement are in use, the boardwalk between Laird street and Chelsea avenue being thrown open to the public Sunday morning.

As work on the walk progresses the space between the boardwalk piling and the bluff is being filled in. A space some twenty feet deep and five to six feet wide is being filled in now, in order to make the drive a uniform width of sixty feet and perfectly straight. To the south at points the space will be much wider, and it will require an enormous amount of earth. It has been proposed that sand be pumped out of the ocean and used for filling in, but no decision to that effect has yet been reached. It is estimated that the filling in will cost the city $50,000, if not more.

Contractors are pushing work with all possible haste on all of the improvements. The new $50,000 Casino, it has just been announced, will be finished early in the fall. Contractor R. H. Hughes has the first floor raised. As soon as the building is completed it will be finished handsomely throughout and furnished, so as to be in immediate readiness for use next spring for conventions. A campaign to secure conventions will be waged by the authorities next winter. The convention hall in the Casino will seat 3,500, and will be the largest on the coast.

SUNDAY SUPPLIES OF LIQUOR UNLAWFUL.

Dealers Make New Move to Compel Private Citizens and Clubs to Stop Stocking Up.

Trenton, July 31.—There is a movement on foot, inaugurated by the Trenton Liquor Dealers' Association, to compel private citizens and social clubs to comply with the provisions of the bishops' liquor law.

It is claimed that the law is applicable to all classes of citizens as well as to saloonkeepers.

The association alleges that since the strict Sunday closing has been enforced that many social clubs have spring up and that intoxicating liquors are supplied in large quantities to members and their friends on Sunday.

It is further asserted by the association that private citizens stock up their houses Saturday for the Sunday entertainment of themselves and their friends. This is declared to be a violation of tthe law, and the liquor dealers say that while they are paying big revenues in licenses they do not propose to stand by and see those who pay no license openly violate the law.

—The employes of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company have removed all the wires from the large distributing pole at Park and North avenues and the pole will be taken down today. A smaller pole has been put up near the same spot and the fire alarm box placed on it.

M'FAUL ON SOCIALISM.

Trenton Bishop Attacks Maxim Gorky at Convention.

Buffalo, July 31.—The fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies opened here Sunday with a mass-meeting at Convention Hall. The visitors were welcomed by Bishop Colton; Mayor J. N. Adam and J. T. Smith, president of the Erie County Federation; President Minahan, of the National Federation, was not present, but Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee, and Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, N. J., responded to the addresses of welcome.

Bishop McFaul spoke against the evils of Socialism and divorce. The stability of this nation rests upon the American home, said he. Socialism, he continued, would stretch out her foul hands upon the property of our people. "Look at Maxim Gorky, the Russian Socialist," said he. "Coming to America to ask us to turn upon Russia. See him living with a woman who cannot be recognized as his wife. That villain and scoundrel and polluter of womanhood would preach to us the gospel of human liberty."

Referring to the Catholic system of parochial schools Bishop McFaul said that he had nothing to say against the American public school system and would not ask for financial support from the government for church schools, but he declared that the least the government could do would be to remit taxes on school property. The reason why there are 50,000,000 people in the United States who don't go to church, the bishop thinks, is lack of religious instruction in youth. And the national evils in public life are due to ignorance of the Ten Commandments.

Mail Route Fight Ended.

Califon, July 31.—The fight which has been pending since the establishing of rural free delivery route No. 2 from this place last January between Postmaster Albert Bunn, of Parker, and several patrons of the route, who reside within one-half mile of the Parker Postoffice, terminated Saturday, when Postmaster Issiah Apgar, of Califon, the distributing officer for route No. 2, received notice from the Postoffice Department to the effect that the department waived the one-half-mile limit ruling for the Parker Postoffice, and instructed him to deliver mail matter to residents within the limit who desired the service. Accordingly, Carrier Arthur C. Youngs made delivery Saturday, and the patrons were much surprised at the favorable turn in the matter. There is a postoffice rule which says that no carrier should deliver mail within a half-mile of the postoffice.

—John D. Boyd, of the local telephone exchange, will leave in a few days on his two weeks' vacation. He will spend a great part of it at his old home in Norfolk, Va., going South by the Old Dominion Line.

HOBOKEN WIDE OPEN ALL DAY.

Few Saloons Remain Closed and the Police Do Not Take Action.

Hoboken, July 31.—Almost every saloon in this city was wide open Sunday and not a single arrest was made. Hundreds of men could be seen going in and out of side doors. The police claimed they could get no evidence against the saloon-keepers, but it is thought that the decisions rendered in court, when saloon-keepers were brought in during the last three weeks, caused the police to relax their vigilance. No signs of the Civic Righteous League were evident, and there is consequently every hope among the liquor dealers that Hoboken will be wide open from now on.

Councilman John N. Ortlieb sprang a surprise on Saturday night that the people are not yet through talking about. About 9 o'clock he descended upon Chief of Police Hayes and demanded of that official the closing of all of the seven concert halls operating in the city. Chief Hayes was nonplussed for a moment, but asked Ortlieb if he would complain against them. Ortlieb replied that there were two in particular that he wanted closed, but when Chief Hayes replied that he could not close one without closing all, Ortlieb agreed to complain against all.

He based his complaint upon the fact that none of the concert halls holds a license for holding concerts, but simply run on the receipts given by the city clerk for the license money—$102. Chief Hayes immediately sent out men and had the concerts stopped. Mr. Ortlieb, when seen, stated that the Council had refused to take any action against the concert halls, and consequently he had taken it upon himself to have them closed.

Ever since concert halls were instituted in Hoboken the Council has never granted them concert licenses. The city clerk would simply take their money and the concert halls would run on their receipts for the money. The Council will meet on Wednesday night, and in all probability there will be some action taken in reference to the reopening of the concert halls.

—Mr. Levy, of the firm of Levy Brothers, dry goods merchants, spent Sunday with friends at Freehold.

—Mrs. Kate Williams, of West End avenue, will move tomorrow to Roselle. The house here will be occupied by a Brooklyn family.

SELLS BEER ON STEAMBOAT.

This Man Evades "Bishops' Law" by Taking Passengers Aboard.

Elizabeth, July 31.—The lid was still tightly on the saloons in this city Sunday, and, in consequence, the exodus of thirsty mortals to Staten Island and New York was almost as large as it had been on the three preceding Sundays. The rainy weather kept many at home, however, who would otherwise have gone away from the city. Several of the saloon men would like to take a chance at selling on the sly, if they were not afraid of the complexion of the new Excise Board, which, they realize, is composed of men who are not to be trifled with, and who will punish any violation of the law, irrespective of who gets hurt.

An enterprising man has purchased the old steamboat Ripple, formerly used by the Townsend & Downey Shipbuilding Company to convey its employes to and from the shipyard on Shooters Island. The boat was put out of commission, but its new owner has made some repairs to it and converted the vessel into a floating beer ark. He paid $25 for a government license, and, loading up the boat with beer and whisky, he conveys people for ten cents a head to the middle of the kills, where they can buy from him all the liquid refreshments they want at the regular price. When one cargo of patrons gets tired drinking he puts them ashore and takes on a fresh consignment. Last Sunday and Sunday his supply of beer became exhausted, and he had to make a tour among Staten Island saloon-keepers to replenish his stock. He expects to make a small fortune if the "bishops' law" remains in active operation in New Jersey.

Plainfield, N. J., July 31, 1906.

A request is made by the managers of the Children's Home for assistance at this time. Fresh vegetables and fruit are particularly needed at the institution. There should be a ready response to the appeal.

Old residents particularly will find much that is interesting in "Life in Plainfield Thirty-eight Years Ago," now being featured in this paper. Each day items published in The Constitutionalist in 1868 are reprinted in these columns. They give a very good view of what Plainfield was and what its inhabitants were doing just after the war.

NEGROES TALK WITH COLBYITES.

Hear Explanations of Reforms Which Movement Seeks to Bring About.

There was a conference behind closed doors at the Colby headquarters in Newark yesterday of about thirty negro voters and some of the Colby leaders. Senator Everett Colby, Assemblyman William P. Martin, who is chairman of the State league of the Colbyites, and Gardner Colby, the chairman of the Essex County League, were present, and the spokesmen for the visitors included Alfred B. Cosey, of Newark; the Rev. Luther Sturgis, of Atlantic Highlands; the Rev. William Terpau, of Orange; Luther Bailley, of East Orange and Charles R. H. Hawkhurst, of Elizabeth.

The negro voters were received by Senator Colby and the various planks of the platform explained to them. Special emphasis was laid upon the explanations of the various reforms which the Colby movement is seeking to bring about in the local and State governments.

Was An Old Railroad Man.

Elizabeth, July 31.—In the death on Saturday of John Long, the oldest railroad man in Elizabeth has passed away. Mr. Long was conductor of the Elizabethport and Phillipsburg freight during the Civil War and for nearly forty years afterward. He retired from the service of the Jersey Central a couple of years ago. What makes his death sadder to his family and friends is the fact that his wife is slowly dying of general debility and it was throught she would not outlive him. The death two years ago last April of his oldest son, Police Captain John Long, who for thirteen years had held that position, was a severe blow to his father, from the shock of where he never recovered. Conductor Long was one of the pioneer Catholics at Elizabethport, where he had lived fifty-five years.

Leg Fractured In An Affray.

Elizabeth, July 31.—In an affray which occurred in the Polish quarter at Elizabethport, Sunday night, Edward Kennedy, thirty-five years old, was badly hurt and one of his legs was fractured. He was removed to the Alexian Hospital. His assailants have not yet been caught. He is married and resides at 226 Erie street, Elizabethport.

BELCHER'S PATHETIC TALE

HE MAY GET 15 YEARS

He Suffered Mentally and Physically Night and Day All the Time He Was Away.

Very glad yesterday was ex-Mayor Belcher, of Paterson, embezzler, absconder and a twelve-months' fugitive from justice, to creep back into a little stone cell in the jail of the city whose people he had despoiled.

Haunted by his crimes, weak from stickness and privations, practically penniless, and longing, like Eugene Aram, to behold once more the scenes of his exploits, he went back to Paterson and gave himself over to justice.

"I am sick of it all and want justice done," he said wearily, as he was led to cell No. 9, on the first floor. "I have traveled and toiled all over the country," he continued, addressing himself to Sheriff Bergen. "I am sorry for what I have done and have come back to take the consequences."

The "consequences" have not bated a jot since Belcher ran away, the people of Paterson say. The ex-Mayor's case will come up on Friday, when seven counts will be named in the charges against him. Three are for forgery and four are for embezzlement. Belcher acknowledges the embezzlement, but vehemently denies that he ever committed forgery. Nevertheless he will not fight the case, but will accept whatever punishment the courts may mete out to him.

Altogether he took over $100,000 from personal friends and from poor depositors in the Manchester Building and Loan Association, which on that account was forced to close its doors last month.

May Get Fifteen Years.

The penalty for forgery in New Jersey is seven years. It is thought by many persons in Paterson that Belcher's sentence will be about fifteen years.

The year that has passed since Belcher fled from Paterson has changed him greatly. He has become gaunt and haggard. His once fashionable clothes have been exchanged for shabby apparel which he would not have worn on the streets before his downfall. He has grown gray and careworn. His mustache is thin and scraggly, and he looks older by ten years than when he officiated as the popular "Reform Mayor" of Paterson.

Story of His Wandering.

In his cell yesterday Belcher said: "I don't know how the impression ever got out that I had $100,000 when I left Paterson. I had nothing like that amount. I had only about $300, and you can imagine that that sum did not last me a long time, going as I was from pillar to post.

"I first went to Midvale, just because it was handy and I had friends there. I stayed there a few days and then went to London, Ontario. Then I went to Montreal and Toronto. I was wandering around with the idea of ultimately disappearing from the face of the earth as far as those who knew me were concerned.

"I struck out further West and went to Detroit and Milwaukee and Chicago, then to Stockton, Cal., and to South Bend, Ind. I was restless and sorry and could not settle down. But I had to work. My money was dwindling rapidly. I would rather have been back in New York, but I could not get there.

"In justice to my wife, I want to say that at no time since my disappearance has she known of my whereabouts. I had about a hundred dollars when I arrived in Chicago the second time, and in a short time I made up my mind to go to Minnesota. I went to Minneapolis and St. Paul, and this took a great deal of the money I had left.

"I had spent it all for travelling and living expenses, as I never drink or smoke. I began to look around for something to do. I can appreciate now the difficulty sometimes experienced by a laboring man without money and without work.

"At last my money was all gone, and then suddenly I seemed to become utterly friendless. I could have borne up under that, however, but the knowledge that I was a fugitive crushed me down.

Became a Digger.

"I applied for work on the railroad, but they had nothing for me in the line of clerical duties.

"Give me anything on earth that will put bread in my mouth," I asked.

"They gave me a job digging ditches along a railroad. I was mighty glad to get it. I worked with a pick and shovel for weeks for $1.25 a day. I was eventually raised to the position of assistant foreman, at $2.50 a day.

"I bought some new clothes and my health began to improve under the severe regimen. But when the winter came I seemed to go to pieces. The snow and sleet seemed to get into my bones and I had to quit.

"With a little money I had saved I went back into Canada again, dropping off at London. Occasionally I secured work, only to lose it when the weather became disagreeable. I was not particular what I did, but my lame knee was against me. I could not hold any position very long.

"I sold newspapers, and on one occasion tried to establish a bootblack stand, and my knee would not let me. Sometimes I had medicine; oftener I did not.

"Gradually I lost all hope of ever getting away from everybody and everything I formerly knew, and the thought came to me that it would be far better to come back to Paterson and face it out.

"By this time I had worked my way to Boston, where I stayed for a week or so, trying to make up my mind as to my future course. I secured a position where I saved about $50, and then, with a sort of fatalism drawing me nearer and nearer to my old home, I went to Barlett, N. H.

"There are stories, I understand, that my wife visited me there, but they are false. I stayed in Bartlett for about a week and then came on to New York, where I arrived three days ago."

Belcher's son called at the jail yesterday morning and greeted his father affectionately. They conversed for about five minutes, when Belcher went back to his cell.

Life In Plainfield 38 Years Ago.

REPRINTED FROM THE CONSTITUTIONALIST OF 1868.

News for the week of March, 1868.

The Sunday School Institute, which was held in the Second Presbyterian church, of this place, last week under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, came to a close on Friday evening last and was a complete success. Rev. J. H. Vincent's closing address was a rare production, the audience listening with rapt attention to the speaker. Also, the singing of Miss Effie Parkhurst and Miss Belle Vanderbeek was beautiful. We have not the space to mention the whole proceedings of the Institute, but we think those that were present will agree with us in saying it was a rare treat.

The mild temperature of the past few days has caused the banks(of snow) to go into rapid liquidation. It is cheering to see the ground once more, even though it be spongy as a mire. We trust Winter has woven his last mantle and would that "he linger not in the lap of spring." We long for the song of birds, not unmindful, however, that the weather prophets promise a half dozen or more snow storms ere blossoms perfume the air. It may be so. We must do

"As they do in Spain,
When it rains, they let it rain."

The "Citizens Building and Loan Association" of Plainfield met at Laing's Hall on Monday evening last. Some $1,500 was sold at 17 and 18 cents premium. The books for subscriptions will be kept open until the April meeting, after that the premium will be added on all shares.

Petitions to the Central Railroad Company, asking for the placing of flagmen at the street crossings in this village, have been recently circulated and signed by all who had the opportunity. We hope the company will at once affirmatively respond to a request so urg.nt and proper.

Mr. Hough, in the House of Assembly, introduced a supplement to the act incorporating the Washington Rock Monument Association. It changes the corporate title to Washington Monument and Historical Association, and strikes out the clause requiring the names of subscribers to be engravel on the monument.

The Plainfield public have listened to many good lectures during the winter and have been much pleased thereby, but if they wish to push on a noble cause and lend their influence in the cause of humanity and right, they will not fail to go and hear the Rev. George Porter, late of the "Midnight Mission," of London, who has been engaged by the Sons of Temperance of this town, to deliver a lecture in favor of temperance, in the M. E. church on Thursday evening, March 12, at half past seven o'clock. The friends of Temperance and its foes also, are earnestly invited to attend, by the "Sons," who hope to accomplish much good.

On Monday last we noticed two large beeves tied to a post in front of Mr. J. V. Schenck's meat shop on Front street, which he contemplated cutting up into nice steaks, &c., for the benefit of the public. We could not ascertain their weight but they were "whoppers." Give "Joe" a call, and secure a piece of the mammoth beeves.

The organ concert which will be held in the 2nd Presbyterian church of this place on the 12th inst., will be a grand affair, judging from the array of talent engaged for the occasion. Among the list we notice the name of W. J. Hill, tenor, who has sang before the Plainfield public before. Success to the concert.

An act incorporating the Scotch Plains Mutual Theft Detective Society has passed the State Senate.

The Camden and Amboy Railroad Company have ordered twelve cars to be provided with a new steam heating apparatus, recently invented, for the purpose of warming cars. The steam is obtained from the locomotive. If the experiment proves a success we learn the company will have the patent applied to all of the cars on their road.

A bill has been introduced into the House of Assembly repealing the supplement which deprived the Overseers of Roads in Plainfield Township of their rightful duties.

The bill incorporating the Dime Savings Institution of Plainfield has passed to a third reading in the Senate.

We notice that a handsome iron fence is in process of erection in front of the M. E. church, of this place. It is a great improvement, indeed.

The Morris and Essex Railroad Company carried nearly a million and a half "commuters" last year, besides other passengers, making in all nearly three millions, of whom no one was injured.

THIS "SPITE" CHURCH WAS BUILT IN 1820.

Historic Structure in Coopertown Erected by Methodists.

Edgewater Park, July 31.—Among the many historic places of the State, Coopertown, near here, perhaps stands first, for in it are many old landmarks. It was settled in 1681, and in its day was one of the leading settlements of the State.

Residents of the settlement still point with pride to the fact that Washington passed through the place during the Revolutionary War on his way to Trenton, and was once at the home of William Franklin, a son of Benjamin Franklin.

William Cooper, the father of J. Fenimore Cooper, the noted outhor, built his home here and married the daughter of Richard Fenimore. This old house is still standing also.

The old Coopertown Wharf Inn, which was the first house, built at this place, was erected in 1760, and afterward named the Cooper House Inn and was used as a tavern. It is a two-story building and is on the Salem road. The right-hand corner was used for the bar, and the residents can still trace the marks where the old bar stood.

The first church in this section was built in 1802 at Coopertown. A clause in the charter stated that "whenever thirty Christians take upon themselves a corporate name agreeably to law the ground and building should revert to them and their successors forever."

The Methodists first claimed it under this provision, but were met with such a storm of protests that they abandoned it and erected a church of their own only a stone's throw from the Cooper Church.

This building was erected in 1820, and is still standing on the farm of Charles K. VanSciver, and was known at that time as the "spite work church. It is still in a fair state of preservation.

Say Girl Was a Suicide.

Somerville, July 31.—The Somerset county authorities yesterday partly cleared up the mystery surrounding the death of Miss Ella Powelson, the girl who died at the home of a farmer of the name of Layton, near Liberty Corner, Sunday. It was at first believed that the young woman had been poisoned. Prosecutor Reger and County Physician Long, however, say that Miss Powelson was about to have become a mother and committed suicide. A man who was frequently seen in company with the girl is under suspicion and there are some features in the case which the authorities are still investigating.

Narrow Escape in Swamped Yacht.

Long Branch, July 31.—Charles H. C. Clark, Jr., and Miss Lona McLain were swamped in a launch Sunday afternoon. While off Little Silver Point a small waterspout completely submerged the yacht. Clark, who is a powerful swimmer, had just anchored when the storm came up. He managed to hold Miss McLain on the overturned yacht until help reached him from the shore. J. C. Disbrow, of this place, seeing the couples peril, went to the rescue and brought the two ashore in his yacht.

To Fight Private Clubs.

Trenton, July 31.—In this city Sunday the thirsty ones got ahead of the law by organizing social clubs over Saturday and supplying themselves from wholesale houses with enough bottled goods to last over Sunday. The saloon-keepers said they would fight the private club idea as illegal, but the private clubs got along splendidly Sunday.

Jersey Engineers at Banquet.

Baltimore, July 31.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held a meeting and banquet Sunday afternoon at the Hotel Lexington. Covers were laid for fifty-eight persons, and among those present were John H. Warren, of Jersey City; William J. Steers, of Trenton; W. H. Way, of Camden, and Sam Berry, of Newark.

HUSBANDS LOSE DIVORCE SUITS.

The Chancery Court Holds That Neither Has Proved Case Against His Wife.

Trenton, July 31.—An opinion was filed in the Court of Chancery yesterday by Vice Chancellor Stevens in the suit for divorce of Duncan V. Duncan, of New Brunswick. The husband sued for divorce on the ground of desertion.

The Vice Chancellor says the evidence produced is vague. He says the circumstances may not prove collusion, but they suggested the possibility that both parties have desired the same result and have concurred in trying to bring it about. He holds, therefore, that the petition should be dismissed.

It is alleged in the original bill that the wife wanted her husband to live in a large city, while the husband desired to live in New Brunswick. This Mrs. Duncan refused to do, and she, it is charged, willfully deserted her husband.

Vice Chancellor Emery denied yesterday with costs the petition for divorce of James Douglas Grady, of Jersey City, from his wife, Amanda Ellen Grady. In his petition he alleged desertion and cruel treatment by his wife.

When living in New York, the husband alleges, his wife drove him from their home, and then she struck and beat him. Counsel for the petitioner averred that Grady appeared in his office August 20, 1902, with his face a mass of bruises and asserted his wife had whipped him.

This evidence, the Vice Chancellor maintains, was not corroborated. It was further alleged in the bill that the petitioner offered his wife a home and that she refused to live with him. The Vice Chancellor says he does not think the offer was bona-fide.

Obeyed Instructions.

A shoemaker in the city of Dublin, getting on well in the way of business, became proud. On day there were a lot of customers in the shop, when a shop boy came in to say that the mistress bid him say dinner was ready.

"What's for dinner?" asked the shoemaker.

"Fish, sir," answered the boy.

"What sort of fish?" asked the shoemaker.

"A whale, sir," answered the boy. —Stray Stories.

Printer Falls Into the Water.

Hoboken, July 31.—While watching bathers at the "free bath" bridge, Sunday afternoon, Julius Reich, a printer, thirty-nine years old, of 39 Newark street, fell into the water. He was in no danger of drowning, for in half a minute at least one dozen swimmers were around him and he was brought to shore before he had time to swallow much water. Shortly after being taken to St. Mary's Hospital he revived and was able to go home.

Regulars to Be Voters' Hosts.

Cranford, July 31.—The local machine leaders of the Republican party, have been alarmed at the results of the Colby meeting, held here last Thursday night, and have called a meeting of the Republican executive committee to devise means to offset the effects of the "new idea" rally. A barbecue and clam bake will be given to the voters in a grove near Rahway, and other forms of entertainments will be provided from time to time.

Shaved on Sunday and Were Fined.

Passaic, July 31.—Two barbers were arrested her Sunday for keeping their shops open. The police got into one of the places by climbing over the transom. The evidence was obtained by officials of the Barber's Union. The places were Martin's, 176 Passaic street, and Joseph Russo's, at 52 Second street. Each barber was fined $5. Others will be summoned to court to explain why they did not close.

Arrests in Jersey City.

Jersey City, July 31.—Among the arrests made here during Sunday was that of the proprietor of a dance hall in Seventeenth street. Twenty men and seventeen women were arrested as disorderly. They had bought drinks at the place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coles, of Newark, have returned home after a visit with borough friends.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

It required a stage crew of eight men to handle the scenery of "Chinatown Charlie" at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday night. There were nineteen changes and all were made without a hitch through the watchfulness of Stage Manager Fred Bennett.

Wagenhals and Kemper announce that they have secured from the author, Marietta Holley, the exclusive right to all her books in which the characters of Josiah Allen and Josiah Allen's wife, Samantha, appear. The contract covers not only the books already published, but also those which may be published in the future. Their intention will be to have a series of plays constructed somewhat in conformity with the publications as they have appeared. The first play, which will probably be entitled "Samantha," is now ebing written by a well-known dramatist and will be seen at the Astor theatre during the coming season.

Richard Carle has offered Carrie De May the title role in his new musical farce, "The Hurdy-Gurdy Girl," which he is to produce about the beginning of the new year, with himself at the head of the cast. Joseph Hart, her husband and manager, asks that the offer be held open long enough for him to give due consideration to several libretti which have been submitted to him. He is desirous of sending Miss De Mar out as a star on her own account.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Prince of India" will be presented for the first time in New York at the Broadway theatre Monday evening, September 24, instead of October 1, as previously announced. This is the companion drama to "Ben Hur," and is a stage version of General Lew Wallace's romantic novel involving the war between the Greeks and the Turks, the fall of Constantinople, and the romance of Sultan Mahommed, the conqueror, and Princess Irene of the Greeks.

New York is still crowding nightly to see "Seeing New York," and the big vaudeville programme on top of the New York theatre, in the Wistaria Grove, which is surely as pretty a spot as ever has been selected since the world began for the giving of a summertime entertainment. The ninth week of this amusing skit began on Monday night, with the original cast, headed by Carrie De Mar, Al Leech, Clifton Crawford, Cheridah Simpson and seventy others, including fifty-four pretty girls. The weekly changes made in the bill by Wm. A. Brady and Joseph Hart, the managers of this "Conserve of Coolth," put two new numbers in the bill on July 23. They were the very funny acts of Inza and Lorella, clever grotesque acrobats, just from Paris, and Kline, Ott Brothers and Nicholson, four capital musicians. Both made hits, and the four are to be kept in for the week. The chief novelty for the new week, however, will be an exhibition exposing the methods of the Fays, whose alleged thought-reading has been one of the recent sensations of this neighborhood. Professor Samri S. Baldwin, well remembered as the "White Mahatma" of this line of work a score of years ago, is to show up the Fays' tricks after demonstrating that he can do them better than the Fays, themselves. The promise of this expose has set all New York agog, and the demonstration has created even in advance the greater interest because of the fact that the Fays are to return to New York on August 6. There is all sorts of talk about their entering suit against the Messrs. Brady & Hart, but the expose is to be made, they say, just the same on Monday night, and thereafter till the end of the season. Sam Elton, who made the Shah of Persia laugh; Ned Wayburn's "bully ball," "The Rain-Dears," and "that" quartette are other good things that will be in the bill the week of July 30. Performances are given on the New York roof on Sunday nights, too.

MRS. M'BURTH CELEBRATES.

Remarkable Glen Gardner Woman Observes Ninety-third Birthday.

Glen Gardner, July 30.—With children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren gathered about her, Mrs. Susan McBurth, of this place, celebrated her ninty-third birthday Friday. Among the children present was Mrs. L. C. Shepherd, of Plainfield.

Mrs. McBurth is the oldest person in this vicinity, and, notwithstanding her age, is very active, doing all her own housework, residing alone most of the time. She has no use for glasses, as her eyes are still good. She has six children living. They are Mrs. Mary Chapin, of Elizabeth; Mrs. Eliza Swayze, of Clinton; John McBurth, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. Harriet Carling, of Bloomsbury; John McBurth, of Ocean Grove; Mrs. Emma Shepherd, of Plainfield. She has also fourteen grandchildren, twenty-one great-grandchildren and two greatg-great-grandchildren. The combined ages of the family is 488 years. Mrs. McBurth was born in Lebanon Township on what is now the site of the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, and has alwaays resided in this vicinity. Her maiden name was Banghart, and she came of the original Bangharts, who first settled in this part of Hunterdon county. She is a sister to Assessor Abram S. Banghart, of this place, who has been assessor of Lebanon township for more than twenty-seven consecutive years.

THE POWER OF STEAM.
Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.
When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."
There was.
Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.
Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.
Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1905, by Olivia B. Strohm).

CHAPTER VII.

A few days later, attended by a small military escort, the party left the fort.

Winslow explained to the commander that there was double reason for haste—in their unwillingness to further trespass on his hospitality, no less than in the impatience of the ladies to join their relatives. Reasons which, though with all hospitable intent, the colonel supplemented by the practical suggestion that they take advantage of the present frosty condition of the trail. A little later, when the spring thaw had set in, the swamp lands would be well nigh impassable.

There being no available guides at the fort, it was decided that the soldiers accompany them to the nearest Indian village, a half day's march away, where they could obtain ponies and a guide for the journey north.

The little party arrived at nightfall within the Indian settlement, and the soldiers returned to the fort, having made arrangements with the chief of the village for their safe conduct.

Left to themselves in the gloomy wigwam, the travelers had much ado to be cheerful. The place was ill-smelling and close, and the flickering firelight but served to bring into bolder relief the grotesque shadows that flouted them from every corner.

The loose-fitting skins of which the walls were made, creaked and flapped dismally. The brush of a fox and the head of a deer hung over the doorway; stray feathers blew over the floor as the wind stole in. Mrs. Creighton [illegible] of disgust.

"How grewsome this place is. Trophies of dead things everywhere! I feel as though we were entertaining ghosts."

Lavender laughed low—uneasily. "Hush, and she lifted a warning finger. "Somebody is outside."

Winslow lifted the heavy flap that curtained the threshold. A rush of air made the torch burn low, and in the darkness they could dimly discern the figure of a man—tall, with a waving eagle plume above a beaded headdress.

"Come in, friend," said Winslow, but the stranger made no move to enter. "Is the white maiden here?" His speech was guttural, but not harsh. "Where is the maid who is not afraid of an Osage arrow? Owatoga would speak with her."

Owatoga! Then he had followed them. Was it as friend or foe? Lavender rose and went to the opening. "I am here, Owatoga."

There was a nervous quiver in her voice, and she grasped Winslow's arm, but the gigantic figure outside made no move nearer.

"You will need a guide—Owatoga knows the forest," he said.

Winslow dropped the curtain, and stood outside in the darkness, keeping close to Lavender as he addressed the Indian.

"You are a friend to this white maid?"

"Then you are better? I am so glad," Lavender said, and the Indian responded, gravely: "Owatoga is well; he will be the guide for the white people tomorrow."

Without waiting for thanks, without further explanation, he disappeared, and Lavender whispered, triumphantly, as they reentered the wigwam: "I knew we could trust him!"

Next day they left the village, led only by their self-appointed guide. The ponies and other equipment had been bought of the Indians. Part of their route was to be that known as the Clark trail. The town of New Madrid was their first destination—there they would await the earliest boat north.

On stout Indian ponies they rode: sometimes over damp and slippery paths, but oftener where the hoofs beat rhythmic measure on the frozen way. Occasionally they crossed wandering bands of Indians, meeting with solid indifference or friendly grunts, but never a hostile show. By night camp fires kept off the cold, and sterner foes, whose hungry howling was a mocking lullaby.

Owatoga rode ahead, rigid—silent as a slain chieftain on his horse awaiting burial—the quick and the dead together.

Winslow's spirits rose with the occasion, and he beguiled with cheerful talk and unwearied attentions the "outing," as he laughingly called it.

Mrs. Creighton, too, rallied all her physical forces, and bore without flinching the discomforts of the hard travel.

Lavender was her buoyant self, and for the first time appealed to Charles in a purely personal way. Heretofore he had regarded her merely as a beautiful, but unessential factor in the situation—gradually she had come to be the sum of it.

Bent upon ambitious hopes, his future late in carving, love was in Winslow's mind an unwelcome guest; an intruder whose visit was to be deferred as long as possible. But there were signs of its coming: as Winslow watched Lavender—observed her tender thoughtfulness toward her mother—her regard for the welfare of all. He remembered the picture she made when seated in the wood with the Indian's head on her lap. Bare-headed, her hood the wounded man's pillow, the dying sun tipping her hair with arrow-points of bronze, she had seemed a wraith of daylight in the gathering shades. This revelation of the softer side of the girl's nature, of her ministrant care and dauntlessness in danger, touched him where ball-room blandishments or mere blithe maidenhood had failed.

She rode in advance, often turning for a word or smile. Often there were scarlet berries at her throat, or leaves twisted in mocking imitation of Owatoga's headdress.

Winslow's pleasure in the sight—his growing joy in her company, was dampened by self-reproach. Had all his hopes, his ambition for a career in the land of promise, come to this? That he could find content and satisfying happiness in the mere presence of a woman?

At last they came in sight of the Mississippi; dark, silent, the waters rolled, a vast moat; beyond it, steep and sheer, a wall of rock. To the travelers, ignorant of all that lay behind, that rocky wall might have been the fortress of the setting sun.

The spring was early, and ice drifted helplessly under its torn cerements of snow. They were not far from the settlement of New Madrid, and it was determined to follow the course of the river until the town was reached.

Slowly northward, for the spring rains had begun, and the fens and marshes were slimy underfoot, and foggy overhead.

The river, bearing its icy burden away to the south, served them in guidance grim, but true.

At last they reached the point directly opposite New Madrid. The squat stone cabins of the settlement were huddled together on the farther bank like great cakes of ice thrown from the river.

"This is not exactly a welcome, warm and heartfelt, is it?" laughed Winslow, as they dismounted and stood on the bank of the gray river under a scowling sky.

Out of the dusk loomed a group of wigwams, and Owatoga went forward to reconnoiter. He returned in company with another Indian whom he had engaged to ferry them over. Their few household goods had been carried in crates, bound with deerskin to the backs of ponies, and these were transferred to one pirogue. Two others were reserved for the passengers.

They arranged for the care of the ponies and hospitality for the night, but with the first dawn the party embarked on the river.

One Indian stood in the prow, pushing aside with a long pole the cakes of ice which drifted like inquisitive monsters, close to the driving keel.

America cowered in abject fear in the stern; alternately invoking the wrath of Heaven upon the rash undertaking, and beseeching Divine aid in its outcome.

The other women bore the discomfort and danger with fortitude, even pleasure. In both was a strong sense of the dramatic, the picturesque. To Lavender, especially, this was as a draught of wine—this race with the swirling ice on the dark water in the cold gray dawn. Here and there a vain star yet dallied for a last look at herself in the watery mirror.

All was quiet in the village as they neared the shore, and the boats rubbing their sides together in friendly fashion as they grated on the sand, was the only sound.

There was no tavern then in the town, but every cabin had a spare bed and seat at table where strangers were allowed to stay. For it was scarcely a welcome which these frontier folk extended—it was rather a tolerant sufferance. Such a return in money or trade as the guest saw fit to make, was accepted, but none was ever demanded. Their doors were open, and with the opening of the door they considered duty done; the stranger could make shift to find his own nook in the chimney corner.

Such fare the travelers found, and for Lavender the style held a quaint, attractive interest.

"I like this kind of hospitality," she said one day. "I like their independent attitude. What they give is freely given, and one feels that it is without effort."

"Entirely so," Winslow agreed, dryly, "and I don't like it. 'Pot luck,' as they call it, never appealed to me. I rather enjoy being made over."

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

WOMEN THE WORLD OVER.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts's recent celebration of her ninety-second birthday brings this famous woman again before the public. It has been almost generally forgotten that as Miss Angela Burdett-Coutts she was a bridesmaid to Queen Victoria, and it was "Good Queen Vic" who, thirty-five years ago, created her a baroness. Aat that time there was not a single peeress in her own right in the three kingdoms, but shortly after that Lady Bergers succeeded to a barony and there are now at the present time ten peeresses of England and two—Lady Kinless and Lady Gray—of Scotland.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts is the oldest peeress in her own right; the youngest is Lady Clifton, who is a tiny girl of 6, and who succeeded as seventeenth holder of the barony when but a few months old. Two years ago on the birthday of the oldest peeress, the tiny Lady Clifton sent her a cluster of pink roses, the attached card containing the words: "From the youngest baroness to the oldest baroness in England."

Parents should train their daughters to enter a business life rather than take upon themselves the bonds of matrimony, in the opinion of Mrs. Harriet Van Der Vaart of the Chicago Neighborhood house. Only by thus directing their minds away from the frivolities of courtship, she declared, will the problem of woman's place in the industrial world be solved.

"The woman's own idea of her industrial position," said Mrs. Van Der Vaart Sunday, in an address at Lincoln Center, "is our most important problem. A girl is always talking of leaving her position, and the day when she 'quits' is her great day."

"Women always has performed her share of the world's works. The fact of her presence in industry is recognized. It is only because women are being paid for their work that they are being questioned now."

Recently compiled statistics show there are fully 100,000 clubwomen on Manhattan Island. The clubs range from the Fencers' and the Chorus Girls' Protective Union to the Emma Willard Association. It would create only mild surprise if Tammany Hall would soon have a woman's auxiliary.

Queen Marie Christina of Spain is said to be the only woman sovereign who has made a baloon ascent. She has a great love of adventurous pursuits, and delights in reading books written for boys.

TRIFLES OF INTEREST.

The Victorian era, England's most glorious period began when Princess Victoria ascended the throne on June 20, 1837, and continued through her illustrious reign until she was removed by death in 1901.

The most perfect teeth in the world are said to be those of the Thlebetans, although there is not a tooth brush in the whole country and no form of cleansing the teeth is ever practiced.

One of the largest graphite mining countries in the world is the Island of eylon. Large deposits of graphite are also being evploited in Siberia, chiefly in the neighborhood of Irkutsk, on Lake Baikal.

Only about 10 per cent. of the land of Arfentine is under cultivation, although there is a total area suitable for agriculture of about 250,000,000 acres. The live stock in that country is estimated in round numbers as follows: Horses, 5,000,000; cattle, 28,000,000; sheep, 11,000,000; hogs, 800,000.

TESTING DRINKING WATER.

If your drinking water comes through lead pipes, test it to see whether it contains any lead. Some water acts strongly upon a leaden pipe, and a year or two of using such water will bring on lead poisoning. In rare cases the water will form a coating, which will protect it from further contamination. There is more danger in warm weather than in cold. To be on the safe side, use this simple test occasionally: Boil a quart of water away till only a gill is left. In this put a tablespoonful of a solution of potashsium iodide and let it stand overnight. If a yellow deposit has formed, lead is present in the water.

A DREADFUL BLUNDER.

I slept all through the sermon, so when they passed the plate
I made a dreadful blunder, and noticed it too late.
I'll surely try to stay awake in church another time,
For oh! instead of papa's cent, I gave my silver dime!

Decline in Values.

Mrs. Nagget—"You don't love me as much as you used to."

Mr. Nagget—"Think so?"

Mrs. Nagget—"No; you used to say I was worth my weight in gold, and—"

Mr. Nagget—"Well, you're not so stout as you used to be, you know."—Stray Stories.

Referring to the Odor.

"I notice," remarked the observant man, "that some physicians declare there is as much strength in a couple of eggs as in a pound of beef."

"Yes?" replied the barn-storming actor, "I suppose they mean the embalmed beef from Packington."

carries three Industrial policies on her children. The Prudential, in accordance with its rule regarding persistent policyholders, recently declared a dividend of $3.40 on each policy, although the policies did not provide for dividends. These dividends were offered in cash, but the mother preferred to pay for thirty-four weeks' insurance in advance, and had the money placed to the credit of each policy. The Prudential is paying cash dividends to its policyholders all the time.

DRY GOODS BASKET PEDDLER ARRESTER WITHOUT LICENSE.

Chief George Weiss Nabs Hebrew Peddler Whom He Warned Last Week.

Chief of Police George Weiss, of the borough force, caught a Hebrew with a jaw breaking name peddling dry goods from a basket on Jackson avenue early this morning, and locked him up because he was unable to show a license. The man was caught once before, last week, and was released upon his promise to get a license.

The Chief suspects that the peddler was sent out by Moses Bender, the Somerset street merchant, for he saw him and another basket peddler issuing from Mose's store early this morning. The other peddler went across the brook to Plainfield, and was evidently successful in eluding the police. The captured man will come up for hearing before Mayor Smalley at the session of court this evening.

An Appeal.

With the commencement of the summer's work at the Children's Home, the committee called the attention of Plainfielders to the fact that any donations in the way of fruits or vegetables would be most gratefully appreciated. Now that the month of August is here, when many residents of the city and borough are going away for a vacation, may I not remind Daily Press readers that any surplus garden products, berries, fruits and vegetables will be most acceptable. We are under great expense this year with the accommodation of a large number of children, and any donation, however small, will be appreciated.

FRANCIS W. COOLEY,
Vice President Children's Home.

—Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, who recently purchased the property No. 45 Lincoln place, corner Duer street, opposite his present residence, will make decided improvements about the place as soon as he gets possession, one of which will be the erection of an addition to the Duer street front of the house, to be used as his office.

O'LOUGHLIN BREAKS RECORD.

Plainfield "Pro" Makes a New Score in Practice at VanCortlandt Park.

A majority of the entrants for the annual open professional golf tournament which begins today on the public links at VanCortlandt Park, New York, put in practice rounds yesterday and low scores were in order. A notable event of the day was the breaking the outward journey on the course by "Marty" O'Loughlin, the pro from the Plainfield Country Club.

This home-bred golfer, who first became prominent at this tournament a year ago, started out like a whirlwind, his score to the turn showing a total of 32 strokes. He came home in 42, dropping strokes at the twelfth, sixteenth and eighteenth holes. His cards was as follows:

Out ..3 4 3 5 4 3 3 3 4—32
In ...4 4 6 5 4 3 6 4 6—42—74

Bernard Nicholls, fresh from his record breaking stunts at Rochester, was in good form. He went out in 35 and came home in 39 for a 74, Dave Ogilvie, of the North Jersey Country Club, also had a 74, Ed. Fitzjohn returned a 75, as did Jack Hobens, the Englewood "pro," who finished second in the Western open championship.

Mrs. Sandford Seeks a Divorce.

Mrs. Samuel Sandford, of New Market, has instituted proceedings for a divorce from her husband, on statutory grounds. The wife is represented by Clarence L. Murphy, Esq., while R. V. P. von Minden, Esq., is counsel for Mr. Sandford. The husband proposes to contest the case and will shortly file his answer to the declaration set forth by Mrs. Sandford. It is said that if the case is permitted to go to trial it will be very sensational.

Freeholder Adams Ill at Home.

Freeholder E. K. Adams is detained at his home in Cranford, the result of an accident a few days ago. He was placing a saddle on his horse when the animal lifted its foot, striking the freeholder in the knee.

DIAMOND DUST.

In its account of the Plainfield-Invader game on Saturday, the Elizabeth Journal, among other things, says: "But the work of 'Phil' Smith for the visitors was phenomenal. All that the locals could do with him was to gather one hit from his Gatling-gun delivery. After the second inning, when the visitors made their last run, the contest resolved itself into as pretty a contest as one would wish to see. Except for the sensational pitching of Smith, and some fast fielding by both teams, although exciting, the game was featureless."

Wonder if Francis K. Anderson, sporting writer of the Elizabeth Times, still believes that the Invaders are so much stronger than anything Plainfield has yet produced?

It is to be hoped that that darktown brigade, the Philadelphia Quaker Giants, scheduled to play here Saturday, will not bring rain with them.

Two weeks without a game has made the fans hungry for a good lively exhibition of the hair-raising variety, such as "Mistah" Monroe, of the Quaker Giants, is able to produce.

President Harry Pulliam, of the National League, declares that if he is at the head of the big organization next year, pitchers will not be permitted to soil new balls by rubbing them in the dirt, spitting on them and in other ways doing things that work to their advantage. Mr. Pulliam says that such performances is absolutely unnecessary and should not be permitted. Another edict by Mr. Pulliam is that in the future no National League player will be allowed to play Sunday ball with teams not in his league. Notice to this effect has been sent to every National League club manager, and it further states that a fine of $50 will be imposed for every violation of the rule. Should the player participate in such games with the consent of his manager or club owner, an additional penalty will be imposed by a suspension of five days. Clubs in Elizabeth and other nearby places have continually had the use of big league players on Sundays.

Storke, the former third baseman for the Amherst College ball team, and who was graduated last year, has signed to play with Providence, of the Eastern League.

It is said that next year a new rule will be adopted by the National Commission to the effect that any substitute going into a game after the score cards have been printed will have to bat in the same position as that occupied by the man for whom he is substituting. This will avoid lots of confusion.

Both of the triple plays made by major league teams came to light in July and both belong to Greater New York teams. Yet neither was made there. The Brooklyns perpetrated theirs in St. Louis and the New York Americans sprang theirs in Cleveland.

Wappinger Falls, N. Y., always did turn out well at baseball games, but it remained for the village to outdo itself on Sunday, when it was found necessary to postpone a funeral because the liverymen were so busy that no carriages could be had for use at the funeral. The result was that the stricken family were obliged to postpone the funeral until Monday, when it was held.

While the Plainfield-Invader game at Elizabeth on Saturday may have been a good one, the management did not have the support of the fans in playing it at the county seat, in fact it is safe to say that a majority of the members of the association did not favor it. A little better understanding between the management and the association might help matters some.

No doubt there will be a big crowd at Crescent Oval Saturday to witness the game between the locals and the Quaker Giants, for a red hot contest is assured.

It is reported that Manager Dick Smith, of the Roeblings, of Trenton, is anxious to join one of the Mercer county leagues, being tired of playing independent ball. The fans would like to see this team on Crescent Oval before long.

It must be admitted that "Phil." Smith is clearly the best twirler among those of his class that have made their debut into fast company this season. He is backing up every prediction of his warmest admirer. Plainfield is fortunate in having such a twirler.

ON TO TRENTON.

Cops' Nine Play Their Great Game This Afternoon.

The police nine will go to Trenton this afternoon to play the cops of that city. The combination has been training for the contest for weeks and feels confident of victory.

Chief Kiely will watch his men play, and "Bob" Fitzsimmons will umpire. Fitz and the Chief will travel to the State capital in "Doc" Voehl's auto.

The nine will leave here on the 12:39 train. The game will begin at 3 o'clock, and be followed by a supper. The Plainfielders will be home and pounding sidewalks as aforetime by 8 o'clock.

Colored All-Americans Win.

The Union County Field Club, of Elizabeth, was defeated by the Colored All-Americans, of this city, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 8 to 5. The game was well played throughout and was witnessed by a large crowd. The batteries were Philips, Brown and Warwick, Garner and Hammond.

GOLF.

The public links at VanCortlandt Park, New York, will be thrown open to professional golfers today and tomorrow when they will compete in an invitation tournament over the course. The play last year was such a success in opening the eyes of many local amateurs to the way the game should be played that the amateurs welcome the professionals again this year almost with open arms. There will be plenty of opportunity for metropolitan players to absorb some of the finer points of golf, as the leading contestants, who put up a spirited finish last July, are entered for the battle this week. "Marty" O'Loughlin, the pro from the Plainfield Country Club, will be among the contestants, and should be able to land a position near the top. In all there are fifty odd entries, including eleven from clubs of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other outlying districts. The competition will be for 72 holes, medal play, 36 holes being played each day. First prize will be a purse of $150, and the others are $100, $50, $40, $30 and $20. Park Commissioner Waldrath, of the Bronx, has consented to drive the first ball in opening the tournament.

Good golf in a nutshell is the motto at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club and the tournament, although there will be fifty or sixty starters, will begin with an eighteen hole medal round on Thursday morning. The tournament is one of the oldest in the Metropolitan Golf Association and has been held without a gap since 1896.

Golfers who are planning an August trip may go from Shinnecock Hills to either the Deal or Ekwanok tournaments, then to Watch Hills for five days to competitive play, beginning on August 21, and close the round with a jaunt to the Berkshires for the annual open tournament of the Stockbridge Golf Club, August 28, 29, 30 and 31. It will be the second tournament at Watch Hills and as there is no conflict this time with Deal or Ekwanok a large entry is expected. This is the summer course of Eben Byers, the amateur champion; F. Oden Horstman, Robert Abbott, the intercollegiate champion and many other crack players.

Enthusiasts who are playing on the course of the Plainfield Country Club are loud in their praise of its condition. They say that it is the best ever and equal to any to be found throughout the metropolitan district.

Professional Patrick, of the Westfield Golf Club, will leave the club at the end of the present season to accept a similar positon with a larger club. He is very popular with the members at Westfield and all regret his decision.

It is expected that before long work will be started on the additional nine holes for the Westfield Golf Club, which will make the course an 18 hole one, and one of the best in the State.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The choir of the First Baptist church has disbanded for the month of August.

The musical service which was planned by Clifford Braider to be held at the First Presbyterian church Sunday night, has been postponed for a time.

Missing Paint Found.

Constable John Manley was successful yesterday in his search for the paints which were placed in the cellar of a West Fifth street house occupied by Walter Baker, and which were removed from there between Friday and Saturday of last week. It was learned that Mr. Baker had placed the paint in the attic for safekeeping. The goods were removed yesterday from the house to Mr. Manley's storage rooms on Park avenue, the attachment secured by Mrs. Samuel Sandford, of New Market, still being in effect.

Bouquet for Times.

The Elizabeth "Times," an off-color Democratic newspaper that has been spporting Democracy by the indirect-direct process or shouting for Record and reform, throws up the sponge so far as Union county is concerned. It seems to think that the liquor question has done for Recor in that county. The "Times" will now probably return to its Democracy and that is too bad, for there was such a wide margin for reform in the "Times."—Jersey City Journal.

A. O. U. W. Affairs.

According to the August statement of Grand Recorder J. H. Lippincott, of the Ancient Order United Workmen of New Jersey, the membership on July 1 last, was 5,921. The report of the general fund on July 1 shows that the balance was $1,968.46; receipts, beneficiary certificates, $29.50; supplies, $7.50; California sufferers, $80; interest through grand receiver, $195.90, making a total of $2,281.36.

Mumford Must Move.

B. A. Mumford, the carpet cleaner, who has been located on East Third street, next to the railroad, for twenty-four years, has been notified by the railroad company that he must vacate the premises by September 1, as the land is needed for a siding. It is the opinion that the company intends to use the ground for express business and the loading and unloading of theatrical scenery.
